
D And when Sennaherib the kynge came agayne and fled out of Jewry (what tyme as God punished him for his blasphemy) and in his wrath slew many of the childrẽ of Israel Tobiah buried their bodies. But whẽ it was tolde the kynge / he cõmaunded to slaye him / and toke awaye all his goodes Neuertheles Tobiah with his sonne & with hys wyfe fled his waye, & was hyd naked, for there were many that loued him. But after .xlv. dayes ẏ kynge was slayne of his awne sonnes. Then came Tobiah agayne to his house / & all hys goodes restored vnto him.

¶ Tobiah byddeth loche of his frynds as feare God / to a bãquet or feast. he is reproued of his frynde he feareth God moare then the kynge. he becommeth blynde by the permyssyon & sufferaunce of God. hys kynsfolkes mocke hym.

¶ The .ij. Chapter.

AFter these thynges vpõ a solempne daye of the Lorde Tobiah made a good feast in hys house / & sayde vnto his sonne: Goo thy waye and bryng hyther some of oure trybe, soch as feare God, that they maye make merry with vs. And when he was gone, he came agayne / & tolde his father, that one of the childrẽ of Israel laye slayne vpon the strete. And immediatly he leape from his table left the feast / came lastynge to the deed coarse toke him & bare him preuely in to his house / that when ẏ Sunne was downe / he myght safely burye him. And when he had hyd the coarse / he ate hys meate with mournynge & feare / remembrynge the wordes / that the Lord sayeth by the prophet Amos: youre hye feastes shalbe turned to sorowe and heuynes.

But whẽ ẏ Sunne was downe, he went his waye & buryed hym. Then all his neyghbours reproued him saying: It is not lõge / sens it was cõmaunded to slaye the because of this matter & hast scarce escaped ẏ daunger of death, & buriest thou the deed agayne? Neuertheles Tobiah fearynge God moare then the kynge toke the bodyes of ẏ slayne / hid thẽ in his house & buried thẽ at mydnight.

It happened vpon a daye that he had buried ẏ deed, & was weery, cam home & layed

him downe by the wal & slepte. And whyle he was a slepe, there fell downe vpon hys eyes warme dōge out of the swalowes nest, so þ he was blynde. This tēptacion did God suffre tohappen vnto hym, þ they which came after, myght haue an example of his pacīēce, like as of holy Job. For in so moch as he euer feared God fro his youth vp, & kept his cōmaundementes, he was not heuy agaynst God, þ the plage of blyndnes chaunsed vnto him but remayned stedfast in þ feare of God, and thanked God all the dayes of his lyfe.

For lyke as blessed Job was had in derysyon of kynges, euen so was he laughed to scorne of his elders & kinsfolkes, which sayd vnto hym: where is thy hope, for the whych thou hast done almes and buryed the dead? But Tobiah rebuked them, & spake: Saye not so, for we are the chyldren of holy men, & loke for the lyfe, which God shall geue vnto thē, þ neuer turne their beleue frō him. Anna hys wyfe wente dayly to the weuynge worcke, & loke what lyuynge she coulde get with the labour of her handes, she brought it. And it happened that she toke a kyd and brought it home.

And when her housbande herde it crye, he sayde: loke þ it be not stolē, restore it agayne to the owners: for it is not lawfull for vs, to eate or to touch eny thynge of theft. Then was his wyfe angrie, and sayde: Now is thy hope be come vayne openly, & thy almes dedes are manyfest. With these and such lyke wordes dyd she cast him in the tethe.

¶ The prayer of Tobiah. Sara the daughter of Raguell is slaundred of her fathers seruaunte. The prayer and fastyng of Sara: And also the innocency & chastyte of her. The prayers of Tobiah and of Sara are heard.

¶ The.iij. Chapter

Then Tobiah toke it heuely, & with teares begāne to make his prayer sayenge: O Lorde thou art ryghtuous, & all thy iudgmentes are true, yee all thy wayes are mercy, faythfulnes & iudgmēt. And now O Lord be myndefull of me, & take no vengeaūce of my synne, nether remēbre my myslydedes, nether þ mysdedes of my elders. For we haue not bene obedient vnto thy cōmaundemētes, therfore are we spoyled, brought in to captyuyte, in to death, in to derisiō & shame vnto all nacions, amōge whō thou hast scatred vs. And now O Lord, thy iudgmētes are great, for we haue not done accordyng to thy cōmaundemētes, nether haue we walked innocently before the. And now O Lord, deale with me accordynge to thy wyll, & cōmaunde my spyrete to be receaued in peace, for more expedīēt were it for me to dye, then to lyue.

At the same tyme it happened, that Sara the daughter of Raguel at Rages a cytie of the medes was slaundred of one of her fathers handmaydes, namely, that she shulde haue had seuen housbandes, which as soone as they were gone in vnto her, were slayne of þ deuell called Asmodeus. Therfore whē she reproued the maydē for her faute, she answerde her, sayenge: God lett vs neuer se sonne ner daughter of the more vpō earth, thou kyller of thy housbādes. Wylt thou slay me also, as thou hast slayne seuen men? At this boyce wente Sara in to an hye chāber of her house, and thre dayes & thre nyghtes ate nether dranke, but contynued in prayer, and besought God with teares, that he wolde delyuer her from this rebuke.

Upon the thyrde daye it chaunced, þ whē she had made an end of her prayer, she praysed the Lorde sayeng: Blessed be thy name O God of oure fathers, whych when thou art wroth, shewest mercy, & in þ tyme of trouble thou forgeuest the synnes of them, that call vpō the. Vnto the O Lord turne I my face, vnto þ lyft I vp myne eyes. I beseche the O Lorde, lowse me out of the bondes of this rebuke, or els take me vtterly awaye from of the earth. Thou knowest Lorde, þ I neuer had delyre vnto man, and that I haue kepte my soule cleane frō all vnclenly lust. I haue not kepte cōpany with those that passe their tyme in sporte, nether haue I made my selfe partaker wyth them that walcke in lyghte behauoure. Neuertheles an housband haue I consented to take, not for my pleasure, but in thy feare.

Now peraduēture ether I haue bene vnworthy of them, or els were they vnmete for me, for thou happyly hast kepte me to another housband. For why? thy councell is not in the power of man. But whosoeuer loueth the & serueth the a right, is sure, that yf his lyfe be tempted & proued, it standeth in the tryenge: & yf he endure in pacience, he shall haue a rewarde & be hylye crowned: & yf he be in trouble, that God (no doute) shall delyuer him: & yf his lyfe be in chastenynge, that he shall haue leaue to come vnto thy mercy.

For thou hast no pleasure in our dampnacyon: & why? after a stormе thou makest the wether fayre and styll: after wepyng and heuynes thou geuest greate ioye. Thy name O God of Israel, be praysed for euer. At the same tyme were both their prayers hearde in the sight of þ magesty of the Hyest God. And Raphael the holy Aungell of the Lorde was sent to helpe thē both, whose prayers came together before God.

¶ The.iiij. Chapter.

¶ The obedyence of younge Tobiah to hys father/ which is sent in to Rages. An Aungell accompanieth wt̄ hym in his iourney.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

AS whē Tobiah thought his prayer to be herde, that he myght dye, he called vnto him his sonne Tobiah / & sayde vnto him: My sonne, beare the wordes of my mouth / and laye them in thyne herte as a foundacion. When God taketh awaye my soule / burye thou my body / and holde thy mother in honoure all ỹ dayes of her lyfe. For thou oughtest to remembre / what and how greate parels she suffred for the in her wombe. And whē she also hath fulfylled the tyme of her lyfe / bury her beside me. Haue God in thy thought all the dayes of thy lyfe: & beware / lest at eny tyme thou consent vnto synne / and lest thou lett slyppe the cōmaundemētes of the Lorde oure God.

Geue almes of thy goodes and turne neuer thy face from ỹ poore: & so shall it come to passe / that the face of the Lorde shall not be turned awaye from the. Be mercyfull after thy power. If thou hast moch / geue plenteously: yf thou hast lytle / do thy dyligence / gladly to geue of that lytle. For so gatherest thou thy selfe a good rewarde in the daye of necessyte. For almes delyuereth * frō death / & suffreth not the soule to come in darckenes. A greate comforte is almes before the hye God, vnto all them that doit.

My sonne, kepe the well from all whordome, and, beside thy wyfe, se that no faute be knowne of the. Let neuer pryde haue rule in thy mynde ner in thy worde / for in pryde beganne all destruccyon.

Whosoeuer worketh eny thynge for the / immediatly geue him his hyre / and loke that thy hyred seruaunte wages remayne not by the ouernyght. Loke that thou neuer do vnto another man / the thynge that thou woldest not another mā shulde do vnto the. Cate thy bred wyth the hōgrye and poore / & couer the naked with thy clothes. Set thy bred and wyne vpon the buryall of the ryghteous / & do not thou eate and drincke therof wyth the synners. Aske euer counsell at the wyse.

Be allwaye thanckfull vnto God / and beseche hym / that he wyll ordre thy wayes / and that whatsoeuer thou deuysest or takest in hande / it maye remayne in hym. I certifye ỹ also my sonne / that (when thou wast yet but a babe) I deliuered ten talentes of syluer vnto Gabelus / at Rages a cyte of the Medes / & his handwrytynge haue I by me. And therfore seke some meanes / how thou mayest come by hym / & receaue of him ỹ sayde weight of syluer / and geue hym hys handwrytynge agayne.

My sonne / be not afrayed: trueth it is we leade here a poore lyfe: but greate good shall we haue / yf we feare God, and departe from all synne / and do well.

* Some rede: frō all synne and from death.

¶ Then answered Tobiah his father / and sayd: father all that thou hast commaunded me, wyll I do / and ỹ diligently. But how I shall requyre this money / I can not tell. Neither doth he knowe me / ner I hym. What token shall I geue him? And as for the waye thyther / I neuer knewit. Then hys father answered him / and sayde: I haue his handwrytynge by me, which when thou shewest hym / immediatly he shall paye the. But goo thy waye now / and get the some faythfull man to goo with the for an hyre / that thou mayest receaue the money / whyle I am yet lyuynge. Then went Tobiah out / and vpon the strete he founde a fayre yonge man standyng, gyrded vp / and as it were one ready to take hys iourney. And he knew not that it was an angell of God / but saluted hym / and sayde: Frō whence art thou thou good yonge man? He answered: Of the chyldren of Israel.

And Tobiah sayd vnto him: knowest thou the waye / that leadeth vnto the countre of the Medes? He answered: I knowe it well / and all those stretes haue I gone oft tymes / and haue lodged with oure brother Gabelus / ỹ dwelleth in Rages a cyte of the Medes / which lyeth vpon the mounte Egabthanis. Tobiah sayde vnto him: I praye the, tarry for me, tyll I haue tolde my father these thynges. Then wente Tobiah in, and tolde his father all. At ỹ which his father marueled / & prayed that he wolde come in vnto him.

Now when the aungell came in / he saluted hym / and sayde: Ioye be with ỹ for euermore. And olde Tobiah sayde: what ioye can I haue that lye here in darckenes / & se not the lyght of heauen? The younge man sayde vnto hym: Be of good cheare / God shall helpe the shortly. And Tobiah sayd vnto hym: Cānst thou bringe my sonne to Gabelus / vnto the cyte of Rages in Medea? And when thou commest agayne / I shall paye the thy hyre. And the Aungell sayde vnto hym: I shall leade thy sonne / & bringe him to the agayne. Then Tobiah answered hym: tell me I praye ỹ / of what house / or of what trybe art thou? The Aungell Raphael sayde vnto hym: Askest thou after the kynred of an hyrelyng / or seketh thou a gyde for thy sonne to go wyth hym? But that I make the not carefull / I am Azarias the sonne of greate Hananias. And Tobiah answered: thou art come of a greate kynred: but I praye the / be not displeased / that I desyred to know thy kynred. The Aungell sayde vnto hym: thy sonne shall

I leade forth safely / and bringe hym whole to the agayne.

D Then answered Tobiah / and sayde: well / go on youre waye / & God be in youre iourney / and his Angell beare you cõpany. So when they had prepared all thynges / & they wolde take with them in their iourney: Tobiah bad hys father & hys mother fare well / and they went on their waye both together. Now when they were gone / hys mother began to wepe / and sayde: The staff of oure age hast thou taken awaye / and sent hym from vs.

Wolde God that money had neuer bene / for the which thou hast sent hym awaye. If we had bene content with oure pouerte / this had bene greate ryches vnto vs / & we sawe oure sonne here. Then sayde Tobiah vnto her: wepe not / oure sonne shall come to vs agayne safe and sounde / & thine eyes shall se him. For I trust / that & good Angell of God shall beare him cõpany / and order well all & thynges that he doth: so that he shall come to vs agayne wt ioye. At these wordes hys mother left of frõ wepynge / & held her tonge.

¶ Young Tobiah is delyuered from the fysshe / by the Aungell. The Aungell exhorteth Tobiah to take Sara to his wyfe.

¶ The.vj. Chapter.

A So Tobiah went on hys waye / & a dogg followed him / and the fyrst nyght they abode by the water of Tigris. Then wẽt he out to wash his fete / & beholde / there came forth an horryble fysh to deuoure hym. Of whome Tobiah was afrayed, & cried with a loude voyce / sayenge: Lorde / he cõmeth vpon me. And the Aungell sayde vnto hym: Take him by & cheke blade / and drawe hym to the. And he dyd so / and drewe him vpõ the lande. And the fysh beganne to leape at hys fete.

B Then sayde the Aungell vnto hym: Take out the bowels of this fysh / & as for & herte / the gall and the leuer, kepe them by the. For these thynges are necessary and good for medicyne. Tobiah dyd so / and rosted the fysh / and they toke hym with thẽ in their iourney: the residue they salted / as moch as was sufficient for them / tyll they came to Rages. Then Tobiah asked the Aungell / & sayd vnto him: I praye the brother Azarias tell me / wher to are these thynges good of the fysh / that thou hast bydden me kepe?

The Aungell answered him and sayde: If thou layest a pece of the herte vpon & coales / the smoke therof dryueth awaye all maner of euell spretes / whether it be from man or frõ womã, so & frõ thence forth & same shall come nomore vntothẽ. The gall is good to anoynte or to streke & eyes withall, where as there is eny blemish in them, so shall they be whole.

And Tobiah sayde vnto hym: where wylt thou & we remayne? The Aungell answered and sayd: Here is a nye kynsmã of thine / one Raguell by name / whych hath a daughter called Sara / & hath neither sonne ner daughter but her. All hys good belõgeth vnto the / and thou must mary hys daughter: and therfore desyre her of her father / & he shall geue her the to wyfe. Then answered Tobiah and sayde: As I vnderstãde / she hath bene maried vnto seuen housbãdes / and they all are dead: and I haue herde saye / that the deuell slewe them. I am afrayed therfore, lest soch thinges happẽ vnto me also: which yf it came to passe (seynge I am the onely sonne of my father & my mother) I shulde bringe thẽ in their age with sorow to their graues.

Then sayde & Angell Raphael vnto him: D Heare me / & I wyll tell the what they be of whom the deuell hath power. Namely / they that receaue mariage of soch a fashion / that they shut God out from thẽ & frõ their hert / & geue thẽ selues to their awne lust / euẽ as it were an horse & Mule / whych haue no vnderstanding: vpõ soch hath the deuell power. But when thou takest her / & art come in to the chamber / withholde thy selfe from her thre dayes / & geue thy dyligence vnto nothynge but vnto prayer with her.

And in the fyrst nyght roste the leuer of the fish / & the deuell shalbe dryuẽ awaye. The secõde night shalt thou be receaued in to & cõpany of the holy patriarkes. The thirde night shalt thou opteyne the blessynge of God, so & whole chyldrẽ shalbe borne of you. After the thirde night take & mayde in & feare of God / & more for the desyre of chyldrẽ / then for eny fleshly lust: that in the sede of Abraham thou mayest optayne the blessynge in chyldren.

¶ Young Tobiah and the Aungell come to the house of Raguell he requyreth Raguels daughter to wyfe / and obtayneth her.

¶ The.vij. Chapter.

Then wente they in to Raguell / which receaued thẽ ioyfully. And when Raguell loked vpõ Tobiah / he sayde vnto Anna his wyfe: How lyke is this yonge mã vnto my systers sonne. And whẽ he had spokẽ this / he sayde: whence be ye good brethren? They sayde: Of & tribe of Nephthali / out of & captyuite of Ninive. Then sayde Raguel vnto them: know ye my brother Tobiah? They sayde: yee / we knowe hym well. And when he had spoken moch good of him / the Aungell sayd vnto Raguel: Tobiah of whom thou axest, is thys yonge mans father. Then Raguel bowed him selfe downe / and wepte / toke him aboute & neck and and kyssed hym/& sayde: Gods blessinge haue thou my sonne for thou arte the sonne of a good vertuous man. And Anna his wife and Sara his daughter wepte also.

Now when they had talked together/Raguel bad kyll a wether/and to make a feast. And when he prayed them to sytt downe to dynner/ Tobiah sayd: I will nether eate ner dryncke here thys daye/ except thou fyrst graūte me my peticiō/ & promyse me to geue me thy daughter Sara. Whē Raguel herde this, he was astonyed/ for he knewe/ what had hapened vnto the other .vij. men/ & wēte in vnto her: & he begāne to feare that it shuld chaunce vnto hym also in lyke maner.

And whyle he stode so in doute, & gaue the younge man no answere/ the aungell sayde vnto hym: Feare not to geue him thy daughter/ for vnto thys man that feareth God/ belongeth thy daughter to wyfe/ therfore myght none other haue her.

Then sayd Raguel: I doute not, but God hath accepted my prayers and teares in his sight: & I trust he caused you to come vnto me for the same intēt/ that this daughter of myne myght be maried in her awne kynred/ accordynge to the lawe of Moses. And now dowte thou not/ but I wyll geue her vnto the: So he toke the right hande of his daughter/ and gaue her into the right hand of Tobiah/ & sayde: The God of Abraham/ the God of Isaac/ and the God of Jacob be wyth you/ ioyne you together/ & fulfyll his blessing in you. And they toke a letter & made a wrytyng of the mariage. And then made they merye/ & prayed God. And Raguel called Anna hys wyfe vnto hym/ and bad her prepare another chamber/ and thyther he brought Sara hys daughter/ and she wepte. Then sayde he vnto her: Be of good cheare my daughter/ the Lorde of heauen geue the ioye/ for the heuynesse that thou hast suffred.

¶ The aungell byndeth the deuell. Tobias exhorteth hys wyfe to prayer and they praye thre dayes before they lye together.

¶ The .viij. Chapter.

NOw after that they had supped/ they brought the yonge man in to her. Thē thought Tobiah vpō the wordes of the aungell/ and toke out of his bagge a pece of the leuer of the fish/ and layed it vpō the hote coales. So the aungell Raphael toke holde of the deuell/ & sent him awaye/ and bounde him in the wyldernes of the hyer Egypte. Thē spake Tobiah vnto the virgin/ & sayde: Up Sara/ let vs make oure prayer vnto God to daye/ tomorow/ & ouermorow: for these thre nyghtes will we reconcyle oure selues with God: & whan the third holy nyght is past/ we shall ioyne together in the dewtye of mariage. For we are the chyldren of holy men/ & we maye not come together as the Heathen/ that knowe not God.

Then stode they vp both together and besought God earnestly, that he wold preserue them. And Tobiah sayde: O Lorde God of our fathers/ prayse be thou of heauen and earth, of the see welles & floudes and of all the creatures that be therin. Thou madest Adā of the moulde of the earth, & gauest him Eua for an helper. And now Lorde thou knowest that it is not because of voluptuousnes, that I take this syster of myne to wyfe/ but only for the loue of chyldren, in whō thy name be blessed for euer. And Sara sayde: haue mercy vpon vs, O Lorde/ haue mercy vpon vs/ & let vs both come whole & sounde to a good age.

And about the cocke crowe/ it happened/ that Raguel called his seruauntes, and they wente with hym/ to make a graue. For he sayde: it is chaunced vnto hym peraduenture/ as it dyd vnto the other seuē men/ that wente in vnto her. Now when they had made the graue/ Raguel came agayne to hys wyfe/ & sayde vnto her: sende one of thy maydēs, to loke yf he be dead, that I maye burye hym afore it be lyght daye. So she sent a mayden to se/ which whē she came into the chamber/ she founde them whole & sounde/ slepyng together. And so she came agayne/ & brought good tydinges. Then Raguel and Anna hys wyfe praysed the Lorde, and sayde: Prayse be thou O Lorde God of Israel, for it is not happened vnto vs, as we thought. For thou hast dealte mercifully with vs/ & put awaye from vs the enemye that persecuted vs/ and hast shewed mercy vnto ponder two beloued. O Lord/ cause thē to magnyfye & more perfectly & to offre & the sacrifice of thy prayse/ & of their health: that all people may knowe/ that thou only art God in all the earth.

And immediatly Raguel cōmaunded hys seruauntes, to fyll the graue/ that they had made/ with earth/ afore it was lyght: & bade his wyfe prepare a feast/ & to make redye all thinges that were necessary for meate/ to such as wēte by the waye. He caused two fat kyne also/ and foure wethers to be slayne/ and meates to be prepared for all his neyghboures & frendes. And Raguel charged Tobiah to remayne with hym two wekes. As for all the good that he had/ he gaue Tobiah the one half of it/ & made this wrytyng/ that the halfe which remayned/ shuld fall vnto Tobiah after their death.

¶ The .ix. Chapter.

Then Tobiah called vnto hym the aungell who he thought to haue bene a man / and sayde vnto hym. Brother Azarias, I praye the herken vnto my wordes: yf I shulde geue my selfe to be thy seruaunt, I shall not deserue thy prouydence. Neuertheles I beseche the that thou wylt take the beastes & the seruaũtes, & go vnto Gabelus in Rages the cyte of Medis, & delyuer hym his handwrytynge, & receaue the money of him, and praye hym to
B come to my mariage. For thou knowest thy self that my father telleth the dayes: and yf I tary one daye to long, he wylbe sory in his mynde. Now seist thou how earnestly Raguel hath requyred me / so that I cannot saye him nay.

Then toke Raphael foure of Raguels seruauntes, & two Camels, and wẽt vnto Rages the cyte of the Medes: and when he had founde Gabelus he gaue him hys handwrytyng, & receaued all the money. He tolde him also of Tobiah the sonne of Tobi, how all thynges had happened & caused him to come
C with hym to the mariage. Now whẽ he came in to the house of Raguel he foũde Tobiah syttynge at the table: & he leape vp and they kyssed one another & Gabel wepte & praysed God & sayde: the blessynge of the God of Israel haue thou, for thou art the sonne of a right vertevous & iust man, & of one that fea-
D reth God, & geueth greate almes. And blessinge haue thy wyfe & youre elders. that ye maye se youre chyldren & your chylders chyldren vnto the thyrde & fourth generacyon & that youre sede may be blessed of the God of Israel which reigneth world without ende. And when they all had sayd Amen they wẽt to the feast but with the feare of the Lorde beide they the feast of the mariage.

¶ The.x. Chapter.

Now whyle yonge Tobiah made longe taryenge / by reason of the mariage / hys father was full of care & heuines, and thought: what shulde be the cause / that my sonne taryeth so longe? Or why shulde he be kepte so longe there? Peraduenture Gabelus is deed / and no man wyll geue hym the money. Thus began he to be very sorowfull, he & Anna his wyfe with him / and begãne to wepe both together / because their sonne was not come agayne vnto thẽ at the daye appoynted. As for his mother / she wepte with discomfortable teares / & sayde: Wo is me / my sonne: Oh
B what ayled vs to sende ẏ awaye into a straũge coũtre / thou light of oure eyes / thou staffe of oure age / thou comforte of oure life / thou hope of oure generacyon: Seynge all the thinges that we haue are only in ẏ, we shuld not haue sent the awaye from vs.

Then Tobiah comforted her / and sayde: holde thy tonge / & be not discomforted, oure sonne is whole and sounde: the man that we sent him withall is faithfull enough. Neuertheles she myght in no wyse be comforted: but daylye went out / loked aboute / & wente about all the stretes / whereby she thought he shulde come agayne: that, yf it were possible) she myght se hym commynge afarre of.

But Raguel sayde vnto his sonne in lawe: C
O tary here / and I shall sende a messanger vnto thy father Tobiah / to tell him that thou art in good health. Tobiah sayde vnto hym: I am sure / that my father & my mother counte euery daye / and that their hertes are sory.

So when Raguel prayed Tobiah wyth many wordes / & wold in no wyse heare him / he delyuered Sara vnto him / & ẏ halfe part of all hys good: in seruaũtes & handmaydẽs / in shepe, in Camels / & in kyne / & moch money & so sent hym awaye from hym wt peace and ioye / and sayde: The holy aungell of the D Lorde be wyth you in youre yourney / and bringe you forth safe & sounde / that ye maye fynde all thinges in good case with youre elders / & that myne eyes may se youre chyldrẽ afore I dye. So the elders embraced their daughter, kyssed her, & let her go cheerfully to honoure her father & mother in lawe / to loue her husbande / to rule well her housholde, to kepe her house in good ordre / and to shew her selfe faithfull.

¶ Young Tobiah leadynge hys wyfe & housholde in the myddle waye / commeth before wyth the Aungell. The dreame of his mother lokyng after her sonne. he is ioyfully receaued of his father & mother. Sara cometh by dayes after.

¶ The.xi. Chapter.

As they now were goinge home warde agayne / vpon the .xi. daye they came to Charra / which lyeth in the halfwaye towarde Ninive. And the Aungell sayde: Brother Tobiah / thou knowest how thou hast left thy father: therfore yf it please the / we two wyll go before / & let the housholde with thy wyfe & the catell come softly & fayrly after vs. And when Tobiah was content that they shulde go before Raphael sayde vnto hym: Take of the B gall of the fish with the / for it shalbe necessary. So Tobiah toke of the gall / & they went their waye. But Anna the mother of Tobiah sat dayly by the waye syde vpon the toppe of an hyll / frõ whence she myght se farre about her. And whyle she was wayetynge there for his cõmynge she loked afarre of, and anone she perceaued her sonne cõmynge / & ranne &

tolde her husband, saying: Behold thy sonne commeth. And Raphael sayde vnto Tobiah: As soone as thou cōmest in to the house, immedyatly worshyppe the Lorde thy God, and geue thākes vnto hym: then go to thy father, & kysse hym, & stryke his eyes ouer with the gall of the fysh, that thou hast brought with the. For be sure, that his eyes shall strayght waye be opened, & thy father shall se ỹ light of heauen, & shall reioyse at the sight of the. Then the dogge that had bene wyth them in their iourney, ranne before, and came as a messenger, and wagged wyth hys tayle for gladnesse.

A So the blynde father arose, and begamne to rēne, and stombled with his feate, & gaue a seruaūt his hande, tāne to mete his sonne, receaued hym, and kyssed hym, he and hys wyfe, and beganne to wepe for ioye.

Now when they had worshipped & thancked God, they sat downe. Then toke Tobiah of the fysches gall, and anoynted hys fathers eyes: and tarped half an houre, and then begamne the blemish to go out of his eyes, like as it had bene the whyte skynne of an egge: which Tobiah toke, and drew frō his eyes, and immediatly he receaued his sight.

B Then they praysed God, he and his wyfe, and all they ỹ knew hym. And Tobiah sayd: O Lorde God of Israel, I geue the prayse and thanckes, for thou hast chastened me, & made me whole. And lo, now do I se my sonne Tobiah. After seuen dayes came Sara his sonnes wyfe also whole and sounde with all the housholde and catel, with camels and moch moneye of hys wyues, & with the money that he had receaued of Gabelus: and he tolde his father and his mother all the benefytes, whych God had done for hym, by the man that led hym. Achior also and Nabath Tobiah syster sonnes came and were glad, & reioysed with him, by reason of all ỹ good that God had shewed vnto him. And so for ỹ space of seuen dayes they made mery, and were right ioyfull euerychone.

¶ Younge Tobiah reckeneth vp vnto hys father the pleasures that the Aungell dyd hym. He offereth vnto the Aungell halfe the goodes that he brought wt hym.

¶ The xij. Chapter.

THen Tobiah called his sonne vnto hym, & sayde: What may we geue this holy man, that wente wt the? Tobiah answered his father, and sayde: Father, what reward shall we geue hym? Or what thinge can deserue his benefytes? He hath bene my gyde, and brought me safe agayne: he receaued the money from Gabelus, he caused me to get my wyfe, he droue ỹ euell spyrete frō her, he hath bene an occasyon of gladnesse to her father and mother: he deliuered me, that I was not deuoured of the fish, he hath made the to se ỹ light of heauen, yee we all haue receaued greate good of him. How shuld we worthly deserue these thinges vnto hym? But I praye the my father, that thou wylt desyre hym, yf happly he wyll voutsafe, to take with hym the halfe of all that we haue brought.

So the father and the sonne called him, B toke hym aside, & beganne to praye hym, ỹ he wolde be contēt to take in good worth, the half parte of all that he had brought. Then sayde he secretly vnto them: Prayse the God of heauen, & geue thanckes vnto hym before all men lyuyng for he hath shewed his mercy* vnto vs. It is good to hyde the kynges secrete, but to shew & to prayse the workes of God, it is an honorable thynge. Prayer is good with fastynge, and to geue almes is better, then to hoorde vp treasures of golde. For almes deliuereth from death, cleenseth synne, & causeth to fynde euerlastynge lyfe. But they that do synne & vnryghtousnes, are the enemyes of their awne soules.

*To me trade) vnto you

Wherfore I tell you the trueth, and wyll C hyde nothynge from you. When thou prayedest with teares, and buriedest the deed, and lefte st thy dyner, and hyddest the deed in thy house vpon the daye tyme, that thou myghtest burye them in the nyght, I offred thy prayer before the Lorde. And because thou wast accept and beloued of God, it was necessary, that tentacyon shulde trye the. And now hath the Lorde sent me to heale the, and to delyuer Sara thy sonnes wyfe from the euell spyrete. For I am Raphael an Aungel, one of the seuen that stande before God.

When they hearde thys, they were sore afrayed, and trembled, and fell downe vpon D their faces vnto the grounde. Then sayde the Aungell: Peace be wt you, feare not. Where as I haue bene wyth you, it is the wyll of God geue prayse and thanckes vnto hym.

You thought that I dyd eate and dryncke with you, but I vse meate that is inuisible, and drincke that can not be sene of men.

Now therfore is the tyme ỹ I must turne agayne, vnto hym that sent me: but be ye thanckfull vnto God, & tell out all his wonderous workes.

And when he had spoken these wordes, he was taken awaye out of their sight, so that they sawe hym nomore. Then fell they downe flat vpō their faces by the space of thre houres, and praysed God: and whē they rose vp, they tolde all his wonderous workes.

¶ Tobiah the elder geueth thanckes vnto God.

¶ The. xiij. Chapter.

Then

THen old Tobiah opened his mouth & prayed ỹ Lorde/& sayde: Great art thou O Lorde for euermore/ & thy kyngdome worlde without ende: for thou scourgest & healest/thou ledest vnto hell/& bringest out agayne, and ther is none that may escape thyne hande. O geue thankes vnto the Lord/ye chyldrē of Israel/ & prayse hym in the sight of the Heathē. For among the Heathē which knowe hym not hath he scatered you, to thintēt that ye shuld shew forth his maruelous worckes: & cause them for to knowe/ that there is none other God almyghtye but he. He hath chastened vs for oure mysdedes/ and for his awne mercy sake shall he saue vs.

Consyder then/how he hath dealth wt you/ & prayse him with feare & drede, and magnifye the euerlastyng kyng in youre workes. I wyll praye hym euē in the lande of my captyuyte/for he hath shewed his maiestie vnto a sinfull people. Turne you therfore O ye synners and do righteousnes before God, & be ye sure/ that he wyll shew his mercy vpō you. As for me & my soule/ we wyll reioyse in God. O prayse the Lord all ye his chosen/ holde the dayes of gladnesse/ & be thankfull vnto him. O Jerusalē thou citie of God/the Lorde hath punished the for the worckes of thyne awne handes. O prayse the Lorde in thy good thinges/& geue thākes to the euerlastynge God that he may buylde vp his tabernacle agayne in the, that he maye call agayne vnto the all soch as be in captyuyte/ & that thou mayest haue ioye for euermore. With a fayre lyght shalt thou shyne/and all the endes of the world shal honoure the. The people shall come vnto ỹ frō farre/they shall bringe gyftes/ & worshyp the Lorde in the/ & thy lande shall they haue for a Sanctuary/ for they shall call vpō the greate name in ỹ.

C Cursed shall they be that despyse the/ and all that blaspheme the shalbe condempned: but blessed shall they be that buylde the vp. As for the thou shalt reioyse in thy chyldrē/ for they all shalbe blessed, & gathered togeather vnto the Lorde. Blessed are they all that loue the & be glad of thy peace Prayse thou the Lorde/ O my soule/ for the Lorde oure God hath deliuered his citie Jerusalem frō all her troubles. I wyll counte my selfe happye yf my sede remayne to se the clearnes of Jerusalem.

The gates of Jerusalem shalbe buylded with Saphyre & Smaragde/ & all the compase of her walles with precious stones. All her stretes shalbe paued with whyte marble stone/ and in all her stretes shall Alleluya be sunge Praysed be the Lorde/which hath exalted her, that his kyngdome maye be vpon her for euermore. Amen. And so Tobiah made an ende of his talkynge.

C Tobiah prophecyeth the destruccyon of Nynyue. His sonne returneth to Rages after the decesse of his father and mother.

C The.xiij. Chapter.

AND after that Tobiah had gotten his sight agayne he lyued.xlij. yares/ & sawe his childers chyldren. Now whē he was an.C.& .xij. yeare olde/he dyed: & was buried honorably in Nynyue. For when he was fyue & fyftye yeares of age, he lost the light of bys eyes/ & when he was thre score yeare olde, he gat his sight agayne. The residue of his life led he in ioye/ and increased well in the feare of God/ & departed in peace.

But in the houre of his death he called vnto hym his sonne Tobiah & seuē nōge spryngaldes his sonnes chyldren / and sayde vnto them: The destruccyō of Nynyue is at hand/ for the worde of the Lorde can not fayle/and oure brethrē that are scatred out of the lande of Israel/ shall come thyther agayne. And the whole lande of it that hath bene waste/ shalbe tilled: and the house of God that was brent in it, shalbe buylded agayne/ & all soch as feare God shall returne thyther: the Heathen also shall forsake their Idols, & come to Jerusalem/ & dwell there/and all the kyngs of the earth shalbe glad of her/and worshyp the Lorde God of Israel.

And therfore my chyldrē/heare youre father: Serue the Lorde in faythfulnes/ seke after his wyll/and do the thing that pleaseth hym. Commaunde youre childrē that they do right/geue almes/be myndeful of God/ and euer to be thankfull vnto hym in trueth and with all their power. Heare me therfore my chyldren/& abyde not here: but in what daye soeuer ye haue buryed youre mother besyde me/get you frō hence. For I se/that the wyckednesse of it shall bringe it to destruccyon and ende.

After the death of his mother/Tobiah departed awaye from Nynyue/with his wyfe & chyldren, & with his childers childrē & came agayne to hys father and mother in lawe/ & founde thē whole & in a good age/& toke the care of them. And he closed their eyes/& was heyre vnto all Rageles goodes / & sawe the fyfth generacyon & childers childrē. And when he was.xcix. yeare of age/he died in the feare of the Lorde/& hys kynsfolkes buryed him. And all his posterite cōtinued in a good lyfe/& holy conuersacyon: so that they were loued and accepted bothe of God and men/ and of all the people of the lande.

C The ende of the boke of Tobiah.

The boke of Judith.

The buyldynge of Egbathanis. The byctory of Nabuchodonosor agaynst Arphaxath. The messengers of Nabuchodonosor are dyspysed.

The fyrst Chapter.

ARphaxat the Kynge of ye Medes subdued many people vnto hys domynyon / and buylded a noble stronge cite/ which he called Egbathanis. The walles of it made he of fre stone / foure squared/ seuentye cubytes hye / & xxx. cubites brode. He made towres therevpon of an hundreth cubytes hye. But vpō the foure corners euery side was twētye cote brode. He made the portes in ye heygth/ lyke as the towres. Thys Kynge trusted in his mighty host/ & in his glorious charettes.

B So in the twelfth yeare of hys raygne it happened/ that Nabuchodonosor the Kynge of the Assyrians (which raygned in the great cyte of Ninive) fought agaynst Arphaxat, & ouercame him in the greate felde called Ragau/ beside Euphrates and Tigris & Hadasson in ye feld of Erioth the Kyng of ye Elimes.

Then was the Kyngdome of Nabuchodonosor exalted / & hys herte was lyft vp: & he sent vnto all them that dwelt in Celicia/ in Damascus in Libanus/ & vnto the Heathen that dwelt in Carmel and Cedar/ and to soch as dwelt in Galile in the greate felde of Esdrelon/ to all thē that were in Samaria/ and beyonde the water of Jordane vnto Jerusalem and the whole lande of Jesse vnto ye mountaynes of Ethiopia. Vnto all these dyd Nabuchodonosor the Kynge of the Assyriās

D sende messaungers. But they all wyth one consent wolde not agree vnto hym / and sent the messaungers agayne emptye / and put them awaye wythout honoure. Then Nabuchodonosor the Kynge toke indignacyon at all those landes/ and swore by hys trone & by hys Kyngdome/ that he wolde be auenged of all those countreys.

Holofernes is sent of Nabuchodonosor to subdue all the worlde. The preparacyon and purlute of Holofernes.

The .ij. Chapter.

IN the .xviij. yeare of Kynge Nabuchodonosor, vpon the .xxij. daye of the fyrst moneth/ it was declared in the courte of Nabuchodonosor the Kynge of the Assyrians/ that he wolde defende hym selfe. So he called vnto hym all ye elders/ al his Captaynes, & men of warre/ & shewed them hys secrete councell, & tolde them that hys purpose was / to bringe the whole earth vnder his domynyon. Now whē they were all contēt wyth this sayinge/ Nabuchodonosor the Kynge called Holofernes the chefe Captayne of his warres and sayde vnto hym: Go thy waye forth agaynst all the Kingdomes of the West/ & specially agaynst those that haue despysed my cōmaundemēt. B Thou shalt spare no realme / all stronge cytyes shalt thou bringe in subiectiō vnto me.

Then Holofernes called together all the Captaynes & rulers of all the power in Assyria, and mustred the soudyers vnto the hoste (lyke as the Kyng commaunded hym) namely/ an hundreth and twentye thousand fightynge men vpon fote/ and twelue thousand archers vpon horsebacke. All his ordynaūce sent he before with an innumerable multitude of camels / so that the hoost was well C prouyded for with oxen/ & small catell/ & that without nōbre. He caused come to be prepared out of all Syria for his host. Moch gold & syluer also toke he out of ye Kynges house. So he toke his iourneye/ he & all his hoost/ with charettes/ horsmen/ & archers: of whō there were so many / that they couered the grounde of the lande/ lyke the grashoppers.

And when he was gone past the borders of the Assyrians/ he came towarde the greate mountaynes of Ange/ which lye vpō the left syde of Celicia: & so he went vp in to all their castels/ & wanne euery stronge holde. As for D the welthye citie of Melothus / he brake it downe/ & spoyled all the chyldren of Tharsis and the Ismaelytes/ which laye towarde the wildernes/ and vpon the South syde of the lande of Chelon. He wente ouer Euphrates also/ and came into Mesopotamia / & brake downe all the hye cytyes that were there/ frō the broke of Mambre tyll a man come to ye see: & he toke the borders in from Celicia vnto the coastes of Japhet toward the South. He caryed awaye all the Madianytes / and spoyled all their goodes: & whosoeuer withstode hym, he slew them with the swerde. After this he went downe into the felde of Damascus in the tyme of haruest/ & brēt vp all the corne & all the trees / & caused the bynes to be cut downe. And ye feare of hym fell vpō all them that dwelt in the earth.

Kynges become myserably subiect to Holofernes. The tyrannie and crueltye of him.

The .iij. Chapter.

TO the Kynges and Princes of all cytyes & landes sent their Embassytours: namely/ they of Syria & Mesopotamia/ Syria Sobal/ & Lybia/ & Celicia / which came to Holofernes/ & sayde: Let thy wrath ceasse towarde vs: It is better for vs to serue ye greate Kyng Nabu-

Nabuchodonosor with oure lynes/and to be subiecte vnto the/then that we shulde dye/ & be slayne/& receaue greater hurte. All oure cytyes and possessyons/all mountaynes and hylles/al feldes/greate & smal catell/shepe/ goates/horses/and camels/all oure goodes & houshold/ be in thy power/vnder thy subiecpon be it all together. Be oure selues also & oure chyldren wyue thyne awne/come vnto vs a peaceable Lorde/and vse oure seruyce at thy pleasure.

26 Then came Holofernes downe from the mountaynes with horsmen & greate power/ and conquered all stronge fensed cytyes, and all that dwelt in the lande. And out of all cytyes he tooke strōg men/ & soch as were mete for the warre/to helpe hym. There came soch a feare also vpō those countrees, that the indwellers of all the cities the Princes & Rulers/and the people together/ wente forth to mete hym as he came/ & receaued hym honorably with garlandes & torches/with daunces, tabrettes and pypes.

¶ Neuertheles though they dyd thys/ yet might they not swage his rygorous stomak: but he destroyed their cytyes/ & hewed downe their woddes. For Nabuchodenosor & kyng had cōmaunded hym, that he shulde rote out all the Goddes of the lande: to the intent that he only myght be called and taken for God/ of the nacyons which Holofernes with hys power brought vnder hym. So went he thorow Syria Sobal/and thorow all Appamia/ & all Mesopotamia/ came to the Idumeans/ in the lande of Gabaa and Septopoly/ & toke their cytyes/ and remayned there xxx. dayes/ wherin he caused al ỹ whole multitude of his Host to be gathered together.

¶ Israel requyreth help of God/agaynst Holofernes. They fast and prayr.

¶ The.iiij.Chapter.

When the chyldren of Israel that dwelt in Iewry heard thys, they were sore afrayed of hym. There came soch trembling also & feare vpon thē/ that they sorowed he shulde do vnto the cytie of Jerusalem & the temple of the Lorde/as he had done to other cytyes & their temples. So they sent into all Samaria rounde aboute vnto Jericho/ toke in & occupyed all the toppes of the mountaynes/ made fast the townes wyth walles/ and prepared corne for them agaynst the battayll.

Eliachim also ỹ Prest wrote vnto all thē that dwelt towarde Esdrelon (whych lyeth ouer agaynst the greate felde by Dothaim) & vnto all those by whom men myght haue passage vnto them/ that they shulde take in the wayes of the mountaynes/ wherby there myght be any waye and passage to Jerusalem, & that they shulde holde dylygent watch where any straite waye was betwixt ỹ mountaynes. And the chyldren of Israel dyd as Eliachim the Prest of the Lorde had commaunded them. And all the people cryed earnestly/& humbled their soules with fastyngs & prayers, they & their wyues The Prestes put on heatrye clothes/ and layed the ponge babes before the temple of the Lorde/& couered the aulter of the Lo[illegible] cloth. And w one accorde they cr[illegible] vnto the Lorde God of Israel/that their chyldrē should not be geuen into a pray/& their wyues into a spoyle, that their cities shulde not be layed waste/and that their Sanctuary shulde not be vnhalowed/and so they to be a shame and rebuke vnto the Heathen.

¶ Holofernes is discontent with the Jewes. Achior sheweth vnto Holofernes the meruelles of God done vnto the Jewes/ for whych thynge the rulers vnder Holofernes were very angry with him.

¶ The.v.Chapter.

And worde came to Holofernes the Prynce of the warres of the Assyrians/ that the chyldren of Israel prepared them selues to make resystaunce/& how they had stopped ỹ wayes betwixte the mountaynes. Then was he exceadyng wroth/and called all the Princes of Moab/& the Captaynes of Ammon/ & sayd vnto thē: Tell me/ what people is this/ that kepeth in the mountaynes? Or what maner of cytyes are they? what is their power? Or what maner of Host haue they? who is their Captayne? And why do they despise vs (more then al those that dwel in the East) and come not forth to mete vs/ ỹ they myght receaue vs with peace? Then Achior the Captayne of all the Ammonites answered/ and sayde: Syr, yf it please the to heare me/ I wyll tell the the truth before the concernyng this people that dwell in the moũtaynes/and there shall no lye go out of my mouth.

Thys people is of the generacyon of the B Caldees, they dwelt fyrst in Mesopotamia/ for they wold not folowe the goddes of their fathers that were in the lande of the Chaldees/& so forsoke they the customes of their fore fathers (whych had many goddes) and worshipped one God/ that made heauẽ and earth: which also cõmaunded them that they shulde go from thence/and dwell at Haran. Now whẽ there came a dearth in to ỹ whole lande/they wente downe to Egypte/& there they dwelt foure hũdreth yeares/in ỹ which they multyplied so greatly/that their hoost myght not be nombred. And when the kyng of Egypte oppressed them/& subdued them in buyldynge of hys cytyes wyth makynge of claye and bryck/they cried vnto God their Lorde/ which punyshed the whole lande of Egypte with dyuerse plages.

Now when the kynge of Egypte let them
C go their waye & the plage ceased & then followed after thẽ/ to take thẽ/ & to bryng thẽ agayne into hys seruyce/ whyle they were flyenge awaye/ the God of heauẽ opened the see, so ỹ the waters stode fast vpon both the sydes as a wall, & these went thorow the bottome of the see drye shod. In the which place when an innumerable people of the Egipcians followed vpõ thẽ/they were so ouerwhelmed wt the waters/that there remayned not one/to tell them that came after/how it hap-
D pened. So when this people was passed thorow the reed see/ they came in to the wylderne of the mount Synai/ where neuer man myght dwell afore/& where the sonne of mã had neuer rested. There were the bytter waters made swete for them / that they myght drynke/& .xl. yeares had they meate frõ heauen. & whersoeuer they wẽte (without bowe & arowe without buckler or sword their God fought for thẽ/ & caused thẽ to haue the victory. Yee no man was able to hurte this people/except it were so that they departed vnfaythfully frõ the worshypping of the Lorde their God. But as oft as they worshypped any other beside their God/he gaue thẽ ouer to be spoyled, to be slayne/ & to be put to cõfusyõ. Neuertheles as oft as they were sory for departynge from the worshippe of their God/ the same God of heauen gaue them power & strẽgth to withstãde their enemyes.

Moreouer they slew the kyng of the Ca-
E nanites/Iebusites Pherezits, Hethites, Euites & Amorites/& all ỹ mightye in Hesebon/ & toke their landes & cities in possessyon: & so long as they synned not in the syght of their God, it wente well with them/for their God hateth vnrighteousnesse. For in tymes past when they went out of the waye/which God had geuen thẽ/ that they shulde walke in it/ they were destroyed in dyuerse batayles of many nacyons: & many of them were caryed awaye prysoners vnto a straunge countre. But now lately they haue turned thẽselues agayne vnto the Lord their God/& are come together agayne out of the countrees where they were scatred abrode: and thus haue they cõquered these mountaynes/& dwell therin: and as for Jerusalem where their Sanctuary is/they haue it agayne in possessyon.

And therfore my lorde/ make diligent in-
F quysicyõ/yf this people haue done wyckednesse in the syght of their God/ then let vs go vp agaynst thẽ/ for douteles their God shall delyuer thẽ into thy handes/ & subdue them vnto thy power. But yf this people haue not displeased their God/we shall not be able to withstande them/for their God shall defende thẽ/& so shall we be a shame to all the worlde.

Now when Achior had spoken out these
G wordes/all the Princes of Holofernes were wroth/& thought to slaye him/& sayde one to another: what is he this/which darre say/ ỹ the chyldrẽ of Israel are able to wythstande Nabuchodonosor the kynge and hys hoost: where as they are an vnwepened people/ without strẽgth or vnderstãding of ỹ feates of warre: That Achior therfore may knowe that he hath dysceaued vs / we wyll go vp in to the mountaynes: & when the myghty men of thẽ are taken/he also shalbe stycke wt the swerde/ & all people may know/that Nabuchodonosor is the God of the earth/and that there is none other without hym.

Achior is committed into the handes of the Jewes by Holofernes. He is tyed to a tree/but is lowsed of the Jewes. The prayer of the people. Achior is comforted of the Jewes.

The.vi. Chapter.

O whẽ they had left of speaking/ Holofernes toke sore indygnacyõ, & sayde vnto Achior. For so moch as thou hast prophecyed vnto vs/ sayenge: that the people of Israell shalbe defended of their God/ I wyll shewe the / that there is no God but Nabuchodonosor. Yee when we slaye them all as one man, thou also shalt perysh with them thorow the swerde of the Assyrians / and all Israel shalbe destroyed wyth the / and then shalt thou see/ that Nabuchodonosor is the Lorde of the whole earth. Then shall the swerde of my knyghthode go thorow thy sydes / and thou shalt fall downe stycke amõge the woũded of Israel/ & shalt not come to thy selfe agayne/but be vtterly destroyed with thẽ. But yf thou thinckest thy prophecy to be true / why doest doest thou then chaūge thy colour? why arte thou afrayed? Thinkest thou that my wordes

B are not able to be performed? But ꝑ thou mayest know / ꝑ thou shalt kepe these thinges with them / beholde / frō this houre forth will I sende the vnto yonder people / that when the punishmēt of my swerd (which they haue worthely deserued) falleth vpon them / thou mayest be punyshed with them.

So Holofernes cōmaunded hys seruaūtes to take Achior / & to cary hym vnto Bethulia / and to delyuer hym into the handes of the chyldren of Israel. Then Holofernes seruaūtes toke hym / & wēt thorow ꝑ playne felde. But whē they drewe nye vnto the moūtaynes / the slynge casters came out agaynst them: Neuerthelesse they gat them awaye by the syde of the mountayne / & bounde Achior hande & fote to a tree / & so left him bound wt withyes / & turned agayne vnto their Lorde.

Notwithstandynge the chyldrē of Israel wente downe frō Bethulia / came vnto him / lowsed hym / brought him vnto Bethulia / set him in the myddest of the people / and asked him what the matter was / that the Assyrias had left hym bounde.

C Ozias the sonne of Micha of the tribe of Symeon / & Charmini (which is also called Gothoniel) were the principall rulers at the same tyme. Now when Achior stode in the middest of the Senatoures / & before thē all he tolde them / what answere he gaue Holofernes, to the thinge that he asked him / and how Holofernes people wolde haue slayne him for so sayinge / & how Holofernes hym selfe was wroth / & commaunded hym for the same cause to be delyuered vnto the Israelites: that when he ouercame the chyldren of Israel he myght commaunde Achior also to be put to death wyth dyuerse tormētes / because he sayde: the God of heauē is their defender. And when Achior had playnely tolde out all these thinges / all ꝑ people fell downe vpon their faces / prayenge the Lorde / and poured out their prayers together vnto the Lorde / with a generall complaynte and wepynge / & sayde: O Lorde God of heauen and of earth / beholde their pryde / & loke vpō oure lowlynes / and cōsyder how it standeth with thy kynnetes / & make it to be knowne / ꝑ thou forsakest not those / which holde them fast by the / & how that thou bryngest them lowe / ꝑ presume of them selues / & make their boast in their awne strēgth. So when the weping
D & prayer of the people (which they had made the whole daye longe) was ended / they comforted Achior / sayenge: The God of oure fathers / whose power & strēgth thou hast praysed / shall so rewarde the / that thou shalt rather se their destruccyon. When the Lorde oure God then shall geue his seruaūtes this liberte / God be also with the amonge vs: so that yt it please the / thou wyth thyne mayest dwell with vs.

Now when Ozias had ended the counsell / he toke him into his house / and made a great supper / called the elders to it / and so they refreshed them selues after the fastynge. And afterwarde was all the people called together which made their prayers all the myght longe in the congregacyon / and besought ꝑ God of Israel for helpe.

C Bethulia is beseged of Holofernes. The people requyreth helpe of God. They of Bethulia wolde geue ouer the cytye for wante of water. The prayer of the people with teares and lamentacyon.

C The.vij. Chapter.

THe nexte daye / Holofernes commaūded his host / to go vp agaynst Bethulia. There were an. C. and xx. thousande fyghtynge men on fote / & two & twentye thousande horsmen / besyde the preparing of thē that were wōne: & came to them on euery syde out of the coūtrees and cyties which he had takē. All these prepared thē selues vnto the battayl agaynst ꝑ Israelites / & came on by ꝑ hyll syde, vnto the toppe ꝑ loketh ouer agaynst Dothaim / from the place which is called Belma / vnto Chelmon that lyeth towarde Esdrelon.

Now when the chyldren of Israel sawe so
B greate a multytude of the Assyrias / they fell downe flat vpō the grounde / strawed ashes vpon their heades / & prayed with one accord / that the God of Israel wolde shew his mercy vpon his people. And so they toke their weapens / & sat betwixte the mountaynes in the narow place / & kepte the waye daye & night. But whyle Holofernes was goinge aboute / he founde the water sprynge / which frō the South syde was conueyed vnto the cyte by a condyte: thys commaunded he to be dyrecte another waye / & to cut their condyte in sunder. There were welles also not farre from the walles / whych they bled secretly / more for pleasure then for necessyte.

Then wente the Ammonytes & the Moabytes vnto Holofernes / & sayde: The chyldrē C of Israel trust nether in speare nor arowe / but haue taken vn / & kepe the mountaynes & hylles. That thou mayest ouercome thē ther fore without the strykynge of any battayll / sett men to kepe the welles / that they drawe no water out of them: so shalt thou destroye thē without swerde / or at the least they shall be so feble / that they must be fayne to geue ouer the cyte / which they thynche not able to be wonne / for so moche as it lyeth in the mountaynes. These wordes pleased Holofernes well and all his men of warre / and he

And when this watch had endured twen tye dayes/ ꝑ Cisternes and all that had wa-ter/ fayled them that dwelt in the cite of Bethulia/ so that in ꝑ whole cite they had not dr̃ynke ynough for one daye/ for the people had water geuen them daylie in a measure. Then came the men and wemen/ yonge per-sonnes and childrẽ all vnto Osias/ and sayd all with one voyce: God be iudge betwyxte vs and the/ for thou hast dealt euell with vs: thou woldest not speake peaceably wyth the kynge of ꝑ Assyrians/ therfore hath God solde vs in their handes/ and there is noman to helpe vs where as we are brought downe before their eyes in thirst & greate destruc-cyon. Therfore gather now together all the people that be in the cite/ that we maye all yelde oure selues willyngly vnto the people of Holofernes: for better it is ꝑ we be cap-tyue and prayse the Lorde with oure lyues/ then to bellayne and perishe/ and to be laugh-ed to scorne and shamed of euery man whẽ we se oure wyues and chyldren dye before oure eyes. We take heauen & earth this daye to recorde/ and the God of oure fathers (which punysheth vs accordynge to the de-seruyng of oure synnes) and geue you war-nyng/ that ye geue vp the cyte now in to the power of Holofernes hoost/ that oure ende maye be shorte wt the swerde/ which els shal endure longe for wãte of water & for thirst.

¶ When they had spoken out these wordes/ there was a greate weppyng and howlynge in the whole congregacion/ and that of eue-ry man/ and they crydan whole houre lõge vnto God wyth one voyce/ sayẽge: we haue synned wyth oure fathers/ we haue done amysse/ we haue dealt wyckedly. Thou that art gracious/ haue mercy vpon vs/ punysh oure vnrighteousnes wt thyne awne scourge/ & geue not those ouer that knowledge the/ vnto a people whych knoweth the not/ lest they saye amonge the Heythen: where is their God?

And when they were so weery wyth this cryenge and weppynge/ that they helde their tunges/ Osyas stode vp with watrye eyes/ and sayde: O take good hertes vnto you/ (deare brethren) and be of good cheare/ and let vs wayte yet these fyue dayes for mer-cy of the Lord: peraduenture he shall cut a-waye his indignaciõ/ & geue glory vnto his name. But yf he helpe vs not whẽ these fiue dayes are past/ we shal do as ye haue sayde.

¶ Of ꝑ vertuous woman Judith/ whych reproueth the auncientes because they tempted the Lorde. She also moueth them to encorage & herten ꝑ people/ and sheweth her counsell agaynst ꝑ enemyes of ꝑ Jewes.

¶ The. viij. Chapter.

AND it happened when these wordes I came to the eares of Judith a wyd-dowe, whych was the daughter of Merari, ꝑ sonne of Idor ꝑ sonne of Joseph, the sonne of Oziah, the sonne of Elai the sonne of Jammor, the sonne of Ie-heon the sonne of Raphoim, the sonne of A-chitob/ the sonne of Melchia, the sonne of Suam, the sonne of Nathania/ the sonne of Salathiel, the sonne of Simeon, the sonne of Ruben. And her housbãd was called Ma-nasses/ which dyed in the dayes of the barlye haruest. For whyle he was byndynge the sheues together in ꝑ felde, ꝑ heate came vpõ his head, and he dyed at Bethulia his cyte/ & there was he buried beside his fathers. Now was Judith his desolate wyddowe thre yeare and syx monethes. And in the vyer partes of her house she made her selfe a prety chãber/ where she dwelt/ beynge closed in wyth her maydens. She ware a sacke of heare, and fasted all the dayes of her lyfe/ excepte the Sabbathes, & newemones & the solempne dayes that the people of Israel kepte. She was a very fayre & beutifull personne. Her housbande also had left her greate ryches/ a plenteous housholde/ greate vnmouable possessions & many catell. This Judith was a woman of a very good reporte wyth euery one for she feared the Lorde greatly, and there was no body that spake an euell worde of her.

When this Judith herde/ how Osyas had promysed the people/ that after the fyfte daye he wolde geue vp the cyte vnto the Assyrians/ she sent for the elders Cham-bri and Charmyn/ and when they came to her/ she sayde: what thynge is this/ wherin Osyas hath cõsented/ that yf God helpe not wythyn fyue dayes/ he wyl geue ouer the cite to ꝑ Assyrians? What are ye/ ye tẽpte the Lorde? This deuice optayneth no mercy of God/ but prouoketh him vnto wrath and displeasure. Wyl ye set ꝑ mercy of ꝑ Lorde a time & appointe him a daye after youre wil?

Neuertheles for so moch as the Lorde is pacyent/ lett vs rather amende oure selues/ pourynge out teares/ and beseechyng him of grace. For God threateneth not as a man/ ne-ther wyll he be prouoked vnto wrath as the childrẽ of men. And therfore let vs hertely fall downe before him/ and serue him with a meke spryte/ and wyth weppynge eyes saye vnto the Lorde/ that he deale with vs accor-dynge to his awne wyll and mercy: that lyke as oure hert is now vexed/ & brought lowe thorow the pryde of them/ it maye so be cõ-forted thorow his grace: in so moch as we fo-lowe not the synnes of oure fathers/ which forsoke their God/ & worshipped other god-des: for the which synne they perished with the swerde, were spoyled & brought to shame of all theyr enemyes. As for vs, we knowe none other God but onely him, for whose cõforte lett vs tary wyth mekenesse. He shall requyre & make inquisiciõ for oure bloude, from ỹ veracyons of oure enemyes: he shall bringe downe all the Heythen, that ryse vp agaynst vs, and put them to dishonoure, euen the Lorde oure God.

Therfore deare brethren, seynge ye are ỹ honorable and elders in the people of God, vnto whom all the people haue respecte, & vpon whom the lyfe of the people standeth, lyft vp their hertes with youre exortacyon, ỹ they may call to remembraũce, how oure fathers also in tymes past were tempted, ỹ they myght be proued, yf they worshypped theyr God aryght. They ought to remẽbre, how oure father Abraham beynge tempted, and tryed thorow many tribulacyous, was founde a louer and frende of God. So was Isaac, so was Jacob, so was Moses, & all they that pleased God, beynge tryed thorow many troubles were foũde stedfast in faith Agayne, they that receaued not their tentacyons with the feare of God, but put thẽ selues forth with vnpacyency and murmuring agaynst God, perysshed of the destroyer, and were slayne of serpẽtes. And therfore shulde not we vndertake to be auenged, for ỹ thyng that is done vnto vs: but to consyder, that all these punyshmentes are farre lesse then oure synnes & mysdedes. Beleuynge also, ỹ thys correccyon commeth vnto vs (as to the seruauntes of God) for amendment, and not for oure destruccyon.

Then sayde Osyas & the elders vnto Judyth: All that thou speakest, is true, and no man can reproue thy wordes. Praye thou for vs now therfore vnto God, for thou art an holy woman, & fearest God. And Judyth sayde vnto them: Seynge ye knowe, ỹ my wordes are of God, then proue my coũcell & deuyce, yf it be of God: & beseche God, ỹ he will bringe my councell to good ende.

Thus haue I deuysed: Ye shall stande this nyght before the porte, and I wyll go forth with Abra my mayde: Praye ye therfore vnto God, that he wyll graciously remembre his people of Israel wythyn fyue dayes, as ye haue sayde. As for the thynge that I go in hãde wyth all, aske ye no questyõs of it, tyll I open it vnto you myself: do ye nothyng els but praye vnto the Lorde youre God for me. Then Osyas the prynce of the people of Juda sayde vnto her: Go thy waye in peace the Lorde be wyth the, that we maye be auenged of oure enemyes. And so they wente frõ her agayne.

¶ The .xi. Chapter.

Now when they were gone theyr way, Judith wẽte in to hir oratory, put on an hearrye smock, strowed asshes vpon hir head fel downe before the Lord, & cryed vnto him, sayẽge O Lord God of my father Symeon, which gauest him a swerde for a defence agaynst ỹ enemyes, that shed vyolence & wylfulnes and that rauyshed ỹ virgyn & put her to dishonesty. Thou ỹ gauest theyr wyues in to a praye, and their daughters in to captyuite, and all their praye for a spoyle vnto thy seruauntes, which bare a zele vnto the, helpe me wyddow, O Lorde my God, I beseche the. For thou hast done all thynges from the begynnynge, and loke what thou hast taken in hande and deuysed, it came euer to passe. For all thy wayes are prepared, & thy iudgmẽtes are done in thy euerlastyng for knowlege. O loke now vpon the armyes of ỹ Assyriãs, lyke as it was thy pleasure sometyme to loke vpon the hoost of the Egyptyãs, whẽ they beynge wrapened, persecuted thy seruauntes, & put their trust in their charrettes horsmen, and in the multitude of theyr men of warre. But thou lokedest vpõ their hoost castyng a thyck darcknes before them: and when they came in to the depe, the waters ouerwhelmed them.

Euen so Lorde lett it go with these, that trust in ỹ power and multitude of their mẽ of warre, in theyr charettes, arowes & speares, and knowe not, that thou onely art oure God, which destroyest warres from the begynnynge, and that thou art the Lorde. O lyft vp thyne arme now lyke as euer from ỹ begynnynge, and in thy power bringe their power to naught, cause theyr myght to fall in thy wrath. They make theyr boast, ỹ they wyll vnhalowe and defyle thy Sanctuary, and to wayst the tabernacle of thy name and to cast downe ỹ horne of thyne aulter wyth theyr swerde. Bringe to passe (O Lord) that the pryde of the enemye maye be cut downe with hys awne swerde that he maye be take with the snare of his eyes in me and ỹ thou mayest smyte hym wyth ỹ lyppes of my loue. O geue me a stedfast mynde, that I maye despyse him and his strength, & that I maye destroye hym.

Thys shall bringe thy name an euerlastynge remembraunce, yf ỹ hande of a woman ouerthrowe him. For thy power (O Lord) standeth not in ỹ power of mẽ, nether hast thou eny pleasure in ỹ strength of horses. There was neuer proude personne that pleased the, but in the prayer of the humble and meke hath thy pleasure bene euermore.

¶ Then

O thou God of the heauens/thou maker of ȳ waters/& Lorde of all creatures/ heare me poore womā/callyng vpon the/and puttyng my trust in thy mercy. Remembre thy couenaunt O Lorde/ and mynister wordes in my mouth / & stablysh this deuyce in my hert, that thy house maye cōtynue stil in holynes/and that all the Heithen maye knowe and vnderstande / ȳ thou art God / and that there is none other but thou.

¶Judith decketh her selfe to go to Holofernes. The blessyng that the Elders gaue Judith. Holofernes is in loue with Judith.

¶The.x. Chapter.

AND whan she had left of crygē vnto the Lorde / she rose vp from the place, where she had lyen flat before the Lorde, an called her mayde / went downe into her house / layed ȳ heartie cloth from her / put of the garmentes of hir wyddowhode, washed her body / anoynted hir selfe w̄ precious thing\ of swete sauoure/ broyded and plated her hearre / set an hoode vpon hir heade / and put on soche apparell as belongeth vnto gladnesse / slippers vpon hir fete, armelettes, spāges, earynges, fynger rynges / and decke herselfe with all hir best araye.

The Lorde gaue her also a speciall beutye and kaynesse(for all this deckinge of hir selfe was not done for eny wolupteousnesse and pleasure of the flesh / but of a right discrecion and vertue / therfore dyd the Lorde increase hir bewtye)so ȳ she was exceadynge amyable and welfauoured in all mens eyes. She gaue hir mayde also a bottell of wyne/a pot with oyle/pottage / cake bred & chese/and wente hir waye.

Now whan she came to the porte of the B cite / she founde Ozias and the elders of the cite waitinge there. Which whan they sawe her/they were astonyed/& marueled greatly at her bewty/neuertheles they asked no question at her/but let her go/sayenge: The God of oure fathers geue ȳ his grace / and with his power perfourme all the deuyce of thy hert: that Jerusalem maye reioyse ouer the/ and that thy name maye be in the nombre of the holy & righteous. And all they ȳ were there, sayde w̄ one voyce: so be it, so be it. Judith made hir prayer vnto the Lorde, & wente out at the porte, she & hir mayde.

And as she was goinge downe the mountayne/ it happened that aboute the springe of the daye / the spyes of ȳ Assirians met w̄ her/and toke her sayenge: whence commest thou? Or whither goest thou? She answered: I am a daughter of ȳ Hebrues/ and am fled from them, for I knowe, that they shalbe geuē vnto you to be spoyled: because they thought scorne to yelde thē selues vnto you / that they might fynde mercy in youre sight. Therfore haue I deuyced by my selfe after this maner: I will go before the prynce Holofernes/ and tell him all them secretes / and will shewe him howe he maye come by them/ and wynne them / so that not one man of his hoost shall perish.

And whan these men had herde hir wordes / & considered hir fayre face / they were C astonyed(for they wondred at hir excellent bewtye) & sayd vnto her: Thou hast saued thy life by fyndyng out this deuyce/ ȳ thou woldest come downe to oure lorde: & be thou sure/ that whan thou cōmest vnto him, he shall intreate the well/ & thou shalt please him at ȳ hert. So they brought her in to Holofernes pauylion/ and tolde him of her. Now when she came in before him / immediatly he was ouercome & take w̄ hir bewty Then sayd his seruauntes. who wolde despyse the people of the Jewes / that haue so fayre wemē? Shulde we not by reason fight against thē for these? So whē Judith sawe Holofernes sytting in a canapy/ ȳ was wrought of purple/ sylke/ golde / Smaragde and precious stones. she loked fast vpō him / & fell downe vpō ȳ earth. And Holofernes seruaūtes toke her vp agayne/at their lordes cōmaūdement.

¶Holofernes requyreth of Judas the cause of her cōmyng/ which geueth hym a suttell answer.

¶The.xi. Chapter.

THen sayd Holofernes vnto her: Be of good chere / & feare not in thyne W hert / for I neuer hurte man / that wolde serue Nabuchodonosor the kynge. As for thy people/ yf they had not despysed me. I shulde not haue lift vp a speare agaynst thē. But tell me now/ what is ȳ cause ȳ thou art departed from thē / and wherfore art thou come vnto vs.

And Judith sayde vnto hym: Syr/ vnderstande the wordes of thy handmayden: for yf thou wilt do after ȳ wordes of thy handmayden / the Lorde shall bringe thy matter to a prosperous effecte. As truly as Nabuchodonosor a lorde of the lande lyueth / & as truly as hys power lyueth / whych is in the to the punyshment of all men that go wrōg/ all men shall not onely be subdued vnto hym thorow the, but all the beestes also of ȳ feld. For all people speake of thy prudent actyuyte / and it hath euer bene reported / how thou onely art good and myghtye in all hys kyngdome/and thy discrecion is commended in all landes.

The thynge is manifest also, that Achior B spake/and it is wel knowne / what thou cōmaūdedst to do vnto him. For thys is playne and of a suretye / that oure God is so wroth with vs (by the reason of oure synnes) that he hath shewed by hys Prophetes vnto the people, how that for their synnes he wyll delyuer them ouer vnto the enemye. And for so moch as the chyldren of Israell knowe that they haue so displeased their God / they are sore afrayed of the.

They suffre greate honger also / and for wante of water, they are deed now in a maner. Moreouer they are appointed to slaye all their catell / that they maye dryncke the bloude of them: and are purposed to spende all the holy ornamentes of their God (which he hath forbydden them to touch) for corne / wyne and oyle. Seynge now that they do these thynges / it is a playne case / that they must nedes be destroyed. Which when I thy handmayden perceaued / I fled from them / and the Lorde hath sent me vnto the / to shewe the these thynges. For I thy handmayde worshipe God euen here now beside the / and thy handemayden shall goo forth / and I wyll make my prayer vnto God / & he shall tell me / when he will rewarde the their synne: then shall I come & shewe the & bringe the thorow the myddest of Jerusalem / so that thou shalt haue all the people of Israel / as a shepe without a shepeherde: there shall not so moch as one dogg barcke agaynst the / for these thynges are shewed me by the prouydence of God: and for so moch as God is displeased with them / he hath sent me to tell & the same.

These wordes pleased Holofernes and all his seruauntes / which maruelled at the wysdome of her / and sayde one to another: there is not such a woman vpon earth / in beawtye and discrecyon of wordes. And Holofernes sayde vnto her: God hath done well / that he hath sent the hyther before thy people / that thou mayest geue them in to oure handes. And for so moch as thy promyse is good / yt thy God performe it vnto me / he shal be my God also / and thou shalt be excellent & great in the courte of Nabuchodonosor / and thy name shalbe spoken of in all the lande.

¶ Holofernes commaundeth that Judith be well intreated. She desyreth lycence to go out in the nyght season to praye / and obtayneth it. Magao is sent vnto her / to moue her to come in to Holofernes to a bāquet / and she commeth. Holofernes is dronken.

¶ The .xij. Chapter.

Then commaunded he her to go in / where his treasure laye / and charged that she shulde haue her dwellynge there / and appointed what shuld be geuē her from his table. Judith answered him / & sayde: As for the meate that thou hast commaunded to geue me / I maye not eate of it as now (lest I displease my God) but will eate of such as I haue brought with me. Then sayde Holofernes vnto her: If these thynges that thou hast brought with the fayle / what if we do vnto the? And Judith sayde: As truly as thou lyuest my lorde / thy handmayden shall not spende all thys / tyll God haue brought to passe in my hande / the thynges that I haue deuysed.

So his seruauntes brought her in to the tent, where as he had appointed. And as she was goynge in / she desyred that she myght haue leue to go forth by nyght & before daye / to her prayer and to make intercessyon vnto the Lorde. Then commaunded Holofernes hys Chamberlaynes / that she shulde go out & in at her pleasure, to praye vnto God thre dayes.

And so in the nyght season she wente forth in to the valley of Bethulia / and washed her selfe in the well water. Then wente she vp / and besought the Lorde God of Israel that he wolde prosperr her waye / for the deliuerance of his people. And so she wente in / and remayned clene in her tent / tyll she toke her meate in the euenynge.

Upon the fourth daye it happened / that Holofernes made a costly supper vnto hys seruauntes, & sayde vnto Magao hys Chamberlayne: Go thy waye / and councell thys Hebrues / that she may be wyllyng to consent to kepe company with me. For it were a shame vnto all the Assyrians / that a woman shulde so laugh a man to scorne / & she were come from hym vnmedled with all.

Then wente Magao vnto Judith / & sayd: Let not the good daughter be afrayed / to come in to my Lorde / that she maye be honoured before hym, & she may eate & drincke wyne, & be mery with hym. Vnto whom Judith answered: Who am I / that I shuld saye my Lorde naye? whatsoeuer is good before his eyes / I shall do it: and loke what is hys pleasure / that shall I thynke well done / as longe as I lyue.

So she stode vp / and decked herselfe with her apparell / and wente in / and stode before hym. And Holofernes herte was whole moued / so that he brent in desyre towarde her. And Holofernes sayde vnto her: drynke now and sytt downe / and be mery / for thou hast founde fauoure before me. Then sayde Judith: Syr, I wyll drynke, for my mynde is meryer to daye / then euer it was in all my lyfe. And she toke and ate and dranke before hym / the thynges that her mayden had prepared for her. And Holofernes was mery in her / and dranke more wyne / then euer he dyd afore in hys lyfe.

¶ Holo-

Holofernes sleapeth for very dronckenes/and Judith cutteth of his heade/and goeth therwith to her owne people: of whom she is receaued with ioye. They geue thanckes vnto God/ for their deliueraunce. Judith speaketh vnto Achior/ which marueleth at her feate done to Holofernes.

¶ The xiij. Chapter.

NOw when it was late in ỹ nyght hys seruauntes made haste euery man to hys lodgynge. And Bagao shut the chamber dores, and went his waye/ for they were all ouerladen wyth wyne. So was Judith alone in ỹ chamber. As for Holofernes he laye vpon the bed all dronckē, & of very dronckennes fell a slepe.

Then commaunded Judith her maydē, to stande without before the dore/ & to waite. And Judith stode before the bed/ makynge her prayer with teares, & moued her lyppes secretly/ & sayd: Strengthē me O Lord God of Israel, & haue respecte vnto the workes of my handes in this houre that thou mayst set vp thy cyte of Jerusalē/ lyke as thou hast promysed: O graunte that by the I may perfourme the thynge/ wherin I haue deuysed thorow the beleue that I haue in the.

B And when she had spoken this, she wente to the bedsteade, and lowsed the swerde that hanged vpon it/ & drew it out. Then toke she holde of the heayre lockes of his heade/ and sayde: Strengthē me O Lorde God in thys houre: & with that/ she gaue hym two strokes vpon the neck/ and smote of his heade. Then toke she the canapya waye/ and rolled the deed body a fyde. Immediatly she gat her forth/ & deliuered ỹ head of Holofernes vnto her maydē/ & bad her put it in her walet.

And so these two wente forth together after their custome/ as though they wolde praye, and so passed by the hoost/ and came thorow the valley vnto the porte of the cyte. And Judith cryed afarre of vnto the watchmen vpō the walles: Open the gates (sayde she) for God is with vs/ which hath shewed his power in Israel. And when they hearde her voyce/ they called the elders of the cytye together. And they came all to mete her/ litle and greate younge & olde/ for they thought not that she shulde haue come so soone. So they lyghted candels/ and gathered aboute her euerichone: but she wente vp into an hye place/ and caused sylence to be proclamed.

C When euery man now helde his tonge/ Judith sayde: O prayse ỹ Lorde oure God/ for he hath not despysed/ nor forsaken them/ that put their trust in hym: & in me hys hādmaydē he hath perfourmed his mercy which he promysed vnto the house of Israel: yee in my hande this same nyght hath he slayne the enemy of hys people.

And with that she toke forth the heade of Holofernes out of the wallet/ and shewed it them sayinge: Beholde the head of Holofernes the Captayne of the Assyrians/ & this is the canapy, wherin he laye in his dronkēnes: where the Lorde oure God hath slayne hym by the hande of a woman.

But as truly as the Lord lyueth, his Angell hath kepte me/ goinge thyther/ remaynyng there/ & cōmynge hyther agayne from thence. And the Lord hath not suffred me his handmayden to be defyled, but without any filthines of sinne hath he brought me agayne vnto you: & that with greate victory, so that I am escaped/ & ye delyuered. O geue thankes vnto hym euerychone/ for he is gracyous/ and his mercy endureth for euer.

So they praysed the Lorde altogether/ D and gaue thankes vnto him. And to her they sayde: The Lord hath blessed ỹ in his power/ for thorow the he hath brought oure enemyes to naught. And Ozias the chefe ruler of the people of Israel/ sayde vnto her: Blessed art thou of the Lorde the hye God/ aboue all wemen vpon earth.

Blessed be the Lorde/ the maker of heauen and earth, which hath gyded the a ryght to wounde and to smyte of the head of the Captayne of oure enemyes. For this daye he hath made thy name so honorable/ that thy prayse shall neuer come out of the mouth of men/ which shall all waye remēbre & power of the Lord: seing thou hast not sparedthyne awne selfe, but put the in ieopardy/ consydering the anguysh and trouble of thy people/ and so hast holped their fall before God oure Lorde. And all ỹ people sayde: Amen/ Amē.

Achior also was called/ & he came. Then E sayde Judith vnto hym: The God of Israel vnto whō thou gauest witnes/ that he wold be auēged of his enemyes/ euen he hath this nyght thorow my hande smytten of the head of all the vnfaythfull. And that thou mayest se that it so is/ beholde this is ỹ head of Holofernes/ which in his presumptuous pryde despysed the God of the people of Israel/ & threatened the with destruccyō/ saying: whē the people of Israel is taken/ I shall cause the also to be stycke with the swerde. When Achior sawe Holofernes head he fell downe vpon his face to the groūde for very anguish & feare/ so ỹ he swowned with all. But after that he was come agayne to hym selfe/ he fell downe before her/ and prayed her, sayinge: Blessed art thou of thy God in all the tabernacles of Jacob: for all the people that heare of thy name/ shall prayse the God of Israel because of the.

¶ The counceil of Judith. Achior being an heathen man/ turneth to God. The Assyrians are afraied of the Jewes.

¶ The.xiiii. Chapter.

IUdith sayd vnto all ỹ people: Bꝛe-thꝛē heare me. Stycke vp this head vpon oure walles / and when ỹ Sunne aryseth / take euery man his weapen / and fall out bydently: not as though ye wolde go besyde thē / but to renne vpō them / wt violence. ¶ When the spyes in ỹ tentes se this / they shall of necessite be compelled to fle backward / and to rayse vp theyr captayne to ỹ battayll. So when theyr captaynes come in to Holofernes pauylion / and fynde ỹ deed body wꝛapped in the bloud / fearfulnes shall fall vpon thē: and when ye perceaue that they fle / folowe them without all care / foꝛ God shall delyuer them vnto you / to be destroyed.

Then Achyoꝛ seynge the power of God which he had shewed vnto the people of Israel / fell of from his Heathenish belefe / and put hys trust in God / and let hym self be circumcised: and so was he nombꝛed among ỹ people of Israel / he and all his posterite vnto thys daye.

Nowas soone as it was daye / they sticke vp Holofernes head vpon the walles / and euery man toke his weapē / and so they wēte out wyth an horrible crye. ¶ When the spyes sawe that / they ranne vnto Holofernes tent. And they that were within the tente / came before hys chamber / and made a greate rushing to wake him vp / because they thought wyth the noyse to haue raysed him. Foꝛ there durst not one of the Assyrians knocke / go in oꝛ open.

But when the captaynes and pynces and all the chefe in the kynge of the Assyrians hoost came together / they sayde vnto the chāberlaynes: Go youre waye in / and wake him vp / foꝛ ỹ myse are crepte out of their holes / and darre pꝛouoke vs vnto battayll.

But when he had herkened perfectly wt hys eares / and coude perceaue no sterynge / he wente nyer to the bed / and lift it vp / and then sawe he the deed body of Holofernes lyenge there with oute a head / welted in hys bloude vpon the earth. Then cried he with loude voyce / and with wepyng rent his clothes / and wente in to Judiths tent / and foūd her not: And so he leapte out vnto the people and sayde: one woman of the Jewes / hath brought all Nabuchodonosoꝛs people to shame. Foꝛ lo / Holofernes lyeth vpon the groūd and hath no head.

¶ When ỹ chefe of the Assyrians hoost herd that, they rente theyr clothes / and there fell an intollerable feare and tremblynge vpon them, soꝛ theyr myndes were soꝛe afrayed. And there was an exceadyng greate crye in the whole hoost.

¶ The flyght of the Assyrians. The pursute of Israel after them. Israel becometh ryche / by the spoyles of the Assyrians. Judith is praysed of Joacim and of the people.

¶ The.xv. Chapter.

NOw when all the hoost herde that Holofernes was headed / theyr mynde and councell fell from thē: and soch a feare came vpon thē / ỹ they vndertoke to defende thē selues by flyēg away: one spake not to another / but hanged downe their heades / left all behynd thē / & made haste to escape from ỹ Hebrues: foꝛ they herde / that they were hastyng to come after with their weapens / and so they fled by the wayes of the feldes / and thoꝛow all the lote pathes of the dales.

And when ỹ children of Israell sawe that they fled / they folowed vpō them / and wente downe wt trōpettes / blowyng and makynge greate crye after thē. As foꝛ the Assyrians / they had no oꝛdre / and kept not them selues together / but fled their waye. Neuertheles ỹ children of Israel fell vpon them with one cōpany and oꝛdre / and discōfited as many as they might gett. And Ozias sent messaungers vnto all the cities and countrees of Israell.

So all the regiōs and euery cittie sent out their best men after thē in harnese / & smote them with the swerde / tyll they came to the vttemost parte of their borders. And ỹ other ỹ were in Bethulia came in to the tentes of the Assyrians / and toke all that they whych were fled had left behynd them / and so they founde great good. And they ỹ came agayne to Bethulia from the battayll / toke with them soch thinges as had bene theirs: there was no nombꝛe of the catell / and of all costly Jewels / so that from the lowest vnto the hyest / they were all made riche of the spoyles of them. And Joachim the Hye prest at Jerusalem / came to Bethulia with all the elders / that they might se Judith.

Now when

¶ Now when she came out vnto them/ they beganne all to prayse her with one voyce/ sayinge: thou worshippe of the cyte of Jerusalem/ thou ioye of Israel/ thou honoure of oure people/ thou hast done manly/ and thy herte is comforted/ because thou hast loued clenlynes & chastyte & hast knowen no man but thyne awne husbande: therfore hath the hande of the Lord comforted the/ and blessed shalt thou be for euer. And all people sayde: so be it/ so be it.

In thy tyme dayes coulde the people of Israel scarse gather vp the spoyles of the Assyrians. But all that belonged vnto Holofernes/ & had bene hys specyally (whether it were of gold/ of syluer/ precyous stones/ clothinge and all ornamentes) they gaue it vnto Judith. And all ꝑ people reioysed/ both wemen/ maydēs/ and yonge people/ with pipes and harpes.

¶ The songe of Judith for the victorye. After the victorye obtayned/ the people commeth to Jerusalem/ to worshippe and prayse God.

¶ The .xvi. Chapter.

Then songe Judith this songe vnto the Lorde: Begynne vnto ꝑ Lorde vpon the tabrettes/ singe vnto the Lord vpon the cymbales. O singe vnto hym a new songe of thankesgeuyng/ be ioyfull & call vpon his name. It is the Lorde that destroyeth warres/ euē the Lorde is his name. Which hath pitched his tentes in the myddest of his people/ that he myght delyuer vs frō the hande of all oure enemyes. Assur came out of the mountaynes in the multitude of his strength. His people stopped ꝑ water brokes/ & their horses couered ꝑ valleys. He purposed to haue brent vp my lande/ and to slaye my yonge men with the swerde.

He wolde haue caryed awaye my childrē and virgyns in to captyuyte/ but ꝑ almyghtye Lorde hurte hym/ and delyuered hym in to the handes of a woman/ whych brought hym to confusyō. For their myghtye was not destroyed of the yonge men. It was not the sonnes of Titan that slew hym/ nether haue the greate gyauntes set them selues agaynst him: but Judith the daughter of Merari w̄ her fayre bewtye hath discomfyted him/ and brought him to naught. For she layed awaye her wyddowes garment/ & put on the apparell of gladnesse in the reioysinge of the children of Israel. She anoynted her face/ and bounde vp her hearre in an hooue/ to begyle him. Her slippers rauished his eyes/ her bewtye captyuated hys mynde/ with the swerde smote she of his neck. The Persyās were astonnyed at her stedfastnesse/ and the Medes at her boldnes. Then howled the armyes of the Assyrians/ whē my symple appeared/ dyre of thyrst. The sonnes of the daughters haue pearsed them thorow/ & slayne thē as fugityue chyldren: they perysshed in the battayll/ for the very feare of the Lorde my God. Let vs synge a songe of thankesgeuynge vnto ꝑ Lorde/ a new songe of prayse wyll we synge vnto oure God. Lorde/ Lorde/ thou arte a great God myghtye in power, whom noma may ouercome. All thy creatures shulde serue the: for thou spakest but the word/ & they were made: thou sentest thy spyryte/ and they were created/ & no man can withstande thy voyce. The mountaynes shall moue frō the foundacyōs with ꝑ waters/ the stony rockes shall melt before the lyke waxe. But they ꝑ feare the: shalbe greate w̄ the in all thinges. Wo vnto the people that ryse vp agaynst my generacyon/ for the Almyghtye Lorde wyll auenge hym selfe of them/ and in the daye of iudgement wyll he vysyt them. For he shall geue fyre & wormes in to their flesh/ ꝑ they may burne and fele it for euermore.

After this it happened/ that after the victory all the people came to Jerusalē/ to geue prayse & thanckes vnto the Lorde. And whē they were purysyed/ they offred all their brēt sacrifices and their promysed offringes. And Judith offred all Holofernes weapens/ and all the Jewels/ that ꝑ people had geuē her/ & the canapy that she toke frō his bed/ & hanged them vp vnto the Lord. The people was ioyfull/ as the vse is: and this ioye by reason of the victorye/ wyth Judith/ endured thre monethes.

So after these dayes euery man wente home agayne/ & Judith was in greate reputacyon at Bethulia/ & right honorably takē in all the lāde of Israel. Vnto her vertue also was chastite ioyned/ so that after her husbande Manasses dyed/ she neuer knew man all the dayes of her lyfe. Vpon ꝑ hye solēpne dayes she wente out with greate worshippe. She dwelt in her housbandes house an hundreth & fyue yeare/ & left her handmaydē free/ & dyed/ & was buryed besyde her husbande in Bethulia. And all the people mourned for her seuen dayes. So long as she lyued/ there was none that troubled Israel/ & many yeares also after her death.

The daye wherin this victory was gottē/ was solemply holdē & reckened of the Jewes in the nombre of the holy dayes/ & it is yet greatly holden of the Jewes euer sence/ vnto this daye.

¶ The dreame of Mardocheus.

¶ The.j.Chapter after the Latyne.

MArdocheus the sonne of Jair/the sonne of Semei/ the sonne of Cisei of the tribe of Benjamin/a Jew: which had his dwellyng in Sulis/ a man of greate reputacyon/ & excellent amonge all them that were in the Kynges courte (Neuertheleſſe he was one of the preſoners/whom Nabuchodonoſor the Kyng of Babylon had caried awaye frō Jerusalem vnto Babylon with Jechonias the Kynge of Juda.) In the seconde yeare of the raygne of great Artaxerſes in the fyrſt daye of the moneth Nisan/had this Mardocheus soch a dreame: He thought he herde a greate tēpeſt/horrible thonderclappes/ erthquakes, & great vproure in the land: & ye he sawe ij. greate dragōs/ready to fyght one agaynſt another. Their crye was great. At the which roaring & crye all Heathe were vp/ to fight agaynſt the righteous people. And the same daye was full of darckines & very vncleare/ full of trouble & anguyſh/yee a greate fearfulnes was there in all the lande. The righteous were amased/for they feared ye plage & euell that was deuyſed ouer thē/ & were at a poynte with them selues to dye. So they cryed vnto God: & whyle they were cryenge/ the lytle well grew into a great ryuer & in to many waters. And wyth that it was daye/ & the sunne roſe vp agayne. And ye lowly were exalted/ & deuoured the glorious & proude.

Now when Mardocheus had sene thys dreame, he awoke/ & mused stedfaſtly in hys herte/what God wolde do: and so he deſyred to knowe all the matter, and hys mynde was therupon vntyll the nyght.

¶ Mardocheus vttereth the treaſon deuyſed agaynſt the Kyng/and is therfore reward of hym.

¶ The.ij.Chapter.

AT the same tyme dwelt Mardocheus wyth Bagatha & Tares the Kynges Chamberlaynes & porters of the palace. But when he heard their deuyce and had dylygently conſydered their ymagynacyōs he perceaued that they wēre about, to laye their cruell handes vpō the Kyng Artaxerſes: and so he certyfyed the Kyng therof. Then caused the Kynge to examen the two gelded with wytnēsses. And whē they had graūted it/ they were put to death.

This the Kyng caused to be put in ye Cronycles for an euerlaſtynge remembraunce/ and Mardocheus wrote vp the same matter. So the Kynge commaunded that Mardocheus shulde do ſeruyce in the courte/and for hys faythfulneſſe of hys/he gaue hym a reward. But Aman the sonne of Amadathu the Agagite/ whych was holden in greate honoure & reputacyon in the Kynges courte vndertoke to hurte Mardocheus & hys people/because of the two chamberlaynes that were put to death.

¶ The.xiij.Chapter.

THe great Kyng Artaxerſes which raygneth from India vnto Ethiopia/ouer an hundreth and seuen & twentye landes/sendeth his frendly salutacion vnto all the Prynces and deputes of the countrees/ which be subiecte vnto his dominyon. When I was made Lorde ouer many people/& had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominyon/my mynde was not with crueltye & wronge to exalte my ſelf by the reaſon of my power: but purpoſed wt equyte alwaye and gentylnes/ to gouerne thoſe that be vnder my iuriſdyccyon/ & wholy to ſet them in a peaceable lyfe/and therby to brynge my Kyngdome vnto tranquylite/ that men myght ſafely go thorow on euery syde/ and to renue peace agayne/ whych all men deſyre. Now when I asked my Counceilers how theſe thynges myght be brought to a good ende/ there was one by vs/excellent in wyſdome/ whoſe good wyll/ trueth/ and faythfulnes hath oft bene ſhewed and proued (which was alſo the pryncypall and next vnto the Kynge) Aman by name: whych certyfyed vs, how that in all landes there was crepte in a rebellyous folke/ that made ſtatutes and lawes agaynſt all other people/ & haue allwaye deſpyſed the proclamed commaundementes of Kynges: and how that for this cauſe it were not to be ſuffred/that ſoch rule ſhulde contynue by you & not to be put downe. Kyng now we perceaue the same/ & this people alone are contrary vnto euery man/ bryngе ſtraunge and other maner of lawes/ & withſtāde oure ſtatutes & doinges/ and go aboute to ſtablyſh frewd matters/ that oure Kyngdome ſhulde neuer come to good eſtate/and ſtedfaſtnes: Therfore haue we commaunded/ that all they that are appoynted in wryting and ſhewed vnto you by Aman (which is ordened & ſett ouer all oure buſynes/and the moſt pryncypall next vnto the Kynge/ and in maner as a father) ſhall with their wyues and chyldren be deſtroyed and and roted oute with the swerde of their enemyes and aduersaryes: and that there shalbe no mercy shewed/and no man spared. And this shalbe done the.xiij.daye of the moneth (called Adar) of this yeare/that they which of olde (& now also) haue euer bene rebellious/ maye in one daye wyth violence be thrust downe in to the hell/to the intent that after this maner/ oure emprye maye haue peace and tranquylite.

But Mardocheus thought vpon all the D worckes and nobie actes of the Lorde/ and made his prayer vnto him/saying: O Lorde Lorde/thou valeaunt and almyghtie kynge (for all thynges are in thy power/ & yf thou wylt helpe and delyuer Israell/ there is no man that can withstãde ner lett the: for thou hast made heauen and earth/and what wonderous thynge so euer is vnder the heauen: thou art Lorde of all thynges/ & there is no mã/ þ can relist the O Lord) Thou knowest all thynges/thou wotest Lorde/ þ it was nether of malyce/ner presumpcion/ner for eny delyre of glory/ þ I wolde not bowe downe my selfe ner worshyppe ponder proude presumptuous Aman (for I wolde haue bene content/& that wyth good wyll/ yf it myght haue done Israel eny good/ to haue kyst euẽ hys fotesteppes) but that I dyd it/ because I wolde not sett the honoure of a man in the steade of the glorye of God/ and because I wolde worshyppe none but onely the my Lorde. And this haue I done in no pryde ner presumpcyon.

C And therfore O Lorde thou God & king/ haue mercy vpon thy people for they ymagin how they maye bringe vs to naught. yee their mynde and delyre is to destroye and to ouerthrowe the people/ that hath euer bene thyne enheritaũce of olde. O despyse not thy porciõ/ which thou hast deliuered & brought oute of Egypte for thyne awne selfe. Heare my prayer/ & be mercyfull vnto thy people/ whom thou hast chosen for an heretage vnto thy selfe. Turne oure cõplaynte & sorowe in to ioye/ that we maye lyue O Lorde/ and prayse thy name. O Lorde/ suffre not the mouthes of thẽ þ prayse the/ to be destroyed.

All þ people of Israel in lyke maner cried as earnestly as they coulde vnto the Lorde/ for their death and destruccyon stode before their eyes.

¶ The.xiiij.Chapter.

Iene Esther also beynge in þ battayll of death/ reforted vnto the Lorde/ layed awaye her gloryous apparell/ & put on the garmentes that serued for syghynge & mournyng. In þ steade of precyous oyntment/ she scatered asshes & donge vpon her head: and as for her body/ she humbled it/ and brought it very lowe. All the places where she was wonte to haue ioye afore/ those filled she wt þ hearre/ & she pluckte out her selfe. She prayed also vnto þ Lorde God of Israel wt these wordes.

O my Lorde/thou onely art oure kynge/ helpe me desolate woman/ whych haue no helper but the/ for my mysery & destruccyon is harde at my hãde. From my youth vp I haue herde oute of the kynred of my father/ that thou tokest Israel frõ amonge all people (& so haue oure fathers of their fore elders) that they shulde be thy perpetuall inherytaunce/ and loke what thou dydest promyse them/thou hast made it good vnto them.

Now well Lorde/we haue synned before B
the/ therfore hast thou geuen vs in to the handes of oure enemyes/ because we worshipped their goddes. Lorde thou art ryghtuous. Neuertheles it satisfieth them not/ þ we are in bytter and heuy captiuite and oppressed amõge thẽ/ but thou hast layed their handes vpon the handes of their goddes: so that they begynne to take awaye/ the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordened & oppoynted: to destroye thyne inherytaunce/ to shut and to stoppe the mouthes of them that prayse the, to quẽch the glory and worshype of thy house and thyne aulter/ and to open þ mouthes of þ Heathen/ þ they maye prayse the power and vertue of the goddes/ and to magnifye the fleshly kynge for euer.

O Lorde, geue not thy scepter vnto them C that be nothyng/ lest they laugh vs to scorne in oure mysery and fall: but turne their deuyce vpon them selues/ and punish him/ that hath begonne the same ouer vs/ and sett him to an example. Thynke vpon vs O Lorde/ and shew thy selfe in the time of oure distres and of oure trouble. Strength me O thou kynge of Goddes/ thou Lorde of all power/ geue me an eloquent and pleasaunt speach in my mouth before the Lyon. Turne hys hert in to þ hate of oure enemye/ to destroye hym/ and all soch as consent vnto hym. But delyuer vs with thy hande/ and helpe me desolate woman/ whych haue no defence ner helper but onely the. Lorde thou knowest all thinges/ thou wotest þ I loue not the glory and worshyppe of the vnryghtuous/ & that I hate and abhorre the bed of the vncircumcysed and of all Heathen.

Thou knowest and wotest my necessyte/ that I hate the token of my preemynence & D worshyp, which I beare vpõ my head/ what tyme as I must shewe my selfe and be sene/ & that I abhorre it is an vncleane cloth/ and that I weare it not when I am quyete and alone by my selfe. Thou knowest also that I thy hande mayden haue not eaten at Amans table / and that I haue had no pleasure nor delyte in the Kynges feaste/ that I haue not droncke the drinckoffringes / and that I thy hande mayden haue had no ioye sence ỹ daye that I was brought hyther/ vnto this daye/ but onely in the O Lorde. O thou God of Abraham/ O thou myghtye God aboue all/ heare the voyce of thē / that haue none other hope, & delyuer vs out of the hād of the wycked/ & delyuer me out of my feare.

¶ Mardocheus moueth Hester to go in to the Kynge/ and make intercessyon for her people/ and she performeth his request.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

AND vpon the thyrde daye it happened / that Hester layed awaye the mourninge garmentes/ & put on her glorious apparell / and decked her selfe goodly after ỹ she had called vpon God/ which is the beholder and Sauioure of all thynges) toke two maydes wt her: vpon the one she leaned her selfe as one that was tender: the other folowed her / and bare the trayne of her vesture. The thyne of her bewtye made her face rose coloured. The cymilytude of her face was chearfull and amiable/ but her herte was sorowfull for great feare. She wente in thorow all the dores / & stode before the kynge. The Kynge satt vpon the trone of his kyngdome / and was clothed in his goodly araye/ all of gold / & set with precious stones/ and he was very terrybie. He lyft vp his face/ that shone in the clearnes/ and loked grymly vpon her. Then fell the Quene downe/ was pale and faynt/ leaned her selfe vpon the heade of the mayde that wente with her.

Neuertheles God turned ỹ kyngs mynde/ that he was gentle/ that he leape oute of his seate for feare, and gat her in his armes/ and held her vp tyll she came to her selfe agayne. He gaue her louynge wordes also/ and sayde vnto her: Hester/ what is the matter? / I am thy brother/ be of good cheare/ thou shalt not dye: for oure commaundement toucheth the comons not the. Come nye. And with that he held vp his golden wande / and layde it vpō her neck/ and embraced her frendly/ & sayde: talke with me. Then sayd she: I sawe the (O Lorde as an Angell of God/ & my hert was troubled for feare of thy maiesty a clearnesse For excellent and wonderfull art thou (O Lorde, and thy face is full of amyte. But as she was thus speakynge vnto him / she fell downe agayne for fayntnes: for the whych cause the kyng was afrayed, and all his seruauntes comforted her.

¶ The.vi. Chapter.

THE greate King Artaxerses which raygneth frō India vnto Ethiopia ouer an hundreth & .xxvij. landes / sendeth vnto the Princes & rulers of the same landes / soche as loue hym / hys frendly salutacyon. There be many that for the sondrye frendshyppes & benefytes which are dyuerly done vnto them for their worshyppe/ be euer the more proude & hye mynded/ & vndertake not only to hurte oure subiectes (for pīteous benefytes maye they not suffre / and begynne to ymagyn some thinge agaynst those that do them good/ & take not only all vnthankfulnes awaye from men) but in pryde & presumpcyon (as they that be vnmyndefull & vnthankefull for the good dedes) they go about to escape the iudgemēt of God that seyth all thinges which iudgemēt hateth & punysheth all wyckednes. It happeneth oft also/ that they which be set in office by the hyer power / & vnto whom the busynes & causes of the subiectes are cōmitted to be handled/ waxe proude/ & defyle thē selues wyth sheddynge of innocent bloude/ which bryngeth them to intolerable hurte. Which also with false & dysceatfull wordes and with lyeng tales / discease and betraye the innocent goodnes of Princes.

Now is it profytable and good/ that we take hede/ make search therafter/ and consider, not only what hath happened vnto vs of olde: but the shamefull/ vnhoneste/ and noysome thynges/ that the debites haue now taken in hande before oure eyes: and therby to be warre in tyme to come/ ỹ we maye make the kyngdome quyete and peaceable for all men/ and that we myght some tyme drawe it to a chaūge: and as for the thynge that now is present before oure eyes/ to withstande it/ and to put it downe/ after the moost frendly maner.

What tyme now as Aman the sonne of Amadathu the Macedonyan (a straunger berely of the Persians bloude / & farre from oure goodnes) was come in amōge vs as an alcaunt/ and had optayned the frendshyppe that we beare towarde all people/ so that he was called oure father / and had in hye honoure of euery man/ as the next and principall vnto the Kynge/ he could not forbeare him selfe from hys pryde / hath vndertaken not onely to robbe vs of the kyngdome / but of oure lyfe.

With manyfolde diseeate also hath he desyred to destroye Mardocheus oure helper and preseruer / which hath done vs good in all thinges: and innocēt Hester the lyke partaker taker of oure kingdome/with all her people. For his mynde was (when he had taken thē oute of the waye / and robbed vs of them) by this meanes to translate the kyngdome of ꝑ Persians vnto them of Macedonia. But we fynde / that the Jewes (whych were accused of the wicked/that they myght be destroyed) are no euelldoers/but vse reasonable & right lawes: and that they be the chyldren of the most Hye lyuynge God, by whom the kyngdome of vs and oure progenitours hath bene well ordred hitherto. Wherfore/as for ꝑ letters and commaundementes / that were put forth by Aman the sonne of Amadathu / ye shall do well/yf ye holde them of none effect: for he that sett them vp and inuented them/ hangeth at Susis before the porte / withall his kynred/and God(which hath all thinges in his power) hath rewarded hym after hys deseruynge.

And vpon this ye shall publish and set vp ¶ the copy of thys letter in all places, that the Jewes maye freely and without hinderaunce holde them selues after their awne statutes/ and that they maye be helped / and that vpon ꝑ .xiij. daye of ꝑ .xij. moneth Adar/they maye be auenged of them / whych in the tyme of their anguysh and trouble, wolde haue oppressed them. For the God that gouerneth all thynges / hath turned to ioye the daye / wher in the chosen people shulde haue perished.

Moreouer/amōge ꝑ hye solempne dayes that ye haue / ye shall holde thys daye also w all gladnesse: that now and in tyme to come/ this daye maye be a remembraūce to good/ for all soch as loue the prosperite of the Persians: but a remembraunce of destruccion to those that be sedityous vnto vs.

All cyties and landes that do not this, shal horrybly perysh and be destroyed wyth the swerde and fyre and shall not onely be nomore inhabited of men/ but be abhorred also of the wylde beastes & fowles.

¶ The ende of the rest of the boke of Esther.

¶ The boke of wysdome.

¶ How we ought to serche and enquyre after God and who be those that fynde hym. Of the holy goost. We ought to flye from backbityng & murmuring. &c.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

Sett youre affection vpon wysdome / ye that be iudges of the earth. Haue a good opinion of the Lorde/ and seke hym in the synglenesse of herte. For he wyll be founde of them that tempte him not/ and appeareth vnto soch as put their trust in him As for frowarde thoughtes / they separate frō God but vertue (yf it be alowed) reformeth the vnwyse. And wyll wysdome shall not entre in to a frowarde soule / nor dwell in the body that is subdued vnto synne. For the holy goost abhorreth fayned nurture/ and withdrawyth hym selfe frō ꝑ thoughtes that are without vnderstandyng: and where wyckednes hath the vpper hande / he flyeth from thence. For the spyrete of wysdome is louynge / gentle and gracious / and wyll haue no pleasure in him that speaketh euell wyth hys lyppes. For God is a wytnesse of hys reynes / a true searcher out of his herte/ and an hearer of his tonge. For the spyrete of the Lorde fylleth the rounde cōpasse of ꝑ worlde/ and the same that vpholdeth all thynges/ hath knowledge also of the voyce.

Therfore he that speaketh vnrighteous thynges can not be hyd neyther maye he escape the iudgment of reprofe. And wyll inquysycion shalbe made for the thoughtes of the vngodly/and the reporte of hys wordes shall come vnto God/ so that his wickednes shalbe punished. For ꝑ eare of gelousy heareth all thinges / and the noyse of the grudginges/ shall not be hyd. Therfore bewarre of murmuryng / which is nothynge worth/ & refrayne youre tonge from sclaunder For here is no worde so darck and secrete / that it shall goo for naught: and the mouth that speaketh lyes, slayeth the soule.

¶ The

DO not seke your awne death in the errour of your lyfe, destroye not your selues thorow the worckes of youre awne handes. For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleasure in the destruccyon of the lyuynge. For he created all thynges, that they myght haue their beynge: yee all the people of the earth hath he made ꝑ they shuld haue health, that there shulde be no destruccyon in them, and that the kyngdome of hell shulde not be vpō earth for ryghteousnesse is euerlastyng and immortall, but vnryghteousnes bryngeth death. Neuertheles, the vngodly call her vnto them both with wordes & workes, and whyle they thynke to haue a frende of her, they come to naught: for ꝑ vngodly that are confederate with her and take her parte, are worthy of death.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

FOr the vngodly talke and ymagin thus amonge them selues, but not ryght: The tyme of oure lyfe is but short & tedyous, & when a man is once gone, he hath no more hope nor pleasure nether knowe we eny mā that turneth agayne frō death: for we are borne of naught and we shall be hereafter as though we had neuer bene. For oure breth is as a smoke in oure nosetreis, and ꝑ wordes as a sparck to moue oure herte. As for oure body, it shalbe very asshes that are quenched and our soule shall vanysh as the soft ayre. Oure lyfe shall passe awaye as the trace of a cloude, & come to naught as the myst that is dryuen awaye wyth the beames of ꝑ Sonne, & put downe vnder the heate therof. Oure name also shalbe forgotten by lytle and lytle, and no mā shall haue oure worckes in remembraunce.

B For oure tyme is a very shadow ꝑ passeth awaye, & after oure ende there is no returnyng, for it is fast sealed, so ꝑ no mā cōmeth agayne. Come on therfore, let vs enioye the pleasures ꝑ ther are, & lett vs soone vse the creature lyke as in youth. We will fyll oure selues with good wyne and oyntment, there shall no floure of the tyme go by vs. We will crowne our selues wyth roses afore they be wythered There shall be no fayre medowe, but oure lust shall goo thorowout. Lett euery one of you be partaker of oure voluptuousnes. Let vs leaue some tokē of our pleasure in euery place, for that is oure porcyon, & is get we nothynge. Lett vs oppresse the poore ryghteous, let vs not spare the wyddow ner olde man, let vs not regarde the heades ꝑ are gray for age. Let the lawe of vnryghteousnesse be oure auctorite, for the thyng that is feble is nothynge worth. Therfore let vs defraude the ryghteous, & why? he is not for oure profet yee he is cleane cōtrary to oure domge. He chacteth vs for offending agaynst the law, & slaundreth vs as transgressours of all nurtour. He maketh his boost to haue ꝑ knowledge of God yee he calleth him selfe Gods sonne. He is the bewrayer of oure thoughtes: It greueth vs also to loke vpon him, for his lyfe is not lyke other mens, hys wayes are of another fashyon. He counteth vs but vayne persones, he wdrawyth hym selfe from oure wayes as from fylthynes: he cōmendeth greatly the latter ende of ꝑ iust, & maketh hys boast that God is hys father. Let vs se then yf his wordes be true, lett vs proue what shal come vpon him: so shall we knowe what ende he shall haue. For yf he be the true sonne of God, he will receaue him & delyuer him from the handes of his enemies Let vs examen him with despytefull rebuke and tormentynge that we maye knowe hys dignite and proue his patience. Lett vs condemne hym wyth the most shamefull death: for lyke as he hath spoken so shall he be rewarded.

Soch thynges do the vngodly ymagin & go astraye for their awne wyckednes hath blynded them. As for the mysteries of God, they vnderstande them not: they nether hope for ꝑ rewarde of ryghteousnesse, nor regarde & worshipe that holy soules shall haue. For God created man to be vndestroyed, yee after the ymage of his awne lyknesse made he him. Neuertheles thorow envye of ꝑ deuell came death in to the worlde, and they ꝑ holde of his syde, do as he doth.

¶ The conseruacyon and assurance of the ryghtwes. The rewarde of the faythfull.

¶ The.iii. Chapter.

BUt the soules of the righteous are in the hande of God, & the payne of death shall not touch them. In ꝑ syght of ꝑ vnwyse they appeare to dye, & their ende is taken for very destruccyon. The waye of the ryghteous is iudged to be vtter destruccyon, but they are in rest. And though they suffre payne before men, yet is their hope full of immortalyte. They are punished but in few thynges, neuertheles in many thynges shall they be well rewarded. For God proueth them, and fyndeth them mete for him selfe: yee as the golde in ꝑ fornace doth he trye thē, & receaueth thē as a burnt offeryng, and when the tyme commeth they shalbe loked vpon.

B The ryghteous shall shyne as ꝑ sparkes that renne thorow the rede bushe. They shall iudge the nacyons, & haue dominion ouer ꝑ people, & their Lorde shall raygne for euer. They ꝑ put their trust in hym, & all vnderstande the trueth/& soch as be faithfull/ will agree vnto him in loue: for his chosen shall haue giftes & peace. But the vngodly shalbe punished accordyng to their awne ymaginacions / for they haue despysed the righteous/ & forsaken the Lorde.

Who so despyseth wysdome & nurtour/ he is vnhappie / and as for the hope of soch/ it is but vayne/their labours vnfrutefull / and their workes vnprofitable. Their wyues are vndiscrete / and their children most vngodly. Their creature is cursed. Blessed is rather & baren & vndefyled, which hath not knowne the synfull bedd: she shall haue frute in & reward of the holy soules. And blessed is & gelded which w his handes hath wrought no vnrighteousnesse / ner ymagined wicked thinges agaynst God. For vnto him shall be geuen & special gift of faith and the most acceptable porcion in & temple of God. For glorious is the frute of goodlaboure / & the rote of wysdome shall neuer fade awaye. As for & childrē of aduoutrers they shall come to an ende / & the sede of an vnrighteous bedd shall be roted out. And though they lyue longe / yet shal they benothyng regarded/ & their last age shalbe without honoure. Yf they dye hastely/ they haue no hope/ nether shall they bespokē to in & daye of knowledg For horrible is the death and ende of the vnrighteous.

¶ Of the chaste generacyon of the faythfull /and of their fruite. Of the death of the ryghtwes /and of the condemnacyon of the vnfaithfull.

¶ The .iiij. Chapter.

How fayre is a chaste generacion w vertue: The memorial therof is immortall / for it is knowne w good men. When it is present/mē take exāple there at: and yf it go a waye / yet they desyre it. It is all waye crowned & holden in honour / & wynneth & reward of the vndefyled battayll. But & multitude of vngodly childrē is vnprofitable/ and & thyngs & are plāted w whordome/ shal take nodepe rote / ner laye eny fast foundacion. Though they be grene in & braūches for a tyme / yet shal they be shakē w the winde for they stāde not fast, & thorow the vehemēce of & wynde they shalbe roted out. For & vnparfecte braunches shalbe brokē / their frute shalbe vnprofitable & lower to eate / yee mete for nothyng. And why? all & children & are borne of the wicked / must beare recorde of & wickednesse agaynst their fathers & mothers/ when they be asked. But though the righteous be ouertaken w death / yet shall he be in rest.

Age is an honorable thinge: neuerthelesse it standeth not only in the lēgth of tyme/ ner in the multitude of yeares: but a mans wysdome is the graye heare/ and an vndefyled lyfe is the olde age. He pleased God / & was beloued of him: so that whereas he lyued amonge synners / he translated him Yee sodenly was he takē awaye, to the intent that wickednesse shulde not alter his vnderstandynge / & that ypocrysye shulde not begyle his soule. For & craftye bewitchyng of lyes make good thynges darck / the vnstedfastnesse also & wickednes of voluptuousdesyre turne alyde the vnderstandinge of the symple. Though he was soone deed/ yet fulfilledhe moch tyme. For his soule pleased God therforehasted he to take him awaye from amonge the wycked. This the people se / & vnderstande it not: they laye not by soche thynges in their hertes / how that the louynge fauour & mercy of God is vpon hys sayntes / & that he hath respecte vnto hys chosen.

Thus the righteous that is deed/condemneth the vngodly which are lyuynge: & the youth that is soone brought to an ende / the longe lyfe of the vnrighteous. For they se & ende of the wyse/ but they vnderstande not what God hath deuysed for him, & wherfore the Lorde hath taken him awaye. And why: they se him & despyse him/ therfore shall God also laugh them to scorne: So that they them selues shall dye here after (but without honour) yee in shame amōg & dead for euermore. For without eny voyce shall he burst those & be pult vp & remoue thē frō & foundacions / so & they shalbe layed waste vnto the hyest. They shall mourne / and their memorial shall perysshe. So they beyng afrayed shall remēbre their synnes / & their awne wickednesse shall bewraye thē.

¶ The constantnes of & ryghtwes before their persequuters. The hope of the vnfaythfull is vndurable & vayne. The blessednes and fortunatenes of & sayntes & godly.

¶ The .v. Chapter.

Then shall the righteous stande in greate stedfastnesse agaynst soch as haue dealt extreamely wyth them / & taken a waye their labours: When they se it / they shalbe vexed with horrible feare/ and shall wonder at the hastynesse of the sodane health: gronynge for very distresse of mynde, & shal saye within them selues / hauynge inwarde sorowe/ and mournyng for very anguysh of mynde):

These are they, whom we somtyme had in derisyō / & iested vpon. We fooles thought their lyfe very madnesse, & their ende to be w out honoure. But lo / how they are counted amonge the children of God, & their porcion is amōge is amõge the sayntes. Therfore we haue erred from the waye of trueth / & light of righteousnesse hath not shyned vnto vs / and the sunne of vnderstanding rose not vp vpon vs. We haue wearied our selues in the waye of wickednesse & destruction. Tedious wayes haue we gone: but as for the waye of ỹ Lord we haue not knowne it.

What good hath aure pryde done vnto vs? Or / what profyt hath the pompe of ryches brought vs? All those thynges are passed awaye like a shadow; & as a messaunger rennynge before: as a shippe ỹ passeth ouer the waues of the water / which when it is gone by / the trace therof can not be foũde / nether the path of it in the floudes. Or as a byrde that flyeth thorow ỹ ayre / & no man can se eny token where she is flowen, but only heareth the noyse of her wynges / beatinge the light wynde / partinge the ayre thorow the vehemẽce of her goinge / & flyeth on shakyng her wynges / where as afterwarde no token of her waye can be founde. Or lyke as when an arowe is shott at a marck, it parteth the ayre / whych immediatly commeth together agayne / so that a man can not know where it wente thorow. Euen so we in lyke maner as soone as we were borne / beganne immediatly to drawe to oure ende / & haue shewed no tokẽ of vertue, but are consumed in oure awne wickednesse.

¶ Soch wordes shall they that haue synned speake in the hell: for the hope of the vngodly is lyke a drye thystell floure (or dust that is blowen awaye w̃ the wynde: lyke as thynne scomme ỹ is scatred abrode with ỹ storme: lyke as the smoke which is dispersed here & there with the wynde / & as the remembraũce of a straunger that tarieth for a daye / & then departeth. But the ryghteous shall lyue for euermore: their reward also is w̃ the Lorde: & their remembraũce w̃ the Hyest. Therfore shall they receaue a glorius kyngdome and a bewtyfull crowne of the Lordes hande: for with his right hande shall he couer thẽ / and with his awne arme shal he defende thẽ. His gelously also shall take awaye the harnesse / & he shal weapẽ the creature to be auẽged of the enemyes. He shall put on ryghteousnes for a brest plate / and take sure iudgement in steade of an helmet. The inuincible shylde of equite shall he take / his cruell wrath shal he sharpẽ for a speare / & the whole compase of the worlde shall fyght wyth hym agaynst the vnwyse.

Then shall the thonder boltes go out of ỹ lightenynges, & come out of the rayne bowe of the cloudes to the place appointed: out of the harde stony indygnacyon there shall fall thick hayles, & ỹ water of ỹ see shalbe wroth agaynst thẽ / & the floudes shall renne roughly together. Yee a myghty wynd shall stande vp agaynst them / & a storme shall scater thẽ abrode. Thus the vnryghteous dealynge of them shall bryng all the lande to a wylderness / and wyckednes shall ouerthrowe the dwellynges of the myghtye.

¶ The .vi. Chapter.

Wysdome is better then strẽgth / & a mã of vnderstãding is more worth then one that is strõg. Heare therfore (O ye kynges) & vnderstãde: Learne ye that be iudges of the endes of the earth. Geue eare ye that rule ỹ multitudes / & delyte in moch people. For ỹ power is geuen you of the Lorde / & the strẽgth from the Hyest: which shall tryc youre workes and search out your ymaginacyõs: How that ye beinge officers of hys kyngdome, haue not executed true iudgemẽt, haue not kepte the lawe of righteousnes / nor walked after hys wyll. Horribly and that right soone shall he appeare vnto you: for an harde iudgement shall they haue that beare rule. Mercye is graunted vnto the symple / but they that be in auctoryte shalbe sore punyshed. For God whych is Lorde ouer all / shall excepte no mãs persone / nether shall he stande in awe of any mans greatnesse: for he hath made the small & greate, & careth for all a lyke. But ỹ mighty shall haue the sorer punyshment.

Vnto you therfore (O ye kynges) do I speake / that ye maye lerne wysdome & not go amysse: for they that kepe ryghteousnes shalbe ryghteously iudged: and they that are lerned in righteous thynges / shall fynde to make answere. Wherfore set youre lust vpõ my wordes / & loue thẽ / so shall ye come by nurtour. Wysdome is a noble thynge / & neuer fayleth awaye: yee she is easely sene of thẽ ỹ loue her / & founde of soche as seke her. She preuẽteth thẽ that desyre her / that she maye fyrst shewe her selfe vnto thẽ. Who so awaketh vnto her by tymes / shall haue no great trauayle / for he shall fynde her sittinge readye at his dores. To thynke vpon her is parfecte vnderstandyng: & who so watcheth for her, shalbe safe: and that soone. For she goeth aboute, sekynge soch as are mete for her, sheweth herselfe cherefully vnto them in their goinges / & meeteth thẽ with all diligẽce. For the vnfayned desyre of reformacion is her begynnynge: to care for nurtour is loue / & loue is the kepynge of her lawes. Now the kepyng of the lawes is perfeccyon & an incorrupte lyfe / & an incorrupte lyfe maketh a man familier wyth God. And so the desyre of wysdome leadeth to the kyngdome euerla-lackynge. If youre delyte be then in ropall seates & cepters, O ye kynges of the people) set youre lust vpon wysdome / that ye maye raygne for euer more. O loue ỹ light of wysdome, all ye that be rulers of the people. As for wysdome what she is, & how she came vp I wyll tell you, and wyll not hyde the mysteries of God from you: but wyll seke her out frō the begynnynge of the natyuite, & bringe the knowledge of her in to lyght / & wyll not kepe back the trueth: Nether wyll I haue to do wyth consumynge enuye, for soch a man shall not be partaker of wysdome. But the multitude of ỹ wyse is ỹ welfare of ỹ worlde, and a wyse kyng is the vpholdyng of the people. O receaue nourtoure then thorowe my wordes and it shall do you good.

¶ The.viii. Chapter.

I My selfe also am a mortall man / lyke as all other / and am come of the earthy generacion of hym that was fyrst made / & in my mothers wombe was I fashyoned to be flesh: In the tyme of ten monethes was I brought together in bloude thorow the sede of man & the commodyous appetyte of slepe. ¶ Whē I was borne / I receaued lyke ayre as other men / & fell vpon ỹ earth, which is my nature, crying and weppynge at the fyrst / as all other do. I was wrapped in swadlynge clothes / and brought vp wyth greate cares. For there is no kyng ỹ hath had eny other begynnyng of byrth. All men then haue one entraunce vnto lyfe, and one goynge out in lyke maner.

B Wherfore I desyred, and vnderstandynge was geuen me: I called, & the spyrite of wysdome came in to me. I sett more by her then by kyngdomes & ropall seates, and counted ryches nothyng in comparison of her. As for precyous stone I compared it not vnto her: for all golde is but grauell vnto her, & syluer shalbe counted but claye before her syght. I loued her above welfare and beutye, & purposed to take her for my lyght / for her shyne can not be quenched. All good thynges came to me wher & innumerable ryches thorowe her handes. I was glad in them all / for thys wysdome wente before me, & I knew not ỹ she is ỹ mother of all good thynges. Now as I my selfe learned vnfaynedly, so do I make other mē partakers of her, & hyde her ryches from no man. for she is an infynite treasure vnto men which who so vse be come partakers of the loue and frendshype of God / and are accepted vnto hym for ỹ gyftes of wysdome.

God hath graunted me to talke wysely / & conuenyently to handle the thynges that be hath graciously lent me. For it is he, ỹ leadeth vnto wysdome / & teacheth to vse wysdome a ryght. In his hand are we and oure wordes: yee all oure wysdome oure vnderstandyng & knowledge of all oure workes. For he hath geuen me the true science of these thynges: so that I knowe how the worlde was made / & the powers of ỹ elemētes: the begynnyng / endynge and myddest of the tymes: how the tymes alter, how one goeth after another / and how they are fulfylled: the course of the yeare: the ordynaunces of the starres: the natures & kyndes of beastes: the furyousnesse of beastes: the power of ỹ wyndes: the ymaginacyons of men: the deuersyties of yonge plātes: the vertues of rotes. & all soch thynges as are secrete and not loked for, haue I learned. For the workmaster of all thinges hath taught me wysdome. D In her is the spyrite of vnderstandynge, which is holy manyfolde / one onely / sotyll, curteous, discrete, quyck / vndefyled / playne, swete, louyng the thyng ỹ is good sharpe / wherch forbyddeth not to do well gētle kynde, stedfast, sure from hauyng all vertues circumspecte in all thynges: receauynge all spyrites of vnderstādyng beyng cleane and sharpe. For wysdome is nymbler then all nemble thynges: she goeth thorowe and attayneth to all thynges, because of her clennes. For she is the breth of the power of God / and a pure cleane expressynge of the clearnes of Almyghtye God. Therfore can no vndefyled thynge come vnto her: for she is ỹ brightnes of ỹ euerlastynge lyght / ỹ vndefyled myrroure of the maiesty of God, and the ymage of his goodnesse. And for so moch as she is one, she maye do all thynges: and beynge stedfast her selfe she renueth all and amonge the people conueyeth she her selfe in to the holy soules. She maketh Gods frindes and prophetes: for God loueth no man / but him in whō wysdome dwelleth. For she is more beutyfull then the Sunne and geueth more lyght then the starres / and the daye is not to be compared vnto her: for vpon ỹ daye commeth nyght. But wyckednesse can not ouer come wysdome / and foolyshnes maye not be with her.

W Ysdome reacheth from one ende to another mightely & lounglye doth she order all thynges. I haue loued her and laboured for her euen from my youth vp: I dyd my dyligence to mary my selfe wher soch loue had I vnto her beutye. Who so hath the cōpany of God, cōmendeth her nobilyte: yee the Lord of all thynges him selfe loueth her. For she is the scolemastresse of the of the nurtour of God / & ꝑ choler out of his worꝛkis. Yf a man wold desyꝛe riches in this lyte/ what is rycher then wysdome/ ꝑ worꝛ-keth all thynges? Thou wylt saye: vnderstandynge worꝛketh. What is it amonge all thinges/ that worꝛketh moꝛe then wysdome?

Yf a man loue vertue & ryghtuousnes / let him laboure foꝛ wysdome/ foꝛ she hath great vertues. And why? she teacheth sobernes & ꝓudence/ryghtuousnes & strength/ whych are soch thynges as men can haue nothinge moꝛe ꝓfitable in theꝛr lyfe. Yf a man desyꝛe moch knowledge/ she can tell the thynges ꝑ are past/ & dyscerne thinges foꝛ to come: she knoweth the soteltyes of woꝛdes / & can expounde darcke sentences. She can tell of tokens & wonderous thynges / oꝛ euer they come to passe/ and the endes of al tymes and ages. So I purposed after thys maner: I wyll take her vnto my company and comen louingly with her: no doute she shal geue me good counsell/ & speake comfoꝛtably vnto me in my carefulnes & grefe. Foꝛ her sake shall I be well and honestly taken amõge the co-mens & Lorꝛdes of the councell. Though I be yonge/ yet shall I haue sharpe vnderstã-dynge/ so that I shalbe maruelous in ỹ sight of greate men/ & the faces of Pꝛynces shall wonder at me. When I holde my tonge/ they shall byde my leasure: when I speake/ they shall loke vpon me: & yf I talke moch/ they shall laye their handes vpon their mouth.
Moꝛeouer/ by the meanes of her I shall ob-tayne immoꝛtalyte/ & leaue behynde me an euerlastynge memoꝛyall amonge them that come after me. I shal set the people in oꝛdꝛe/& the nacyons shalbe subdued vnto me. Moꝛryble tyꝛauntes shalbe afrayed / when they do but heare of me: amonge the multytude I shalbe counted good/ & myghtye in batayll.
When I come home/ I shal finde reste wt her:
foꝛ her cõpany hath no bitternes/ & her felo-shyp hath no tedyousnesse/ but myꝛth & iope.

¶ Now when I consydered these thynges by my selfe, and pondered thẽ in my herte/ how that to be ioyned vnto wysdome is immoꝛta-lite / and greate pleasure to haue her frendshippe: how that in the woꝛckes of her hãdes are infinite ryches: how that who so kepeth company with her shalbe wyse: and that he which talketh wt her/ shall come to honoure:
I wente aboute seekynge/ to get her vnto me.
Foꝛ I was a ladd of a ꝛype wytt / and had a good vnderstandynge.

But when I grew to moꝛe vnderstãding/
I came to an vndefyled body. Neuertheles when I perceaued that I could not kepe my selfe chaste, except God gaue it me (and that was appoynte of wysdome also / to knowe whose gyft it was) I kepte vnto the Lorꝛde/and besought him/ and with my whole herte
I sayde after this maner:

¶ A ꝓyer of Salomon to obtayne wysdome.

¶ The .ix. Chapter.

God of my fathers/ and Lorꝛde of mercyes (thou that hast made all thynges with thy woꝛde/ & oꝛdey-ned man thoꝛow thy wysdome/ ꝑ he shulde haue domynyon ouer the creature which thou hast made: that he shulde oꝛdꝛe ỹ woꝛlde according to equyte & righteousnes/& execute iudgement wyth a true hert) geue me wysdome/ which is euer about thy seate:
& put me not out from amonge thy chyldrẽ:
foꝛ I thy seruaunt & sonne of thy handmay-den/ am a feble personne/ of a shoꝛte tyme/& to younge to the vnderstandynge of iudge-ment & the lawes. And though a man be neuer so parfecte amonge the chyldren of men/yet yf thy wisdome be not with hym, he shal-be nothynge regarded. But thou hast chosen me to be a Kyng vnto thy people/ & the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters.

Thou hast commaunded me to buylde a tẽple vpõ thy holy mount/ & an aulter in the citie wherin thou dwellest: a lyknesse of thy holy tabernacle whych thou hast ꝓpared frõ the begynnyng/ & thy wysdome with the/which knoweth thy woꝛckis: which also was wt ỹ/ when thou maydest ỹ woꝛlde/ & knewe what was acceptable in thy syght/ and ryght in thy commaundementes. O sende her out of thy holy heauens and from the trone of thy maiesty/ that she maye be with me/ & laboure with me: that I maye knowe/ what is acceptable in thy sight. Foꝛ she knoweth & vnderstandeth all thynges: & she shall lede me soberly in my woꝛkes/ and ꝓserue me in her power. So shall my woꝛkes be acceptable / and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously/ & be woꝛthy to syt in my fathers seate. Foꝛ what man is he/ that maye knowe the councell of God? Oꝛ / who can thynke what the will of God is? Foꝛ the thoughtes of moꝛtall men are miserable / & oure foꝛcastes are but vncertayne. And why? a moꝛtall & coꝛruptible body is heuy vnto ỹ soule and the earthy mansyõ kepeth downe ỹ vnderstanding ỹ museth vpon many thynges.
Very hardly can we discerne ỹ thynges that are vpon earth/ and greate labour haue we/oꝛ we can fynde the thynges whych are befoꝛe oure eyes: Who wyll then seke oute the grounde of the thynges ỹ are done in heauẽ?
Oh Lorꝛde/ who can haue knowlege of thy vnderstandyng and meanyng / except thou geue wysdome and sende thy holy goost frõ aboue? that the wayes of them whych are vpon earth maye be reformed: ỹ men maye learne

learne the thinges ꝑ are pleasaunt vnto the/ and be ꝓserued thorow wysdome.

¶ The deliuerance of the ryghtwes cōmeth through wysdome.

¶ The.x. Chapter.

WYsdome ꝓserued the fyrst man/ whom God made a father of the worlde/whē he was created alone/ brought him out of his offence/ toke him out of the moulde of ꝑ earth/ & gaue him power to rule all thynges. when ꝑ vnryghtuous wente awaye in hys wrath from thys wysdome/ the brotherhead perysshed thorow the wrath of murthur. Agayne/ whē the water destroyed the whole worlde/ wysdome ꝓserued ꝑ righteous thorow a poore tre/wherof she was gouernerher selfe. Moreouer when wyckednes had gotten the vpper hande/so that the nacyons were pufft vp with ꝓyde/ she knewe the ryghtuous/ ꝓserued him fautlesse vnto God/ and layed vp sure mercy for his chyldren. She ꝓserued the ryghtuous/ when he fled frō the vngodly that perysshed/ what tyme as the fyre fell downe vpon the.v. cyties: Lyke as yet thys daye the vnfrutefull, waste/ and smokyng land geueth testimony of their wyckednesse: yee the vnrype and vntimely frutes ꝑ growe vpon the trees.

And for a tokē of a remembraunce of the vnfaythfull soule/ there standeth a pyler of salt. For all soch as regarded not wysdome/ gat not only this hurte/ that they knewe not the thynges whych were good/ but also left behynde thē vnto men/ a memoriall of their foolishnes: so that in ꝑ thynges wherin they synned/they coulde not be hydd. But as for soch as take hede vnto wysdome/ she shal deliuer them from sorowe.

¶ When the ryghtuous fled because of his brothers wrath/ wysdome led him the ryght waye/ shewed hym the kyngdome of God/ gaue him knowledge of holy thynges, made him ryche in his labours/ & brought to passe the thinges that he wente aboute. In the diseatfulnes of soch as defrauded him/ she stode by him/and made him ryche. She saued him from the enemyes/ & defended him from the disceauers. She made hym stronge in battayll & gaue him the victory that he myght knowe/ how that wysdome is stronger then all thynges. When the ryghtuous was sold/ she forsoke him not, but delyuered him from synners. She wente downe with hym in to the dongeon/and fayled him not in the bandes tyll she had brought hym the scepter of the realme/& power agaynst those that oppressed hym. As for them that had accused hym/ she declared thē to be lyers/ & brought hym to perpetuall worshippe.

She delyuered the righteous people and fautlesse sede, frō the nacyons that oppressed them. She entred in to the soule of ꝑ seruaūt of God/ & stode by him in wonders & tokens agaynst the horrybie kynge. She gaue the righteous the rewarde of their labours/and led them forth a maruelous waye: on ꝑ daye tyme she was a shadowe vnto thē/ & a lyght of starres in the nyght season. She brought thē thorow the reed see/ & carryed thē thorow ꝑ greate water. She drowned their enemies in the see/ & brought them out of ꝑ depe. So the righteous toke the spoyles of the vngodly/ & praysed thy holy name/ O Lorde/ and magnifyed thy victorious hand with one accorde. For wysdome openeth the mouth of ꝑ dōme/ & maketh ꝑ tōges of babes to speake.

¶ The myracles done for Israell. The vengeaunce of synners. The greate power and mercy of God.

¶ The.xi. Chapter.

They ordred their workes in ꝑ hāds of ꝑ holy prophet: so ꝑ they wente thorow the wyldernes ꝑ was not inhabited/ & pitched their tentes in the waste deserte. They stode agaynst their enemyes/ & were auenged of their aduersaries. Whē they were thirstie/ they called vpō the and water was geuen thē out of ꝑ rocke & their thirst slaked out of ꝑ harde stone. For by the thynges/ where thorow their enemyes were punysshed/ were they helped in their nede. For vnto the enemies thou gauest mans bloude in steade of lyuyng water. And where as they had scarcenesse in the rebuke when the chyldren were slayne/ thou gauest vnto thyne awne a plenteous water vnlooked for: declarynge by the thyrst that was at that tyme/ how thou woldest bryng thyne awne vnto honoure/ & slaye their aduersaryes.

For when they were tryed & norytured ꝓ fatherly mercy they knowledged how ꝑ vngodly were iudged/ and punished thorow the wrath of God. These hast thou exhorted as a father/ & proued thē: but vnto the other thou hast bene a boysterous kynge/ layed hard to their charge/ & cōdemned thē. Whether they were absent or present, their punishmēt was alyke. For their grefe was double: namely/ mournyng/ & the remembraunce of thynges past. But whē they perceaued ꝑ their punishmētes dyd them good, they thought vpon the Lorde/ & wondered at the ende. For at the last they beheld moch of hym/ of whō in ꝑ out castynge they thought scorne/ as of an abiecte. Neuertheles the ryghtuous dyd not so when they were thirstie: but euē lyke as ꝑ thoughtes of ꝑ foolish were/ so was also their wickednes. Where as certayne mē now (thorow error) dyd worshippe dōme serpētes & bayne beastes/thou sendedst a multytude of dēnie beastes vpō them for a vengeance: that they might know/ that loke where withall a man synneth, by ȳ same also shall he be punyshed. For vnto thy almyghty hande/ that made ȳ worlde of naught / it was not vnpossible / to sende amoge them an heape of Beeres/ or woode lyons/ or cruell beastes of a straunge kynde, soch as are vnknowne/ or spoute fyre or cast out a smokynge breth/ or shott horrible sparkes out of their eyes: whych myght not only destroye them with hurtynge / but also kyll them with their horryble syght. Yee without these beastes might they haue bene slayne with one wynde, beynge persecuted of their awne workes / and scatered a broade thorow the breth of thy power.

Neuertheles thou hast ordred all thynges in measure/ nombre & weight. For thou hast euer had great strēgth & myght/ & who maye withstāde ȳ power of thyne arme? And why? lyke as the smale thing ȳ the balaūce weyeth soris ȳ worlde before ȳ: yee as a droppe of ȳ mornynge dew / that falleth downe vpon the earth. Thou hast mercy vpon all / for thou hast power of all thynges. and makest the as though thou sawest not the synnes of men/ because they shulde amende. For thou louest all ȳ thynges that are / & hatest none of them whom thou hast made: nether dedest thou ordeyne or make eny thinge/ of euell will.

How myght eny thinges endure, yf it were not thy will? Or how coulde eny thynge be preserued, excepte it were called of ȳ? But thou sparest all, for all are thyne/ O Lorde/ thou louer of soules.

¶ The mercye of God to warde synners / & workes of God are vnsercheable. God geueth respite to repent vs

¶ The. xii. Chapter.

LOrde/ how gracious and swete is thy spyrete in all thinges? Therfore chastenest thou thē measurably & gowrōge & warnest thē cōcerning ȳ thinges wherin they offende: that speakest vnto thē, O Lorde, & forgyuest thē to leaue their wyckednes, & to put their trust in the. As for those olde inhabiters of thy holy lande, thou myghtest not awaye with thē / for they cōmytted abhominable workes agaynst the: as wytchcraft / sorcery and Idolatry: they slew their awne childrē without mercy: they ate vp mens bowels/ deuoured the bloude: yee because of soch abhominacyōs / mysbleues & offeringes, thou slewest the fathers of the desolate soules by ȳ handes of oure fathers Wt ȳ the lād which thou louest aboue all other/ might be a dwellynge for ȳ children of God.

Neuertheles thou spardest them also (as men) & sendedst the forerūners of thyne hoost euen hornettes to destroye them out by lytle & lytle. Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the ryghteous in battayle or with cruell beastes / or with one rough worde to destroye them together: But thy mynde was to driue them out by lytle & lytle geuynge them tyme & place to amende: knowyng well, that it was an vnrighteous nacyon & wicked of nature & that their thought myght neuer be altered. For it was a cursed seed from the begynninge, & feared no man: Yet hast thou pardoned their synnes. For who wyll saye vnto the: why hast thou done that? Or who wyll stande agaynst thy iudgment? Or who wyll come before thy face an auenger of vnrighteous men? Or who will blame the yf the people perish / whom thou hast made? For there is none other God but thou, that carest for all thynges: ȳ thou mayest declare how that thy iudgmēt is not vnright. There darre nether kynge/ nor tyraunt in thy sight requyre accōptes of them whom thou hast destroyed.

For so moch then as thou art ryghteous thy selfe thou ordrest all thinges righteously & punishest euen him that hath not deserued to be punished/ & takest him for a straunger & an aleaunt in the lande of thy power. For thy power is the beginnyng of righteousnes: & because thou art Lorde of all thinges therfore art thou gracious vnto all. When men thinke ȳ not to be of a full strength thou declarest thy power: & boldly destroyest thou them ouer ȳ knowe ȳ not. But thou Lorde of power iudgest quyetly/ & ordrest vs wt great worshype / for thou mayest do as thou wilt.

By soch workes now hast thou taught thy people / that a man also shulde be iust & louynge: and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for euen when thou iudgest / thou geuest rowme to amende from synnes. For in so moch as thou hast punished/ and wt soch diligence delyuered the enemyes of thy seruauntes/ which were worthy to die (where thorow thou gauest them tyme & place of amendemēt ȳ they myght turne frō their wickednes (wt how great diligēce then punyshest thou thyne awne children / vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne & made couenaūtes of good promises? So where as thou doest but chastē vs/ thou punishest our enemies diuerse wayes to ȳ intēt ȳ whē we punishe we shulde remēbre thy goodnesse: & whē we our selues are punyshed, to put oure trust in thy mercy

Wherfore where as men haue lyued ignoraūtly & vnrighteously thou hast punished thē for euē thorow ȳ same thinges that they worshypped. For they wente astraye very longe in ȳ waye of errour / & helde ȳ beastes (which euē their enemies despised) for goddes lyuynge as children of no vnderstandynge.

Therfore

Therfore hast thou sent a sorowfull punishment amōge them/as amōge the chyldren of ignorauncē. As for soch as wolde not be retourned by those scornes and rebukes/ they felt the worthy punyshment of God. For the thinges that they suffred/they bare them vn-pacyently/being not contēt in them but vnwyllyng. And whē they perished by the same thynges ꝑ they toke for goddes/they knoweledged then/ ꝑ there was but one true God/whom afore they wolde not knowe: therfore came the ende of their damnacyō vpō them.

¶ All thynges be vayne/ except the knowledge of God. Idolaters and Idoles are mocked.

¶ The.xiij. Chapter.

IAyne are all men/ which haue not the knowledge of God: as were they ꝑ out of ꝑ good thing(which are sene, knew not hym, ꝑ of him selfe is euerlastynge. Neither toke they so moch regarde of the worckes that are made/as to know/who was the craftesman of thē:
but some toke the fyre/some the wynde or ayre/some the courle of the starres/some ꝑ water/some toke Sunne and Moone/or ꝑ lyghtes of heauen which rule the earth/ for goddes. But though they had soche pleasure in their beuty/that they thought thē to haue bene goddes: yet thulde they haue knowne/how moch more fayrer he is ꝑ made thē For the maker of beuty hath ordened all these thynges. Or yf they marueled at the power and worckes of them/they thulde haue perceaued therby/ ꝑ he which made these things is mygh tyer then they.

For by the greatnesse & beuty of the crea-Bture / the maker therof may playnely be knowne. Noth wythstandynge they are the lesse to be blamed, that sought God/ & wolde haue founde him/ & yet myssed. And why: for so moch as they wente about in his worckes & sought after them / it is a token/that they regarded & helde moch of hys worckes that are sene: howbeit they are not wholy to be excused. For yf their vnderstandyng & knowledge was so greate/ ꝑ they coulde discerne the worlde & the creatures/ why dyd they not rather fynde out the Lorde therof?

But vnhappye are they / and amonge the deedis their hope/that call thē Gods which are but the worckes of mens handes: golde/syluer/ & the thinge that is founde out by cōnyng/ ꝑ symplytude of beastes/or any vayne stone that hath bene made by hande of olde.
Or as when a carpēter cutteth downe a tree out of the wodd/ & pareth of the barck of it cōmynely: and so with the one parte maketh a vessell to be vsed/ & dighteth meate with ꝑ ¶ residue. As for the other parte that is left/which is profytable for nothinge (for it is a croked pece of wodd and full of knobbes) he carueth it dylygētly thorow his vanyte/ and (accordyng to the knowledge of his cōnyng) he geueth it some proporcion/ fashyoneth it after the symplytude of a man/ or maketh it like some beast/ streaketh it ouer with redd/& paynteth it/ and loke what foule spot is in it he casteth some coloure vpon it.

Then maketh he a conuenient tabernacle for it/ setteth it in the wall/ & maketh it fast with yron/ pronydynge so for it/ lest it happen to fall: for it is well knowne that it can not helpe it selfe: And whyle it is but an image/ and must of necessyte be helped.

Then goeth he & offreth of his goodes vn- D to it, for hys chyldren and for his wife: he se-keth helpe at it, he asketh counsell at it: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it that hath no soule: for health/ he maketh his petycyō vnto hym that is sycke: for lyfe/ he prayeth vnto him that is dead: he calleth vpō him for helpe/that is not able to helpe hym selfe: & to sende hym a good iournaye/ he prayeth him ꝑ may not go. And in all the thynges that he taketh in hande (whether it be to optayne any thing or to worcke) he prayeth vnto hym ꝑ can do no maner of good.

¶ The detestacyon and abhompnacyon of ymages. A curse of them & of hym that maketh thē. The euelles that come of Idolatrye.

¶ The.xiiij. Chapter.

IAyne, another man purposynge to sayle & begynnynge to take his iourney thorow the raggynge see/calleth for helpe vnto a stocke that is farre weaker/ then the tree that beareth
hym. For as for it couetousnesse of moneye hath founde it out & the craftesman made it with his connynge. But thy prouydence O father gouerneth all thinges frō the begyn-nynge: for thou hast made a waye in the see/and a sure path in the myddest of the waues:
declarynge therby / that thou hast power to helpe in all thinges, ye though a man wente to the see without shyppe. Neuertheles/ ꝑ the worckes of thy wysdome thulde not be vayne, thou hast caused an arke to be made:
and therfore do men cōmytte their lyues to a small pece of wodd / passynge ouer the see in a shyppe/and are saued.

For in the olde tyme also whē the proude B gyaūtes perished he(in whom the hope was left to increase ꝑ worlde)wēte into ꝑ shyppe/which was gouerned thorow thy hand/ and so lefte sede behinde hym vnto the world. For happye is the tree wher thorow rightuous-nes cōmeth: but cursed is the ymage of wod/that is made wyth handes/ yee both it & he ꝑ made it. He/ because he made it: it/ because it was called God / where as it is but a frayle thing. For the vngodly & his vngodlynes are both lyke abhominable vnto God. Euen so the worcke and he that made it also shalbe punyshed together. Therfore shall there a plage come vpon the ymages of the Heathen. for out of the creature of God they are become an abhominacyon/a temptacõ vnto the soules of men/& a snare for the fete of the vnwyse. And why? the settynge out of ymages is the begynnyng of whordome/and & bringyng vp of thē is & destruccyō of lyfe. For they were not frō the beginnyng/neither shall they cōtynue for euer. The welthy ydelnes of men hath founde them out vpō earth/ therfore shall they come shortly to an ende.

¶ Whē a father mourned for his sonne & was takē awaye frō him/ he made him an ymage (in all & haste) of his deed sonne: & so begāne to worshyppe hym as God/which was but a deed man, & ordened hys seruauntes to offre vnto him. Thus by processe of tyme and thorow longe custome/thys errour was kepte as a lawe/& tyraūtes compelled men by violence to honour ymages. As for those & were so farre of/ that men myght not worshyppe them presently / their pycture was brought frō farre (lyke the ymage of a Kynge whom they wolde honoure) to the intent that with greate dylygence they myght worshyppe him which was farre of/ as though he had bene present. Agayne/the cyngular connynge of the craftesmā gaue the ignoraūt also a great occasion to worshyppe ymages. For & worckman willinge to do hym a pleasure that sett him a worcke/laboured with all his cōnyng to make the ymage of the best fashyon. And so (thorow the beuty of the worcke) the comen people was deceaued/in so moch that they toke hym now for a God/which a lytle afore was but honored as a man. And this was the errour of mās lyfe / when men (either for to serue their awne affecciō/or to do some pleasure vnto Kynges) ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name of God / whych ought to be geuen vnto no man.

¶ Moreouer thys was not ynough for thē that they erred in the knowledge of God: but where as they lyued in the greate warres of ignorauncе/those many and greate plages called they peace. For either they slue their awne chyldrē/ & offred them/ or dyd sacrifice in the nyght season/ or els helde vnreasonable watches: so & they kepte neither lyfe ner mariage cleane: but ether one slue another to death maliciously / or elsgreued his neighboure wyth aduoutrye. And thus were all thinges myxte together: blonde/manslaughter/theft/dissimulaciō/corrupcyō/vnfaythfulnesse/sedycyon periury. disquyetinge of good men, vnthākfulnes. defilyng of soules/ chaungyng of byrth/ vnstedfastnesse of maryage/mysordre of aduoutrye & vnclennesse. And why? the honouringe of abhominable ymages is & cause, the begynnyng & ende of all euell. For they & worshype Idols/ either they are mad when they be merry/or prophecye lyes/ or lyue vngodly/ or els lyghtly forsweare them selues. For in so moch as their trust is in & Idols (which haue nether soule ner vnder standyng) though they sweare falsely/ yet they thincke it shal not hurte them.

¶ Therfore commeth a greate plage vpon them/ & that worthely. for they haue an euell opynyon of God geuynge hede vnto Idols/ swearyng vniustly to dysceaue/ & despysing ryghtuousnes. For their swearinge is no vertue/ but a plage of them that synne/ and goeth euer with the offence of the vngodly.

¶ The voyce of the faythfull prayinge the mercy of God, for whose graces sake they serue not Idols.

¶ The. xv. Chapter.

But thou (O oure God) art swete/ & long sufferyng and true/ & in mercy ordrest thou all thyngs. Though we synne / yet are we thyne/ for we knowe thy strēgth. & we synne not/ then are we sure/ that thou regardest vs. For to knowe the, is parfecte ryghtuousnes: yee to knowe thy ryghtuousnes and power / is the rote of immortalyte. As for the thynge that men haue founde out thorow their euell science, it hath not dysceaued vs: as the paynetynge of the pycture (an vnprofytable labourе) a carued ymage/ wt dyuerse colours/ whose syght entyseth the ignoraūt: so that he honoureth and loueth the pycturе of a dede ymage that hath no soule.

¶ Neuertheles / they that loue soch euell thynges, are worthy of death: they that trust in them they that make them they that loue them and they that honoure them. The potter also taketh & tēpereth soft earth/ labourеth it/ and geueth it the fashyon of a vessel/ whatsoeuer serueth for oure vse: & so of one pece of claye he maketh some cleane vessell for seruyce/ and some contrary. But where to euery vessell serueth that knoweth & potter him selfe. So with his vayne labouре he maketh a God of the same claye: thys doth euen he / whyche a lytle afore was made of earth him selfe/ and wythin a lytle whyle after (when he dyeth) turneth to earth agayne.

¶ Notwithstandyng/ he careth not the more because he shall labour/ ner because his lyfe is short: but stryueth to excell goldsmythes/ the syluersmythes & coppersmythes/ & taketh it for an honour to make vayne thinges. For his herte is asshes, his hope is but vayne earth/ & his lyfe is more vile then claye: for so moch as he knoweth not his awne maker / that gaue hym his soule to worcke/ & brethed in hym the breth of lyfe. They counte oure lyfe but a pastyme and oure conuersacyon to be but a market/ & ꝙ men shulde euer be gettynge. & ꝙ by euell meanes. Now he that of earthy maketh fraple vessels & ymages/ knoweth hym self to offende aboue all other.

D All the enemyes of thy people & that holde thē in subieccyon. are vnwyse/ vnhappye. & exceadynge proude vnto their awne soules/ for they iudge all the Idols of the Heathen to be goddes/ which neither haue eyesyght to se, ner noses to smell, ner eares to heare, nor fyngers of handes for to grope: & as for their fete/ they are to slowe to goo. For man made them/ and he that hath but a borowed spryte/ fashioned them. But no mā can make a God lyke vnto hym: for seynge he is but mortall hym selfe/ it is but mortall that he maketh with vnryghtuous handes. Ye him selfe is better then they whom he worshyppeth / for he lyued though he was mortall / but so dyd neuer they. Yee they worshippe beastes also/ which are most miserable: for cōpare thynges that can not sele vnto them/ & they are worse then those. Yet is there not one of these beastes/ that with his syght can behold eny good thynge / nether haue they geuen prayse ner thankes vnto God.

¶ The .xvj. Chapte.

I For these and soch other thynges haue they suffred worthy punyshment / and thorow the multytude of beastes are they roted oute. In steade of the which punishmentes thou hast graciously ordred thyne awne people / and geuen them their desyre that they longed for: a new & straūge taist/ preparing thē quayles to be their meate: to the intent that (by the thynges which were shewed & sent vnto thē) they that were so gredy of meate / myght be withdrawen euen from the desyre that was necessary. But these within shorte time were brought vnto pouerte / and taysted a newe meate. For it was requisyte ꝙ (wythoute eny excuse) destruccyon shulde come vpon those which vsed tyrānny/ & to shewe onely vnto ꝙ other / how their enemyes were destroyed. For when the cruell woodnesse of the beastes came vpon them / they perysshed thorow the stynges of the cruell serpentes.

D Not withstādyng thy wrath endured not perpetually/ but they were put in feare for a lytle season/ ꝙ they myght be reformed, hauynge a token of saluacyon/ to remembre ꝙ cōmaundement of thy lawe. For he ꝙ cōuerted, was not healed by the thynge ꝙ he sawe/ but by the/ Sauiour of all. So in this thou shewedst thyne enemyes/ & it is thou, which deliuerest frō all euell. As for them whē they were bytten w grashoppers and flyes / they died/ for they were worthy to perysh by soch: But nether the teeth of dragons ner of venymous wormes ouer cam thy childrē/ for thy mercy was euer by them & helped thē. Therfore were they punyshed to remembre thy wordes, but hastely were they healed agayne: lest they shulde fall in to so depe forgetfullnesse, that they myght not vse thy helpe.

It was nether herbe ner playster that restored thē to health, but thy worde (O Lord) which healeth all thynges. It is thou (O Lord) that hast the power of lyfe and death: thou ledest vnto deathes dore / and bryngest vp agayne. But mā thorow wyckednes slayeth his awne soule / and when hys spryte goeth forth, it turneth not agayne, nether maye he call agayne the soule that is taken awaye: It is not possyble to eschape thyne hād. For the vngodly that wolde not know the / were punyshed by the strength of thyne arme: wyth straunge waters / hales & raynes were they persecuted / & thorow fyre were they consumed For it was a wonderous thinge ꝙ fyre myght do more then water which quencheth all thynges: but the worlde is the auenger of the ryghteous. Some tyme was the fyre so tame, that the beastes which were sent to punish the vngodly, burnt not: & ꝙ because they shulde se & know ꝙ they were persecuted w the punishment of God. And some tyme brēt the fyre in the water on euery syde / that it might destroye ꝙ vnryghteous nacion of the earth. Agayne, thou hast fed thyne awne people w Aungels fode/ & sent thē bred ready frō heauen (without their laboure) beynge very pleasaunt and well gusted. And to shewe thy ryches & swetnesse vnto thy childrē thou gauest euery one their desyre/ so that euery mā myght take what lyked hym best. But the snowe & yse abode the violence of the fyre/ & melted not: that they myght knowe, that the fyre burnynge in the hale & rayne, destroyed the fruite of the enemyes: the fyre also forgat his strēgth agayne/ ꝙ the righteous myght be norished. For the creature that serueth the (which art the maker) is fearse in punishing the vnryghteous, but is easy & gentle to do good vnto soch as put their trust in ꝙ Therfore dyd all thynges alter at the same tyme/ and were all obedient vnto thy grace, which is the norse of all thynges accordyng to the desyre of them that had nede therof: that thy children, O Lorde/ whō thou louest, myght knowe that it is not nature & the growyng of frutes ꝙ feedeth mē/ but ꝙ it is thy worde/ which preserueth them that put their trust in the. For loke what myght not be destroyed with the fyre/as soone as it was warmed w a lytle Sunne beame/it melted: that al men might knowe/ ꝑ thankes ought to be geuen vnto the before ꝑ Sunne ryse, and that thou oughtest to be worshypped before the daye springe. For the hope of the vnthāk full shall melt awaye as the wynter yse; and perysshe as water/that is not necessary.

¶ The. xvii. Chapter.

3 GReate are thy iudgmētes (O Lord) & thy counceis can not be expressed therfore men do erre/ ꝑ wyll not be reformed wyth thy wisdome. For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thy holy people in subiectyon / they were bounde with the bandes of darckines & longe nyght/ shutt vnder the rofe/ thinkynge to escape the euerlastynge wysdome. And whyle they thought to be hyd in the darckenesse of their synnes/ they were scatered abrode in ꝑ very myddest of the darck couerynge of forgetfulnes / put to horrible feare & wonderously vexed for the comer where they myght not kepe them frō feare: because the sounde came downe & vexed them: yee many terrible and straunge visions made them afrayed.

No power of the fyre myght geue them lyght nether myght the clere flammes of ꝑ starres lyghten ꝑ horrible night. For there appeared vnto the a sodane fyre/ very dredeful: At ꝑ which (when they sawe nothinge) they were so afrayed/ that they thought ꝑ thynge which they sawe/ to be the more fearfull. As for the sorcery & enchauntemēt ꝑ they vsed/ it came to derision / & the proude wysdome was brought to shame. For they ꝑ promised to dryue awaye the fearfulnes & drede from ꝑ weake soules / were sycke for feare them selues & that vncome. And though none of ꝑ wonders fraied thē, yet were they afraied at ꝑ beestes which came vpō thē; & at ꝑ hyssynge of the serpentes. In so moch that with trembling they swowned/ & sayde they sawe not ꝑ ayre/ which no man yet maye escape.

For it is an heuy thynge/ when a mans awne cōscience beareth recorde of his wyckednes & condēpneth him. And wyth a vexed and wounded conscience / taketh euer cruell thynges in hāde. Fearfulnes is nothyng els/ but a declarynge that a man lacketh helpe & defence / to answere for hym selfe. And loke how moch lesse ꝑ hope is within / ꝑ more is the vncertētye of the matter for the wherby he is punyshed. But they that came in the mighty nyght: slepte ꝑ slepe ꝑ fell vpon thē frō vnder & from aboue: somtyme were they afrayed thorow the feare of the wonders / & sōtyme they were so weake ꝑ they swowned withall: for an hastye & sodane fearfulnes came vpon them. After warde / yf eny of thē had fallen/ he was kepte and shutt in prison but without chaynes. But yf eny dwelt in a vyllage / yf he had bene an herd or husbandmā he suffred intollerable necessite: for they were all boūde w one chayne of darckenesse.

Whether it were a blasynge wynde/ or a swete songe of ꝑ byrdes among the thycke braunches of the trees / or the vehemence of hastie rūninge water/ or greate noyse of the fallynge downe of stones / or the playenge & rūninge of beastes whom they sawe not / or the mighte noyse of roaringe beastes, or the sownde ꝑ answereth agayne in the hye mountaynes: it made thē swowne for very feare. For all the earth shined w cleare light / & no mā was hindered in his labour. Onely vpō them there fell a heuy nyght / an ymage of darckenesse that was to come vpon them. Yee they were vnto them selues the most heuy & horrible darckenesse.

¶ The fyre lyght that they Israelites had in Egypt The persequucyon of the faythfull The Lord smote all the fyrst borne of Egypt. The synne of the people in the wylderues. Aaron stode betwyxt the lyue & the dede/ with his censoure.

¶ The. xviii. Chapter.

NEuertheles thy sanctes had a very greate lyght (and ꝑ enemyes herde their voyce / but they sawe not the figure of them.) And because they suffred not ꝑ same thinges / they magnyfyed the: and they that were vexed afore, because they were not hurte now) thanched the/ and besought the (O God that there myght be a difference. Therfore had they a burnyng pyller of fyre to lede thē in the vnknowne waye & thou gauest them ꝑ Sunne for a free gyft without eny hurt. Reason it was/ that they shulde want lyght and be put in the prison of darckines, which kepte thy children in captyuite/ by whom the vncorrupte light of ꝑ lawe of ꝑ worlde was for to be geuē. When they thought to slaye ꝑ babes of ꝑ righteous (one being layed out / and preserued to be leder vnto the other) thou broughtest out the whole multytude of the children / and destroydest these in the myghtye water. Of that nyght were oure fathers certyfyed afore, ꝑ they knowyng vnto what othes they had geuē credēce myght be of good cheare.

Thus thy people receaued the health of the righteous/ but ꝑ vngodly were destroied. For like as thou hast hurte oure enemies/ so hast thou promoted vs whō thou calledest a fore. For ꝑ righteous childrē of the good mē offred secretly and ordred the lawe of righteousnes vnto knite: ꝑ the iust shulde receaue good & euell in like maner, singinge prayses vnto ꝑ father father of all men. Agayne / there was herde an vnconuenient voyce of the enemies / & a pyteous crie for childzen & were bewayled. The master and the seruaũt were punyshed in lyke maner. ffor they all together had innumerable that dyed one death.

Neither were & lyuinge sufficient to bury & deed, for in & twinckelynge of an eye, & noblest nacion of thẽ was destroyed. As oft as God helped thẽ afore / yet wolde it not make them beleue: but in the destruccion of & first borne they knowleged / that it was the people of God. ffor whyle all thynges were still / & whẽ the nyght was in the myddest of her course, thy Almyghtie worde (O Lord) leapte downe from heauen out of thy royall trone, as a rough man of warre / in the myddest of the lande that was destroyed: and the sharpe swerde perfourmed their straite commaundement / standyng & fyllyng all things with death: yee it stode vpon the earth & reached vnto the heauen. Then the syght of the euell dreames vexed them sodenly / and fearfulnesse came vpon them vnawares.

Then leye there one here / another there / half deed half quyck / and shewed the cause of his death. ffor the visions that vexed them / shewed them these thynges afore: so that they were not ignoraũt / wherfore they perysshed.

The tentacyon of death touched the righteous also / and amonge the multitude in the wyldernesse there was insurrection / but thy wrath endured not longe. ffor the faultlesse man went in all the hast / and toke the battayll vpon him, brought forth the weapen of his ministracyon: euen prayer and the censours of reconcilinge: sett him self agaynst the wrath / and so brought the misery to an ende: declaringe therby, that he was thy seruaunt. ffor he ouercame not the multitude with bodely power, ner ỹ weapẽs of might: but with the worde he subdued him that vexed him / puttinge the in remembraunce of the othe & couenaunt made vnto the fathers. ffor when the deed were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another / he stode in the myddest / stanched the wrath and parted & waye vnto the lyuyng. And why? in hys longe garment was all the beautye / & in & foure rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen / and thy maiesty was wrytten in the crowne of his head. Vnto these the destroyer gaue place / and was afrayed of them: for it was only a tentacion worthy of wrath.

¶ The death of the Egyptians / and the great ioye of the Hebrues. The meate that was geuen at the desyre of the people. The elementes serue not onely to the will of God / but also to the wyll of man.

¶ The.xix. Chapter.

So for the vngodly / & wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto & ende. ffor he knew before what shulde happen vnto them: how that (when they had consented to lett them go / & had sent them out with greate diligẽce) they wolde repente / and folowe vpon them. ffor when they were yet mourninge & makynge lamentacion by the graues of the deed / they deuyled another foolyshnes: so that they persecuted them in their flenge / whom they had cast out afore with prayer. Worthy necessyte also brought them vnto this ende, for they had clene forgotten the thynges that happened vnto them afore. But the thynge that was wantynge of their punyshment / was requysyte so to be fulfylled vpon them with tormentes: & thy people might haue a marueilous passage thorow / & that these myght fynde a straunge death.

Then was euery creature fashyoned agayne of new accordynge to the will of their maker / obeyeng thy cõmaundementes that thy childzen myght be kept without hurte. ffor the cloude ouershadowed their tẽtes, & the drye earth appeared / where afore was water: so that in the redsee there was a waye without impedyment / and the greate depe became a grene fylde: where thorow all the people went & were defended with thy hande / seinge thy wonderous & maruelous workes. For as the horses, so were they fedde / & leapte lyke lambes, prayseing the (O Lord) which haddest deliuered them. And why? they were yet myndefull of the thynges / that happened whyle they dwelt in the lande: how & grounde brought forth flyes in stede of catell / & how the ryuer scrauled wyth & multitude of frogges in stede of fyshes.

But at the last they sawe a new creacyon of byrdes. what tyme as they were discaused with lust / and desyred delycate meates. ffor when they were speakinge of their appetite / the quayles came vp vnto thẽ from the see / and punyshementes came vpon the synners not without the tokens whych came to passe afore by the behemence of the streames: for they suffred worthely accordynge to their wickednesses they dealt so abhominably & churlishly with straungers. Some receaued no vnknowne gestes / some brought & strangers in to bondage that dyd them good. Beside all these thynges there were some / that not only receaued no straungers with their wylles / but persecuted those also / and dyd them moch euell / that receaued them gladly. Therfore were they punyshed with blyndnesse / lyke as they that were couered with sodane darknesse at & doores of the righteous for euery one sought & entraũce of his doore.

Thus the elementes turned in to them selues, lyke as when one tyme is chaunged vpon an instrument of musyck / and yet all the residue kepe their melody: whych may easely be perceaued / by the lyght of ỹ things that are come to passe. The dry lande was turned into a watery / and the thynge ỹ afore swamme in the water / wente now vpon the drye grounde. The fyre hath power in ỹ water (contrary to his awne vertue) and the water forgat his awne kinde to quēch. Agayne / the flammes of the noysome beastes hurte not the flesh of them that wente wyth them / nether melted they the yse, which els melteth lyghtely. In all thynges hast thou promoted thy people (O Lorde) and brought thē to honour: thou hast not despyred thē / but allwaye & in all places hast thou stande
by them.

¶ The ende of the boke of wysdom

¶ The boke of * Jesus the sonne of Syrach / which is called in latyne Ecclesiasticus.

* Or, Jesus.

The Prologe of Jesus the sonne of Syrach vnto his boke.

MAny and greate men haue declared wysdome vnto vs out of the lawe / out of the Prophetes and oute of other that folowed them. In the which thynges Israel ought to be commended / by the reason of doctryne & wysdome: Therfore they that haue it and rede it / shuld not onely thē selues be wyse there thorow, but serue other also wyth teachynge and wrytynge.

After that my graund father Jesus had geuen dyligent laboure to rede the lawe / the Prophetes and other bokes that were left vs of oure fathers, and had well exercysed him selfe therin: he purposed also to wryte some thynge of wysdome & good maners / to the intent that they which were willynge to learne and to be wyse myght haue the more vnderstandynge, and be the more apte to leade a good conuersacyon.

Wherfore I exorte you to receaue it louyngly, to rede it wyth dyligence / and to take it in good worth, though oure wordes be not so eloquēt as the famous oratours For ỹ thyng that is wrytten in the Hebrue tonge / soundeth not so well when it is translated in to another speache. Not only this boke of myne / but also the lawe / the Prophetes & other bokes sounde farre other wyse, then they do / when they are spoken in their awne language.

Now in the xxxviij. yeare when I came in to Egypte in the tyme of Ptolemy Euerges / and continued there all my lyfe / I gat lybertie to rede & wryte many good thinges. Wherfore I thought it good and necessary / to bestowe my dyligence and trauayle to interprete this boke. And consyderynge that I had tyme, I laboured and dydmy best to perfourme this boke / and to bryng it vnto lyght: that the straungers also which are disposed to lerne, myght applye them selues vnto good maners / and lyue accordynge to the lawe of the Lorde.

¶ Wysdome proceadeth and cōmeth of God. A propre of the feare of God. Rightwesnes is a degree to come by wysdome.

¶ The first Chapter.

ALl wysdome commeth of God the Lord / & hath bene euer with him / and is before all tyme. Who hath nombred the sande of ỹ see / the droppes of the rayne and the dayes of time: Who hath measured the heygth of heauen / the bredth of the earth & the depenesse of the see? Who hath sought owt the grounde of Goddes wysdome / which hath bene before all thinges? Wysdome hath bene before all thynges / and the vnderstandynge of prudence from euerlastynge. ¶ Gods worde in ỹ heygth is the well of wysdome / and the euerlastynge cōmaundementes are the entraūce of her. ¶ Vnto whom hath the rote of wysdome bene declared? Or who hath knowne her wyt? Vnto whō hath ỹ doctryne of wysdome bene discouered & shewed? & who hath vnderstande ỹ many folde entraunce of her?

B There is one: euen the Myght / the maker of all thynges / ỹ Almyghtye / the kynge of power (of whom mē ought to stande greatly in awe) which sytteth vpon his trone / beinge a God of dompnō: He hath created her thorow ỹ holy goost: he hath sene her / nombred her / and measured her: He hath poured her out vpon all his workes / and vpon all flesh accordynge to his gyft: he geueth her richely vnto them that loue hym. The feare of the Lord is worshippe and triumphe / gladnesse & a ioyfull crowne. The feare of the Lorde maketh a mery hert / geueth gladnesse / ioye and longe lyfe. Who so feareth the Lorde / it shall go well wyth hym at the last / & in the daye of hys death he shall be blessed.

¶ The loue of God is honorable wysdome: loke vnto whom it appeareth they loue yt / for they se what wonderous thynges it doth. The feare of ỹ Lorde ys the begynnynge of wysdome / and was made wyth the faythfull in the mothers wombe: yt shall go wyth the chosen wemen / and shalbe knowne of the ryghteous and faythfull. The feare of the Lorde is the ryght Gods seruyce / that preserueth and iustifieth the hert / and geueth myrth and gladnesse. Who so feareth ỹ Lord shall be happye: and when he hath nede of comforte / he shall be blessed. To feare God is ỹ wysdome that maketh rych / and bringeth all good vnto her. She fylleth the whole house wyth her gyftes / and the garners wyth her treasure. The feare of the Lord ys the crowne of wysdome / and geueth pleteous peace and health. He hath sene her and nombred her: knowlege and vnderstandynge of wysdome hath he poured out as rayne: & them ỹ holde her fast / hath he brought vnto honour.

The feare of the Lorde ys the rote of wysdome / and her braunches are longe lyfe. In the treasures of wysdome ys vnderstandyng and deuocyon of knowledge / but wysdome is abhorred of synners. ¶ The feare of the Lord dryueth out synne / for he that is without feare / can not be made ryghteous / and his wylfull boldnes is his awne destrucciō. A pacyent man wyll suffre vnto the tyme / & thē shall he haue ỹ rewarde of ioye. A good vnderstandynge wyll hyde his wordes for a tyme and many mens lippes shall speake of his wysdome. In the treasures of wysdome is the declaracyon of doctryne / but the synner abhorreth the worshyppe of God. My sonne / yf thou desyre wysdome / kepe the cōmaundement / and God shall geue her vnto the: for the feare of the Lorde is wysdome & nurtoure / he hath pleasure in fayth and louynge meknesse / and he shall fyll the treasures ther of. Be not obstinate and vnfaithfull to the feare of the Lorde / and come not vnto him with a double hert. Be not an ypocryte in the sight of men / and take good hede what thou speakest. Marcke well these thynges, lest thou happen to fall and bringe thy soule to dishonoure / and so God discouer thy secretes / and cast the downe in the myddest of ỹ congregacyon: because thou woldest not receaue ỹ feare of God / & because thy hert is full of faynednes and disceate.

¶ He exhorteth the seruauntes of God to ryghtwesnes loue / vnderstandyng / and pacience / and exhorteth hym that feareth God to beleue / to hope / and to loue: because God neyther confoundeth nor forsaketh them that trust in hym. A curse vpon the lotterli / fearce / & impacyent of herte.

¶ The.ij. Chapter.

MY sonne / yf thou wilt come into the seruyce of God / stande fast in ryghtousnes and feare / and arme thy soule to tentacyon: settle thine hert / and be pacyent: bowe downe thyne eare receaue the wordes of vnderstandynge / and thyncke not alwaye / when thou art entysed. Holde the fast vpon God / ioyne thy self vnto hym and suffre / that thy lyfe maye encreace at ẏ last. Whatsoeuer happeneth vnto the/receaue it:suffre in heupnesse/& be patient in thy trouble. For lyke as golde & syluer are tryed in the fyre/euen so are acceptable men in the fornace of aduersyte. Beleue in God/& he shall helpe the: ordre thy waye a ryght/and put thy trust in him. Holde fast his feare/and growe therin. O ye that feare ẏ Lord/take sure holde of his mercy:chynche not awaye frō him/that ye fall not. O ye that feare the Lorde/beleue hym/ and youre rewarde shall not be emptie. O ye ẏ feare ẏ Lorde put youre trust in him / & mercy shall come vnto you for pleasure. O ye that feare the Lorde set youre loue vpon him / & youre hertes shalbe lyghtened.

Consydre the olde generacions of men(O ye chyldren)and marck them well:was there euer eny one confounded / that put his trust in ẏ Lorde? Who euer continued in his feare and was forsaken? Or whom dyd he euer despyse / that called faythfully vpon him? For God is gracious and mercyfull / he forgeueth synnes in the tyme of trouble / and is a defender for all them that seke hym in the trueth. Wo be vnto him ẏ hath a duble hert/ wycked lyppes and euell occupied handes/& to the synner ẏ goeth two maner of wayes. Wo be vnto them that are loose of herte/ which put not their trust in God / & therfore shall they not be defended of him. Wo be vnto them that haue lost pacience / forsaken ẏ ryght wayes/and are turned back in to frowarde wayes. What wyll they do/ when the Lorde shall begynne to vysyt them?

They that feare the Lorde/wyll not mistrust his worde:and they that loue him/ will kepe his commaundement. They that feare the Lord wyll seke out the thinges / that are pleasaunt vnto hym: & they that loue hym / shall fulfyll his lawe. They ẏ feare ẏ Lorde wyll prepare their hertes/and humble their soules in his syght. They ẏ feare the Lorde kepe his commaundementes/& wyll be patient tyll they se hym self/sayinge: better it is for vs to fall into the handes of the Lorde/ then into the handes of men:for his mercy is as greate as hym selfe.

To oure father and mother ought we to gene double honour. Of the blessyng and curse of the father and mother. No man ought ouer curyously to searche out the secretes of God.

The.iii. Chapter.

The chyldren of wysdome are a congregacyon of the ryghteous/and their exercyse is obedience & loue. Heare me youre father (O my deare chyldren)& do there after/that ye may be safe. For the Lorde wyll haue the father honoured of the chyldren / and loke what a mother commaundeth her chyldren to do/ he will haue it kepte. Who so honoureth his father/ hys synnes shall be forgeuen him: and he that honoureth hys mother is lyke one ẏ gathereth treasure together. Who so honoureth his father / shall haue ioye of his awne chyldren:and when he maketh his prayer, he shall be herde. He that honoureth his father/ shall haue a longe lyfe: and he that is obedient for the Lordes sake/ hys mother shall haue ioye of him.

He that feareth the Lorde/ honoureth his father and mother / and doth them seruyce/ as it were vnto the Lorde him self. Honoure thy father in dede/in worde / and in all pacience / that thou mayest haue his blessynge: for the blessing of the father buyldeth vp the houses of the children / but the mothers curse roteth out the foundacyons. Reioyse not when thy father is reproued / for it is no honoure vnto the / but a shame. For the worshipe of a mās father is his awne worshipe/ and where the father is without honoure/ it is the dishonesty of the sonne. My sonne/ make moch of thy father in his age/& greue him not as longe as he liueth. And yf his vnderstanding fayle/haue pacience with him/ and despyse hym not in thy strength. For the good dede that thou shewest vnto thy father/ shall not be forgotten:& when thou thy selfe wantest/it shall be rewarded the (& for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good/yee it shall be founded for the in ryghtuoulnes)& in the daye of trouble thou shalt be remembred: thy synnes also shall melt awaye, lyke as ẏ yse in ẏ fayre warme wether.

He that forsaketh his father / shall come to shame:and he that defyeth his mother/ is cursed of God. My sonne / perfourme thy workes w̄ louenge meknesse / so shalt thou be loued aboue other men. The greater thou art/the more humble thy self(in all thynges) and thou shalt fynde fauour in the sight of God. For greate power belongeth onely vnto God/ & he is honoured of the lowly.

Seke not out the thinges that are aboue thy capacyte / and searche not the grounde of soch thynges as are to mighty for the: but loke what God hath cōmaunded the/ thynke vpon that all waye / and be not curyous in many of hys workes. For it is not nedefull for the to se w̄ thyne eyes the thynges ẏ are secrete. Make not thou to moch searche in superfluous thynges/ & be not curious in many of hys workes: for many thynges are shewed vnto the allready / which be aboue ẏ capacite of men. The medlynge w̄ soch hath begyled many a mā, and tangled their wittes in in vanyte. Now he that loueth parell / shall perish therin.

D An harde herte shall fayre euell at ỹ last (an hert that goeth two wayes, shal not prospere: & he that is frowarde of hert, will euer be the worse & worse.) A wicked hert shalbe ladē with sorowes / & ỹ vngodly synner will heape one synne vpō another. The councell of the proude hath no health / for the plante of synne shall be roted out in them. The hert of him ỹ hath vnderstandyng shall perceaue hye thinges / & a good eare wyll gladly herken vnto wysdome. An hert that is wyse and hath vnderstādyng / will abstayne frō synne / and increase in ỹ workes of righteousnes. Water quencheth burnynge fyre / & mercy reconcyleth synnes. God hath respecte vnto him that is thanckfull: he thincketh vpō him agaynst the tyme to come: so that whē he falleth / he shall fynde a stronge holde.

¶ Almes must be done with all meakenes. The fruyte of wysdome and her frute. A nudge ought to be mercyfle. Anexhortacyon to eschue euell & to do good.

¶ The. iiii. Chapter.

A My sonne / defraude not the poore of his almes / and turne not awaye thyne eyes frō him that hath nede. Despyse not an hongrye soule / & defye not the poore in his necessite. greue not the herte of him that is helpiesse / and withdrawe not the gyft from the nedefull. Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble / & turne not awaye thy face from ỹ nedy. Cast not thyne eyes aside from the poore / ỹ thou geue him not occasyon to speake euell of ỹ. For yf he complayne of the in the bytterness of his soule / his prayer shall be herde: euē he that made him / shal heare him. Be curteous vnto the company of the poore / humble thy soule vnto the elder / & bowe downe thy head to a man of worshippe. Lett it not greue the to bowe downe thyne eare vnto ỹ poore / but paye thy dett / and geue hym a frendly answere / and that with meknesse.

B Delyuer hym ỹ suffreth wronge from the hāde of the oppressour / & be not faynt harted when thou sytteſt in iudgmēt. Be mercyfull vnto the fatherles as a father / & be in steade of an housbande vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as an obedient sonne of the Hyest / & he shall loue the more then thy mother doth. Wysdome bryngeth lyfe in to her chyldrē, receaueth them that seke her / & wyll go before thē in the waye of righteousnes. He ỹ loueth her / loueth lyfe: & they ỹ seke her diligently / shall haue greate ioye. They that kepe her / shall haue the heretage of lyfe: for where she entreth in / there is the blessyng of God. They that honoure her / shall be the seruauntes of the holy one: and they that loue her / are beloued of God. Who so geueth eare vnto her / shall iudge the Heathen: and he that hath respecte vnto her / shall dwell safely.

C He ỹ beleueth her / shall haue her in possession / and his generacyon shall endure: for when he falleth, she shal go with him before all. Feare / drede & tēptacion shall she bryng vpon him / and trye him in her doctryne: tyll she haue so proued hym in hys thoughtes / ỹ he commytte his soule vnto her. Then shall she stablish him, bynge the ryght waye vnto him, make him a glad man / shewe him her secretes / and heape vpon hym the treasures of knowledge, vnderstandyng & ryghteousnes. But yf he go wronge / she shall forsake hym, and geue hym ouer in to the handes of his enemye.

D My sonne make moch of the tyme / eschue the thynge ỹ is euell, & for thyne shame not to saye ỹ trueth. For there is a shame ỹ bryngeth synne / and there is a shame that bryngeth worshippe and fauour. Accepte no person after thyne awne wyll / that thou be not confounded to thyne awne decaye. Be not ashamed of thy neyghbour in his aduersite / & kepe not back thy coūceil when it maye do good / nether hyde thy wysdome in her beuty. For in the tonge is wysdome knowne / so is vnderstandyng / knowledge & lernynge in ỹ talkynge of the wyse and stedfastnesse in the workes of ryghteousnes. In no wyse speake agaynst ỹ worde of treuth / but be ashamed of ỹ lyes of thyne awne ignorauce. Shame not to cōfesse thyne errour / & submytte not thy selfe vnto eucry man because of synne. Withstande not the face of the myghtie / and stryue not agaynst the streame. But for the trueth stryue thou vnto death and God shall fyght for the agaynst thine enemyes. Be not hastye in thy tonge / nether slacke & negligent in thy workes. Be not as a lyon in thyne awne house, destroyīg thy housholde folcke / and oppressyng them that are vnder the. Let not thyne hande be stretched out to receaue / and shut when thou shuldest geue.

¶ In ryches maye we not put any confydence. The vengeaunce of God ought to be feared / and to repentaunce maye we not be slowe.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

T Rust not vnto thy ryches / & saye not: tusch / I haue ynough for my lyfe. (For it shall not helpe in the tyme of vengeaunce & temptaciō) Folowe not the lust of thyne awne herte in thy strength / and saye not: tusch / how haue I had strength or who wyll bryng me vnder because of my workes: for doutles God shal auēge it. And saye not: I haue cōmytted no synnes /

synnes / but what euill hath happened me? for the Almyghtye is a pacyent rewarder. Because thy synne is forgeue / be not therfore without feare / nether heape one synne vpō another. And saye not: tush / the mercy of ỳ Lord is great / he shal forgeue me my synnes / be they neuer so many. For like as he is mercyfull, so goeth wrath frō him also, & his indignacyon cōmeth downe vpon synners.

Se be no tarynge to turne vnto ỳ Lord / & put not of frō daye to daye. For sodenly shall his wrath come, & in the time of vengeaunce he shall destroie ỳ. Trust not in wicked ryches for they shall not helpe in the daye of punishment & wrath. Be not caryed about to euery wynde / and goo not into euery waye: for so doth the synner ỳ hath a double tōge. Stāde fast in the waye of the Lorde, be stedfast in thy vnderstandynge / abyde by the worde / and folowe the worde of peace & ryghtuousnes. Be gentle to heare the worde of God / & thou mayst vnderstande it, and make a true answere with wysdome. Be wyse to heare / but slowe & pacient in geuynge answere. If thou hast vnderstādynge / shappe thy neyghbours an answere: if no, laye thyne hād vpō thy mouth: lest thou be trapped in an vndiscrete worde / & so cōfounded. Honour & worshyppes in a mans wyse talkynge / but ỳ tonge of the vndiscrete is his awne destruccion. Be not a pryuy accuser as longe as thou lyuest / & vse no sclaūder with thy tonge. For shame and sorow goeth ouer the theefe / and an euill name ouer him that is double tonged: but he that is a pryuy accuser of other men / shalbe hated enuyed and confounded. Se that thou iustifye the small and greate alyke.

¶ It is the propertye of a synner to be euell tonged. The doctryne and good counsell of the wyse is to be embraced. Wysdome shulde be searched for. The profet therof.

¶ The.vi. Chapter.

Se not thy neyghbours enemye for thy frendes sake: for who so is euill shall be the heyre of rebuke & dyshonoure, & whosoeuer beareth enuye & a doubble tōg offendeth. Be not proude in the deuyce of thyne awne vnderstandyng / lest thy handes wither / and thy frute be destroyed & so thou be left as a dyre tree. For a wycked soule destroyeth hym ỳ hath it / maketh hym to be laughed to scorne of hys enemyes, (& bringeth hym to the porcyon of the vngodly.) A swete worde multiplieth frendes / and pacifyeth them that be at baryaunce / and a thanckfull tonge will be plenteous in a good man. Welde frendshippe wyth many / neuertheles haue but one cōsceler of a thousande.

If thou getteſt a frende / proue him fyrſt / and be not hastie to geue him credence. For some man is a frende but for a tyme / & will not abyde in the daye of trouble. And there is some frende that turneth to enemyte / and taketh parte agaynſt the: & yf he knowe eny hurte by the / he telleth it out. Agayne / some frende is but a compayon at the table / and in the daye of nede he contynueth not. But a sure frende will be vnto the euen as thyne awne self / & deale faythfully wyth thy houſholde folke. If thou ſuffre trouble and aduerſyte / he is with the / and hydeth not hym ſelf from the. Departe from thyne enemyes & beware of thy frendes.

A faythfull frende is a ſtronge defence: who ſo fyndeth ſuche one / fyndeth a noble treaſure. A faithfull frende hath no peare / & wight of golde & ſyluer is not to be compared to the goodneſſe of his faith. A faythfull frende is a medicyne of lyfe / & they that feare the Lord / ſhall fynde him. Who ſo feareth the Lorde / ſhall proſpere with frendes: & as he is himſelf, ſo ſhall his frende be alſo. My ſonne / receaue doctryne frō thy youth vp ſo ſhalt thou fynde wyſdome tyll thou be olde. Go to her as one that ploweth / and ſoweth / and wayte pacyently for hir good frutes. For thou ſhalt haue but lytle laboure in hir worke / but thou ſhalt eate of hir frutes right ſoone. O how exceading ſharpe is wiſdome to vnlerned men? an vnſtedfaſt body wilt not remayne in her. Vnto ſuch ſhe is as it were a touchſtone / & ſhe caſteth her from him in all the haſte: for wiſdome is with him but in name, there be but few ỳ haue knowledge of her. (But with them that know her / ſhe abydeth euen vnto ỳ apperynge of God.)

Geue eare (my ſonne) receaue my doctryne / and refuſe not my counſell. Put thy fote in to her fyncktes / and take her yocke vpon thy neck: bowe downe thy ſhoulder vnder her / beare her pacyently / and be not weery of her bandes. Come vnto her with thy whole hert / & kepe her wayes with all thy power. Seke after her, and ſhe ſhalbe ſhewed the: and whē thou haſt her / forſake her not. For at the laſt thou ſhalt fynde reſt in her / and that ſhalbe turned to thy greate ioye. Then ſhall her fetters be a ſtronge defence for the / & her yocke a glorious rayment. For the bewtie of lyfe is in her / and her bandes are the couplynge together of ſaluacion. Yee a glorious rayment is it / thou ſhalt put it on / & the ſame crowne of ioye ſhalt thou weere.

My ſonne / yf thou wylt / take hede / thou ¶ ſhalt haue vnderſtādynge: and yf thou wylt applie thy minde / thou ſhalt be wyſe. If thou wylt bowe downe thyne eare / thou ſhalt receaue doctryne: & yf thou delyte in hearyng /

thou shalt be wyse. Stande with the multitude of soch elders as haue vnderstandynge/ & consente vnto their wysdome wyth thyne herte: that thou mayest heare all godly sermons and that the worthy sentences eschape the not. And yf thou seist a man of discrete vnderstandynge/ get the soone vnto hym / & let thy fote treade vpon the steppes of his doores. Let thy mynde be vpon the commaundementes of God & be earnestly occupied in hys lawes. so shall he stablysh thy hert/ and geue the wysdome at thyne awne desyre.

¶ We must forsake euell/ & yet not iustifye our selues The behauioure of the wyse towarde hys wyfe/ hys frynde/ his chyldren/ his seruauntes/ his father & mother/ the prestes &c.

¶ The.bij. Chapter.

DO no euell, so shal ther no harme happen vnto the. Departe awaye from the thynge that is wycked, & no myssortune shall medle wt the. My sonne/ sowe no euell thynges in the sorowes of vnrighteousnes, so shalt thou not reape them seuenfolde. Laboure not vnto man for any lordshype, nether vnto ye kyng for the seate of honoure. Iustifye not thy selfe before God, for he knoweth the hert, & desyre not to be reputed wyse in the presence of the kyng. Make no laboure to be made a iudge/ except it so were, that thou couldest myghtely put downe wyckednes: for yf thou shuldest stande in awe of the presence of ye mighty thou shuldest fayle in geuynge sentence. Offende not in the multitude of the cite and put not thy selfe amonge the people. Bynde not two synnes together/ for in one synne shalt thou not be vnpunyshed. Saye not: tush God wyll loke vpon the multitude of my oblacyons, and when I offre to the hyest God he wyll accepte it.

B Be not faynt harted when thou makest thy prayer/ nether slacke ingeuing of almes. Laugh no man to scorne in the beuynesse of his soule, for God (which seyth all thinges) is he that can bringe downe / & set vp agayne. Accepte no lesyng agaynst thy brother/ nether do the same agaynst thy frende. Vse not to make any maner of lye/ for the custome therof is not good. Make not many wordes/ when thou art amonge the elders: and when thou prayest make not moch bablynge. Let no laborius worcke be tedious vnto the/ nether the husbandrye which the Allmyghtie hath created. Make not thy boast in ye multytude of thy wyckednes / but humble thy selfe euen from thyne herte: and remembre that the wrath shall not be longe in tarying/ and that the vengeaunce of the flesh of ye vngodly is a very eyre & worme. Geue not ouer thy frynde for eny good / nor thy faythfull brother for the best golde.

Of Syrach. xxxix.

Departe not from a discrete & good woman that is fallen vnto the for thy porcyon in the feare of the Lorde / for the gyft of her honesty is aboue golde. Where as thy seruaũt worcketh truly intreate him not euell/ nor the hyrelynge that is faythfull vnto the. Loue a discrete seruaunte as thyne awne soule defraude hym not of hys lybertye / nether leaue him a poore mã. If thou haue cattell, loke well to them: and yf they be for thy profyt, kepe thẽ. If thou haue sonnes, bring thẽ vp in nurtoure & lernynge / & holde them in awe from their youth vp. If thou haue daughters, kepe their body / & shewe not thy face cherefull toward thẽ. Marie thy daughter/ and so shalt thou perfourme a weyghtye matter: but geue her to a man of vnderstandynge. If thou haue a wyfe after thine awne mynde, forsake her not: (but commytte not thy selfe to the hatefull.)

Honoure thy father from thy whole herte and forgett not the sorofull trauayle & thy mother had wyth the: remembre that thou wast borne thorow them, and how cãst thou recõpense them the thynges that they haue done for the? Feare ye Lord with all thy soule & honoure his mynistres. Loue thy maker wyth all thy strength, & forsake not hys seruauntes. Feare the Lord with all thy soule/ & honoure hys Prestes. Geue thẽ their porcyõ of the fyrst frutes & increase of ye earth/ lyke as it is cõmaunded the: geue them the shoulders/ and their appoynted offrynges & fyrstlynges. Reache thyne hande vnto the poore, that God maye blesse the wyth plentuousnes. Be lyberall vnto all men lyuyng/ yet let not but do good euen to them that are dede.

Let not them that wepe be without comforte, but mourne wt soch as mourne. Let it not greue the to vysyt the sick / for that shall make the to be beloued. Whatsoeuer thou takest in hande remembre the ende/ & thou shalt neuer do amysse.

¶ Agaynst thy better is no stryuyng. Of the deeth of thyne enemye maylle thou not reioyce / nor despyse thy neyghbours nor the wordes of the wyse.

¶ The.biij. Chapter.

STryue not with a myghtye man/ lest thou chaunce to fall in to hys handes. Make no variaunce with a ryche mã lest he happẽ to bringe vp an harde quarell agaynst ye. For golde & syluer hath vndone many a man yee euẽ the hertes of kyngs hath it made to fall. Stryue not with a man ye is ful of wordes, & laye no styckes vpon his fyre: Kepe no cõpany with ye vnlerned/ lest he geue thy kynred an euell reporte. Despyse not a man that turneth hym selfe awaye from synne / and call hym not not in the teeth wythall: but remembre ꝑ we are fraile euerychone. Thynke scorne of no man in his olde age / for we ware olde also. Be not glad of the death of thyne enemye / but remembre that we must dye all the sorte of vs (and fayne wolde we come in to ioye.) Despyse not the sermons of soch elders as haue vnderstãdyng / but acquaynte thy selfe with the wyse sentences of them: for of them thou shalt lerne wysdome and the doctrine of vnderstandyng / and how to serue great men wythout complaynte.

B Go not from ꝑ doctryne of the elders / for they haue lerned it of their fathers. For of thẽ thou shalt lerne vnderstandynge / so ꝑ thou mayest make answere in the tyme of nede. Kyndle not ꝑ coales of synners / lest thou be brent in the fyre flãmes of their synnes. Resyst not the face of the blasphemer, ꝑ he laye not wayte for thy mouth. Lende not vnto him that is myghtier then thy selfe: If thou lendest him / counte it but lost. Be not suerte aboue thy power: yf thou be / then thincke surely to paye it. Go not to lawe wyth ꝑ iudge / for he will iudge accordyng to his awne honoure. Trauayle not by the waye wyth him that is braynelesse / lest he do the euell: for he foloweth his awne wylfulnes / and so shalt thou perish thorow his foly.

C Stryue not wyth hym that is angrie and cruell / and go not with him in to the wyldernes: for bloude is nothinge in hys syght / and where there is no helpe / he shall murther ꝑ. Take no councell at foles / for they loue nothynge but the thynges ꝑ please thẽ selues. Take no coũcell before a straũger / for thou canst not tell what will come of it. Opẽ not thyne herte vnto euery man / lest he be vnthanckfull to the and put the to reproffe.

¶ The scripture of chastnes are to be eschued. An olde fryende is to be preferred before a newe. The glory and ryches of synners. Rygh tewes men shulde be lyberall. Labour is the chefe thyng in a worke man and wysdome in aprentice.

¶ The.ix. Chapter.

BE not gelous ouer the wyfe of thy bosome / that she shewe not some shrewed poynte of wycked doctryne vpon the. Geue not the power of thy lyfe vnto a woman / lest she come in thy strength / & so thou be confounded. Loke not vpon a woman that is desyrous of many men / lest thou fall in to her snares. Vse not the company of a woman that is a player & daunser / and heare her not / lest thou perysh thorow her entysyng. Beholde not a mayde / that thou be not hurt in her bewtie. Cast not thy mynde vpon harlottes in eny maner of thynge, lest thou destroye both thy selfe and thyne herytage. Go not about gasynge in euery lane of the cytye / nether wandre thou abrode in ꝑ stretes therof. Turne awaye thy face from a beutyfull woman / and loke not vpon the fayrnesse of other.

B Many a man hath perysshed thorow the bewty of wemen / for thorow it the desyre is kyndled as it were a fyre. (An aduoterous woman shalbe trodden vnder fote as myre / of euery one that goeth by the waye. Many a mã wonderynge at the bewtye of a straũge woman / hathe bene cast out / for her wordes kyndle as a fyre.) Sytt not wt another mãs wyfe by eny meanes / lye not wyth her vpon the bedd / make no wordes with her at the wyne: lest thine hert consent vnto her / and so thou wt thy bloude fall in to destruccyõ. Forsake not an olde frende / for the new shall not be lyke him.

A new frẽde is new wyne: let him be olde & thou shalt drynke him with pleasure. Desyre not ꝑ honoure and ryches of a synner / for thou knowest not what destruccyon is for to come vpon him. Delyte not thou in ꝑ thynge that the vngodly haue pleasure in / beinge sure that the vngodly shall not be accepted vntyll their graue.

C Kepe the from the man that hath power to slaye / so nedest thou not to be afrayed of death. And yf thou commest vnto him / make no fawte / lest he happen to take awaye thy lyfe. Remembre ꝑ thou goest in the myddest of snares / & vpon the bul workes of the citye. Be warre of thy neghboure as nye as thou canst / and medle with soch as be wyse and haue vnderstandynge. Lett iust men be thy gestes, lett thy myrth be in the feare of God / let the remẽbraunce of God be in thy mynde and let all thy talkynge be in the commaundementes of the Hyest. In the hãdes of craftesmen shall the workes be commended / so shall the prynces of the people in the wysdome of their talkynge. A mã full of wordes is perlous in his cytie: and he that is temerarious and past shame in his talkynge / is to be abhorred.

¶ Of kynges and Iudges. Pryde & couetousnes are to be abhorred. Labour is praysed.

¶ The.x. Chapter.

A Wyse iudge will ordre hys people with discrecion / and where a man of vnderstandynge beareth rule / there goeth it well. As the iudge of the people is him selfe / euen so are his officyers: and loke what maner of man the ruler of the cytye is / soch are they that dwell therin also. An vnwyse kyng destroyeth his people / but where they that be in auctorite are men of vnderstandynge / there the cytye prosphereth.

The power of the earth is in the hande of God /

God/and when his time is/he shall set a profytable ruler vpon it. In the hande of God is the power of man/& vpon the Scribes shall he laye his honoure. Remembre no wronge of thy neyghboure/& medle thou with no vnrighteous worckes. Pride is hatefull before God and man/and all wickednes of the Heathen is to be abhorred. Because of vnrighteous dealyng/wrõge/blasphemies and dyuerse diseases / a realme shall be translated from one people to another.

B There is nothyng worse then a couetous man. Why art thou proude / O thou earth & asshes? There is not a more wicked thinge/ then to loue money. And why? soch one hath hys soule to sell: yet is he but sychye donge whyle he lyueth.

And though the physician shewe his helpe neuer so longe/yet in conclusion it goeth after this maner/to daye a kynge / to morowe deed. For when a man dyeth / he is the heyre of serpentes/beastes & wormes. The begynnynge of mans pryde / is to fall awaye from God: and why? his hert is gone from his maker / for pryde is the ouergenall of all synne. Who so taketh holde therof shalbe fylled w curses/and at the last it shall ouerthrow him. Therfore hath the Lord brought the cõgregacions of the wycked to dishonoure / & destroyed them vnto the ende.

God hath destroyed the seates of proude prynces/and sett vp the meke in their steade. God hath wythered the rotes of the proude Heathen/& planted the lowly amonge them. God hath ouerthrowne the lãdes of the Heathen, and destroyed them out of the grounde. He hath caused them to wyther awaye / he hath brought them to naught, and made the memorial of them to ceasse from oute of the earth (God hath destroyed ỹ name of ỹ proude/ and left the name of the humble of mynde.) Pryde was not made for man nether wrothfulnes for mens chyldrẽ. The sede of mẽ that feareth God, shalbe brought to honoure: but the sede which transgresseth the commaundmentes of the Lorde shalbe shamed. He that is ỹ ruler amõge bretherẽ, is holdẽ in honoure amonge thẽ/& he regardeth soch as feare the Lord. The glory of the ryche/of ỹ honorable and of the poore is the feare of God.

D Despyse not thou the iust poore mã/ and magnifie not ỹ rych vngodly. Greate is the iudge & mighty in honour/ yet is there none greater/then he ỹ feareth God. Vnto the seruaũt that is discrete/ shall the fre do seruyce. He that is wyse & well nurtoured / wyll not grudge when he is refourmed/& an ignoraũt body shall not come to honour. Be not proude to do thy worcke / & dispare not in ỹ tyme of aduersyte. Better is he that laboureth/ & hath plentcousnes of all thyngs/then he that is gorgeous & wanteth bred.

My sonne, kepe thy soule inmekenes / & geue her her due honoure. Who shall iustifie him that sinneth agaynst him self? Who will honoure him, ỹ dishonoureth his awne lyfe? The poore is honoured for his faythfulnes & trueth/but the ryche is had in reputacion because of his goodes. He that ordreth him self honestly in pouerte/ how moch more shall he behaue him self honestly in ryches? And who so ordreth him selfe vnhonestly in rychs, how moch more shall he be haue hym selfe vnhonestly in pouerte.

¶ The prayse of humilytie. After the outwarde appearaunce ought we not to iudge. Of hasty and rathe iudgement. The ryche is not without offence. All thinges come of God. All men are not to be brought in to thyne house.

¶ The .xi. Chapter.

THe wysdome of hym ỹ is brought lowe/shall lyft vp his head/& shall make hym to syt amonge greate men. Commende not a man in hys beawtye, nether despyse a man in hys outer appearaunce. The Bee is but a small beast amõge the foules, yet is her frute exceadyng swete. Be not proude of thy raymẽt/& exalte not thy selfe in the daye of thy honoure: for ỹ worckes of the Hyest onely are wonderfull: ye glorious, secrete and vnknowne are hys worckes. Many tyrauntes haue bene fayne to syt downe vpon the earth / & the vnlykely hath worne the crowne. Many mightie men haue bene brought lowe/ and the honorable haue bene delyuered in to other mens hãdes. Condemne no man / before thou haue tryed out the matter: and when thou hast made enquysycion/then refourme rightuously. Geue no sentẽce before thou hast herde the cause/ but fyrst let men tell out their tayles.

B Stryue not for a matter that toucheth not thy selfe/and stande not in the iudgment of synners. My sonne/medle not with many matters: & yf thou wylt be ryche / thou shalt not get it: and though thou rennest thy waye afore/yet shalt thou not escape. There is some man that laboureth / & the more he wearieth him selfe/& lesse he hath. Agayne/ some man is slouthfull/hath nede of helpe/wãteth strength/and hath greate pouerte/and Gods eye loketh vpon him to good/ setteth him vp from his lowe estate/and lifteth vp his head: so that many men maruell at him/ and geue honoure vnto God.

Prosperite and aduersyte/lyfe and death/ pouerte and ryches come all of the Lorde. (Wysdome, nurtoure and knowledge of the lawe are with God: loue & the wayes of good are with him. Errour & darcknes are made for synners: and they that exalte them selues in euell/in euell / waxe olde in euell. ¶ The gyft of God remayneth for the righteous / and hys good wyll shall geue prosperyte for euer. Some man is rich by ryuynge nygardly / & that is the porcyon of hys rewarde / in that he sayeth: now haue I gotten rest / and now wyll I eate and drynke of my goodes my selfe alone. And yet he consydereth not / that ỹ tyme draweth nye / ỹ he must leaue al these thyngs vnto other men / and dye him selfe. Stande thou fast in thy couenaunt, and exercyse thy selfe therin / and remayne in the worke vnto thy age. Contynue not in the workes of synners / but put thy trust in God / and byde in thyne estate: for it is but an easy thinge in ỹ ¶ sight of God / to make a poore man riche / & that sodenly. The blessynge of God hasteth to the rewarde of the ryghtous and maketh his frutes soone to florysh & prosper. Saye not: what helpeth it me: & what shall I haue ỹ whyle? Agayne / saye not: I haue ynough / how can I wãte? When thou art in welfare / forget not aduersyte: and when it goeth not well with the, haue a good hope that it shal be better. For it is but a small thynge vnto God / in the daye of death to rewarde euery man accordynge to his wayes. The aduersite of an houre maketh one to forgett all pleasure: and when a man dyeth his workes are discouered. Prayse no body before his death for a man shalbe knowe in his children.

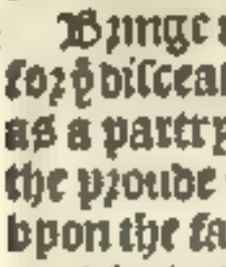
¶ Bringe not euery man in to thine house / for ỹ disceatfull layeth wayte dyuersly. Like as a partrych in a maunde / so ys the hert of the proude: and lyke as a spye / that lyeth vpon the fal of his neighbour. For he turneth good vnto euell / and sclaundreth the chosen. Of one sparck ys made a greate fyre / & an vngodly man layeth wayte for bloude. Beware of the disceatfull / for he ymagyneth wicked thinges / to bringe the in to a perpetuall shame. If thou takest an aleaũt vnto ỹ he shall destroye the in vnquietnes / & dryue the from thine awne wayes.

¶ Vnto whõ we ought to do good. Enemyes ought to be eschued.

¶ The.xii. Chapter.



When thou wilt do good / knowe to whom thou doest it / & so shalt thou be greatly thanked for thy benefites. Do good vnto the righteous and thou shalt fynde great rewarde: though not of him / yet (no doute) the Lorde him selfe shall rewarde the. He standeth not in a good case ỹ is alwaye occupied in euel / & geueth no almes: for the Hyest hateth the synners / and hath mercy vpon them that shew the workes of repentaũce. Geue thou vnto soch as feare God / and receaue not a synner. As for the vngodly and synners, he shall recompense vengeaũce vnto them / and kepe them to ỹ daye of wrath. Geue thou vnto ỹ good / and receaue not the synner: do well vnto him that is lowly / but geue not to the vngodly. Let not the bred be geuen him, that he be not myghtyer then thy selfe therin. For so shalt thou receaue twyse as moch euell / in all the good that thou doest vnto hym: And why? the Hyest hateth synners / and shal rewarde vengeaunce to the vngodly.

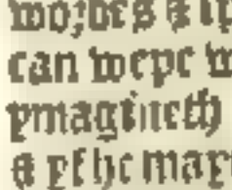
In prosperite / a frynd shal not be knowne / and in aduersyte an enemie shall not be hyd. ¶ For when a man is in wealth / it greueth his enemies: but in heuynes and trouble a man shall knowe hys frynde. Trust neuer thyne enemy / for lyke as an yron rusteth / so doth his wyckednes. And though he make moch crouchyng and kneelyng / yet kepe well thy mynde / and bewarre of him. Set him not by the / nether let him syt at thy right hande: lest he turne him / gett in to thy place / take thy rowme and seke thy seate / and so thou at the last remembre my wordes / and be pricked at my sayinges.

Bynde not two synns together / for there shall not one be vnpunished. Who will haue pytye of ỹ charmer / that is stynged of ỹ serpent / or of all soch as come nye the beastes? Euẽ so is it with him ỹ kepeth cõpany wyth a wycked man / and lappeth him selfe in hys synnes. For a season wyll he byde with the / but yf thou stomble, he tarieth not. An enemy is swete in his lippes, he can make many ¶ wordes & speake many good thinges: Yee he can wepe wyth hys eyes / but in his hette he ymagineth / how to throw the in to ỹ pytte: & yf he may fynde opportunite, he will not be satisfyed with bloude. If aduersite come vpõ ỹ / thou shalt fynde him there first / & though he pretende to do the helpe / yet shall he vndermyne the. He shall shake his head / and clape his hãdes ouer the for very gladnes / & whille he maketh many wordes / he shall disguyse his countenaunce.

¶ The companies of the proude and of the ryche are to be eschued. The loue of God & ỹe do cõpany with their lyke.

¶ The.xiii. Chapter.



Who so toucheth pitch / shalbe fyled withall: & he that is familiar wt the proude / shall clothe hym selfe with pryde. He taketh a burthen vpon him / that accompanyeth a more honorable man then him selfe. Therfore kepe no familyarite with one that is rycher then thy selfe. How agree the hetell and the pot together? for yf ỹ one be stryke̅ egaynst ỹ other / it shall be broke̅. The ryche dealeth vnryghtuously, and threatneth withall: but ỹ poore be-

beynge oppressed & wrongeously dealt with all / suffreth scarcenesse / and geueth fayre wordes. If thou be for hys profyt he vseth the: but yf thou haue nothyng he shall forsake the. As lõge as thou hast eny thyng of thyne awne/he shall be a goodfelow with the: yee he shal make the a bare mã/ & not be sory for the. If he haue nede of the/he shall defraude the: & (wyth a preuy mocke) shall he put the in an hope / & geue the all good wordes / and saye: what wantest thou? Thus shall he shame the in his meate / vntill he haue supte the cleane vp twyse or thryse / & at the last shal he laugh the to scorne. Afterwarde / whẽ he seyth that thou hast nothynge / he shall forsake the / & shake his head at the.

B Beware / that thou be not disceaued and brought downe in thy symplenesse. Be not to humble in thy wysdome / lest when thou art brought lowe / thou be disceaued throw foolyshnes. If thou be called of a mygtye man / absent thy selfe / so shall he call the to him the more oft. Preasse not thou vnto him / that thou be not shott out: but goo not thou farre of / lest he forget the. Withdraw not thy selfe frõ his speach / but beleue not his many wordes. For with moch cõmunication shall he tempte the / & (with a preuy mocke) shall he question the of thy secretes. The vnmercifull mynde of his shall marck thy wordes / he shall not spare to do the hurte & to put the in prison / Beware / & take good hede to thy selfe / for thou walkest in parell of thy ouerthrowing.

C Now when thou hearest his wordes make the as though thou weretest in a dreame / and wake vp. Loue God all thy lyfe longe / and call vpõ him in thy nede. Euery beast loueth his like, euẽ so let euery mã loue his neyghboure. All flesh wyll resorte to their like / and euery man wyll kepe company with such as he is him selfe. But as the wolfe agreeth wyth the lambe, so doth the vngodly wyth the ryghteous. What felowshyppe shulde an holy man haue with a dogge? How can the ryche & the poore agree together? The wylde Asse is the lyõs pray in the wyldernesse / euẽ so are poore men the meate of the ryche. Like as the proude maye not awaye with lowlynes / euẽ so doth the rych abhorre the poore. If a rych mã fall / his frendes set him vp agayne: but when the poore falleth hys frendes forsake hym. If a rych man fall in to an errour / he hath many helpers: he speaketh proude wordes, and yet men iustifye him.

D But yf a poore man go wronge / he is punyshed: yet though he speake wysely yet can it haue no place. When the ryche man speaketh / euery body holdeth his tonge: and loke what he sayeth they prayse it vnto the cloudes. But yf the poore man speake / they saye What felowe is this? and yf he do amysse / they shal destroye him. Ryches are good vnto him that hath no synne in hys conscience / and pouerte is a wycked thing in the mouth of the vngodly. The hert of man chaungeth his countenaunce / whether it be in good or euell. A chearfull countenaunce is a token of a good herte / for els is it an harde thynge to knowe the thought.

¶ The .xiij. Chapter.

A Eccli.xij.t.and xxv.c. Jacob.iij.a.

Blessed is the man / that hath not fallen with the worde of his mouth / and is not pricked wyth the conscience of synne. Happie is he that had no heuynes in his mynde / and is not fallen from his hope. It be commeth not a couetous man and a nygarde / to be ryche: and what shulde a nygarde do with golde? He that with al his carefulnes heapeth together vnryghteously gathereth for other folckes / & another man shal make good chere with his goodes. He that is wicked vnto hym selfe / how shulde he be good vnto other men? How can soch one haue eny pleasure of his goods? There is nothyng worse / then when one disfauoureth him selfe / and this is a rewarde of his wickednes. If he do eny good / he doth it not knowynge therof / and agaynst hys will / & at the last he declareth his vngraciousnes. A nygarde hath a wycked eye / he turneth awaye his face, and despyseth his awne soule. Prou.xxvij.c. Eccli.xl.a A couetous mans eye hath neuer ynough in the porcyon of wyckednes / vntyll the tyme that he wyther awaye, & haue lost his awne soule.

B A wycked eye sparyth bred & there is scarcenesse vpon his table. My sonne / do good to thy selfe of that thou hast / & geue the Lorde hys due offerynges. Remembre that death tarieth not / and how that the couenaunt of the graue is the wed vnto the: for & couenaũt of this worlde shall dye & death. Do good vnto thy frynde before thou dye, and accordyng to thy abylite reach out thyne hande / & geue vnto the poore. Be not disponyted of & good daye / & lett not the porcyon of the good daye ouerpas the. Shalt thou not leaue thy trauayles and labours vnto other men? In the deuydinge of the heretage geue and take / & sanctifye thy soule. Worcke thou righteousnes before thy death / for in the hell there is no meate to fynde. All flesh shall fade awaye lyke grasse / and lyke a flowrynge leafe in a grene tre. Some growe / some are cast downe: euen so is the generacyon of flesh and bloude: one cõmeth to an ende / another is borne.

¶ All transytory thynges shall vayle at the last / and the worker therof shall go withall. Euery chosen worke shalbe iustified, and he ꝑ medleth withall shall haue honoure therin. Blessed is the man ꝑ kepeth hym in wysdome and exercyseth hym self in vnderstandyng / & with discrecyon shall he thinke vpō the forknowledge of God. Which considereth ꝑ wayes of wysdome in hys hert / hath vnderstandynge in her secretes / goeth after her (as one that seketh her out) & continueth in her wayes. ¶ The .xv. Chapter.

He that feareth God / wyll do good: and who so kepeth the lawe / shall optayne wysdome. As an honorable mother shall she mete hym / and as a virgyn shall she receaue hym. Wyth the bred of lyfe and vnderstandyng shall she fede him / & geue him the water of wholsome wysdome to drincke. If he be constant in her / he shall not be moued: & yf he holde hym fast by her / he shall not come to confusyō. She shal bringe hym to honoure amonge his neyghboures, & in the myddest of the congregacyō shall she open his mouth. With the spyrite of wysdome & vnderstanding shall she fyll him / & clothe him with the garmēt of glory. She shall heape the treasure of myrth & ioye vpō hym, and geue hym an euerlastyng name to heritage. Folysh men wyll not take holde vpon her, but such as haue vnderstandynge / wyll mete her, for she is farre frō pryde and dysceate. Men that go aboute wyles wyll not remembre her: but men of trueth shalbe founde in her / euen vnto the beholdynge of God. Prayse is not semely in the mouth of ꝑ vngodly / for he is not sent of the Lorde. For of God commeth wysdome / and the prayse shall stande by the wisdome of God, and shal be plenteous in a faithfull mouth, & ꝑ Lord shall geue her vnto him.

Saye not thou: It is the Lordes faute that I am gone by / for thou shalt not do the thinge that God hateth. Saye not thou: he hath caused me to go wronge, for he hath no nede of ꝑ vngodly. God hateth al abhominacyon of errour, and they that feare God wyll loue none such. God made man frō the beginnyng, & left him in the hande of his counceil. He gaue him hys commaundementes & precepies: yf thou wylt obserue the commaundementes / and kepe acceptable faithfulnes for euer, they shal preserue the. He hath set water and fyre before the / reach out thine hande vnto which thou wilt. Before man is life and death, good and euell: loke what him liketh, shalbe geuen him. For the wysdome of God is greate and mighty in power / and beholdeth all men contynually. The eyes of the Lorde are vpon them that feare him and he knoweth all the workes of man. He hath commaunded no man to do vngodly / nether hath he geuen eny man leue to synne.

¶ Of vnhappye and wycked chyldren. No man can hyde hym self from God. An exhortacyon to the receauynge of instruccyon.

¶ The xvi. Chapter.

Reioyce not thou in the multitude of vngodly chyldren, & haue no pleasure in thē / yf they feare not God. Trust not thou to their life / & regarde not their labours: for one sonne ꝑ feareth God is better, thē a thousande vngodly. And better it is for a mā to dye without chyldren, then to leaue behynde him such chyldrē as are vngodly. For by one that hath vnderstandinge, may a whole cite be vpholden / but though the vngodly be many / yet shal it be wasted thorow them. Many such thynges hath myne eye sene / & greater thynges then these haue I herde wyth myne eares. In the congregacyon of the vngodly shall a fyre burne and amonge vnfaithfull people shal the wrath be kindled.

The olde giauntes optayned no grace for their synnes which were destroyed trustyng to their awne strength. Nether spared he thē amonge whō loth was straunger but smote them and abhorred them because of the pryde of their workes. He had no pytye vpon them / but destroyed all the people / that were so stoute in synne. And for so moch as he ouersawe not the fyre hundreth thousande / that gathered them selues together in the hardnesse of their herte: it were marueil yf one beynge hardnecked / shulde be fre. For mercy and wrath is with hym: he is both myghtye to forgeue / and to poure out displeasure. Like as his mercy is great, euē so is his punyshement also he iudgeth a man acordyng to his workes. The vngodly shall not escape in his spoyle, and the longe pacyence of him that sheweth mercy, shal not byde behynde. All mercy shall make place vnto euery man acording to the deseruynge of hys workes / & after the vnderstanding of hys pylgrimage.

Saye

¶ Saye not thou: I wyll hyde my selfe from God/ for who wyll thyncke vpon me from aboue? I shall not be knowne in so greate a heape of people/ for what is my soule amonge so many creatures? Beholde/ the heauen/ yee the heauen of heauens/ the depe/ the earth/ and all that therin is/ shall be moued at hys presence: the mountaynes/ the hylles/ and the foundacyons of the earth shall shake for feare/ when God vysyteth the. These thinges doth no hert vnderstande/ but he vnderstandeth euery herte/ and who vnderstandeth hys wayes? No man seyth hys storme/ and the most part of his workes are secrete. Who wyll declare the workes of hys ryghtuousnes? Or who shalbe able abyde them? For the couenaunt is farre frō come/ and the vengence out of men is in the fulfyllyng. He that is humble of hert/ thinketh vpon soche thynges: but an vnwyse and erroneous man casteth hys mynde vnto folysh thynges.

D My sonne, herken thou vnto me/ & learne vnderstandynge, & marcke my wordes with thyne herte: I wyll geue the a sure doctryne/ and planely shall I instructe the. God hath sette hys workes in good ordre from the begynnyng/ & parte of them hath he sundered from the other. He hath garnished hys workes from euerlastyng, and their begynnynges/ accordynge to their generacyons. None of them hyndered another, nether was any of them dysobedyent vnto hys worde. After thys/ God loked vpon the earth/ and fylled it wyth hys goodes. Wyth all maner of lyuynge beastes hath he couered the grunde/ and they all shalbe turned vnto earth agayne.

¶ The creacyon of man/ and the goodnes that God hath done vnto hym. Of almose and repentaunce.

¶ The.xvii. Chapter.

Gene.i.d. I God shope man of the earth/ and turned hym vnto earth agayne. He gaue hym the nombre of dayes and certayne tyme/ yee and gaue hym power of the thynges & are vpon earth. He clothed hym wyth strength, & made hym after hys awne lyckines. He made all flesh to stande in awe of hym/ so that he had the dominyon of all beastes and foules. He made

Gene.ii.d. out of hym an helper lyke vnto hym selfe/ and gaue them dyscrecyon and tonge/ eyes and eares/ and a herte to vnderstande/ and fylled them with instruccyon and vnderstandynge. He created for them also the knowledge of the spyrete fylled their hertes wt vnderstandyng and shewed them good & euell. He set hys eye vpon their hertes declarynge vnto them hys greate and noble workes: that they shulde prayse hys holy name together, wonder of hys wonders/ and declarynge of hys noble actes. Beside thys/ he gaue them instruccyon, and the lawe of lyfe for an heretage. Exod.xx.a. Deutero.v. and.xi.

He made hym an euerlastyng couenaunte with them/ and shewed them his ryghtuousnes and iudgementes. Their eawe hys glory wyth their eyes/ and their eares harde the maiesty of hys voyce. And he sayde vnto thē beware of all vnryghteous thynges. He gaue euery man also a commaundemēt cōcernynge hys neyghboure.

Their wayes are euer before hym/ & are not hyd from hys eyes. He hath set a rular vpon euery people but Israel is the Lordes portyō. All their workes are as ꝑ Sunne/ in the sight of God, and hys eyes are alwaye lokynge vpon their wayes. All their vnryghtuousnes are manyfest vnto hym and all their wyckednesses are open in hys syght. The mercy that a man sheweth is as it were a purse with hym/ and a māns good dede preserueth hym as the apple of an eye. At the last shall he awake, and reward euery man vpon his head as he hath deserued/ and shall turne thē together into the nethermost partes of the earth. But vnto thē that wyll repent he hath geuen the waye of ryghtuousnes. As for soche as be weake, he comforteth them/ suffreth thē/ and sendeth them the porcyon of the verye. O turne then vnto the Lorde, forsake thy synnes, make thy prayer before the Lorde/ do the lesse offence/ turne agayne vnto the Lorde/ forsake thyne vnryghtuousnes, be an vtter enemye to ydolatrye, mynacyon/ learne to knowe the ryghtuousnes and iudgementes of God/ stande in the porcyon that is set forth for the/ and in the prayer of the most hye God. Go into the porcyon of the holy worlde, wyth soche as be lyuynge and geue thankes vnto God.

B Rom.i.d Deut.iij.c. and.x.c.

Who wyll prayse the Lorde in the hell? Abyde not thou in the errour of the vngodly/ but geue hym thankes before death. As for the deed/ thanckfulnesse perysheth from hym as nothynge. Geue thou thankes in thy lyfe, yee whyle thou art lyuinge & whole shalt thou geue thankes/ and prayse God/ and reioyce in hys mercye. O how greate is the louynge kyndnesse of the Lorde/ and hys mercyfull goodnes vnto soche as turne vnto hym! For all thynges maye not be in man: and why the sonne of man is not immortall/ and he hath pleasure in the vanyte of wyckednes. What is more clearer then ꝑ Sunne: yet shall it fayle. Or what is more wycked then the thynge ꝑ flesh & blonde hath ymagyned: and that same shalbe reproued. The Lorde seyth the power of the hye heauē/ and all are but earth & ashes.

¶ The meruelous workes of God the mysery and wretchednes of man. Against God ought we not to complayne. Pr̄ayer must we continually.

¶ The.xviij.Chapter.

Gene.i.a. HE that lyueth for euer more/ made all thynges together. God onely is righteous/ & remaynyth a victorious kynge for euer. Who shalbe able to expresse ꝑ workes of him? who hath sought out the grounde of hys noble actes? Who shall declare the power of hys greatnesse? Or who wyll take vpō him to tell out his mercy? As for ꝑ wonderous workes of ꝑ Lorde/ there maye nothynge be taken from them/ nothynge maye be put vnto them/ neyther maye the grounde of thē be founde out. But when a man hath done his best/ he must begynne agayne: and when he thyncketh to become to an ende/ he must go agayne to his laboure. What is mā? Wherto is he worthy? What good or euell can he do? If ꝑ nombre of a mās dayes be almost an hūdreth yeare/ it is moch.

B Lyke as the droppes of rayne are vnto ꝑ see/ and as a grauell stone is in comparison of ꝑ sande: so are these few yeares to ꝑ dayes euerlastynge. Therfore is the Lorde pacient with them/ and poureth out his mercy vpon them. He sawe and perceaued the thoughtes and ymaginacyons of their herte/ that they were euell: therfore heaped he vp his mercyfull goodnes vpon them/ & shewed them the waye of ryghtuousnes. The mercy ꝑ a man hath/ reacheth to his neyghboure: but ꝑ mercy of God is vpon all flesh. He chasteneth/ he teacheth & nourtoureth: yee euen as a shepherde turneth agayne hys flock/ so doth he all them that receaue chastenyng/ nurtoure and doctryne. Mercifull is he vnto thē/ that stande in awe of his iudgmentes.

My sonne/ when thou doest good/ make no grudgynge at it: & whatsoeuer thou geuest/ speake no discōfortable wordes. Shal not the dew coule ꝑ heate? Euē so is a worde better then a gyft. Is not a frendly worde a good honest gyft? but a gracious mā geueth them both. A foole shall cast a man in the teeth/ & that roughly/ & a gyft of ꝑ nygarde putteth out the eyes. Get the ryghtuousnes Prouer.xv. a. before thou come to iudgment. From the morynge vntyll the euenynge D the tyme is chaunged/ and all soch thynges are soone done in ꝑ syght of God. A wyse mā feareth God in all thinges/ & in the dayes of trāsgression he kepeth hym selfe from synne. A discrete man hath pleasure in wysdome/ and he that fyndeth her/ maketh moch of her. They that haue had vnderstandynge/ haue dealt wysely in wordes/ haue vnderstande the truth and righteousnes/ & haue sought out wyse sentences and iudgementes. Folowe not thy lustes/ but turne the frō thine awne wyll. For yf thou geuest thy soule her desires/ it shal make thine enemyes to laugh the to scorne. Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnes, and medle not to moch withall. Make not to greate cheare of the thyng that thou hast wonne by abauntage/ lest thou fall in to pouerte/ and haue nothynge in thy purse. Ecclus.vi.b. & xix.b.

A Labourynge man that is geuen vnto dronckēnes/ shal not be riche: & he that maketh not moch of smal thinges/ shal fall by litle and litle. Wyne and women make wyse men renmāgates/ & put men of vnderstanding to reproffe: & he that accompanieth aduouterers shal become a wicked man. Mothes & wormes shall haue him to heretage/ yee he shal be set vp to a greater exampie/ & his soule shalbe rotted out of the nombre. He that is hastye to geue credēce is light minded/ & doth against himself. Who so reioyseth in wickednes/ shal be punished: he that hateth to be reformed/ his life shalbe shortened: and he that abhorreth bablinge of wordes/ quēcheth wyckednes. He that offendeth against hys awne soule shall repent it: and he that reioyseth in wickednes/ shalbe punyshed.

Rehearse not a wicked and churlish worde B twise and thou shalt not be hindered. Shew thy secretes nether to frende ner foo/ and yf thou hast offended/ tell it not out. For he shall herken vnto the and marck the/ and when he fyndeth opportunyte/ he shall hate the Reproue thy neyghboure, that he kepe his tonge: & yf he haue spoken, that he saye it nomore.

Leui.xix.d Mat.xviij.b.

Tell thy neyghboure his faute/for oft tymes an offence is made/& geue not credence to euery worde. A man falleth sometyme with his tonge/but not with hys wyll. For what is he/yt hath not offended in hys tonge? Geue thy neyghbour warning/before thou threaten him/and geue place vnto the lawe of the Lorde. The feare of God is all wysdome/& he that is a ryght wyse man kepeth ye lawe. As for the doctryne of wyckednesse/it is no wysdome, and the prudence of synners is no good vnderstandyng: it is but wyckednesse & abhominacō & a blaspheming of wysdome. A symple man of small vnderstandyng that feareth God/is better then one yt hath moch wysdome and transgresseth the lawe of the Hyest. A crafty sotteil man can be wyse/but he is vnrighteous/and with gyftes he wrasteth the open & manyfest lawe. A wycked man can behaue hym selfe humbly/and can bowe with his head/and yet is he but a dysceauer wythin. He hydeth hys face/and dysguyseth it: & because he shulde not be knowne, he preuenteth the.

¶ The.xx. Chapter.

SOme man reproueth hys neyghboure oft tymes/but not in due season: Agayne, some man holdeth his tonge, & he is wyse & discrete. It is moch better to geue warnynge & to reproue/then to beare euell wyll: for he that knowledgeth hym selfe openly/shalbe preserued from hurt & destruccion. Lyke as whē a gelded man thorow desyre & lust defyleth a maydē, euē so is it with him that vseth violence & vnrighteousnes in the lawe: O how good a thinge is it a man that is reproued/to shew openly hys repentaunce: for so shalt thou escape wylfull synne.

Some man kepeth silence/and is founde wyse: but he that is not ashamed what he sayeth/is hatefull. Some man holdeth hys tonge because he hath not ye vnderstanding of the language: and some man kepeth silence waytynge a conuenient tyme. A wyse man wyll holde hys tonge tyll he se opportunitie/but a wanton and vndiscrete body shal regarde no tyme. He yt vseth many wordes/shall hurte his awne soule: & he that taketh auctorite vpon hym vnrighteously/shalbe hated. Some man hath oft tymes prosperite in wicked thinges: Agayne/some mā getteth moch/and hath harme and losse. There is some gift that is nothinge worth: Agayne there is some gift whose rewarde is double. Some mā getteth a fal for beyng to proude and some commeth to worshype from lowe estate. Some mā byeth moch for a litle price and must paye for it seuen folde.

Ecclesiast.xij.a. Eccli.xxij.a.

A wyse man wyth hys wordes maketh him self to be loued but ye fauours of fooles shalbe poured out. The gift of the vnwyse shall do the no good/for hys eyes are seuen folde. He shall geue lytle/and saye he gaue moch: he openeth his mouth & cryeth out/as it were one that crieth out wyne. To daye he lendeth/to morow he axeth it agayne/and soch a man is to be hated. The foole sayeth: I haue no frende/I haue no thanke for all my good dedes: yee euen they that eate my bred, speake no good of me. O how oft/and of how many shall he be laughed to scorne? He taketh a more perilous fall by soch worke then yf he fell vpon the grounde: euen so shal the falles of wicked men come hastely. In ye mouth of hym that is vntaught/are many vncomlynent and vnmete wordes. A wyse sentence shall not be alowed at the mouth of the fole/for he speaketh it not in due season.

Eccli.xxij.c.

¶ Of the repentaunce of synne. We may not heape synne vpon synne. The boldnesse of an heretyke. The ende of synners. Of the foole and of the wyse man. Of hym that curseth the deuell.

¶ The.xvi.Chapter.

IF sonne yf thou hast synned/ do it nomore: but praye for thy forsynnes, that they maye be forgeuen the. Flie from synne/ euen as from a serpent: for yf thou commest to nyghe her/ she wyll byte the. The teeth therof are as the teeth of a lyō/ to slaye ye soules of men. The wyckednes of mans as a sharpe two edged swerde/ whych maketh soch woundes that they can not be healed.

Stryfe and wrongeous dealynge shall waste awaye a mās goodes, & thorow pryde a ryche house shalbe brought to naught: so the ryches of the proude shalbe rooted oute. The prayer of the poore goeth oute of the mouth/ and commeth vnto the eares/ and hys vengeaunce (or defence) shall come/ and that hastely. Who so hateth to be reformed it is a token of an vngodly personne: but he that feareth God/ wyll remembre hym selfe. A ryghtye man is knowne a farre of by his tonge/ but he that hath vnderstanding/ perceaueth that he shall haue a fall.

Who so buyldeth hys house wyth other mens cost/ is lyke one that gathereth stones in wynter. The congregacyō of the vngodly is lyke stubble gathered together/ their ende is a flamme of fyre. The waye of the vngodly is sett wyth stones/ but in their ende is hell/ darcknes/ and paynes. He that kepeth the law/ wyll holde fast ye vnderstādyng therof/ and the ende of the feare of God is wysdome. He that is not wyse/ wil not be taught in good: but the vnwyse man aboundeth in wyckednesse: and where bytternes is/ there is no vnderstandyng. The knowledge of the wyse shall flowe lyke water ye renneth ouer/ and his councell is lyke a fountayne of lyfe.

The hert of a fooles is lyke a broke vessell/ he can kepe no wysdome. When a man of vnderstandynge heareth a wyse worde/ he shall cōmende it/ and make moch of it. But yf a voluptuous man heare it/ he shall haue no pleasure therin/ but cast it behynde hys back. The talckynge of a foole is lyke an heuy burthē by the waye: but to heare a wyse man speake/ it is a pleasure. Where a doute is in the cōgregacion/ it is asked at ye mouth of the wyse/ & they shal ponder his wordes in their hertes. Lyke as a house ye is destroyed/ euen so is wysdome vnto a foole: As for the knowledge of the vnwyse/ it is but darck wordes. Doctryne is vnto hym that hath no vnderstandynge/ euen as fetters aboute hys fete/ & lyke mannycles vpon his ryghthand. A foole lyfteth vp his voyce with laughter/ but a wyse man shall scarce laugh secretly.

Lernynge is vnto a wyse man a Jewell of golde & lyke an armlet vpō his ryght arme. A foolish mans fote is soone in hys neyghbours house/ but one that hath experience/ shal be ashamed at the personne of the mightie. A foole wyll pepe in at the wyndow in to ye house/ but he that is well nourtured/ wyll stande without. A foolish man standeth hersenyng at the doze, but he that is wyse/ will be ashamed.

The lyppes of the vnwyse wylbe tellynge foolish thynges/ but the wordes of soch as haue vnderstandynge, shalbe weyed in ye balaunce. The hert of fooles is in their mouth/ but the mouth of the wyse is in their herte. When the vngodly curseth the blasphemer/ he curseth his awne soule. A prouy accuser of other men shal defyle his awne soule/ & be hated of euery man: (but he that kepeth hys tonge & is discrete/ shall come to honoure.)

¶ The purgacyon of the slouthfull. Of the folysshe sonne & daughter we must haue discrecyon how and to whom we ought to preache/ of sorowing vpon the dead. A fole is not to be moche talked with all. Iniuryes & wronges do breake frendshyp & amytie.

¶ The.xvii.Chapter.

A Slouthfull body is moulded of a lope of claie: he that toucheth him must wash hys handes agayne. A mysnurtored sonne is ye dishonoure of the father. A foolish daughter shalbe lytle regarded. A wyse daughter is an heritage vnto her husbande: but she that commeth to dishonesty/ bryngeth her father in heuynes. A daughter ye is past shame/ dyshonoureth both her father & her husbāde: ye vngodly shal regarde her/ but they both shal despise her/ ye playnge of Musick is not mete where heuynes is/ euen so is ye correccyon & doctryne of wysdome euer vnpleasaunt vnto fooles.

Who so teacheth a foole/ is euen as one that gleweth a potsherde together: as one that telleth a tayle to hym that heareth hym not/ and as one that rayseth a mā out of an heuy slepe. Who so telleth a foole of wysdome/ is euē as a man/ whych speaketh to one ye is a slepe. When he hath tolde his tayle/ he saieth: what is the matter? When one dyeth/ lamentacyon is made for hym/ because the lyghe lyght sayleth hym: euen so let men mourne ouer a foole: for he wanteth vnderstandyng. Make but lytle wepyng because of ỹ deed: for he is come to rest/ but the lyfe of the fole is worse then ỹ deeth. Seuen dayes do men mourne for hym that is deed/ but the lamentacyon ouer the vnwyse & vngodly shuld endure all the dayes of their lyfe.

Genesis.v.b

Talke not moch with a foole/ and go not with hym that hath no vnderstandynge. Bewarre of hym/ lest it turne the to trauayle/ & thou shalt not be defiled with his synne. Departe from hym/ and thou shalt fynde rest/ & shalt not be drowē back into his folyshnes. What is heuyer then leade? And what shuld a foole be called els but leade? Sande/ salt/ & a lūpe of yrō is easier to beare/ then an vnwyse/ folysh/ and vngodly man. Like as the band of wodd bounde together in the foundacion of the house can not be lowsed/ euē so is it wt the hert ỹ is stablyshed in ỹ thought of counceil. The thought of the wyse/ shall nether feare ner be offended at any tyme.

prouer.xxvij.a

D Like as a fayre playstred wall in a wynter house/ & an vye buylding may not abyde the wynde and stormie: euē so is a folcs herte afrayed in hys ymagynacyon: he feareth at euery thyng/ & can not endure. He ỹ nippeth a mans eye/ bryngeth forth teares: & he that pyrcheth ỹ hert/ bryngeth forth ỹ meanyng and thought. Who so casteth a stone at the byrdes, frayeth them awaye: & he ỹ blasphemeth his frende/ breaketh the frendshyppe: though thou drewest a swerde at thy frende/ yet dyspayre not/ for thou mayest come agayne to thy frende. If he speake sowerly/ feare not/ for ye maye be agreed together agayne: excepte it be that thou blaspheme hym/ dysdayne hym/ open hys secretes and wounde hym cratorously: for all soch thynges shall dryue awaye a frende.

Be faythfull vnto thy neyghbour in hys powerte, ỹ thou mayest reioyse wt hym also in his prosperite. Abyde stedfast vnto hym in the tyme of his trouble/ that thou mayest be heyre with hym in his heretage. Lyke as the vapour & smoke goeth out at the ouē before the fyre/ euen so euell wordes/ rebukes and threatenynges go before bloudsheddynge.

Be not ashamed to defende thy frende: as for me/ I wyll not hyde my face frō him/ though he shulde do me harme. Whosoeuer heareth it/ shall bewarre of hym. Who shall set a watch before my mouth/ & a sure seale vpon my lyppes/ that I fall not with them/ & that my tonge destroye me not?

O Lorde/ father & gouernoure of my lyfe, leaue me not in their ymagynacyō & coūcell. Oh let me not fal in soch reproffe. Who will kepe my thought with the scourge/ & the doctryne of wysdome in myne herte: that he spare not myne ignorauce/ that I fall not with them/ lest myne ignorauces increase/ that myne offences be not many in nombre/ & that my synnes excreade not: lest I fall before myne enemyes/ & so my aduersary reioyse. O Lord thou father & God of my lyfe/ leaue me not in their ymagynacyon. O let me not haue a proude loke/ but turne awaye all voluptuousnes fro me. Take fro me the lustes of the body/ let not the desyres of vnclennes take holde vpon me/ & geue me not ouer into an vnshamefast and obstynate mynde.

Heare me (O ye chyldren) I will geue you a doctryne/ how ye shall order youre mouth: who so kepeth it/ shal not perysh thorow his lyppes/ ner be hurt thorow wycked worckes As for the synner/ he shall be taken in hys awne bayte: he that is proude & cursed/ shal fall therin. Let not thy mouth be acustomed with swearyng/ for in it there are many falcs. Let not ỹ namyng of God be cōtynually in thy mouth: for lyke as a seruaunt whych is oft punyshed cā not be without some sore/ euen so whatsoeuer he be that sweareth and nameth God, shal not be cleane pourged frō synne. A man that vseth moche swearinge/ shalbe fylled wyth wickednes, and the plage shall neuer go from hys house. If he begyle his brother, hys faute shalbe vpon him: yf he knowledge not hys synne/ he maketh a double offence, & yf he sweare in vayne, he shall not be founde ryghteous/ for his house shal be full of plages.

The man that is accustomed with the wordes of blasphemy wyll neuer be reformed all the dayes of his lyfe. To synne twise is to moch/ but the thyrde bringeth wrath & destruccyō. An hote stomack can not be quenched (euen lyke a burnynge fyre) tyll it haue swalowed vp somthing: euē so an vnchaste man hath no rest in hys flesh/ tyll he haue kyndled a fyre.

A man that breaketh wedlock / & regardeth not his soule / but sayeth: Tush / who seyth me? I am compassed about with darckenes / the walles couer me / no body seyth me: whō nede I to feare? The Hyest wyll not remembre my synnes. He vnderstādeth not that hys eyes se all thynges, for all soch feare of men dyrecteth away the feare of God from hym: for he feareth onely the eyes of men, and consydereth not that the eyes of the Lorde are clearer then the Sunne / beholdynge all the wayes of men and the grounde of the depe / and lokynge euen to mens hertes in secrete places. The Lorde God knewe all thynges or euer they were made / and after they be brought to passe also he loketh vpon thē all. The same man shalbe openly punyshed in ꝑ stretes of the cytie / & shalbe chased abrode lyke a yonge horse foale: & whē he thynketh leest vpon it / he shalbe takē. Thus shal he be put to shame of euery mā because he wolde not vnderstande the feare of the Lorde. And thus shal it go also with euery wife that leaueth her housband, and getteth enheritaūce by a straunge mariage. First, she hath bene vnfaithfull vnto the lawe of the Hyest: Secondly, she hath forsakē her awne housband: Thirdly, she hath played ꝑ whore in aduoutry / & gottē her chyldrē by another mā. She shalbe brought out of the cōgregacyō / & her children shalbe loked vpon. Her childrē shall not take rote: & as for frute / her braunches shall bringe forth none. A shamefull reporte shall she leaue behynde her / & her dishonour shall not be put out. And they ꝑ remayne / shal knowe / ꝑ there is nothing better / then ꝑ feare of God: & ꝑ there is nothing sweter then to take hede vnto the cōmaundemētes of the Lorde. ¶ A prayse of wisdome proceading forth of the mouth of God. Other workes & place where she resteth.

¶ The.xxiiij. Chapter.

Wisdome shall prayse her selfe / and be honoured in God / & reioyse in the myddest of his people: In ꝑ cōgregactōs of ꝑ Hyest shal she open her mouth, & triumphe in the beholdynge of his power. In the middest of her people shall she be exalted / & wondred at in the holy fulnesse: In the multytude of ꝑ chosen she shalbe cōmended / and amonge soch as be blessed she shalbe praysed / & shall saye: I am come out of ꝑ mouth of the Hyest / fyrst borne before all creatures. I caused ꝑ lyght that fayleth not / to aryse in the heauen / & couered all ꝑ earth as a cloude. My dwellynge is aboue in the heyth / & my seate is in the pyler of the cloude. I my selfe alone haue gone rounde about the compasse of heauen / & pearsed ꝑ grounde of the depe: I haue walked in the floudes of the see / & haue stande in all lādes: my dominion is in euery people and in euery nacyō / & with my power haue I trodē downe the hertes of all / both hye and lowe.

In all these thinges also I sought rest / & a dwellinge in some enheritaunce. So the creator of all thynges gaue me a cōmaunde- ¶ ment: & he that made me / appoynted me a tabernacle / and sayde vnto me: Lett thy dwelling be in Jacob / & thyne inheritaūce in Israel / & rote thy self amōge my chosen. I was created from the begynnynge and before the worlde / & shall not leaue of vnto the worlde to come. In the holy habytacyon haue I serued before him / and so was I stablyshed in Sion. In ꝑ holy cite rested I in like maner: & in Jerusalem was my power. I toke rote in an honorable people / euen in the portyon of the Lord & in his heretage / & kepte me in the fulnes of ꝑ sayntes. I am set vpan hye like a Ceder vpon Libanus / & as a Cypers tre vpon the mount Hermon: I am exalted lyke a palme tre in Cades / & as a rose plāte in Jericho: As a fayre olyue tre in the felde / & am exalted like as a planteyne tre by the water syde. I haue geuen a smell in the stretes / as the Cynamom and Balme, that hath so good a sauoure: yee a swete odoure haue I geuen as it were Myrre of the best.

I haue made my dwellynges to smell as it were of rosyn, Galbanum / of Cloues / & Incense / & as Libanus when it is not hewē ¶ downe / & myne odoure is as ꝑ pure Balme. As the Terebynte haue I stretched out my braunches / and my braūches are the braunches of honoure and louynge fauoure. As ꝑ vyne haue I brought forth frute of a swete fauoure / & my floures are ꝑ frute of honoure & ryches. I am ꝑ mother of bewtye / of loue / of feare, of knowledge & of holy hope. In me is all grace of lyfe & truth: In me is all hope of lyfe & vertue. O come vnto me / all ye that be desyrous of me / & fyll youre selues wyth my frutes: for my spyrete is sweter then hony / & so is my inherytaunce more then the hony combe: the remembraūce of me endureth for euermore. They that eate me, shall haue the more hōger: & they ꝑ drincke me / shall thirste ꝑ more. Who so herkeneth vnto me / shall not come to confusyon: and they that worcke in me, shall not offende. They that make me to be knowen / shall haue euerlastynge lyfe.

All these thynges are the boke of lyfe / the couenaunt of the Hyest / & the knowledge of the trueth. Moses cōmaunded the lawe in ꝑ preceptes of ryghtuousnes for an heretage vnto the house of Jacob / and commytted the promyses vnto Israell. Beue.xiii.b. Roma.xii.a

THre thinges there are/& my spyrete fauoureth/which be also alowed before God and men: The vnyte of brethren/the loue of neyghbours/ and man and wyfe that agree wel together.

Eccli.xi.d

Thre thynges there be which my soule hateth/and I vtterly abhorre the lyfe of them: A poore man that is proude. A rych man that is a lyar/and an olde body that doteth/ and is vnchaste.

If thou hast gathered nothynge in thy youth/what wylt thou fynde then in thyne age? O how pleasaunt a thynge is it when gray headed mē are discrete/& whē & elders cā geue good coūcel? O how comely a thing is wysdome vnto aged men? yee vnderstandyng and councell is a gloryous thing. The crowne of olde men is to haue moch experience/& the feare of God is their worshyppe.

There be.ix. thynges/which I haue iudged in myherte to be happye & the tēth wyll I tell forth vnto men with my tonge. A man that whyle he lyueth/hath ioye of hys chyldren/& seith the fall of hys enemyes. Well is hym that dwelleth wyth an houswyfe of vnderstandynge/& & hath not fallen wyth hys tonge/& & hath not bene fayne to serue soch as are vnmete for hym. Well is hym/& fyndeth a faythfull frende: & well is hym/which talketh of wisdome to an eare & heareth hym. O how great is he/& fyndeth wysdome and knowledge? Yet is he not aboue hym/that feareth the Lorde. The feare of God hath set it self aboue all thinges. Blessed is the man/ vnto whom it is graūted to haue the feare of God. Vnto whō shall he be lyckened/& kepeth it fast? The feare of God is the begynnyng of his loue/& the begynnynge of fayth is to cleue fast vnto it. The heuynes of the hert is all the punyshment/& the wickednes of a woman goeth aboue all. All punyshmēt and plage is nothynge in comparison of the plage of the herte/euen so all wyckednes is nothynge to the wyckednesse of a woman.

Whatsoeuer happeneth vnto a man/is nothinge in comparyson of it/that his euell wyllers do vnto him: and all vengeance is no thynge to the vengeaunce of the enemye.

There is not a more wicked heade then the head of the serpent/& there is no wrath aboue the wrath of a woman. I will rather dwell wt a lyō & dragō/then to kepe house wt a wicked wyfe. The wyckednesse of a womā chaūgeth her face/she shall mosfell her coūtenaunce as it were a Beer/& as a lack shal she shewe it amōge the neyghbours Her husbande is brought to shame amōge his neyghbours/and whē he heareth it/it maketh him to syghe. All wyckednes is but lytle to the wyckednes of a woman/the porcyon of the vngodly shall fall vpon her.

Eccli.xlii.b. Ro.xii.a. and.xiii.a.

Lyke as to clymme vp a sandy waye is to the fete of the aged euen so is a wyfe full of wordes to a styll quiete man. Lobe not to narowly vpon the bewtye of a woman/lest thou be prouoked in desyre toward her. The wrath of a woman is dishonoure and greate confusyon. If a womā get the maistrie/then is she contrary to her housbande. A wycked wyfe maketh a sory herte/an heuy countenaunce & a deed wounde. Of & womā came the begynnyng of synne/and thorowher we all are deed Geue thy water no passage/no not a lytle/nether geue a wicked womā her wyll. If she walcke not after thy hande/she shall confounde the in the syght of thy enemies. Cut her of then from thy flesh/that she do not alwaye abuse the.

HAppie is the man that hath a vertuous wyfe, for the nombre of his yeares shalbe dubble. An honest woman maketh her housbande a ioyfull man / and he shall fyll the yeares of his lyfe in peace. A vertuous womā is a noble gyft, which shalbe geuen for a good portion vnto soch as feare God Whether a man be rych or poore / he maye haue euer a mery herte, and a chearfull countenaunce / there be thre thynges that my herte feareth / & my face is afrayed of the fourth. Treason in a cytie / a sedycious people & noysome tōges / all these are heuyer then the death. But whē one is gelous ouer hys wyfe / it bryngeth payne and sorowe vnto the herte: and a womā that telleth out all thynges is a scourge of the tonge. D There be two thinges that greue my hert / and in the thirde is a displeasure come vpon me. When an experte man of warre suffreth scarsenes and pouerte. When men of vnderstandynge and wysdome are not set by: And when one departeth from rightuousnes vnto synne. Who so doth soch the Lorde hath prepared hym vnto the swerde. If he that is but flesh/beareth hatred and kepeth it/who wyll intreate for his sinnes? Remembre ꝑ ende/ & let enmyte passe/ which seketh death and destruccyō/ & abyde thou in ꝑ cōmaundemēt. Remembre the commaundement / so shalt thou not be rygorous ouer thy neyghboure.

Ecclꝰ.viij.a. ¶ Thincke vpō the couenaunt of the Hyest / & forgeue thy neyghbours ignorāunce. Beware of strife/ & thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer. For an angrie mā kindleth bstriaūce/ and the vngodly disquyeteth frendes/ & putteth discorde amonge them that be at peace.

Prou.xxvi.c. The more wood there is/the more behement is the fyre: and the mightier that men be, the greater is the wrath: and ꝑ longer the stryfe endureth/the more it burneth.

In hastye brawlynge kyndleth a fyre/ & C an hastie stryfe sheddeth blonde. If thou blowe the sparke: it shal burne: If thou spyt vpon it: it shall go forth / & both these go out of thy mouth. The sclaunderer & dubble tonged is cursed/ for many one that be frendes setteth he at varyaunce. The tyrde tonge hath disquyeted many one/ and dryuen them from one lande to another. Stronge cyties hath it broken downe and ouerthrowne the houses of greate men. The tyrde tōge hath cast out many an honest woman / and robbed them of their labours. Who so herkeneth vnto soch/ shal neuer fynde rest/ & neuer dwell safely. The stroke of the rod maketh yedders/ but the stroke of the tonge smyteth ꝑ bones in sunder. There be many that haue perysshed w the swerde / but many mo thorow the tonge.

Ecclꝰ.xxiij.b.

D Well is him ꝑ is kepte frō an euell tonge/ & commeth not in the anger therof / whych draweth not the yocke of soch/ & is not boūde in the bandes of it. For the yocke therof is of yron/and the bande of it of stele. The death therof is a very euell death: hell were better for one/then soch a tonge. But the fyre of it maye not oppresse them that feare God/ and ꝑ flamme therof maye not burne thē. Soch as forsake the Lorde/ shall fall therin: and it shall burne them/ and no mā shall be able to quench it. It shall fall vpō them as a Lyon/ and deuoure thē as a leparde. Thou hedgest thy goodes with thornes: why doest thou not rather make dores & barres for thy mouth? Thou weyest thy golde and syluer: why doest thou not weye thy wordes also vpon the balaunce? Beware / that thou slyde not in thy tonge/and so fall before thyne enemyes / ꝑ laye wayte for the.

enfourmeth & teacheth his sonne/ greueth ỳ enemye: & before hys frendes he maye haue ioye of him. Though the father dye/ yet is he as though he were not deed: for he hath left one behynde him that is lyke him. In his lyfe he sawe him, & had ioye in him, and was not sory in his death, neyther was he ashamed before the enemyes. For he left behynde hym an auenger agaynst his enemyes, & a good dore vnto the frendes. For the lyfe of chyldrē he shal bynde the woundes together, and his herte is greued at euery crye. An vntamed horse wilbe harde, and a wanton chylde wilbe wylfull. If thou bringe vp thy sonne delicatly, he shall make the afrayed: and yf thou playe with him, he shall bringe the to heuynes. Laugh not with him lest thou wepe with hym also/ and lest thy teth be sett on edge at the last.

Geue him no lyberte in his youth/ & excuse not his folye. Bow downe hys neck whyle he is yonge/ hyt him vpon the sydes whyle he is yet but a chylde lest he ware stubburne/ & geue no more force of the/ & so shalt thou haue heuynes of soule. Teach thy chylde/ & be diligēt therin/ lest it be to thy shame. Better is the poore beynge whole & strōge/ then a man to be ryche/ & not to haue his health. Health and welfare is aboue all golde/ and a whole body aboue all treasure. There is no ryches aboue a sounde body/ and no ioye aboue the ioye of the herte. Death is better then a wretched lyfe/ or cōtynuall sycknes. The good thynges that are put in a close mouth/ are lyke as when meate is layed vpō the graue.

What good doth the offerynge vnto an Idoll? For he can nether eate/ taste/ nor smell. Euen so is he that is chased of the Lorde/ & beareth the rewardes of iniquyte. He seith with hys eyes, & groneth lyke a gelded man/ that Loue thyne awne soule / and comforte thyne hertas for sorow and heuynes / dryue it farre from the / for heuynes hath slayne many a man / and bringeth no profit. Sele & anger shorten the dayes of ꝑ life: carefulnes and sorow bringe age before the tyme. Unto a mery hert euery thynge hath a good tast / that he eateth.

¶ The .xxxi. Chapter.

1 Timo.vi.b. Watchyng & carefulnes for ryches taketh awaye the slepe / & maketh the flesh to consume. When one lyeth and taketh care / he waketh euer vp / like as greate sickenes breaketh the slepe. The ryche hath greate labour in gathering his riches together / & then wt the pleasure of his riches he taketh his rest and is refreshed. But who so laboureth & prospereth not / he is poore / & though he leaue of / yet is he a begger. He ꝑ loueth ryches shall not be iustified: & who so folowyth corruption / shal haue ynough therof. Many one are come in greate myssortune by the reason of golde / & haue founde their destruction before them. It is a tre of fallynge vnto them that offre it vp / and all soch as be foolysh fall therin. Blessed is the rich / which is founde without blemysh / and hath not gone after golde / ner hoped in money & treasures. Where is there soch one? and we shall commende hym / and call hym blessed / for greate thynges doth he amonge his people. Who so is tryed / & foūde perfecte in soch thinges / shalbe commended and praysed. Who myght offende / and hath not offended? Who coulde do euell / and hath not done it? Therfore shall hys good be stablysshed / and the whole congregacion shal declare hys almesses. Yf thou sytt at a greate mans table / open not thy mouth wyde vpon it / and make not many wordes. Remembre / that an euell eye is a shrew.

Matth.vj.a. What thinge created is worse then a wycked eye: therfore wepeth it before euery mās face? Laye not thine hand vpon euery thing that thyne eye seyth / and stryue not wyth hym in the dyshe. Ponder by thy self what thy neghboure woolde fayne haue and be discrete in euery poynte. Eate ꝑ thinge that is sett before the manerly / as it becommeth a man: & eate not to moch / lest thou be abhorred. Leaue thou of first of all because of nurture / lest thou be hye whom no man maye satisfye / wherby maye turne to thy decaye: When thou sytteste amōge many men / reach not thyne hande out first of all. O how well content is a wise mā with a litle wyne? so ꝑ in slepe thou shalt not be sicke therof / ner fele eny payne. A swete wholsome slepe hal soch one haue / & fele no in warde greefe. Yf thou feleste that thou hast eaten to moch / ryse / go thy waye / cast it of thy stomack / and take thy rest.

Myne sonne hearke me / and despyse me not: & at the last thou shalt fynde as I haue tolde the. In all thy workes be diligēt and quycke so shall there no sycknes happen vnto the. Who so is liberall in dealyng out his meate / many men shall bleesse hym and prayse hym with their lyppes: and the same is a sure tokē of hys loue and faythfulnes. But he that is vnfaythfull in meate / the whole cyrye shall complayne of hym: and that is a sure experience of his infidelyte & wyckednes. Be not thou a wine bybber / for wyne hath destroyed many a man. The fyre proueth the hard yrō / euen so doth wyne proue the hertes of the proude / when they be dronken. Rom.xij.b. prouer.xxxi.a.

Wyne forbely dronken / quyckeneth the life of man. Yf thou dryncketh it measurably / thou shalt be temperate. What lyfe is it / ꝑ maye contynue without wyne? Wyne was made from the begynnynge to make men glad (& not for dronkennes) Wyne measurably dronken is a reioysynge of the soule and body. But yf it be dronken vp excesse / it maketh bytternes and sorow vnto the mynde. Dronkennes kylleth the mynde of ꝑ foolysh with shame & ruyne / mynysheth the strength & maketh woūdes. Rebuke not thy neyghboure at the wyne / and despyse hym not in his myrth. Geue him no despytefull wordes and preasse not vpon hym wyth contrary sayenges.

In many thyngs be as one that is ignorannt / geue eare / and holde thy tōge withall. If thou be amōge men of hyer auctorite / desyre not to compare thy self vnto them: and when an elder speaketh / make not thou many wordes therin. Before the thonder goeth lyghtenynge / and before nurture and shamefastnesse goeth loue and fauoure. Stande vp by tymes / and be not the last: but get ꝑ home soone / & there take thy pastyme / & do what thou wylt: so that thou do no euell / and defyre no man. But for all thynges geue thanckes / vnto him that hath made the / & replenished the with his goodes.

C Who so feareth the Lorde / wyll receaue his doctrine: and they ꝑ that gete them to hym by tymes / shall fynde grace. They that feare the Lorde / shall fynde the iudgmēt / & their rygheousnes shalbe kyndled as a lyght. An vngodly man wyll not be reformed / but can helpe hym self wyth the example of other in hys purpose. A man of vnderstādyng desyreth no good counsell: but a wylde and proude body hath no feare. My sonne / do nothynge without aduysement / so shall it not repent the after the dede. Go not in ꝑ waye where thou mayest fall / nor where thou mayest stomble agaynst ꝑ stone. Geue not thy self into a laborous slypery waye / and be warre of thine awne children. In all thy workes put thy trust in God from thy whole hert / for that is the keppynge of the cōmaundemētes. Who so beleueth Gods worde taketh hede to the commaundementes: and he that putteth hys trust in the Lorde / shall wante nothynge.

¶ The delyuerance of hym that feareth God. The awl were of the wyse. The spyrytuall dyscrecyō of a foole. Man is in the hand of God / as the earth is in the hand of the potter. We ought not to dyspose oure selues / to become subiect to other.

¶ The .xxxiij. Chapter.

I There shall no euell happen vnto hym ꝑ feareth God: but whē he is in temptacyō / the Lord shall delyuer him. A wyse mā hateth not ꝑ lawe / but an ypocryte is as a shyp in a raynge water. A man of vnderstandynge geueth credence vnto the lawe of God / and the lawe is faythfull vnto hym. Be sure of the matter / then talke therof: Be fyrst well instruct / then mayest thou geue answere. The hert of the foolish is lyke a cartwhele / & hys thoughtes rēne about lyke ꝑ axell tre. Lyke as a wylde horse ꝑ neyeth vnder euery one ꝑ syttyth vpon hym / so is it wyth a scornefull freinde. Why doth one daye excell another / seynge all the dayes of the yeare come of the Sunne? The wysdome of the Lorde hath so parted them a sunder / and so hath he ordened the tymes & solempne feastes. Some of thē hath he chosen & halowed before other dayes And all men are made of the grounde / & out of the earth of Adam.

In the multitude of scyence hath ꝑ Lorde sundered them / and made their wayes of dyuerse fashyons. Some of them hath he blessed / made moch of thē / halowed them / and claymed them to himselfe. But some of thē hath he cursed / brought thē lowe / & put thē out of their state. * Like as ꝑ clay is in the potters hande / and all the ordynge therof at his pleasure: so are men also in the hande of him ꝑ made thē / so that he maye geue them as it lyketh him best. Agaynst euell is good / and agaynst death is lyfe: so is the vngodly agaynst soch as feare God. Beholde thus all the workes of the Hyest / and there are euer *two agaynst two / & one sett agaynst another. I am a waked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after in harueste. In the gyftes of God and in hys blessynge I am increased / & haue fylled my wyne presse / like a grape gatherer. Beholde / how I haue not laboured only for my selfe / but for all soche as loue nurtoure and wysdome.

¶ The.xxxiij. Chapter.

VAyne people begile them selues wyth vayne & diseaitfull hope / & foles trust in dreames. Who so regardeth dreames, is lyke him that wyll take holde of a shadowe / & folowe after the wynde: Euen so is it with the appearinge of dreames. Before the face is the lyckenes of a face. Who can be clensed of the vncleane? Or what treuth can be spoken of a lyar? Soth sayenge / witchcraft / sorcery & dreamynge is but vanyte: lyke as when a woma trauayleth with chylde / & hath many fantasyes in her herte. Where as soch visiõs come not of God / set not thyne herte vpon thẽ: For dreames haue disceaued many a man / & they fayled / that put their truste therin.

The lawe shalbe fulfylled without lyes / & wysdome is sufficiẽt to a faythfull mouth. A wyse mã ẏ is well instructe / vnderstãdeth moch: & he ẏ hath good experience / can talke of wysdome. He that hath no experiẽce / knoweth lytle: & he ẏ erreth causeth moch wickednes.

When I was yet in erroure / I lerned moch also: yee I was so lerned that I coulde not expresse it all / and came oft in parell of death therouer / tyll I was delyuered frõ it. Now I se / that they which feare God / haue ẏ right spyrete: for their hope stãdeth in hym / ẏ can helpe thẽ. Who so feareth the Lorde / standeth in awe of no man / & is not afrayed / for the Lorde is his hope and comforte.

Blessed is the soule of hym ẏ feareth the Lorde: In whõ putteth he hys trust? who is his strength? For the eyes of the Lorde haue respecte vnto thẽ / that loue hym. He setteth vp the soule / & lyghteneth the eyes: He geueth health lyfe & blessynge. He that geueth an offering of vnrighteuous good / his offeryng is refused: and the scornefull dealynges of the vnryghteuous please not God. God hath no delyte in the offerynges of the vngodly, neither maye synne be reconcyled in the multitude of obiacyõs. Who so bryngeth an offerynge oute of the goodes of the poore / doth euen as one ẏ kylleth the sonne before the fathers eyes.

The bred of the nedefull is the lyfe of the poore: he that defraudeth him therof, is a mã of blonde. Who so robbeth hys neyghboure of his lyuyng / doth as greate synne as though he slew him to deathy. He that defraudeth the labourer of his hyre, is a blonde breder. Whẽ one buyldeth and another breaketh downe / what profyt haue they then but laboure? When one prayeth & another curseth whose voyce wyll the Lorde heare? He that washeth him selfe because of a dead body / and then toucheth the dead agayne / what doth hys washynge? So is it with a man that fasteth for his synnes / and doth them agayne: who wyll heare his prayer? Or what doth his fastynge helpe him?

The belly deuoureth al meates/ yet is one meate better then another. Lyke as the tōge tasteth venyson/ so doth an hert of vnderstāding marke false wordes. A frowarde hert geueth heuynes / but a man of experiēce lifteth hym vp agayne. The woman recreaueth euery man / yet is one daughter better then another. A kayre wyfe reioyseth her husbād/ & a man loueth nothyng better. If she be louynge & vertuous wyth all / then is not her husbande lyke other men. He that hath gotten a vertuous woman / hath a goodly possessyon: she is vnto hym an helpe / and pyler wherupō he resteth. Where no hedge is/ ther the goodes are spoyled: & where no houswyfe is / there the frendes mourneth. ¶ How a man shulde knowe frendes & counceilers and marke the company of a holy man.

¶ The xxxvii. Chapter.

EVery frende sayth: I will be frendly vnto hym also. But there is some frende / which is only a frēde in name. Remayneth there not heuines vnto death/ when a companyon & frende is turned to an enemye? O most wicked presumpcyon: from whence art thou sprongen vp, to couer ỹ earth with falsede & disceate? Ecclī.xlvi. There is some companyō whych in prosperyte reioyseth with his frende: but in ỹ tyme of trouble, he taketh parte agaynst hym. There is some cōpanyō that mourneth with his frende for the helpe sake: but whē trouble cōmeth, he taketh holde of the shylde. Forget not thy frende in thy mynde / & thynke vpon him in thy riches. Euery counceler bringeth forth hys counceil: Neuertheles there is some that counceleth but for hys awne profet. Beware of the counceler/ & be aduysed afore wherto wherto thou wylt vse him/for he wyll conceill for him self. Lest he cast the lot vpō the/ and saye vnto the: Thy waye and purpose is good/and afterwarde he stande agaynst the/ and loke what shall be come of the.

B Aske no councell at him/ yͭ suspecketh the for an enemye/ & hyde thy councell frō soch as hate the. Aske no councell at a woman/ cōcernyng the thinges yͭ she longeth for: ner at a fearfull & fayntherted body/ in matters of warre: or at a marchaunt/ howdeare he wyll cheape thy wares towarde his: or at a byer/of sellynge: Or at an envyous man/of thanckesgeuyng: Or at the vnmercyfull/ of louyng kyndnes: Or at yͭ slouthfull of worckynge: Or at an hyrelynge whych hath no house/ of profyt or wealth. (An vnle body wolde not gladly heare speake of moch laboure.) Take no soch folckes to coūcell/ but be diligēt to seke coūcell at a vertuous man that feareth God/ soch one as thou knowest to be a kepar of the cōmaundemētes/ which hath a mynde after thyne awne mynde/ and is sorye for the when thou stumblest.

And holde thy councell fast in thyne hert: C for there is no mā more faythfull to kepe it: then thou thy self. For a mās mynde is sometyme more dysposed to tell oute/ then seuen watchymen that syt aboue in an hye place lokynge aboute thē. And aboue all this praye the Hyest/ yͭ he wyll lede thy waye in faythfulnes & trueth. Before all thy worckes aske coūcell fyrst: & or euer thou doest eny thinge/ be well aduysed. There be foure thynges that declare a chaunged herte/ wherout there springeth euell & good/ death & lyfe/ and a master full tonge that babieth moch. Some mā is apte & well instructe in many thinges/ & yet very vnprofitable vnto him selfe. Some man there is/ yͭ can geue wyse and prudent councell & yet is he hated & cōtemneth a begger: for yͭ grace is not geuē him of God/ to be accepted. An other is robbed of all wysdome/ yet is he wyse vnto him self, & yͭ frute of vnderstādyng is faythfull in his mouth.

A wyse man maketh his people wyse/ & yͭ frutes of his wysdome fayle not. A wyse mā shall be plenteously blessed of God: & all they yͭ se him, shall speake good of hym. The lyfe of man standeth in the nombre of the dayes/ but the dayes of Israel are innumerable. A wyse man shall opteyne faythfulnes & credence amonge his people/ & his name shalbe perpetuall. My sonne/ proue thy soule in thy lyfe: & yf thou se eny euell thyng/ geue it not vnto her. For all thynges are not profitable for all mē/ nether hath euery soule pleasure in euery thynge. Be not gredy in euery eatynge/ & be not to hasty pe vpō all meates. For excesse of meates bryngeth sycknes, and glotony commeth at the last to an vnmeasurable heate. Thorow glotony haue many one perished: but he that dyeteth him self tēperatly/ prolongeth his lyfe.

¶ A Physicyen. In syckines ought we to praye/ & fynde a Physicyen which healeth by prayer. The beweppynge of the dede. Sadnes. Wysdome. Artifycers or craftesmen.

¶ The. xxxviii. Chapter.

HOnoure yͭ Physicien: honoure him because of necessite. God hath created him (for of the Hyest commeth medecyne) & he shall receaue giftes of the kynge. The wysdome of the Physicien bryngeth him to greate worshipe/ and in the syght of the greate men of hys worlde/ he shalbe honorably takē The Lord hath created medecine of yͭ earth, and he that is wyse/ will not abhorre it. Was not the bytter water made swete wyth a tre: that men myght learne to know the vertue therof. The Lord hath geuen men wysdome and vnderstandynge, that he myght be honoured in his wōderous worckes. With soch doth he heale mē/ & taketh awaye their paynes: Of soch doth the Apotecary make a confeccyō/ yet can no man perfourme all his worckes. For of the Lorde commeth prosperous wealth ouer all the earth. Exod. xv. d. Eccl. xxxviii. a

My sonne/ despyse not this in thy sickenes but praye vnto the Lorde/ & he shall make the whole. Leaue of from synne/ & order thy handes aryght: clense thyne herte from all wickednes. Geue a swete sauoured offring/ & the fyne floure for a token of remēbraunce: make the offerynge fat/ as one that geueth the fyrst frutes/ and geue rowme to the Physicien. For the Lorde hath created hym: lett him not go frō the/ for thou hast nede of him. The houre maye come/ that the seke maye be helped thorow them/ when they praye vnto the Lorde/ that he maye recouer/ and gett healeth to lyue longer. He that synneth before hys maker/ shall fall in to the handes of the Physicien. B Esa. xxxviii. a. v. Para. pri. c

My sonne/ bryng forth thy teares ouer the dede: and begynne to mourne/ as yf thou haddest suffred greate harme thy self: & thē couer his body after a conuenient maner/ & despyse not his buryall. Enforce thy selfe to wepe/ and prouoke thy self to mourne/ and make lamentacyon expedientlye/ & yͭ a daye or two, lest thou be euell spoken of: and then comforte thy selfe because of the heuynes. For of heuynes commeth death the heuynes of the hert breaketh strength. Heuynes and powerte greueth the herte in tentacyon & offence. Take no heuynes to herte/ dryue it awaye/ and remembre the last thynges. Forget it not/ for there is no turnynge agayne. ¶ Eccl. xxxviii. c

¶ The teeth of wylde noysome beastes/the scorpions/serpentes, & the swerde are created also for vengeaunce/to the destruccyō of the vngodly. They shall be glad to do his cōmaundementes: and when nede is/they shal be ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come/they shall not ouerpasse the commaundement of the Lorde.

Therfore haue I takē a good corage vnto me from the begynnynge/and thought to put these thynges in wryting/and to leaue thē behynde me. All the workes of the Lorde are good/& he geueth euery one in due season/& whan nede is/so that a man nede not to saye: thys is worse then that. For in due season they are all pleasaunt and good: And therfore prayse the Lorde wyth whole hert & mouth/& geue thankes vnto his name.

¶ Many myse eyes light in a mānes eye. All thinges passe awaye/but a fyne & a vyle fayth remayneth. Of the blessynge of the ryghtuous/and prerogatyue of the feare of God.

¶ The .xl. Chapter.

A Great trauayle is created for all men & an heuy yock vpon all mens chyldrē frō the daye ỹ they go out of their mothers wombe/tyll they be buried in(ỹ earth)/ỹ mother of all thinge(: namely their thoughtes and ymagynacyōs/ feare of the hert/councell/meditacions/longinge and desyre/the daye of death: from the hyest that sytteth vpō ỹ glorious seate/vnto the lowest & most symple vpon the earth: from him that is gorgyously arayed & weereth a crowne vntyll hym that is but homely and symply clothed. There is nothynge/ but wrath/yele/fearfulnes/vnquyetnes/& feare of death/rygorous anger and stryfe. And in the nyght when one shulde rest and slepe vpon his bedd/the slepe chaungeth hys vnderstandynge and knowledge. A lytle as nothynge is hys rest, in the slepe as well as in the daye of laboure.

He feareth and is disquyeted in the bisynes of his hert/as one that renneth out of a battayll: and in the tyme of health he awaketh/ and marueleth that the feare was nothynge. Soch thynges happen vnto all flesh/both man and best: but seuen folde to the vngodly. Moreouer death/bloudshedding/strife & swerde/oppressiō/honger/destruccyon and punyshement: these thynges are all created against the vngodly/& for their sakes came the floude also. All that is of the earth shall turne to earth agayne: & al waters ebbe againe in to the see. All wrybes and vnryghteousnes shalbe put awaye/but faythfulnes & trueth shal endure for euer. The substaūce & goods of the vngodly shalbe wyped vp and lyncke awaye as a water floude/& they shall make a sounde like a greate thonder in the rayne.

Frendlynes & lyberalyte in the increase and blessynge of God/is lyke a paradyse and garden of pleasure: soch mercy also & kyndnes endureth for euer. To labour & to be content wyth what a man hath is a swete pleasaunt lyfe: & that is to fynde a treasure aboue all treasures. A frende and cōpanyon come together at oportunyte/but aboue them both is a wyfe that agreeth with her housbande. One brother helpeth another in the tyme of trouble/but almes shall delyuer more then they both. Golde and syluer fasten the fete/but a good. counsell is more pleasaunt then they both Temporall substaunce and strength lyft vp the mynde: but the feare of the Lorde more then they both. The feare of the Lorde wanteth nothyng/and nedeth no helpe. The feare of the Lorde is as a pleasaunt garden of blessynge/and nothyng so bewtyfull as it is. Myconne/lede not a beggers lyfe/for better it were to dye thē to begg. Who so loketh to another mans table/taketh no thought for his awne lyuynge how to vpholde hys lyfe/ for he fedeth himself with other mens meat. But a wyse and well nurtoured man wyll

¶ Of the remembraunce of deeth. Deeth is not to be feared. A curse vpon them that forsake the lawe of God. Good names fame. An exhortacyō to geue hede vnto wysdome. Of what thynges a man ought to be ashamed.

¶ The.xli. Chapter.

A Deeth / how bytter is the remembraūce of the / to a mā that leketh rest and cōforte in hys substaunce and ryches / vnto the man þ hath nothynge to vexe hym and that hath prosperite in all thynges, yee vnto hym that yet is able to receaue meate? ¶ The summe of the creacyō of the worckes of God.

¶ The.xlviij. Chapter.

Psal.xviij.a. THe glory of the heyght / is ẏ fayre and clere firmament / the bewtye of the heuē in his glorious clearnes. The sunne whē it appeareth / declareth the daye in the goinge out of it / a maruelous worcke of the Hyest. At noone it burneth the earth / & who maye abyde for ẏ heate therof? Who so kepeth an ouen whē it is hote/thre tymes more doth the Sunne burne vpon the mountaynes / when it breatheth oute the fyre beames & shyneth: wyth ẏ brightnes of it/it blyndeth ẏ eyes. Greate is the Lorde that made it/& in his cōmaundement he causeth it to renne hastely.

Gene.i.b The Moone also is made, & at cōuenient season it sheweth the tymes / and is a token Exo.xij.a of the tyme. The token of the solempne feast is taken of the Moone/a lyght ẏ mynisheth and increaseth agayne. The Moneth is called after the Moone/it groweth wonderously in her chaungynge.

B The arnye of heauē also is in ẏ Heyght/ in the firmament of heauē it geueth a clere and glorious shyne. This is the clearnes of the starres/the bewtifull apparell of heauē/ the apparell that the Lorde lyghteneth in ẏ Heyght. In his holy worcke they cōtynue in their ordre/and not one of thē fayleth in hys watch. Loke vpon the rayne bowe/& prayse Gene.ix.b. him ẏ made it: very bewtyfull is it in hys shyne. He compaseth the heauē aboute with his clearnes & glory/the handes of the Hyest haue bended it. Thorow his cōmaundement he maketh the snowe to fall, & the thonder of his iudgment to smyte hastily. Thorowe hys commaundement the treasures are opened/ and the cloudes flie as the foules. In hys power hath he strengthened the cloudes / and broken the hayle stones.

The mountaynes melt at ẏ sight of him/ the wynde bloweth accordynge to hys wyll. The sounde of his thonder beareth ẏ earth / and so doth the storme of the north: the whyrle wynde also lyghteth downe as a fethered foule / casteth oute and spreadeth the snow abrode: & as the grashoppers ẏ destroye all/ so falleth it downe. The eye marueleth at ẏ bewtye of the whytenesse therof/ and ẏ herte is afrayed at the rayne of it. He poureth out the frost vpon earth/lyke salt/ and whē it is frosen/it is as sharpeas ẏ prycke of a thistle.

When the coulde Northwynde bloweth/ ¶ harde Chrystall cōmeth of ẏ water. He lyghteth downe vpon all the gatherynges together of water / and putteth on the waters as a brest plate. He deuoureth the mountaynes/ and burneth the wyldernesses: & loke what is grene/he putteth it out lyke fyre. The medycine of all these is/ when a cloude cōmeth hastely: and when a dew commeth vpon the heate/it shalbe refreshed agayne.

In his worde he stilleth the wynde. In his counceil he setteth the depe / and (the Lorde) Jesus planted it. They that sayle ouer the see/tell of his parels and harmes: and when we heare it with our eares/ we maruell therat. For there be straunge wonderous worckes / dyuerse maner of nyce beasts & whalefyshes. Thorow hym are all thynges sett in good ordre and perfourmed / & in hys worde all thynges endure.

I speake moch/but I can not sufficiently attayne vnto it for by him selfe onely is the D perfeccyon of all wordes. We shulde prayse ẏ Lord after al oure power/for he is greate in all his worckes. The Lord is to be feared Psalm.xcvi.a. yee very greate is he / and maruelous is hys power. Prayse the Lord/ and magnifye him as moch as ye maye / yet doth he farre farre exceade all prayse. B When he put on the garment of honoure/ & was clothed with all bewtye: when he wēt to the holy aulter/ to garnysh the couerynge of the Sanctuary: when he toke the porcyons out of ꝑ Prestes hand/ he hym self stode by the harth of the aulter/ and hys brethren rounde aboute in ordre. As the braunches of Cedre tree vpon the mount Libanus/ so stode they rounde aboute hym. And as the braunches of the olyue tree/ so stode all the sonnes of Aaron in their glory. And that he myght sufficiently perfourme his seruyce vpon the aultre/ and garnysh the offryng of the hyest God/ he stretched out hys hande and toke of the drynck offryng/ & poured in of the wyne: so he poured vpon the botome of the aulter a good smell vnto the hyest Prynce.

Then begāne the sonnes of Aarō to synge/ and to blowe with trompettes/ & to make a greate noyse/ for a remembraunce & prayse vnto ꝑ Lord. Then were the people afrayed/ & fell downe to the earth vpon their faces/ to worshyppe the Lorde their God/ and to geue thankes to the almyghtye God. They sunge goodly also with their voyces/ so there was a pleasaunt noyse in the greate house of the Lord. And ꝑ people in their prayer besought the Lorde the hyest/ that he wolde be mercyfull/ tyll the honoure of the Lorde were perfourmed. Thus ended they their mynistracyō ¶ and seruyce. Then went he downe and stretched out his hādes ouer the whole multytude of the people of Israel/ that they shulde geue prayse and thankes out of their lyppes vnto the Lorde/ & to reioyse in his name. He begāne yet once also to praye/ that he might openly shew the thankesgeuynge before the Hyest/ namely thus: O geue prayse & thākes (yee all) vnto the Lord oure God/ which hath euer done noble and greate thynges: whych hath increased oure dayes from our mothers wombe/ & dealt wyth vs accordynge to hys mercy: that he wyll geue vs the ioyfulnes of hert/ & peace for oure tyme in Israel. Which faythfully kepeth his mercy for vs euermore, & all waye deliuereth vs in due season.

D There be two maner of people that I abhorre fro my hert: as for the thyrde/ whom I hate/ it is no people: They that syt vpon the mountayne of Samaria, the Philystynes/ & the foolysh people that dwell in Sichims.

I Jesus ꝑ sonne of Syrach Eleazarus of Jerusalem/ haue tokened vp these informacyons and documentes of wysdome and vnderstandynge in this boke/ & poured out the wysdome of my hert. Blessed is he that exercyseth hym self therin: & who so taketh soche to hert shalbe wyse. Yf he do these thinges he shall be stronge in all. For the lyght of the Lorde ledeth hym.

¶ The .li. Chapter.

I Thanke the O Lorde & Kynge/ & prayse the O God my sauyoure. I wyll yelde prayse vnto thy name: for thou art my defender & helper/ & hast preserued my body from destruccyon/ from the snare of traytorous tonges/ & from the lyppes that are occupyed in lyes. Thou hast bene my helper/ from soch as stode vp agaynst me/ and hast delyuered me after the multitude of thy mercy/ & for thy holy names sake. Thou hast delyuered me from the roaryng of them/ that prepared thē selues to deuoure me/ out of the hādes of soch as sought after my lyfe: from the multitude of thē that troubled me/ and went aboute to set fyre vpō me on euery syde/ so that I am not brēt in the myddest of the fyre: From the depe of hell/ frō an vncleane tonge/ from lyenge wordes/ frō the wycked kyng/ and from an vnrighteous tonge. My soule shall prayse the Lorde vnto death/ for my lyfe drawe nye vnto hell.

They compased me round aboute on euery syde/ and there was no man to helpe me. I loked about me/ yf there were any man that wolde socoure me: but there was none. Then thought I vpon thy mercy O Lorde/ & vpon thy actes that thou hast done euer of olde: namely, that thou deliuerest soch as put their trust in the/ & ryddest them out of ꝑ handes of the heathē. Thus lyft I vp my prayer frō the earth/ and prayed for deliueraunce from death I called vpō the Lorde my father/ that he wolde not leaue me without helpe/ in the daye of my trouble & in ꝑ tyme of the proude. I prayed thy name contynually yelding honoure & thankes vnto it: & so my prayer was herde. Thou sauedest me from destruccyon/ & delyueredest me frō the vnrighteous tyme. Therfore wyll I acknowledge & prayse the/ & magnyfye the name of the Lorde.

C When I was yet but yōge, or euer I wēt a straye/ I desyred wysdome openly in my prayer. I came therfore before the temple/ & sought her vnto the last. Then florysshed she vnto me as a grape that is soone rype. My hert reioysed in her/ then went my fote the ryght eight waye / yee frō youth vp sought I after her: I bowed downe myne eare and receaued her. I foūde me moch wysdome / and prospered greatly in her. Therfore will I ascribe ꝑ glory vnto him / that geueth me wysdome: for I am adupsed to do therafter. I wyll be gelous to cleue vnto the thinge that is good / so shall I not be confounded. My soule hath wrestled with her / and I haue bene dyligent to be occupied in her. I lyft vp myne handes an hye, then was my soule lyghtened thorow wisdome / ꝑ I knowleged my foolishnes. I ordred my soule after her / the ꝑ I were one hert frō the beginning / ꝑ I foūde her in clennesse. And therfore shall I not be forsaken.

D Myhert longed after her / ꝑ I gat a good treasure. Thorow her the Lorde hath geuen me a new tonge / wherwyth I wyll prayse him. O come vnto me ye vnlerned / & dwell in the house of wisdome: withdrawe not your selues from her / but talke & comen of these thinges, for youre soules are very thirstie. I opened my mouth / and spake: O come and bye wysdome without money / bowe downe youre neck vnder her yock / and youre soule shall receaue wysdome. She is harde at hād and is content to be founde. Beholde wyth youre eyes, how that I haue had but litle laboure / and yet haue founde moch rest. O receaue wysdome, and ye shal haue plenteousnes of syluer and golde in possession. Lett youre mynde reioyse in his mercy / and be not ashamed of his prayse. Worke his worke by tymes / and he shal geue you your rewarde in due tyme.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

I And Baruch dyd rede the wordes of this boke / that Jechonias ꝑ sonne of Joacim kynge of Juda myght heare: and in the presence of all the people, that were come to heare the boke: yee and before all the noble kynges sonnes / before the lordes of the councell and elders: and before the whole people / from the lowest vnto the heyst: before all them that dwelt at Babylon / by the water of Sody. Daniel.ix.b.

For the which cause the Lorde oure God hath performed his dewyce/ wherof he certifyed vs/ and oure heades that ruled in Jerusalẽ: yee & oure kynges/oure princes/ wal Israell & Juda. And soch plages hath ỹ lord brought vpõ vs as neuer came to passe vnder ỹ heauẽ like as it is fulfilled in Jerusalẽ/ acordinge as it is written in the lawe of Moses: that a man shulde eate ỹ flesh of his awne sonne/ & ỹ flesh of his awne daughter. ¶ The .vj. Chapter.

Because of the synnes that ye haue done agaynst God / ye shall be led awaye captyue vnto Babylō cuē of Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babilon. So whan ye be come in to Babilon, ye shal remayne there many yeares, and for a lōge season: namely .vij. generacyōs: after ỹ will I bringe you awaye peaceably frō thēce. Now shal ye se in Babylō goddes of golde, of siluer of wod and of stone: borne vpō mens shoulders / to cast out a fearfulnes before the Heathen. But loke that ye do not as the other: be not ye afrayed / and lett not the feare of them auercome you.

Jere.xxix.ab.

Therfore whā ye se the multitude of people worshiping them behinde & before, saye ye in youre hertes: O Lord / it is thou / that oughtest only to be worshipped. For me Angel also shall be with you / and I my selfe will care for your soules. As for the rymbre of those goddes / the carpēter hath polyshed them: yee gylted be they / & layed ouer wyth syluer / yet are they but vayne thinges / & can not speake. Lyke as a wench ỹ louerh peramours is trymly decked / euen so are these made & hanged with golde. Crownes of gold verely haue their goddes vpon their heades: so the prestes thē selues take the golde and syluer from thē / & put it to their awne vses: yee they geue of the same vnto harlottes / & trymme their whores withall: agayne / they take it frō the whores / & decke their goddes therwith. Yet can not these goddes delyuer them selues from rust and mothes. When they haue couered them wyth clothynge of purple / they wype their faces for the dust of the temple / wherof their is moch amōge thē. One hath a sceptre in his hande / as though he were iudge of the countre: yet can he not slaye such as offende hym. Another hath a swearde or an axe in his hande / for all that / is he nether able to defende hym selfe from battayll / ner from murtherers. Jere.x.b

¶ By this ye maye vnderstande / that they be no goddes: therfore se that ye nether worshipe them / ner feare thē. For lyke as a vessel that a mā vseth / is nothynge worth whē it is broken / euen so is it with their goddes. When they be set vp in the tēple / their eyes be full of dust / thorow ỹ fete of those ỹ come in. And lyke as the dores are shut in rounde aboute vpon him / that hath offended ỹ kyng: Or as it were a deed body kepte besyde the graue: Euen so the prestes kepe the dores wyth barres and lockes / lest their Goddes be spoyled with robbers. They set vp cādels before them (yee verely & that many) wher of they can not se one / but euen as blockes / so stande they in the temple. It is sayd / that the serpentes & wormes / whych come of the earth / gnawe out their hertes, eatynge them & their clothes also / and yet they fele it not. Their faces are blacke / thorow the smoke ỹ is in the temple. The oules / swalowes / and byrdes sle vpon them / yee & the cattes runne ouer their heades.

D By this ye maye be sure / that they are not goddes / therfore feare them not. The golde that they haue / is to make them beutiful: for all that / excepte some body dyght of their rust / they wyll geue no shine: and when they were cast ī to a fourme, they felt it not. They are bought for money / and haue no breth of lyfe with in them. They must be borne vpon mens shoulders / as those that haue no fete: wherby they declare vnto men / that they be nothynge worth. Confounded be they then / that worshippe them. For yf they fall to the grounde /

grounde / they can not ryse vp agayne of thē selues. Yee though one helpe them vp and set them right / yet are they not able to stande alone: but must haue proppes sett vnder thē lyke deed men. As for the thynge that is of-fred vnto them / their prestes sell it / & abuse it: yee the prestes wyues take therof / but vnto the seke and poore they geue nothinge of it / the wemen with chylde & the mēstruous laye handes of their offrynges. By thys ye maye be sure / that they are no goddes / therfore be not ye afrayde of them. From whēce commeth it then / that they be called goddes?
The wemen syt before the goddes of syluer / golde and wodde / and the prestes syt in their temples hauynge open clothes, whose hea-des and beerdes are shauen & haue nothyng vpon their heades: roaringe and cryeng vpō their goddes / as men do at the feast / when one is dead.

The prestes also take awaye ỹ garmētes of the ymages / & decke their wyues & chyldren withall. Whether it be good or euell ỹ eny man do vnto them / they are not able to recompence it: they can nether set vp a kyng ner put him downe. In like maner they maye nether gene ryches / ner rewarde euell.
Though a man make a vowe vnto them and kepe it not / they wil not requyre it. They cā not restore a blynde mā to his syght / ner helpe eny man at his nede. They can shewe no mercy to ỹ widdowe / ner do good to the fa-therles. Their goddes of wodd / stone / golde & syluer / are but euen as other stones / that be hewen of ỹ mountayne. They ỹ worshipe thē, shal be cōfounded. How shulde they then be taken for goddes? yee how darre men call them goddes? And though the caldees wor-shyped them not, hearyng that they were but domme & coulde not speake. Yet they them selues offre vnto Bel / and wolde fayne haue him to speake: as who saye / they coulde fele / that maye not moue. But whan these men come to vnderstandynge / they shall forsake thē / for their goddes haue no helpyng. A great sorte of wemen gyrde with coardes / syt in the stretes / & burne oliue beries. Now yf one of them be conueyed awaye / & lye with eny soch as come by: she casteth her neghbureffe in ỹ teth, because she was not so worthely reputed / ner her coorde broken. What so euer is done for them it is but in vayne & lost: How maye it then be thought or sayde / that they are goddes? Carpenters & goldsmythes make them / nether be they eny other thinge / but euen what the worke men wyll make of thē.
Yee the goldsmithes them selues that make them / are of no longe contynuaunce: How shulde then the thinges that are made of thē / be goddes? Playne therfore are the thynges (yee very blynde is it) that they leaue behinde thē for their posterite. For as soone as there cōmeth eny warre or plage vpon thē / then ỹ prestes ymagyn, where they maye hyde them selues with them. How can men thynke then that they be goddes / whych nether maye defende them selues from warre / ner deliuer them fro myshoritune? For seyng they be but of wod / of stone / of syluer & of golde: all people & kynges shall know her after / ỹ they be but vayne thinges: yee it shalbe openly declared / that they be no goddes: but euen the very workes of mens handes / & ỹ God hath nothinge to do wyth them. They can sett no kynge in the lande ner geue rayne vnto men.
They cā geue no sentēce of a matter / nether defende the lande from wronge: For they are not able to do so moch as a crowe / that flyeth betwirte heuen and earth.

Whan there happeneth a fyre in to ỹ hou- G se of those goddes of wodde / of syluer and of golde, the prestes wyll escape & saue thē sel-ues / but the goddes burne as ỹ baukes therin
They can not withstande eny kynge or ba-tell: how maye it then be thought or graūted / that they be goddes? Moreouer / these godds of wodde / of stone / of golde and syluer maye nether defende them selues from theues ner robbers: yee ỹ very wicked are stronger then they. These stripe them out of their apparell that they be clothed withall / these take their golde & syluer from them and so get thē awaye: yet can they not helpe them selues.
Therfore it is moch better for a man / to be a kynge & to shewe hys power: or els a profitable vessell in a house / wherin he ỹ oweth it might haue pleasure: yee or to be a dore in a house, to kepe soch thinges safe as be therin then to be soch a vayne god. The Sunne, the Mone and all the starres whan they geue their shyne and light, are obedient, and do mē good: Whan the lightenynge glistreth, all is cleare: The wynde bloweth in euery countre and whan God commaundeth the cloudes to go rounde about the whole worlde / they do as they are bidden: whan ỹ fyre is sent downe from aboue and commaunded, it burneth vp hilles and woddes: But as for those goddes / they are not like one of these thinges, nether in beuty ner strength. Wherfore men shulde not thynke / ner saye ỹ they be goddes / seing they can nether geue sentence in iudgment / H ner do men good. For so moch now as ye are sure that they be no goddes / then feare them not: For they cā nether speake euell ner good of kynges They can shewe no tokēs in heauen for ỹ Heithen / nether shyne as ỹ Sūne ner geue light as ỹ mone: yee the vnreasonable beastes are better then they / for they can get them vnder the foote, & do thē selues good.

So can

Eccle.9.a

F

So can ye be certified by no maner of meanes/that they be goddes: therfore feare them not. For lyke as a fraybogarde in a garden of Cucumbers kepeth nothynge/ euē so are their goddes of wod/of syluer & golde: & lyke as a whytethorne in an orcharde/that euery byrde syttyth vpon: yet lyke as a dede body that is cast in the darcke. Euen so is it wyth thole goddes of wodde/syluer and golde. By the purple and scarlet which they haue vpon them/and soone fadeth awaye/ye maye vnderstande/that they be no goddes: yee they them selues shall be consumed at the last/ which shall be a greate confusyon of ỹ lāde. Blessed is the godly man, that hath no ymages & worshyppeth none/ for he shalbe farre from reproffe.

¶ The songe of the thre chyldren which were put in to the hote brennynge ouen. The cōmen translacyon readeth this songe in the.iij. Chap. of Daniel.

AND they walked in the myddest of the flamme/ prayesynge God and magnifyenge the Lorde. Asariah stode vp/ & prayde on thys maner. Euē in the myddest of the fyre openeth he his mouth/& sayde: Blessed be thou (O Lorde God of oure fathers) right worthy to be prayesed & honoured is that name of thine for euermore: for thou art righteous in all ỹ thynges ỹ thou hast done to vs: Yee sayings all are all thy worckes/thy wayes are right/ & thy iudgmentes true. In all the thynges ỹ thou hast brought vpon vs/ & vpon the holy cytie of oure fathers (euen Ierusalem) thou hast executed true iudgment: yee accordyng to right and equyte hast thou brought these thynges vpon vs/because of oure synnes.

For why? we haue offended/ & done wyckedly/departynge from the: In all thynges Daniel.ix.c. haue we trespaced/ and not obeyed thy commaundmentes/ nor kepte them/ neither done as thou hast byddē vs/ ỹ we might prospere. Baruch.ij.b. Wherfore all ỹ thou hast brought vpon vs/ & euery thynge ỹ thou hast done to vs/thou hast done thē in true iudgment: As in delyuerynge vs in to the handes of oure enemyes/ amōge vngodly & wicked abhominacyons/ & to an vnrighteous kyng/yee the most frowarde vpō earth. And now we maye not opē oure mouthes/we are be come a shame and reproffe vnto thy seruauntes, & to thē ỹ worshippe the. Yet for thy names sake (we beseche the) geue vs not vp for euer/breake not thy couenaunt/& take not awaye thy mercy frō vs/for thy beloued Abrahās sake/for thy seruaunt Isaacs sake/and for thy holy Israels sake: to whom thou hast spoken & promesed that thou woldest multiplye their sede as the starres of heauē/ & as the sande ỹ lyeth vpō the see shore. For we (O Lorde) are be come lesse then eny people/ & be kepte vnder this daye in all ỹ world/because of oure synnes: So that now we haue neither prynce/duke/ prophet/burntofferynge, sacrifyce/oblacō/ incense/ner Sanctuary before the. And now we folowe Esay.xxviij.d. the wyth all oure herte/ we feare the/ & seke Roma.ix.g. thy face. Put vs not to shame/but deale wt vs after thy louynge kyndnesse/& accordyng to the multytude of thy mercyes. Delyuer vs by thy myracles (O Lorde) & get thy name an honoure: that all they whych do thy seruauntes euell/maye be confounded. Let thē be ashamed thorow thy almightie power/ & let their strength be broken: that they maye knowe/how ỹ thou only art the Lorde God/ & honoure worthy thorow out all ỹ worlde.

And the kynges seruauntes ỹ put thē in/ ceassed not to make the ouen hote wt wylde fyre/bype strawe/pitch & fagottes: so that ỹ flamme wente oute of the ouen vpon a.xlix. cubytes: yee it toke awaye/ & brent vp those Caldees/ỹ it gat holde vpō beside the ouen. But the Angell of the Lorde cam downe in to the ouen to Asariah and his felowes/and smote the flamme of the fyre out of ỹ ouen/ and made the myddest of the ouen/ as it had bene a colde wynde blowyng: so that the fyre nether touched them/greued thē/ner dyd thē hurte. Then these thre (as out of one mouth) prayesed, honoured, and blessed God in ỹ fornace/saynge.

Blessed be thou/ O Lorde God of oure fathers: for thou art prayse & honoure worthy/ yee ỹ to be magnified for euermore. Blessed be the holy name of thy glory/ for it is worthy to be prayesed/& magnifyed in all worlds. The story of Susanna which is the.xiij. Chapter of Daniel after the Latyn.

THere dwelt a mā in Babylon/ called Joachim/ that toke a wyfe, whose name was Susanna/ ỹ daughter of Helchiah, a very fayre woman/ & such one as feared God. Her father & her mother also were godly people/ & taught their daughter accordynge to the lawe of Moses. Now Joachim her housbande) was a greate rych mā/ & had a fayre orcharde ioynyng vnto his house. And to him resorted the Jewes comenly/ because he was a man of reputacyon amongē thē. The same yeare were there made two iudges/ such as the Lorde speaketh of: All the wyckednesse of Babylon, cōmeth from the elders (that is) from the iudges, which seme to rule the people. These came oft to Joachims house/ and all such as had eny thynge to do in the lawe/, came thyther vnto them.

Now when the people came agayne at after noone/ Susanna went in to her housbādes orcharde to walke. The elders seyng this, that she wēt in dayly/ & walked: they burned burned for lust to her / yee they were almost out of their wittes / & cast downe their eyes / that they shuld not se heauē / ner remembre / ꝑ God is a ryghtuous iudge. For they were both wouded wt the loue of her / nether durst one shewe another his greke. And for shame / they durst not tell her their inordynate lust / & they wolde fayne haue had to do wyth her. Yet they layed wayte for her earnestly from daye to daye / that they myght (at the leest) haue a syght of her. And the one sayde to the other: Up / lett vs goo home / for it is dyner tyme. So they went their waye from her.

When they returned agayne / they came together / enquiryng out ꝑ matter betwixte them selues: yee the one tolde ꝑ other of hys wicked lust. Then appoynted they a tyme / when they might take Sulanna alone.

¶ It happened also ꝑ they spyed oute a conueniēt tyme / when she went forth to walke (as her maner was) & no body with her / but two maydēs / & thought to wash her selfe in the garden / for it was an hote season: And there was not one person there / excepte the two elders / ꝑ had hyd thē selues / to beholde her. So she sayde to her maydens: go fet me oyle and sope, & shut the orcharde doze / that I maye wash me. And they dyd as she bad them, and shut the orcharde doze / & went out them selues at a backe doze / to fet the thyng ꝑ she had cōmaunded: but Sulanna knewe not / ꝑ the elders laye there hyd within. Now when the maydens were gone forth / ꝑ two elders gat them vp: & ranne vpō her / saying: now the orcharde dozes are shut / that no mā can se vs: we haue a lust vnto the / therfore consent vnto vs / and lye wyth vs.

If thou wylt not / we shall bryng a testimoniall agaynst the: that there was a yonge felowe with the / and that thou hast sent awaye thy maydēs frō the for the same cause. Sulanna syghed / and sayde: Alas. I am in trouble on euery syde. Though I folow your mynde / it wyll be my death: and yf I consent not vnto you / I can not escape youre hādes. Well / it is better for me / to fall into youre hande without ꝑ dede doynge / then to synne in the syght of the Lorde: and with that / she cryed out with a loude voyce: the elders also cryed out agaynst her.

Then ranne there one to ꝑ orcharde doze / and smote it open. Now whē the seruaūtes of the house herde the crye in the orcharde / they russhed in at the backe doze / to se what the matter was. So when the elders tolde them the seruauntes were greatly ashamed / for why / there was neuer such a reporte made of Sulanna. On the morow after came the people to Joachim her housbande / & the two elders came also / full of mischeuous ymaginaciōs agaynst Sulanna / to bryng her vnto death, & spake thus before the people: Sende for Sulanna the daughter of Helchias / Joachims wyfe. And immediatly they sent for her. So she came wt her father & mother / her chyldrē & all her kynrede. Now Sulanna was a tender person / and maruelous fayre of face. Therfore the wycked mē cōmaunded to take of the clothes frō her face (for she was couered) ꝑ at ꝑ leest / they might so be satisfyed in her beutie. Then her frēds / yee & all they ꝑ knewe her / begāne to wepe.

These two elders stode vp in the myddest of the people / & layed their handes vpon the heade of Sulanna: which wepte / and loked vp towarde heauen / for her herte had a sure trust in the Lorde. And the elders sayde: As we were walchynge in the orcharde alone / this woman came in wyth her two maydēs: whom she sent awaye from her / and sparred the orcharde dozes. With that / a ponge felow (which there was hyd) came vnto her / & laye with her. As for vs / we stode in a corner of ꝑ orcharde. And whē we sawe this wickednes / we rāne to her: & perceaued / ꝑ they had medled together. But we couldе not holde hym / for he was stronger then we: thus he opened ꝑ doze / & gat him awaye. Now whē we had takē this womā / we asked her / what ponge felowe thys was: but she wolde not tell vs. This is the matter / & we be witnesses of the same. The comen forte beleued them / as those ꝑ were the elders & iudges of the people / & so they condemned her to death. Sulanna cryed out wt a loude voyce / & sayde: O euerlastyng God, thou sercher of secretes / thou ꝑ knowest all thynges afore they come to passe: thou wotest / ꝑ they haue borne false wytnes agaynst me: & beholde / I must dye / where as I neuer dyd eny soch thynges / as these men haue maliciously inuēted agaynst me. And the Lorde herde her voyce. For whē she was led forth to death / the Lorde raysed vp the spyrete of a yonge chylde / whose name was Daniel / which cryed wt a loude voyce: I am cleane frō this bloude. Then all ꝑ people turned them towarde him & sayde: What meane these wordes / ꝑ thou hast spokē? Daniel stode in the myddest of thē / & sayd: Are ye soch fooles / O ye chyldren of Israel / that ye can not discerne? Ye haue here condemned a daughter of Israel vnto death / and knowe not the trueth wherfore: Go syt on iudgment agayne / for they haue spoken false wytnesse agaynst her.

Wherfore the people turned agayne in all the haste. And the elders (that is / the prynci-pall heades) sayde vnto him: come syt downe here amonge vs / and shewe vs this matter / seyng God hath geuē the as greate honoure as an elder. And Daniel sayde vnto thē: Put these two asyde one from another/ and then shall I heare thē. When they were put asunder one from another/ he called one of them/ and sayde vnto hym: O thou olde cankerde carle/ that hast vsed thy wyckednesse so lōg: thyne vngracyous dedes which thou hast done afore/ are now come to lyght. fre, where as yet the Lord sayeth: The innocent & righteous se thou slaye not. Wel thā/ yf thou hast sene her/ tell me vnder what tre sawest thou them talkyng together? He answered: Vnder a Wolbery tree. And Daniel sayde: very well/ now thou lyest euen vpon thyne head. Lo the messaūger of the Lorde hath receaued the sentence of hym/ to cut the in two. Then put he him asyde/ & called for the other/ & sayde vnto hym: O thou sede of Canaan/ but not of Juda: fayrenesse hath dysceaued the/ & lust hath subuerted thyne herte. Thus dealte ye afore with the daughters of Israel/ and they (for feare) consented vnto you: but the daughter of Juda wolde not abyde youre wyckednesse. Now tell me than vnder what tree dydest thou take thē/ speakynge together? He answered: Vnder a Pomgranate tree. Then sayde Daniel vnto hym: Very wel/ now thou leyst also euē vpō thyne head. The messaunger of the Lorde standeth wayting with the swerde to cut the in two/ and to slaye you both.

accordynge to the lawe of Moses, & put thē to death. Thus the innocent bloude was saued the same daye.

Then Helchiah & hys wyfe praysed God/ for their daughter Susanna/ with Joachim her husbande and all the kynrede: that there was no dishonestie founde in her. From that daye forth was Daniel had in greate reputacyon in the syght of the people.

The story of Bell/

and of the Dragon/ whych is the .xiiij. Chapter of Daniel after the Latyn.

THere was at Babylon an ymage / called Bel: and there were spent vpon hym euery daye .xij. cakes .xl. shepe/ and syxe greate pottes of wyne. Hym dyd the kynge worshyp hym self & wente daylye to hon our hym: but Daniel worshypped his awne God. And the kyng sayd vnto him: Why dost not thou worshyppe Bel? He answered & sayde: Because I maye not worshyppe thynges yt be made with handes, but the lyuynge God whych made heauen & earth/ and hath power vpon all flesh. The kyng sayde vnto him: thinckest thou not yt Bell is a lyuynge God? Or seest thou not how much he eateth and drynketh euery daye? Daniel smyled/ & sayde: O kyng disceaue not thy self: this is but made of claye within & of metall without / nether eateth he euer any thynge.

Deuteró. iiij. c. v. a. Ero. xx. a. Deute. vi. d. Esay. xlv. a.

Then the kynge was wroth/ & called for his prestes / & sayde vnto them: Yf ye tell me not who is this, yt eateth vp these expenses/ ye shall dye: but yf ye can certyfye me / that Bel eateth them then Daniel shall dye / for he hath spokē blasphemy agaynst Bel. And Daniel sayde vnto the kynge: let it so be/ accordynge as thou hast sayde. The Prestes of Bel were .lxx. besyde their wyues & chyldrē. And the kynge wente with Daniel into the temple of Bel. So Bels prestes sayde: Lo/ we wyll go out / & set thou the meate there (O kynge) & poure in the wyne: then shutt yt dore fast / and seale it with thyne awne signet. and to morow when thou comest in/ yf thou fyndest not, that Bel hath eaten vp all/ we wyll suffre death: or els Daniel/ yt hath lyed vpon vs. The prestes thought thē selfes sure ynough / for vnder the altare they had made a preuy intraunce/ & there wente they in euer and ate vp what there was.

Leuit. xxiij. c.

So when they were gone forth/ the kyng set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had cōmaunded hys seruauntes to bryng asshes and these he syfted thorow out all the tēple/ that the kynge myght se. Then wente they out/ and sparred the doore, sealyng it with yt kynges signet, and so departed. In the night came the prestes with their wyues and chyldren (as they were wonte to do) and ate and droncke vp all. In the mornyng be tymes at the breake of the daye/ the kynge arose / and Daniel w̄ him. And the kyng sayd: Daniel/are the scales whole yet? He answered: Yee O kyng/they be whole. Now as soone as he had opened the doze/the kyng loked vnto the aultare/& cryed with a loude voyce: Greate art thou O Bel/and with the is no disceate. Then laughed Daniel/and held the kyng that he shulde not go in/and sayde: Beholde the pauemēt/marcke well/ whose fotesteppes are these? The kyng sayde: I se the fotesteppes of men/wemen and chyldren.

Therfore the kynge was angrye/ & toke the prestes/with their wyues and chyldren/ and they shewed him the preuy dores/where they came in/& ate vp soch thynges as were vpō ỹ aultare. For the which cause the kyng slewe thē/ and delyuered Bel in to Daniels power/which destroyed him & his temple.

Jeremy. li.g. Esay. xlvi.a. Jeremy. l.a.

In the same place there was a great dragō/which they of Babylon worshypped. And ỹ kyng sayde vnto Daniel: sayest thou/ that this is but a God of metall also? lo/ he lyueth he eateth & drinketh: so ỹ thou canst not saye, that he is no lyuynge God. therfore worshipe him. Daniel sayde vnto the kyng: I wyll worshipe the Lorde my God/ he is ỹ true lyuynge God: as for thys/ he is not the God of lyfe. But geue me leaue(O kyng) & I shall destroye this dragō without swearde or staf. The kynge sayde. I geue the leaue. Then Daniel toke pitch/ fatte and hearrye woll/ & dyd seth them together/ and made lompes therof: this he put in the Dragons mouth/ & so the dragon barst in sonder: and Daniel sayde: lo/ there is he whom ye worshipped. When they of Babylon herde that/ they toke greate indignacion/ & gathered thē together agaynst the kynge/ sayinge: The Kynge is become a Jewe also/ he hath destroyed Bel/ he hath slayne the dragon/ and put the prestes to death. So they came to ỹ kyng/ & sayde: let vs haue Daniel/ or els we wyll destroye the and thyne house.

Daniel. vi.c.

Now when the kyng sawe that they rushed in so sore vpon him/ & that necessite constrayned him, he delyuered Daniel vnto thē: which cast him in to the lyons denne/ where he was syxe dayes. In the denne there were seuen lyons, and they had geuen them euery daye two bodyes and two shepe: which then were not geuē them/ ỹ they myght deuoure Daniel.

There was in Jewry a Prophete called Habacuch/ which had made potage/ a brokē bred in a depe platter/ and was goynge in to the felde/ for to bryng it to ỹ mowers. But the Angell of the Lord sayde vnto Habacuch: go kary the meate that thou hast in to Babylon/ vnto Daniel/ whych is in the lyons denne. And Habacuch sayde: Lorde/ I neuer sawe Babylon: & as for the denne/ I knowe it not. Then the Angell of ỹ Lorde toke him by the toppe/ and bare him by ỹ heare of ỹ head/ & (thorow a mightie wynde) set him in Babylō vpō the denne. And Habacuch cried/ sayinge: O Daniel thou seruaunt of God/ haue, take ỹ breakefast that God hath sent the. And Daniel sayde: O God/ hast thou thought vpon me? well/ thou neuer fayle st them that loue the. So Daniel arose/ and ate: and the Angell of the Lorde sett Habacuch in his awne place agayne immediatly. Ecch. xlij.d. Rē. xxxvij.a.

Vpon the seuenth daye/ the kynge wente to bewepe Daniel: and when he came to the denne/ he loked in: and beholde/ Daniel sat in the myddest of the Lyons. Then cried the kyng with a loude voyce, saying: Greate art thou/ O Lorde God of Daniel: & he drewe hym out of the denne. As for those that were the cause of his destruccyon, he dyd cast thē in to the denne/ and they were deuoured in a moment before his face. Jere xxxvij. b. Hester. vij.b. Dani. vi.c

After this/ wrote the kynge vnto all people/ kyndredes and tunges, that dwelt in all countrees, sayinge: peace be multyplyed vnto you. My cōmaundement is/ in all the dominyon of my realme: that men feare and stāde in awe of Daniels God, for he is the lyuing God, whych endureth euer: hys kyngdome abydeth vncorrupte/ and his power is euerlastynge. It is he that can delyuer and saue: he doth wōders and marueilous worckes in heauen & in earth/ for he hath saued Daniel from the power of the Lyons. Daniel. vi.d. Luc. i.c. Esa. xxxvij. Dan. iij.a. The fyrst boke of the Machabees.

¶ After the deeth of Alexander the kynge of Macedonia Antiochus taketh the kyngdome. Many of the chyldren of Israel make couenaunt with the Gentyles. Antiochus subdueth Egypte & Jerusalem vnto hys dompnyon. Jerusalem beinge burnt maketh lawes of her awne and forbydeth to kepe Godes lawes. Antiochus setteth vp an Idole ouer the auter of God.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

After that Alexãder the sonne of Philyppe / kynge of Macedonia wente forth of ye lande of Cethim / & slewe Darius kynge of the perssyans & Medes: It happened / that he toke greate warres in hãde / wanne very many stronge cities / & slew many kinges of the earth: going thorow to ye endes of the worlde & gettyng many spoyles of the people: In so moch / ye the worlde stode in greate awe of him / & therfore was he proude in his herte. Now whã he had gathered a mightye strõge hoost / & subdued ye landes & people vnto theyr princes / so ye they became trybutaryes vnto him: he fel sick. And when he perceaued that he must nedes dye / he called for hys noble estate (which had bene brought vp with him of childre) & parted hys kyngdome amonge them, whyle he was yet alyue. So Alexãder raygned xii. yeare / & then dyed. Dan. xi. a. & viii. b.

After hys death fell the kyngdome vnto his princes / & they optayned it euery one in his rowme / & caused thẽ selues to be crowned as kinges: and so dyd theyr children after them many yeares / & moch wyckednesse increaced in the worlde. Out of these came ye vngracious rote, noble Antiochus the sonne of Antiochus ye king (which had bene a pledg at Rome) & he raigned in the C. xxxvii. yeare of the raigne of the Grekes. & Mach. viii. a.

In those dayes wente there out of Israell wycked men / whych moued moch people vnto their councell, sayenge: Lett vs go & make a couenaunt with the Heathen / ye are rounde aboute vs: for sence we departed from them / we haue had moch sorow. So thys deuyce pleased them well / and certayne of ye people toke vpon thẽ for to go vnto ye kynge / which gaue them lycence to do after the ordinaunce of the Heathen. Then set they vp an opẽ scole (at Jerusalem) of the lawes of the Heathen / & were nomore circuncysed: but forsoke the holy Testamente / & ioyned them selues to ye Heathen, & were cleane solde to do myschefe.

So when Antiochus beganne to be mightie in his kyngdome / he wente aboute to optayne ye lande of Egypte also / that he myght haue the dominyon of two realmes. Vpon this entred he in to Egypte vnto a stronge hoost with charrettes / elephantes, horsmen and a greate nombre of shippes / and beganne to warre agaynst Ptolomy the kynge of Egypte. But Ptolomy was afrayed of hym / and fled: and many of hys people were wounded to death. Thus Antiochus wãne many strõge cities / and toke awaye greate good out of the lande of Egypte.

And after that Antyochus had smytten Egypt, he turned agayne in the C. xliii. yeare & wente towarde Israel / & came vp to Jerusalem with a mightie people: & entred proudly in to the Sanctuary / and toke awaye ye golden altare / the candylstycke and all the ornamentes therof / the table of ye shewbred the pouring vessel / chargers, & golden spons the vale / the crownes and golden apparell of the temple / and brake downe all. He toke also the syluer & golde / the precious Jewels and the secrete treasures that he founde. And when he had taken awaye all together / caused a greate murthur of men / and so fulfilled his malicious pryde / he departed in to his awne lande. ¶

Thus there arose greate heuynesse and misery in al the lande of Israel. The princes & the elders of the people mourned / & yonge men and the maydens were defyled / and the fayre

the kayre beutye of wemen was chaunged: the bydegrome and the bryde toke them to mournynge: the lande and ehose that dweit therin / was moued: for all the house of Jacob was brought to confusion.

D After two yeares the kyng sent hys chefe 1.Mach.v.c. treasurer vnto ỳ cyties of Juda / which came to Jerusalem with a great multitude of people, speakinge peaceable wordes vnto them but all was dissemble: for whã they had geuẽ hym credence, he fell sodenly vpon the cytye / & smote it sore / and destroyed moch people of 1.Mach.vij.k. Israell. And when he had spoyled the cytye / he set fyre on it / castynge downe houses and 1.Mach.ix.k. walles on euery syde. The wemen and theyr children toke they captiue / & led away their catel. Then buylded they the castel of Dauid with a great and thicke wall / & with mightie towres / and made it a stronge holde for thẽ. Besyde all this they sett wycked people and vngodly men to kepe it / stoared it with weapens and vytales: gathered the goodes of Jerusalem / and layed them vp there: thus became it a cheuysh castell.

And thys was done to laye waite for the people that went in to the Sanctuary / and for the cruell destruccyon of Israell. Thus they shed innocent bloude on euery syde of ỳ Sanctuary / and defyled it: In so moch that the citesyns were fayne to departe / and the citye became an habitacyon of straungers / beynge desolate of her awne sede / for her awne natyues were fayne to leaue her. Her Sanctuary was clene wasted, her holy dayes were turned in to mournynge / her Sabbathes were had in derision / and her honoure brought to naught. Loke how great her glory was afore / so greate was her confusyon / and her ioye turned in to sorow. Tobi.ii.a Amos.viij.b.

Antiochus also the kinge sent out a com- 1.Mach.vi.a mission vnto all hys kyngdome / that all the people shulde be one. Then they left euery man hys lawe / and all the Heathen agreed to the cõmaundement of kynge Antiochus: Yee many of the Israelites consented there vnto / offeringe vnto Idols / and defylinge ỳ Sabbath. So the kynge Antyochus sent his messaungers wyth hys commyssyon vnto Jerusalem & to all the cytyes of Juda: that they shulde folowe the lawes of the Heathẽ / and forbad ether burntofferynge meatofferinge or peaceofferinge to be made in ỳ temple of God / & that there shulde no Sabbath ner hye feast daye be kepte: but commaũded / that the Sanctuary and the holy people of Israell shulde be defyled.

He commaunded also that there shulde be sett vp other altares, temples & Idols: to offre vp swynes flesh & other vnclene beastes: that men shulde leaue their chyldren vncircuncysed / to defyle their soules with all maner of vnclennesse & abhominacions: & they myght so forget the lawe / & chaunge all the holy ordinaunces of God: & that whosoeuer wolde not do accordinge to the commaundement of kyng Antiochus / shulde suffre death In lyke maner commaunded he thorow out all his realme / and sett rulers ouer the people / for to compell them to do these thinges / commaundinge the cyties of Juda to do sacrifice vnto Idols.

Then wente the people vnto the heathen by heapes / forsoke the lawe of the Lorde / & cõmitted moch euel in the lande: yee and chaced out the secrete Israelites / which had hyd them selues in corners and preuy places. F The xv. daye of the moneth Casleu / in the Cxlv. yeare / sett kynge Antiochus an abhominable Idol of desolacion vpon the altare of God / and they buylded altares thorow out all the cytyes of Juda on euery syde / before the dores of the houses / and in the stretes: where they brent incense, and dyd sacrifyce. And as for the bokes of the lawe of God / they brent them in the fyre / and rent them in peces. What so euer he was that had a boke of the testament of the Lord koũ by hym / yee whosoeuer endeuored hymself to kepe the lawe of the Lorde / the kynges commaundement was / that they shulde put hym to death. And thorow hys auctorite they executed these thinges euery moneth / vpon the people of Israell that were founde in the cytyes. Jere.xxxvi.c.

G The fyue and twentye daye of the moneth what tyme as they dyd sacrifice vpon the altare (which stode in the steade of the altare of the Lorde) accordynge to the commaundement of kynge Antyochus / they put certayne wemen to death / which had caused their chyldren to be circũcised: Not only that / but they hanged vp the chyldren by the neckes thorow out all their houses / and slewe ỳ circumcisers of them. 1.Mach.vi.b.

Yet were there many of the people of Israell / which determed in them selues / that they wolde not eate vncleane thynges: but chose rather to suffre death / then to be defiled wt vncleane meates. So because they wolde not breake the blessed lawe of God / they were cruelly slayne. And this great tyranny increased very sore vpon the people of Israell.

¶ The mournyng of Mathathiah and his sonnes for the destruccyon of the holy cytye. They refuse to do sacrifice vnto Idoles. The zele of Mathathiah for the lawe of God. They are slayne & will not feight agayne because of the Sabboth daye. Mathathiah dyenge commaundeth his sonnes to stycke by the worde of God after the example of the fathers.

¶ The ij. Chapter.

IN those dayes there dyd stande vp one Mathathyah ꝑ sonne of Symeon the prest, out of the kynred of Joarib from Jerusalem / & dwelt vpon the mount of Modin / & had v. sonnes: Jhō called Goddis: Symon / called Thasi: Judas / other wise called Machabeus: Eleazer / other wyse called Abaron: and Jonathas / whose surname was Apphus. These sawe the euell / that was done amonge the people of Juda & Jerusalē. And Mathathyah sayde: Woe is me / alas ꝑ euer I was borne / to se this misery of my people / & the pyteous destrucciō of ꝑ holy cite: & thus to lyt so stil / it being delyuered in to ꝑ hādes of ꝑ enemis. ✠Mach.i.b. Her Sanctuary is come in to the power of straungers her temple is / as it were a man ꝑ hath lost his good name. Her precious ornamentes are caryed awaye captyue / her olde men are slayne in the strettes / & her yōge mē are fallen thorow ꝑ swearde of the enemyes.

What people is it, that hath not some possession in her kingdome? Or who hath not gotten some of her spoyles? All her glory is taken awaye. She was a Quene / & now she is become an handmayde. Beholde oure Sanctuary / oure bewtye & honoure is wasted awaye / & defyled by the Gentiles. What helpeth it vs thē to lyue? And Mathathyah rente his clothes, he & his sonnes / & put sack cloth vpon them / & mourned very sore.

B Then came the men thither which were sent of kyng Antiochus / to compell such as were fled in to the cytie of Modyn / for to do sacrifice & to burne incense vnto Idols / & to forsake the lawe of God. So / many of the people of Israell consented & enclyned vnto thē / but Mathathyah & his sonnes remayned stedfast. Then spake the commissioners of kyng Antiochus / and sayde vnto Mathathyah: Thou art a nobleman / of hye reputacyon and greate in this citye / hauynge fayre children and brethren. Come thou therfore first / and fulfill the kynges cōmaundement / lyke as all the Heathen haue done / yee & the men of Juda / and such as remayne at Jerusalem: so shalt thou and thy children be in the kynges fauoure / and enryched wyth golde / syluer & greate rewardes.

Mathathias answered / and spake with a loude voyce: Though all nacyons obeye the kyng Antiochus / and fal awaye euery man frō kepyng the lawe of their fathers: though they cōsente to his commaundementes / yet wyl I & my sonnes and my brethren / not fall frō the lawe of oure fathers. God forbyd we shulde: that were not good for vs / that we shulde forsake the lawe and ordynaunces of God / and to agre vnto the commaundement of kynge Antiothus. Therfore we wyl do no such sacrifice / neither breake the statutes of our lawe / to go another waye. And when he had spoken these wordes / there came one of the Jewes / whych openly in the syght of all / dyd sacrifyce vnto the Idols vpon the aulter in the cytie of Modyn / according to the kynges commaundement.

When Mathathyah sawe thys / it greued hym at the herte / so that hys raynes shoke withall / and hys wrath kindled for very zele of the lawe. Wyth that he gaue a skyppe forth / and kylled the Jew besyde the aulter: Yee and slewe the kinges commissioner / that cōpelled hym to do sacrifyce / & destroyed the aulter at the same tyme: such a zele had he vn to ꝑ lawe of God / lyke as Phyneches dyd vnto Zambri ꝑ sonne of Salomi. And Mathathyah cried with a loude voyce thorow the citie / sayenge: Whoso is feruent in the lawe / & wil kepe ꝑ couenaūt, let him folowe me. So he and hys sonnes fled in to the mountaynes & left all that euer they had in the citye. Many other godly men also departed in to ꝑ wilderneße wyth their chyldre / their wyues and their catel / & remayned there: for the tyrānye increased so sore vpon them. Lume.xxv.b. v. Mach.v.c.

Now when the kynges seruauntes / and the hoost / which was at Jerusalē in the cytie of Dauid herde / ꝑ certayne mē had broken the kynges commaundement and were gone their waye to the wylderneße in to secrete places / and that there were many departed after them: they folowed vpon them to fyght agaynst them in the Sabbath daye & sayde: Wyll ye yet rebell? Get you hence & do the commaundement of kyng Antiochus and ye shal lyue. They answered: We wil not go forth / neither wyll we do the kynges commaundement to defyle the Sabbath daye. Josu.c. Then begāne they to fyght agaynst thē neuertheleße they gaue them none other answere / neither cast they one stone at them nor made fast their preuy places / but sayde. We will dye al in oure innocency. heuē & earth shall testifie with vs, that ye put vs to death wrongeously. Thus they fought agaynst thē vpon the Sabboth / & slewe both men & catell / their wyues & their children / to the nombre of a thousande people.

When Mathathias and hys frēdes herde this, they mourned for them right sore, and sayde one to another: If so be that we all do as our brethrē haue done / & fight not for our lyues & for oure lawes agaynst ꝑ Heathen: then shall they the soner rote vs out of the earth. So they concluded amonge them selues at the same time / sayenge: Whatsoeuer he be that commeth to make battayll wyth vs vpon the Sabbath daye / we wyll fyght agaynst him, & not dye al, as our brethren ꝑ were were murthured so hanously. Upon tyys came the Synagoge of the Jewes vnto thē: stronge men of Israel/ all such as were feruent in the lawe. And all they that were fled for persecucyon, came to helpe them and to stande by them: In so moch that they gathered an hoost of men, and slewe the wycked doers in their gelousy, and the vngodly men in their wrath Some of the wicked fled vnto the Heathen and escaped.

Thus Mathathias & his frendes wente aboute/and destroyed the aulters, and circumcysed the chyldren/that had not yet receaued circumcisiō: as many as they founde within the costes of Israel: & folowed mightely vpon the chyldren of pryde, & this acte prospered in their handes: In so moch/ that they kepte the lawe agaynst the power of ỳ Gentiles and the kinges, and gaue not ouer them dompynon vnto wycked doers.

After tyys when the tyme drewe on fast/ that Mathathias shulde dye, he sayde vnto his sonnes: Now is pryde and persecucyon increased, now is the tyme of destruccyon & wrathfull displeasure: wherfore(O my sonnes)be ye feruent in the lawe/ and ieoparde your lyues for the Testamēt of the fathers: call to remembraunce what actes oure fathers dyd in their tyme, so shall ye receaue greate honoure and an euerlastinge name.

Remembre Abraham, was not he founde faythfull in tentacyon, and it was reckened vnto him for righteousnes? Joseph in tyme of hys trouble kepte the commaundement/ and was made a Lorde of Egypt. Phinehes oure father was so feruent for the honoure of God, that he optayned the couenaunt of an euerlastynge prestehode. Josue for fulfyllinge the worde of God/was made the captayne of Israel. Caleb bare recorde before the congregaciō, and receaued an heretage. Dauid also in hys mercyfull kyndnesse/ optayned the trone of an euerlastynge kyngdome. Elias beinge gelous and feruent in ỳ lawe, was taken vp in to heauē. Hananias/ Asarias and Misael remayned stedfast in fayth/and were deliuered out of the fyre. In lyke maner Daniel beynge vngylty, was saued from the mouth of the Lyons.

And thus ye maye consyder thorow out all ages sence the worlde beganne that who soeuer put their trust in God, were not ouer come. Feare not ye then the wordes of an vngodly man/ for hys glory is but donge and wormes: to daye is he set vp/ and to morow is he gone: for he is turned into earth/ and hys memoryall is come to naught. Wherfore (O my sonnes take good hertes vnto you, & quyte youre selues lyke men in the lawe: for yf ye do the thynges that are commaunded you in the lawe of the Lorde youre God/ ye shall optayne greate honoure therin.

And beholde/I know that youre brother Symon is a man of wysdome: se ỳ ye geue care vnto hym alwaye, he shalbe a father vnto you. As for Judas Machabeus, he hath euer bene myghtye and stronge frō hys youth vp: let him be youre captayne, & ordre the battayll of ỳ people: thus shall ye bringe vnto you all those that fauoure the lawe, & se that ye auenge the wronge of youre people/ and recompence the Heathen agayne, & applye youre selues whole to the commaūdement of the lawe. So he gaue them hys blessynge, and was layed by hys fathers: & died in the C.& xlvi. yeare at Modin where hys sonnes buried him in hys fathers sepulcre/ & all Israell made greate lamentacyon for hym.

¶ Judas is made ruler ouer the Jewes. He kylleth Appolonius & Seron the prince of Syria. The confidence of Judas towarde God. Judas determyneth to fyght agaynst Lysias whom Antiochus had made captayne ouer his hoost. The prayer of ỳ aduersaryes.

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

When stode vp Judas Machabeus in his fathers steade, & all his brethrē helped him: and so dyd all they that helde wt hys father, & fought with cherefulnesse for Israel. So Judas gat his people great honoure: he put on a brest plate as a gyaunte & arayed hym selfe with his harnesse and defended the hoste with hys swearde. In his actes he was lyke a Lyon/ and as a lyōs whelpe roaringe at his praye. He was an enemye to the wycked, & hunted them out: and brent vp those that vexed hys people: So that hys enemyes fled for feare of hym/ and all the workers of vngodlynes were put to trouble: for luche and prosperyte was in his hande. This greued kyng, but Jacob was greatly reioyced thorow hys actes/ and he gatt hymself a greate name for euer. Josephus cap. viij. li. xij. Antiq.

He wente thorow the cytyes of Juda/ destroyenge the vngodly out of them turnyng awaye the wrath from Israell/ and releauynge such as were oppressed: and the fame of him wente vnto the vttemost parte of the earth. Then Appollonius (a prynce of Syria) gathered a myghtye greate hoost of the Heathē & out of Samaria to fyght agaynst Israell. Which when Judas perceaued, he wente forth to mete hym/ fought wyth hym: slewe him, and a great multitude with him/ the remnaūte fled & he toke their substaūce Judas also toke Appollonius awne swearde and fought with it all his lyfe longe.

Now whē Seron (another prynce of Syria) herde saye, that Judas had gathered vnto hym the congregacyon and church of the faythfull kaythfull he sayde: I wyll get me a name & a prayse thorow out the realme: for I wyll go fight with Judas & them that are wyth hym/as many as haue despysed the kynges commaundement. So he made hym ready/ and there wente with him a greate myghtye hoost of the vngodly/ to stande by hym/ and to be auenged of the chyldren of Israel. And when they came nye vnto Bethoron/ Judas wente forth agaynst thē with a small company. And wᵗ hys people sawe soch a great hoost before them/ they sayde vnto Judas: How are we able (beinge so fewe) to fyght agaynst so greate a multitude and so stronge? seinge we be so weery/ and haue fasted all thys daye?

1.Reg.xvij.a. But Judas sayde: It is a small matter for many to be ouercome wᵗ fewe: yee there is no differēce to the God of heauen/ to delyuer by a greate multytude or by a small 6.Para.xxv.b company: for the victory of the battell standeth not in the multytude of the hoost/ but ¶ the strength cōmeth from heauē. Beholde/ they come agaynst vs wyth a presumptuous and proude multytude/ to destroye vs/ oure wyues and oure chyldren/ and to robbe vs. But we wyll fight for oure lyues/ & for oure lawes/ and the Lorde hym selfe shall destroye them before oure face: therfore be not ye afrayed of them.

As soone as he had spoken these wordes/ he leapte sodenly vpon thē. Thus was Seron smytten/ and his hoost put to flight/ and Judas folowed vpon them beyonde Bethoron vnto the playne felde: where there were slayne eyght hundreth men of them/ and the residue fled in to the lande of the Philystynes. Then all the Heathē on euery syde were afrayed for Judas and hys brethren: so that the rumoure of hym came vnto the kynges eares/ for all the Gentyles coulde tell of the warres of Judas.

D So when kynge Antiochus hearde these tydynges/ he was angry in his minde: wherfore he sente forth and gathered an hoost of hys whole realme very stronge armyes: and opened hys treasury/ and gaue hys hoost a yeares wagyes in hande/ commaundynge them to be ready at all tymes.

Neuertheles when he sawe/ that there was not moneye ynough in hys treasuries/ and that thorow the discorde and persecucyon/ whych he made in ꝑ lande (to put downe the lawes that had bene of olde tymes) hys customes & tributes of the lande were mynyshed: he feared that he was not able for to beare the costes and charges any longer/ nor to haue soch gyftes/ to geue so liberally as he dyd afore/ more then the kynges that were before hym.

Wherfore he was heuy in his minde/ and 1.Mach.vi.a. thought to go into Perides/ for to take tributes of the lande/ & so to gather moch moneye. So he left Lysias (a noble man of the kynges blonde) to ouerse the kynges busynesses/ from the water Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypte: & to kepe well his sonne Antiochus/ tyll he came agayne.

Moreouer, he gaue him half of his hoost and Elephātes/ commytted vnto hym euery thynge of hys mynde/ concernynge those whych dwelt in Juda and Jerusalem: that he shulde sende out an armye agaynst thē/ to destroye and to rote out the power of Israel and the remnaunt of Jerusalem: to put out their memoriall from that place/ to set straūgers for to inhabyt all their quarters/ and to parte their lande amonge them. Thus the kynge toke the other parte of the hoost/ Iosep.capi.e. and departed from Antioch (a cyte of hys re- iu.xij.antiq. aume) ouer the water of Euphrates/ in the hundreth and.xlvij.yeare/ and went thorow the hye countrees.

And Lysias chose vnto hym Ptolomy the 1.Mach.iij.b sonne of Dorimenus/ Nicanor and Gorgias myghty men/ and the kynges frendes. These he sent with.xl.thousande fote men and.vij. thousande horsmen/ for to go into the lande of Juda/ and to destroye it/ as the kynge cōmaunded. So they wēte forth with all their power/ & came to Emmaus into the playne felde. When the marchauntes hearde ꝑ rumoure of them/ they & their seruauntes toke very moch syluer & golde/ for to bye the children of Israel to be their bonde men. There came vnto them also yet moo men of warre on euery syde/ out of Syria and from the Palestynes.

Now when Judas and hys brethrē sawe that trouble increased & that the hoost drew ¶ nye vnto their borders: consyderyng the kinges wordes which he commaunded vnto the people: namely ꝑ they shulde vtterly waste and destroye thē: They sayde one to another: Let vs redresse the decaye of oure people/ let vs fyght for oure folke and for oure Sanctuary. Then the congregacyon were soone ready gathered to fyght/ to praye & to make supplycacyon vnto God for mercy & grace.

As for Jerusalem, it laye voyde/ and was 1.Mach.i.b. as it had bene a wyldernesse. There wente no man in nor out at it/ and the Sanctuary was troden downe. The aleauntes kepte the castell/ there was the habytacyon of the Heathen. The myrth of Jacob was taken awaye/ the pype and the harpe was gone frō amonge them.

The Israelytes gathered them together/ and came to Maspha before Jerusalē: for in Maspha was the place where they prayed afore afore tyme. So they fasted that daye/ & put sackclothes vpō them/cast asshes vpō their heades/rente their clothes/ & layde forth the bokes of the lawe (wherout the Heathen sought the lyckenesse of their ymages) and brought the Prestes ornamētes, the firstlinges and the tythes. They set there also the abstepners(which had fulfylled their dayes) before God / and cryed wyth a loude voyce towarde heauen/sayinge: What shall we do wyth these? and whyther shall we cary them awaye? For the Sanctuary is trodē downe and defyled/ thy prestes are come to heynesse and dyshonoure: and beholde/ the Heathen are come together for to destroye vs. Thou knowest what thynges they ymagyn agaynst vs. How may we stande before thē/ excepte thou(O God)be oure helpe?

Lume.vi.a

They blewe out the trompette also wyth a loude voyce. Then Judas ordened captaynes ouer the people: ouer thousandes/ ouer hundredes/ouer fyftye / and ouer ten. But as for soch as buylded them houses/ maryed wyues planted them vynyardes/and those that were fearfull: he commaunded thē euery man to go home/ accordynge to the lawe. So the hoost remoued/and pytched vpō the southsyde of Emmaus.

Deutero.xx.a.

And Judas sayde: Arme youre selues/be stronge (O my chyldren) make you ready agaynst to morow in the mornynge/that ye maye fyght wyth these people / whych are agreed together to destroye vs & oure sanctuary. Better is it for vs to dye in battayll/ than to se oure people and oure sanctuary in soch a mysserable case. Neuertheles/as the wyll is in heauen/ so be it.

Mat.vi.b. Luc.xi.a

¶ Judas goeth agaynst Gorgias which lieth in wayte. He putteth Gorgias and his hoost to flyght. Atlas muadeth Jewrye/but Judas dryueth him oute. Judas purifyeth the temple and dedycateth the auitaer.

¶ The.iiij. Chapter.

THen toke Gorgias fyue thousand men of fote/ & a thousande of the best horsmen: & remoued by night/ to come nye where the Jewes hoost laye/ & so to slaye them sodenly. Now ỳ men that kepte the castell/were the conueyers of them. Then arose Judas to smyte the chefe & principall of the kynges Hoost at Emmaus/ for the army was not yet come together. In the meane season came Gorgias by nyght in to Judas tentes: & when he founde no man there/he sought them in the mountaynes/ & thought they had bene fled awaye because of him. But whē it was daye/Judas shewed hym selfe in the felde wyth thre thousande men only / whych hath nether harnesse nor swoordes to their myndes.

But on the other syde / they sawe that the Heathen were myghtie and well harnessed/ and their horsmē aboute them / and all these well experte in fettes of warre. Then sayde Judas to ỳ men that were with hym: Feare not ye the multitude of them/ be not afrayed of their violente runnynge: remembre how oure fathers were delyuered in the reed see/ when Pharao threatned them with a greate Hoost. Exo.xiij.c

Euen so lett vs also crye now towarde heauen: and the Lorde shall haue mercy vpō vs/and remembre the couenaunt of oure fathers, yee and destroye this Hoost before oure face this daye: And all ỳ Heathē shal know/ that it is God hym selfe/ which delyuereth & and saueth Israel.

B Then the Heathen lyft vp their eyes: and when they sawe that they were comynge agaynst them/they went out of their tentes in to the battayll: and they that were wyth Judas, blewe vp the trompettes. So they buckled together/and the Heathen were discomfyted and fled ouer the playne felde: but the hynmost of them were slayne. For they folowed vpon them vnto Gazaremoth/and in to the feldes of Idumea towarde Azot and Jamnia: so that there were slayne of them vpon a thre thousande men. So Judas turned agayne wyth his Hoste, & sayde vnto the people: Be not gredy of the spoyles/we haue yet a battayll to fyght: for Gorgias and his hoost are here by vs in the mountaynes/ but stande ye fast agaynst oure enemyes / & ouercome thē: then maye ye safely take the spoyles.

C As Judas was speaking these wordes/ there apeared one parte of them vpon the mount. But whan Gorgyas sawe that they of his partye were fled / and the tentes brent vp (for by the smoke they might vnderstande what was done) they perceaynge this/were verye afrayed: and when they sawe also that Judas and hys hoost were in the felde ready to stricke batayll/they fled euerychone in to the lande of the Heathen.

So Judas turned agayne to spoyle the tentes/where they gatt moch golde and syluer/precious stones/purple & great riches. Thus they went home and songe a Psalme of thankesgeuinge and praysed God in heauen: for he is gracyous / and hys mercy endureth for euer: And so Israell had a greate victory in that daye. Psal.cvij. Psal.c.xviij.a

Now all the Heathen that escaped / came and tolde Lysyas euery thynge as it happened. Wherfore Lysyas was sore afrayed and greued in his mynde/because Israel had not gotten soch mysfortune as he wolde they

shulde / nether as the kynge commaunded. The nexte yeare folowing / gathered Lysias thre score thousande chosen men of fote / & fyue thousande horsmē / to fight agaynst thē

So they came in to Iewry / and pytched their tētes at Bethoron / where Iudas came agaynst them with ten thousande men. And when he sawe so greate mightye an hoost / he made hys prayer and sayde: Blessed be thou (O sauioure of Israell) whych dyddest destroye the violent power of the gyaunte / in the hande of thy seruaunt Dauyd / and gauest the hoost of the Heathen in to the hande of Ionathas (the sonne of Saul) and of hys weapen bearer.

1. Reg. xij. g.

xiij. Reg. xiij. b

Put thys hoost now in to the hande of thy people of Israell / and let them be confounded in their multitude and horsmen. Make them afrayed / & dyscomforth the boldnes of their strēgth / that they maye be moued thorow their destruccion. Cast them downe thorow the swearde of thy louers / then shall all they that knowe thy name / prayse the with thankesgeuynge.

So they stroke the batell / and there were slayne of Lysias hoost / fyue thousande men. Then Lysyas seynge the dyscomfetynge of hys men / and the manlynesse of the Iewes / how they were ready / ether to lyue or to dye like men: He wente vnto Antyoche and chose out men of warre: that whā they were gathered together / they myght come agayne in to Iewry. Then sayde Iudas and hys brethren: beholde / our enemyes are discomfited: Lett vs now go vp / to clense and to repayre the Sanctuary.

Vpon thys / all the hoost gathered them together / and wente vp vnto mount Syon.

1. Mach. x. a.

Now whan they sawe the Sanctuary laied waste / & auiter defyled / the dores brēt vp / & shrubbes growinge in the courtes / like as in a wod or vpon mountaynes / yee & & the prestes Celles were broken downe: They rente their clothes / made great lamentacion / cast asshes vpon their heades / fell downe flat to the grounde / made a greate noyse wyth the trompettes / & cried towarde heauen.

Then Iudas apoynted certayne men to fyght agaynst those which were in the castel till they had clensed the Sanctuary. So he chose prestes & were vndefyled / such as had pleasure in the lawe of God: and they clensed the Sanctuary / and bare out the defyled stones in to an vncleane place. And for so moch as the auiter of burntofferynges was vnhalowed / he toke aduysement / what he might do vnto: so he thought it was best to destroye it (lest it shulde happen to do them eny shame) for the Heathē had defyled it / & therfore they brake it downe. As for & stones they layed thē vp vpō the mountayne by & house in a conuenient place: til there came a prophet to shewe / what shulde be done with them.

So they toke whole stones accordinge to & lawe / & buylded a new auiter soch one as was before / & made vp & Sanctuary within & without / & halowed & courtes. They made new ornamentes / & brought the candilstick the auiter of incense / & the table in to the tēple. The incense layed they vpon the auiter / & lyghted the lampes whych were vpon the candilsticke / that they myght burne in & tēple. They set the shewbred vpon the table / & hanged vp the vaile / and set vp the temple / as it was a fore. And vpon the xxv. daye of the ix. moneth / which is called the moneth of Casleu / in the C. xlviij. yeare: they rose vp by tymes in the mornynge for to do sacrifice (accordinge to the lawe) vpon the new burnt offrynge auiter. that they had made: after the tyme and season that the Heathen had defyled it. The same daye was it set vp agayne / with songes pypes / harpes & cymbales.

Exod. xx b. Deute. xxvij. a Iosue. viij. g.

9. Mach. j. a

And all the people fell vpon their faces / & worshipped & thanckyng & God of heauē which had geuen them the victory. So they kepte the dedicacion of the auiter viij. dayes offrynge burnt sacrifices & thankoffrynges with gladnesse. They decked the temple also w crownes & shildes of gold / & halowed & portes & celles / & hāged dores vpō thē. Thus there was very great gladnes amonge & people / because & blasphemy of & Heathē was put awaye. So Iudas & his brethrē w the whole congregacyon of Israel / ordened / that the tyme of the dedycacyō of the auiter shulde be kepte in hys season from yeare to yeare / by the space of viij. dayes / from the xxv. daye of the moneth Casleu: yee and that wyth myrth and gladnesse.

4. parali. vij. b.

And at the same tyme buylded they vp the mount Syon wyth hye walles and stronge towres rounde aboute: lest & Gentiles shuld come and treade it downe / as they dyd afore. Therfore Iudas sett men of warre in it / to kepe it: and made it stronge / for to defende Bethsura: that the people myght haue a refuge agaynst the Edomytes.

1. Mach. vi. d.

¶ Iudas vanquyshed the heathen that go aboute to destroye Israel / and is holpen of his brethren Symon and Ionathas he ouerthroweth the cytye of Ephron / because they denyed hym passage thorow it.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

It happened also that whan the Heathen rounde about herd / how & the auiter & & Sanctuary were sett vp in they^r olde estate: it displeased thē very sore / wherfore they thought to destroye the generacyon of Iacob that was amonge them: In so moch that they begãne to slaye and to persecute certayne of the people. Then Judas fought agaynst the chyldrẽ of Esau in Idumea / & agaynst those which were at Arabathane (for they dwelt rounde aboute the Israelites) where he slew and spoyled a greate multytude of them. He thought also vpon the malyce and vnfaythfulnes of ỹ chyldrẽ of Bean / how they were a snare & stoppe vnto the people / & how they layed wayte for them in the hye waye: wherfore he shut them vp in to towers / and came vnto them / condemned them / and brent vp their towres / with all that were in them.

G.Mach.5.c.

After warde wente he agaynst the chyldren of Ammon / wherof he founde a myghtye power & a greate multytude of people / with Timothy their captayne. So he stroke many battayls with them / whych were dystroyed before hym. And when he had slayne them / he wanne Gazer the cytye / with the townes belonginge therto / and so turned agayne in to Iewry. The Heathen also in Galaad gathered thẽ together / agaynst the Israelites that were in their quarters to slaye them: but they fled to ỹ castell of Dathema, and sent letters vnto Judas and his brethrẽ / sayinge: The Heathen are gathered agaynst
B vs on euery syde / to destroye vs / & now they make them for to come / and laye sege to the castell / wherunto we are fled / and Timothy is the captayne of their host: come therfore / and delyuer vs out of their handes: for there is a greate multytude of vs slayne all ready. Ye and oure brethren that were at Tubin / are slayne & destroyed (welnye a thousande men) and their wyues / their chyldren and their goodes haue the enemyes led awaye captyue.

Whyle these letters were yet a readynge / beholde / there came other messaugers from Galile / with rente clothes: which tolde euen the same tydynges / and sayde / that they of Ptolomais / of Tyrus and of Sidon were gathered agaynst them / and that all Galilee was fylled wyth enemyes to destroye Israel. When Judas and the people herde this / they came together (a greate congregacyon) to deuyse, what they might do for their brethren / that were in trouble & beseged of their enemyes. And Judas sayde vnto Simõ his brother: chose the out certayne men / and go deliuer thy brethren in Galilee: As for me and my brother Jonathas / we wyll go in to Galaadithim. So he left Josephus ỹ sonne of Zachary / and Azarias to be Captaynes of the people and to kepe the remnaunt of ỹ Host in Iewry / and commaunded them / sayinge: Take the ouersyght of thys people / and se ỹ ye make no warre agaynst the Heathen / vntyll the tyme that we come agayne. And vnto Simon he gaue thre thousande men for to go in to Galilee / but Judas hym selfe had eyght thousande in Galaadithim.

C Then wente Symon in to Galilee / and stroke diuerse battayls with the Heathẽ: whõ he discomfyted / and folowed vpon them vnto the porte of Ptolomais. And there were slayne of the Heathen allmost.iij. thousande men. So he toke ỹ spoyles of them / and caried awaye the Israelites / that were in Galilee and Arbatis / wyth their wyues / their chyldren and all that they had / and brought them in to Iewry with greate gladnesse. Judas Machabeus also and his brother Jonathas / wente ouer Jordane and trauayled.iij. dayes iourney in the wyldernesse: Where the Nebuthees met them / and receaued them louyngly / and tolde thẽ euery thynge that had happened vnto their brethren in Galaadithim / and how that many of them were beseged in Barasa / Bosor / Alimis / Casphor / Mageth and Carnaim (all these are stronge walled and myghtie greate cyties) and that they were kepte in other cytyes of Galaad also: & to morow they are apoynted to brynge their Host vnto these cyties / to take them & to wynne them in one daye.

So Judas and his host turned in all the haste in the wyldernesse towarde Bosor / and wanne the cytie / slewe all the males with ỹ swearde / toke all their goodes / and sett fyre vpon the cytie. And in the nyght they toke their iourneye from thence / and came to the castell. And by tymes in the morynge when they loked vp / beholde / there was an innumerable people bearynge ladders and other instrumẽtes of warre / to take the castell and to ouercome them.

When Judas sawe that the battayll beganne / and that the noyse therof wente vp & range in to the heauen / and that there was so greate a crye in the cytie: He sayd vnto his host: fyght this daye for youre brethren. And so came behynde their enemyes in thre companyes / and blewe vp the trompettes / and cryed in their prayer to God.

But as soone as Timothis host perceaued ỹ Machabeus was there / they fled from him / and the other slewe them downe ryght sore: so that there were killed of them ỹ same daye / almost eyght thousande men. Then departed Judas vnto Malpha / layed sege vnto it and wanne it / slewe all the males in it / spoyled it / and set fyre vpon it. From thence wente he and toke Casbon / Mageth / Bosor and the other cytyes in Galaad.

After thys gathered Timothy another D Hoste / which pitched their tentes before Raphon beyonde the water. Judas sent to spye ỹ hoste / & they brought him worde agayne / sayinge / agayne/sayenge:All the heathen ꝑ be roũde aboute vs / are gathered vnto him / and the hoost is very greate: Yee they haue hyred the Arabiãs to helpe them/& haue pitched their tentes beyonde the water / and are ready to come & fyght agaynst the. So Judas wente on to mete them.

And Timothy sayde vnto the captaynes of hys hoost: when Judas & hys hoost come nye ꝑ ryuer: yf he go ouer fyrst, we shal not be able to withstande him: for why, he wil be to stroge for vs. But yf he darre not come ouer so that he pitch his tente beyonde the water: then will we go ouer/ for we shalbe stronge ynough agaynst him. Now as soone as Judas came to ꝑ ryuer, he appoynted certayne scrybes of the people/ & commaunded them/ sayenge: se ꝑ ye leaue none behynde vpõ this syde of the ryuer/ but let euery man come to the battayl. So he wente fyrst ouer vnto thẽ & his people after him.

And all the heathen were discomfited before him / and lett their weapens fal, & ranne in to the tẽple that was at Carnaim. Which cytye Judas wanne / and brent the temple wyth all that were in it: So was Carnaim subdued/ and myght not withstãde Judas. Then Judas gathered all the Israelites that were in Galaadythym / from the least vnto the most / wyth their wyues and their chyldren (a very greate hoost) for to come in to the lande of Israell.

¶ So they came vnto Ephron / which was a myghtie/ greate and stroge cyte/ and laye in their waye. For they coulde not go by it/ nether of the ryght hande ner of the left/ but must goo thorow it. Neuertheles they that were in ꝑ cytie/ wolde not let thẽ go thorow/ but walled vp the portes with stones. And Judas sent vnto thẽ wt peaceable wordes/ sayenge: Let vs passe thorow youre land/ ꝑ we maye goo in to oure awne countre: there shall no body do you harme/ we wyll but only go thorow. But they wolde not lett thẽ in.

Wherfore Judas commaunded a proclamacyon to be made thorow oute the Hoste/ that euery man shulde kepe his order: and so they dyd their best lyke valeaunt men.

And Judas beleged the cytie all that daye and all that nyght / and so wanne it: where they slewe as many as were males / and destroyed the cytye/ and spoyled it / and wente thorow all the cytie ouer thẽ ꝑ were slayne. Then went they ouer Jordane in to ꝑ playne felde before Bethsan. And Judas helped those forwarde that cam behynde/ and gaue the people good exortacyon all the waye thorow/ tyll they were come in to the lande of Juda. Thus they wente vp vnto ꝑ mount Sion, where they offred wt myrth & thanckesgyuynge: because there were none of thẽ slayne/ but came home agayne peaceably.

Now what tyme as Judas and Jonathas were in the lande of Galaad / and Symon their brother in Galilee before Ptolomays: Then Josephus the sonne of Zachary and Azaryah the captaynes / hearynge of the actes that were done and of the battels that were stroken / sayde: Lett vs get vs a name also/ and go fight agaynst the heathen that are rounde aboute vs.

So they gaue their hoost a commaunde- ment / and wente towarde Jamnyah. Then came Gorgyah & his men out of the cytie/ to fyght agaynst them: Josephus also and Azaryah were chased vnto the borders of Jewry & there were slayne ꝑ daye of ꝑ people of Israel iij. M. men: so ꝑ there was a great misery amonge ꝑ people/ & al because they were not obedient vnto Judas and hys brethren / but thought they shulde quyte them selues manfully. Neuertheles they came not of the sede of these men, by wh̃ Israell was helped. But the mẽ ꝑ were with Judas, were greatly commended in the sight of all Israell and all heathen / where so euer their name was herde vpon / & the people came vnto thẽ byddynge them welcome.

After thys wente Judas forth wyth hys brethren, and fought agaynst the chyldrẽ of Esau / in the lande ꝑ lyeth towarde the south where he wanne the cytie of Hebron and the townes that lye beside it: & as for the walles and towres rounde aboute it / he brent them vp. Then remoued he to go in to the lande of the Philistines / and wente thorow Samaria. At ꝑ same tyme were there many preests slayne in the battayll / whych wylfully and without aduysement wente out for to fyght to get them honoure. And when Judas cam to Azot in the Philistines lande / he brake downe their aultares / brent the ymages of their Idols / spoyled ꝑ cytyes & came agayne in to the lande of Juda.

Moreouer there came one which brought hym tydynges in Perisde, that his hoostes which were in the lande of Juda / were dryuen awaye/ and how that Lisias went forth fyrst wt̄ a greate power/ & was dryuen awaye of the Iewes: how that they had wonne the victory/ & gotten greate goodes out of the hoostes & perysshed: how they had brokē downe the abhomynacion/ which he set vp vpon the altare at Ierusalem, and fenced the Sanctuary with hye walles, like as it was afore: yee and Bethsura his cite also.

So it chaunced that when the kyng had herde these wordes, he was afrayed and greued very sore. And there contynued he longe/ for hys grefe was euer more and more/ so ꝑ he sawe he must nedes dye. Therfore he sent for his frendes/ & sayde vnto thē: the slepe is gone fro myne eyes for the very sorow and vexacyon of herte ꝑ I haue. For when I cōsyder in my mynde ꝑ greate aduersite ꝑ I am come vnto/ & the floudes of heuynesse which I am come in/ where as afore tyme I was so mery, and so greatly set by (by reason of my power) I agayne, consyderinge the euell ꝑ I haue done at Ierusalem, frō whence I toke all the ryches of golde & syluer ꝑ were in it/ and sent to fetch awaye the inhabytours of Iewry without any reason why: I knowe, ꝑ these troubles are come vpō me for the same cause. And beholde, I must dye with greate sorow in a strāge lande. Then called he for one Philippe a frende of his/ whom he made ruler of al his realme/ & gaue him ꝑ crowne/ his roabe & his ryng: that he shulde take his sonne Antiochus vnto hym / & bryng hym vp/ tyll he myght raygne hymselfe. So the kynge Antiochus dyed there / in the. cxlix. yeare. When Lysias knewe that the kynge was dead/ he ordened Antiochus hys sonne (whom he had brought vp) to raygne in hys fathers steade) & called hym Eupator. Now they that were in the castell (at Ierusalem) kepte in the Iewes round about the Sanctuary/ & sought euer styll to do them harme/ for the strengthenynge of the Heathen.

Iosep.cap.primo libro.vii. 1.Mach.vii.c.

Wherfore Iudas thought to destroye thē/ and called all the people together/ that they myght laye sege vnto them. So they came together in the. cl. yeare / & besieged them / layinge forth their ordynaunce and instrumentes of warre. Then certayne of thē that were besieged went forth (vnto whom some vngodly men of Israel ioyned them selues also) and went vnto the kyng sayinge: How longe wyll it be/ or thou punysh and auēge oure brethren? We haue euer bene mynded to do thy father seruyce, to walke in his statutes, and to obeye his commaundementes: Therfore oure people fell from vs/ & whersoeuer they founde any of vs/ they slewe thē: and they haue not only medled wyth vs, but wyth all oure countrees: and beholde/ thys daye are they besiegynge the castell at Ierusalem, and haue made vp the strōge holde in Bethsura: And yf thou doest not preuente them ryght soone / they wyll do more then these / and thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.

1.Mach.viii.c.

When the kynge herde this / he was very angrye, and called all hys frendes / the captaynes of hys fote men and of all hys horse men together. He hyred men of warre also out of other realmes and oute of the Iles of the see, which came vnto hym. And the nombre of hys hoost was an hundreth thousande fote men, and twentye thousande horsmen/ & xxxii Elephātes well exercised to battayll. These came thorow Idumea vnto Bethsura, and besieged it a longe season / and made dyuerse instrumentes of warre agaynst it. But the Iewes came out and brent them / and fought lyke men. Then departed Iudas from the castell at Ierusalem / and remoued the hoost toward Bethzacaran ouer agaynst the kynges armye.

1.Mach.vi.c.

1.Mach.iii.c.

So the kynge arose before the daye/ and brought the power of his hoost in to ꝑ waye to Bethzacaran, where the hoost is made redy to the battayll / blowynge the trompettes. And to prouoke the Elephantes for to fight/ they shewed them the sappe of reed grapes and molberies. And deuyded the Elephantes amonge the hoste: so ꝑ by euery Elephante there stode a. M. men well harnessed/ & helmettes of stele vpon their heades: Fee vnto euery one of the Elephantes also/ were ordened. v. C. horsmen of the best / which wayted of the Elephante / goynge where so euer he wente, and departed not from him. Euery Elephant was couered with a strōge tower of wod/ where vpon were. xxxij. baleaunte men with weapens to fyght/ & within it was a man of Inde to rule the beest.

1.Mach.vi.c.

As for the remnaunt of the horsmen / he sett them vpon both the sydes in two partes with trompettes/ to prouoke the hoste / and to stere vp such as were slowe in the armye. And when the sunne shone vpō their shyldes of golde and stele, the mountaynes glystered agayne at them / and were as bryght as the creslettes of fyre. The kyngs hoost also was deuyded, one parte vpō ꝑ hye mountaynes/the other lowe beneth: so they went on / takynge good hede / and kepynge their ordre. And all they that dwelt in the lande / were affrayed at the noyse of their hoost / when the multytude went forth / & when the weapēs smote together / for ỹ hoost was both great & mighty. Judas also & his hoost entred in to the battayll / & slew .vj. C. men of the kynges armye. Now whē Eleasar the sonne of Sayra dyde se one of the Elephantes decked wt the kynges badge / and was a more goodly beest then the other: he thought the kynge shuld be vpon hym / & ieoparde him self to deliuer his people / and to get him a perpetuall name.

Wherfore he ranne with a corage vnto ỹ Elephante in the myddest of the hoost / smytynge them downe of both the sydes / & slewe many aboute him. So wente he to the Elephantes fete / & gat hym vnder hym / & slewe him: then fell the Elephant downe vpō him / & there he dyed. Judas also & his men seing ỹ power of the kyng & the myghtye vyolēce of his hoost / departed frō them. And the kinges armye wente vp agaynst thē towarde Jerusalem / & pitched ther tētes in Jewry before mount Sion. Moreouer / the kynge toke truce with them that were in Bethsura.

But whē they came out of ỹ cyte (because they had no vytales within / & the lande laye vntylled) the kyng toke Bethsura / & set men to kepe it / & turned hys hoost to the place of the Sanctuary / & layed siege to it a greate whyle. Where he made al maner ordynaūce: handbowes / fyre dartes / rackettes to cast stones / scorpiōs to shute arowes / & slinges. The Jewes also made ordynaunce agaynst theirs / and fought a longe season.

But in the cyte there were no vytayles / for it was the seuenth yeare of the warres / & those Heathē that remayned in Jewry had eaten vp all their store. And in the Sanctuary were few men lefte: for ỹ hunger came so vpon thē / that they were scattered abroade euery man to his owne place.

So when Lysias hearde that Philippe (whom Antiochus the kynge whyle he was yet lyuynge / had ordened to bryng vp Antiochus his sonne / that he myght be kynge) was come agayne out of Persia & Medes with the kinges hoost / & thought to optayne the kyngdome: he gat him to the kyng in all the haste / & to the captaynes of ỹ hoost / and sayde: we decrease dayly / & oure vytales are but small: Agayne / the place ỹ we laye sege vnto / is very strong / & it were oure parte to se for the realme. Let vs agre with these men and take truce with them / and with all their people / and graunte them to lyue after their lawe / as they dyd afore. For they be greued & do all these thinges agaynst vs, because we haue despysed their lawe. So the kyng and the princes were content / & sent vnto thē to make peace / & they receaued it. Now when the kyng & the princes had made an othe vnto them / they came out of the castell / and ỹ kynge wente vp to mount Sion. But whē he sawe that the place was well fenced / he brake the othe that he had made / & cōmaunded to destroye ỹ wall rounde aboute. Then departed he in all the haste / & returned vnto Antioche / where he fouūde Philippe hauyng dominyon of ỹ cyte. So he fought agaynst him / & toke ỹ cyte agayne in to his handes.

¶ Demetrius cappeth after he had kylled Antiochus & Lysias. He troubleth the chyldren of Israel thorow the counceil of certen wycked personnes. The prayer of the Saynctes agaynst Nicanor. Judas kylleth Nicanor / after he had made his prayer.

¶ The vii. Chapter.

In the .Cli. yeare came Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from the cyte of Rome wyth a small cōpany of men / vnto a cyte of the see coast / & there he bare rule. And it chaunced / that whyle he came to Antioch the citie of his Progenytours, hys hoost toke Antiochus & Lysias / to bryng thē vnto him. But whē it was tolde him / he sayde: lett me not se their faces. So the hoost put them to death: Now when Demetrius was set vpon the trone of his kyngdome / there came vnto him wycked and vngodly men of Israel: whose captayne was Alcimus / that wolde haue bene made hye preest: These men accused the people of Israel vnto the kynge, sayynge: Judas & his brethren haue slayne thy frendes / and dryuē vs out of oure awne lande. Wherfore sende now some man (to whom thou geuest credēce) that he maye go and se all the destruccyō / which he hath done vnto vs & to the kynges lande / and lett him be punished with all his frendes and fauourers.

Then the kynge chose Bachides a frende of his / which was a mā of greate power in the realme (beyonde the greate water) and faythfull vnto the kynge: and sent hym to se the destruccyon that Judas had done. And as for that wicked Alcimus / he made him hye preest, and commaunded hym to be auenged of the chyldren of Israell. So they stode vp / and came with a greate hoost in to the lande of Juda, sendynge messaungers to Judas & his brethrē / & spekynge vnto thē wt peaceable wordes: but vnder disceate. Therfore Judas & his people beleued not their sayynge, for they sawe ỹ they were come wt a greate hoost.

After this came the scribes together vnto Alcimus & Bachides trustynge the best vnto thē. And fyrst ỹ Assideans requyred peace of them, sayynge: Alcimus the preest is come of the sede of Aarō, how can he disceaue vs?

Mach. bij. g. vi. b.
Mach. vij. a. vij. b.

So they gaue the louynge wordes/ & swore vnto them/ & sayde: we will do you no harme/ nether your frendes: & they beleued the. But the very same daye toke they ix. men of them & slewe them according to ꝑ wordes that are writte: They haue cast the flesh of thy sanc- tes/ & shed their bloude rounde about Jeru- salem/ & there was noman that wolde bury them. So there came a greate feare & drede amonge the people/ sayenge: there is nether treuth nor ryghteousnesse in them/ for they haue broken the appoyntement & othe that they made. And Bachides remoued his hoost from Jerusalem/ and pytched hys tente at Bethzecha: where he sent forth/ & toke ma- ny of them that had forsaken hym: He slewe many of the people also/ and cast them in to a greate pytt. Then committed he the lande vnto Alcimus/ and left men of warre wyth hym to helpe him/ & Bachides hymself went vnto the kynge. And thus Alcimus defen- ded his hye prestlode/ and all such as vexed Israell/ resorted vnto hym: In so moch that they optayned the lande of Juda/ & dyd moch euell vnto the Israelites.

Now when Judas sawe all the myschefe that Alcimus and his company had done (yee more then the Heathen them selues) vnto the Israelites: He went forth rounde about al the borders of Jewry/ and punyshed tho- se vnfaythfull rēnagates/ so that they came no more out in to the countre. So when Al- cimus sawe/ that Judas and his people had gotten the vpperhande/ and that he was not able to abyde them: he wente agayne to the kynge/ and sayde all the worst of them that he coulde. Then the kyng sent Nicanor/ one of his cheke princes (whych bare euell will vnto Israel) and commaunded hym/ that he shulde vtterly destroye the people.

So Nicanor came to Jerusalem wyth a greate hoost/ and sent vnto Judas and hys brethren wyth frendly wordes (but vnder di- sceate) sayenge: there shall be no warre be- twixte me and you: I will come wyth a few men/ to se how ye do/ with frendshipe. Vpon thys he came vnto Judas/ and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemyes were appoynted to take Judas by violence. Ne- uertheles it was tolde Judas/ that he came vnto hi but vnder disceate: wherfore he gat hym awaye from him/ & wolde se his face no- more. When Nicanor perceaued that hys councel was be wrayed/ he went out to fight agaynst Judas/ besyde Capharsalama: where there were slayne of Nicanors hoost/ v. M. men: the relydue fled vnto the castell of Dauid.

After thys came Nicanor vp vnto mount Sion: and the prestes wyth the elders of the people wente forth to salute him peaceably & to shewe him the burnt sacrifices that were offered for the king. But he laughed them to scorne/ mocked them/ defiled their offerin- ges/ & spake disdanedly/ yee and swore in his wroth sayenge: If Judas and hys hoost be not deliuered now in to my handes, as soone as euer I come agayne (& fayre well) I shal burne vp this house. With that/ went he out in a great anger. Then the prestes came in, and stode before the aulter of the temple, wepinge & sayenge: For so moch as thou (O Lorde) hast chosen this house, that thy name might be called vpon therin/ & that it shulde be an house of prayer and petycyon vnto thy people: Be avenged of this man & his hoost/ & let them be slayne with ꝑ sweard: remem- bre the blasphemyes of them/ & suffre them not to continue eny longer.

When Nicanor was gone from Jerusa- lem he pitched his tente at Bethoron/ & there an hoost met him out of Syria. And Ju- das came to Adarsa with iij. M mē/ & made his prayer vnto God sayenge: O Lorde/ be cause the messaungers of kyng Senacherib blasphemed the/ the angell went forth/ and slewe an C.lxxxv. thousande of them: Euen so destroye thou this hoost before vs to daye ꝑ other people maye knowe/ how that he hath blasphemed thy Sanctuary: & punysh hym/ according to his malicyousnesse.

v.Mach.xb.b.

And so the hoostes stroke the felde/ the thirtenth daye of the moneth Adar: & Nica- nors hoost was discomfited/ and he hymself was fyrst slayne in the battayll. When Ni- canors men of warre sawe that he was slay- led/ they cast awaye their weapens and fled: but the Jewes folowed vpon them an whole dayes iourney/ from Adazer vnto Gazara/ blowynge with the trompettes/ & makynge tokens after thē. So the Jewes came forth of all the townes there aboute/ & blewe out their hornes vpon them/ and turned agaynst them: Thus were they al slayne/ and not one of them lefte.

Then they toke their substaūce for a pray and smote of Nicanors heade and hys ryght hande (whych he helde vp so proudly) and brought it with them/ and hanged it vp afore Jerusalem. Wherfore the people were ex- ceadingly reioyced/ and passed ouer that daie in great gladnesse. And Judas ordened/ that the same daye (namely the .xiij. daye of the moneth Adar) shulde be kepte in myrth eue- ry yeare. Thus the lande of Juda was in rest a litle whyle.

Iudas heathe also the fame of the Romaynes/ ꝑ they were myghty & valeaũt men / & agreable to all thinges that are requyred of thē / & make peace with all men; which come vnto them/and how they were doughty men of strength. ¶ The.ix. Chapter.

I Mach.vij.c. Josephus.cap. xij.lib.xij.

IN the meane season when Demetrius herde ye Nycanor & hys hoost was slayne in the felde/he proceded further to sende Bachydes & Alcymus agayne in to Jewry / & those that were in the right winge of his hoost/with thē. So they wente forth by the waye that ledeth vnto Galgala / and pytched their tentes before Melaloth which is in Arbellis / & wanne ye citie/& slewe moch people. In ye first moneth of the cli. yeare, they brought their hoost to Jerusalem/& rose vp & came to Berea/with xx.M. fote men/& v.M. horsmen.

Now Judas had pitched his tente at Lalsa / with thre thousande chosen men. And when they sawe the multytude of the other army that it was so greate/they were sore afraied/& many conueyed them selues out of the hoost / In so moch that there abode no mo of them but viij. C. men. When Judas sawe that is hoost fayled him, and that he must nedes fight: it brake his hert/that he had no tyme togather them together: wherfore the mā was in extreme trouble. Neuertheles he sayde vnto them / that remayned with hym: Up/let vs go agaynst oure enemyes/ peraduenture we shal be able to fight wyth them. But they wolde haue stopped hym/ sayenge: we shal not be able, therfore let vs now saue oure lyues/ and turne agayne to our brethrē and then wyll we fight agaynst them/ for we are here but fewe. And Judas sayde: God forbyd/ that we shulde fle from them. Wherfore yf oure tyme be come / lett vs dye manfully for oure brethren/and let vs not stayne our honoure. Then the hoost remoued out of the tentes/ & stode agaynst them. The horsmē were deuyded in two partes: the slynge casters & the archers wente before the hoost/ & all the mightye men were formest in the felde. Bachides himself was in the right wyng of the battell/and the hoost dyde wnye in two partes/and blewe the trompettes. They of Judas syde blewe the trompettes also/ & the earth shoke at the noyse of the hoostes / and they stroke a felde from the morow til nyght. And when Judas sawe that Bachides hoost was strongest of the right syde, he toke with hym all the hardy men / and brake the right wynge of their ordre / and folowed vpō them vnto the mount Azot.

Now when they whych were of the lefte wynge/ sawe that the right side was discomfited / they persecuted Judas and them that were with hym. Then was there a sore battayll / for many were slayne and wounded of both the partyes / Judas also hymself was kylled/ and the remnaūt fled. So Jonathas and Symon toke Judas their brother/ and buried him in his fathers sepulcre in the cytie of Modin. And all the people of Israell made great lamentacion for him, and mourned longe/ sayenge: Alas / that thys worthy shulde be slayne, which delyuered the people of Israel. As for other thinges pertrynge to the battayls of Judas/ the noble actes ye he did & of his worthynesse: they are not written, for they were very many.

¶ And after the death of Judas, wycked mē came vp in all the coastes of Israel and there arose all such as worke vngodlynesse. In those dayes was there a greate dearth in the lande/and all the countre gaue ouer thē selues & theirs vnto Bachydes. So Bachydes chose wicked men / and made them lordes in the lande. These sought out and made search for Judas frendes / and brought them vnto Bachides: which auenged him self vpō them with greate despite. And there came so great trouble in Israell, as was not sens the tyme that no prophet was sene there. Joseph. cap.ij. lib.xij. Antiq.

Then came all Judas frendes together/ & sayde vnto Jonathas: For so moch as thy brother Judas is dead / there is none lyke him to go forth agaynst our enemis/ agaynst Bachides / and such as are aduersaries vnto oure people. Wherfore thys daye we chose the for him, to be oure prynce and captayne to ordre oure battell. And Jonathas toke the gouernaunce vpon hym at the same tyme/ and ruled in stede of hys brother Judas.

When Bachydes gatt knowlege therof / he sought for to slay hym: But Jonathas and Symon his brother, perceauynge that/ fled in to ye wildernesse of Thecua wyth all their company/ and pytched their tentes by ye water pole of Asphar.

Which when Bachydes vnderstode / he came ouer Jordane wyth all hys hoost vpon the Sabbath daye. Now had Jonathas sent his brother Jhon (a captayne of the people) to praye his frendes the Nabuthites/ & they wolde lende them their ordynaunce/ for they had moch. So the chyldren of Jambry came out of Madaba / and toke Jhon and all that he had, and wente their waye wythal. Then D came worde vnto Jonathas and Symon hys brother / that the chyldren of Jambry made a greate maryage / and brought the bride from Madaba with greate pompe: for she was daughter to one of the noblest prynces of Canaan. Wherfore they remembred the blonde of Jhon their brother / and wente vp/ and hid them selues vnder the shadowe of the mountayne.

So they lift vp their eyes, and loked: and beholde/ there was moch a do/ and greate repayre: for the bryde grome came forth, & hys frendes & hys brethren met them with tympanys/instrumentes of muſick/ and many weapens. Then Jonathas and they that were with hym/ roſe out of their lourkyng places agaynſt them/ and ſlewe many of them. As for the remnaunt/ they fled in the to mountaynes/ and they toke all their ſubſtaunce. Thus the mariage was turned to mornyng/ and the noyſe of their melody in to lamentacyon. And ſo when they had auenged the bloude of their brother/ they turned agayne vnto Jordane.

Bachides hearynge thys/ came vnto the very border of Jordane with a greate power vpon the Sabbath daye. And Jonathas ſayde to his company: lett vs get vp/ & fyght agaynſt oure enemyes: for it ſtandeth not wyth vs to daye/ as in tymes paſt: Beholde/ our enemies are in oure waye/ the water of Jordane vpon the one ſyde of vs/ wyth bankes/ fennes & woddes of the other ſyde/ ſo that there is no place for vs to departe vnto. Wherfore crie now vnto heauen/ that ye maye be delyuered from the power of youre enemyes. So they ſtroke the batell. And Jonathas ſtretched out his hande to ſmyte Bachides/ but he fled backwarde. Then Jonathas & they that were wyth hym leapte in to Jordane/ & ſwymmed ouer Jordane vnto hym/ & there were ſlayne of Bachides ſyde that daye/ a thouſande men.

Therfore Bachides with his hooſt turned agayn to Jeruſalem/ & buylte vp the caſtels & ſtrōge holdes that were in Jewry/ Jericho Emaus/ Bethoron/ Bethel/ Thamnata/ Phara & Topo/ wyth hye walles/ wyth portes & lockes: & ſett men to kepe them/ that they myght vſe their malice vpon Iſraell. He walled vp Bethſurah/ Gazarah & the caſtell at Jeruſalem alſo/ & prouyded them w men & vitales: He toke alſo the cheefeſt mens ſonnes in the countre for pledges/ & put them in the caſtell at Jeruſalem to be kepte.

Aftere warde in the C. lij. yeare in the ſeconde moneth/ Alcimus cōmaunded/ that the walles of the vtmoſt Sanctuary ſhulde be deſtroyed/ & the buyldinges of the prophetes alſo. And when he beganne to deſtroye them the thinges he wente about/ were hyndered for he was ſmytten w a palſey/ & hys mouth ſhut/ ſo that he coulde nomore ſpeake ner cōmaunde eny of his houſe concerning his buſyneſſe. Thus dyed Alcimus in great myſery at the ſame tyme. And whē Bachides ſawe & Alcymus was deed/ he turned agayne to ꝑ kinge/ & ſo the lande was in reſt ij. yeares. Then all the vngodly men beſde a councell/ ſayenge: Beholde Jonathas & his company are at eaſe/ & dwell without care. Wherfore lett vs bringe Bachides hither/ & he ſhal take them al in one nyght.

So they wente and gaue Bachides thys coūcel/ which arose to come w a great hooſt/ & ſent letters priuely to his adherētes which were in Jewry/ to take Jonathas & thoſe ꝑ were wyth hym: but they myght not/ for the other had gotten knowlege of their deuyce. And Jonathas toke L. men of the countre/ (which were the ryngleaders of them) & ſlew them. Then Jonathas & Symon with their cōpany departed vnto the cytye Bethbeſſen which lyeth in the wylderneſſe/ and repayred the decaye therof/ & made it ſtronge. When Bachydes knewe thys/ he gathered all hys hooſt/ & ſent worde to them that were of Jewry. Thē came he & layed ſege to Bethbeſſen & fought agaynſt it a longe ſeaſon/ & made inſtrumentes of warre. Now Jonathas lefte his brother Symō in the cytie/ and wente forth himſelf in to the countre/ & came wyth a certayne nombre/ and ſlewe Odares & his brethren and the childrē of Phaſeron in their tentes: ſo that he beganne to be ſtronge/ and to increaſe in power.

As for Symon & his company/ they wēt out of the cytye/ and brent vp the inſtrumentes of warre/ and fought agaynſt Bachides/ and diſcomfyted hym. And Bachydes was ſore vexed/ becauſe hys counceil and trauayle was in vayne. Wherfore he was wroth at ꝑ wicked men (that gaue hym councel to come in to their lande) and ſlew many of them. Then purpoſed he wyth hys company to go awaye in to his awne countre: wherof when Jonathas had knowlege/ he ſent embaſſytours vnto hym/ for to make peace with him & that he ſhulde deliuer hym his priſoners agayne. To the whych Bachydes conſented gladly & dyd accordinge to his deſyre: pre and made an othe/ that he ſhulde neuer do hym harme all the dayes of hys life. So he reſtored vnto hym all the priſoners that he had taken out of the lande of Juda/ and then turned and wente hys waye in to hys awne lande/ nether proceded he eny further to come vnto the borders of Juda. & thus Iſraell had moze warre. And Jonathas dwelt at Machmas/ and beganne there to gouerne & people/ and deſtroyed the vngodly men out of Iſraell.

¶ Demetrius deſyreth to haue peace with Jonathas. Alexander moueth warre agaynſt Demetrius. Demetrius is ſlayne. The frendſhype of Ptolomeus & Alexander.

¶ The. x. Chapter.

IN the C. lx. yeare came Alexander ꝑ ſonne of noble Antyochꝰ & toke Ptolomais. whoſe citizens receaued him & there he raigned. Whē Demetrius herde therof/ he gathered an exceadynge greate hooſt/ and went forth agaynſt agaynst him to fight. Wherfore Demetrius sent letters vnto Jonathas to lounge wor-des & prayed hym greatly. For he sayde: we wyll fyrst make peace wyth hym, before he bynde hym self with Alexander agaynst vs:

els he shal remembre the euell that we haue done agaynst hym, his brother & his people.
And so he gaue Jonathas leue togather an hoost, to make weapens / and to be confederate with him / & commaunded the pledges þ were in the castel, to be delyuered vnto him.

Then came Jonathas to Jerusalem / and red the letters in the audyence of all the people / and of them that were in the castell. And therfore were they sore afrayed / because they herde that the kynge had geuē him lycence to gather an hoost. Thus were þ pledges delyuered vnto Jonathas / which resto-23 red thē to their elders. Jonathas also dwelt at Jerusalem / & beganne to buylde vp and to repayre the cite: cōmaundyng the worck men / to wall it / and the mount Sion round aboute wyth fre stone / to be a stronge holde / and so they dyd. As for the Heathē that were in the castels which Bachides had made vp / they fled: so that euery man left the place & wente into his awne coūtre. Only at Beth-sura remayned certayne of þ Jewes / which had forsakē the lawe & commaundementes of God / for Bethsura was their refuge.

Now when kynge Alexander herde of the promyses that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathas, and when it was tolde hym of the battels & noble actes / whych he and his brethren had done / and of the greate trauayles that they had taken: he sayde: where shall we fynde soch a man? well / we wyll make hym oure frende / & be cōfederate with him. Upō this he wrote a lettre vnto hym / wyth these wordes: kynge Alexander saluteth his brother Jonathas. We haue herde of the / that thou art a valeaunt man / and mete to be oure frēde: wherfore this daye we ordene the to be the hye Prest of thy people / and to be called the kynges frende. (Upon thys / he sente hym a purple clothinge & a crowne of golde) that thou mayest consider what is for oure profyte / & kepe frendshype towarde vs.

So in the .bij. moneth of the .C. lx. yeare Upō the solempne feast daye of the tabernacles / Jonathas put the holy rayment vpon
hym. Then gathered he an hoost, & made many weapēs. Which when Demetrius herde / he was maruelous sory / & sayde: Alas, what haue we done / that Alexander hath preuen-ted vs in gettynge the frendshyppe of the Je-wes / for his awne defence? Yet wyll I write lounyngly vnto them also / yee & promyse thē dygnytyes & rewardes that they maye be of my syde. Wherupon he wrote vnto thē these wordes: kyng Demetrius sendeth gretinge vnto the people of the Jewes. Where as ye haue kepte your covenaūt toward vs / & contynued in our frendshyppe / not enclynyng to oure enemyes we were glad / when we herde therof. Wherfore remayne styll & be fayth-full to vs: & we shall well recōpense you for the thinges / þ ye haue done on oure partye:
we shall release you of many charges / and geue you rewardes. And now I dyscharge you & all þ Jewes from tributes / I forgeue you the customes of salt / & release you of þ crowne tayes / of the thirde parte of sede / and half of þ frute of trees / which is myne awne dewty. These I leaue for you / from this daye forth: so that they shall not be taken of the lande of Juda ner of the thre cities which are added therunto out of Samaria & Galilee / from this daye forth for euermore. Jerusalē 12 also with all thinges belonging therto shall be holy & fre / yee the tythes & tributes shall pertayne vnto it. As for the power of the castell which is at Jerusalē / I rempte & geue it vnto the hye prest / þ he maye set in it soche men / as he shall chose to kepe it. I frely deli-uer all the Jewes that are presoners thorow out all my realme: so that euery one of them shalbe fre from paying any trybute yee euē of their catell.

All þ solēpne feastes / Sabbathes / newmones / the dayes appoynted, the thre dayes before and after the feast shalbe fre for all þ Jewes in my realme: so that in them no man shal haue power to do eny thing / or to moue any busynesse agaynst any of thē in any maner of cause. There shall .xxx. M. also of the Jewes be wrytten vp in the kinges host, and haue their wages payed / as all other men of warre of the kynges shulde haue: and of them shalbe ordened certayne / to kepe the kynges strong holdes: yee and some of them shalbe set ouer the kynges busynesse / þ they maye faythfully deale wyth the same. The Jewes also shal haue princes of their awne / and walcke in their awne lawes / as þ king hath commaunded in the lande of Juda.

And the thre cytyes that are fallen vnto Jewry from the countre of Samaria and Galilee: shalbe taken as Jewry / and be vnder one: nether be subiecte to any straunge lorde / but to the hye prest. As for Ptolomais and the lande perteynynge therto / I geue it vnto the Sanctuary at Jerusalem / for the necessary expēces of the holy thinges. More ouer / I wyll geue euery yeare .xv. thousand € Sycles of syluer out of the kynges chester (whych pertayneth vnto me) to the worcke of the temple: yee and lo be what remayneth (which they that had oure matters inhande in tymes past, haue not payed) þ same shall they geue vnto them also. And besydes all thys / the .v. M. sycles whych they toke yearly of the rentes of the Sanctuary / shall belonge vnto the prestes that do seruice.

Item / whosoeuer they be that sle vnto ȳ temple at Jerusalem or within the libertes therof / where as they are fallen in to ȳ kynges daunger for eny maner of busynes / they shall be pardoned / and all the goodes that they haue in my realme / shalbe fre. For the buyldynge also & repayrynge of the worke of the Sanctuary / expenses shalbe geuen out of the kynges Checker: Yee and for the makynge of the walles rounde aboute Jerusalem / for the breakynge downe of the olde / and for the settynge vp of the stronge holdes in Jewry / shal ȳ costes & charges be getten out of the kynges Checker.

1.Mac.by.b. But when Jonathas and the people herde these wordes they gaue no credence vnto them / neither receaued them: for they remēbred the greate wyckednesse that he had done vnto Israel / and how sore he had vexed thē. Wherfore they agreed vnto Alexander / for he was a prince that had dealte frendly wyth them / and so they stode by him allwaye. Thē gathered kynge Alexander a greate hoost / & brought hys armye agaynst Demetrius.

Josephus.cap. b.lib.xiij. So the two kynges stroke battayll together / but Demetrius hoost fled / and Alexander folowed after and fell vpō them. A mighty sore felde was it, continuyng til the Sōne wente downe / and Demetrius was slayne the same daye.

¶ And Alexander sente embassitours vnto Ptolomy the kynge of Egypte wt these wordes / sayenge: For so moch as I am come agayne to my realme / and am set in the trone of my progenitours / and haue gotten ȳ dominyō / ouer comed Demetrius / conquered the lande / and stryken a felde wyth hym / so that we haue discomfyted both hym and hys hoost / and syt in the trone of hys kyngdome: Let vs now make frendshipe together, geue me thy daughter to wyfe: so shall I be thy sonne in lawe / and both geue the rewardes / and her greate dignyte. Ptolomy the kynge gaue answere / sayenge: Happy be the daye wherin thou art come agayne to the lande of thy progenytours / and sett in the trone of their kingdome. As now wyll I fulfyll thy worytynge: but mete me at Ptolomais / ȳ we maye se one another / and that I maye mary my daughter vnto the accordynge to thy desyre. So Ptolomy wēte out of Egipte wyth his daughter Cleopatra / & came vnto Ptolomais in ȳ C.lvij. yeare: where kynge Alexander met him / and he gaue Alexander hys daughter Cleopatra / & maryed them at Ptolomays wyth greate worshype / lyke as the maner of kynges is to be. Then wrote kynge Alexander vnto Jonathas / that he shulde come and mete him. So he wente honorably vnto Ptolomays / and there he met the two kynges / and gaue them greate presentes of golde and syluer / and foūde fauoure in their syght. And there came together agaynst Jo- ȳ nathas certayne wicked men & vngracyous personnes of Israell / makynge complayntes of hym / but the kinge regarded them not As for Jonathas the kinge commaunded to take of hys garmentes / and to clothe hym in purple: and so they dyd. Then the kynge appoynted hym to sytt by hym / and sayde vnto hys princes: Go wyth hym in to the middest of the cytye / and make a proclamacion / that no man complayne agaynst him of eny matter / and that no man trouble him for eny maner of cause.

So it happened that when hys accusers sawe the worshype whych was proclamed of him / & that he was clothed in purple: they fled euerychone. And the kynge made moch of hym / wrote hym amonge hys chefe frendes / made hym a duke / and partaker of his dompmpon. Thus Jonathas wente agayne to Jerusalem wyth peace and gladnesse. In the C.lxv. yeare came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius from Creta in to hys fathers lande: wherof when Alexander herde tell / he was wyght sory and returned vnto Antyoche. And Demetrius chose Appollonyus (which had the gouernaunce of Celosyria) to be hys captayne.

Josephus.cap. b.lib.xiij.antiq

1.Mac.ij.d.

So he gathered a greate hoost and came vnto Jamnia, and sende worde vnto Jonathas the hye prest, sayeng: Darest thou withstande vs thy self alone? As for me, I am but laughed to scorne and shamed, because thou prouedst thy strēgth agaynst vs in the mountaynes. Now therfore yf thou trustest in ȳ thyne awne strength / come downe to vs in to the playne felde / and there lett vs proue oure strength together: thou shalt fynde / ȳ I haue balcaunt men of warre with me: and shalt knowe whom I am / and the other that stande by me.

Which saye / that poure sotte is not able to stande before oure face for thy fathers haue bene twyse chased in to their awne lande. And now, how wylt thou be able to abyde so greate an hoost of horsmen and fotemen in the felde / where as is nether rocke / stone ner place to fle vnto?

When Jonathas herde the wordes of Appollonius / he was moued in hys mynde: wherfore he chose .x. thousande men and wēte out of Jerusalem / and Symon hys brother met hym for to helpe hym: And they pytched their tentes at Joppa, but ȳ cytye kepte him forth hym forth/ for Joppa was an holde of Appollonius. Then Jonathas layed syege to it/ and they that were in the cytie/ for very feare let hym in: and so Jonathas wanne Joppa. Appollonius hearynge of thys / toke thre thousand horsemen / with a greate Host of fote/ & wēt as though he woldgo to Azotus/ and came immediatly in to the playne felde: because he had so many horsmen/ & put hys trust in them. So Jonathas folowed vpon him to Azotus/ and there they stroke ỳ battayll. Now had Appollonius lefte a thousand horsmen behinde thē pryuely in ỳ tētes. And when Jonathas knew that soch wayte was layed behynde them/ they went rounde aboute the enemyes host/ and shot dartes at the people from the morynyng to ỳ euenyng. As for Jonathas people / they kepte their ordre as he had commaunded them / and the enemyes horses were euer labourynge.

¶ Then brought Symon forth his hoste / & set them agaynst the fote men. For the horsmen were wery allready. So he discomfyted them/ and they fled. And they that were scatred in the felde/ gat them to Azotus, and came in to the temple of Dagon their Idol/ that they myght there saue their lyues. But Jonathas sett fyre vpon Azotus and all the cities rounde aboute it/ & toke their goodes/ and brent vp the temple of Dagon wyth all them that were fled in to it. 1.Mach.xi.d.

Thus were slayne and brent well nye. fyfe thousande men. So Jonathas remoued the hoste from thence / and brought them to Ascalon: where the men of the cytie came forth/ and met hym with greate worshyppe. After this wente Jonathas and hys hoste agayne to Jerusalem / wyth greate substaunce of good. And when kyng Alexander herde these thynges / he thought to do Jonathas more worshype / and sent him a colar of golde/ as the vse is to be geuen vnto soch as are of the kynges nerre bloude. He gaue hym also the cytie of Accaron (with the landes belonging therto) in possession.

¶ The dyssencion betwirte Ptolomeus & Alexander his sonne in lawe. The deeth of Alexander. Demetrius raygneth after the deeth of Ptolomeus. Ayon is beseged of Jonathas. Demetrius seing that no mā resisted him/ sende his armye agayne. Tryphō moueth Antiochus agaynst Demetrius. Demetrius is deliuered by the succour of Jonathas. After his deliuerance he breaketh his couenaunt that he had made.

¶ The .xj. Chapter.

AND the kynge of Egypte gathered an hoste (lyke the sande that lyeth vpon the see shore) and many shyppes: & wēt a boute thorow disceate to optayne the kyngdome of Alexander/ and to ioyne it vnto his awne realme. ¶ Upon this he toke his iourneye in to Syria/ and was Iosep. Capit. xy. lib. xiij.

letten in to the cytyes / & men came forth to mete him: for kyng Alexander had cōmaunded them so to do/ because he was his father in lawe. Now when Ptolomy entred in to eny cytie/ he lefte men of warre to kepe it/ & this he dyd thorowe out all the cyties. And when he came to Azotus / they shewed hym the temple of Dagon and Azotus that was brent vp/ with the other thinges which were destroyed/ the dead bodyes cast abrode / & the graues that they had made by ỳ waye syde/ for soch as were slayne in the felde: And tolde the kynge that Jonathas had done all these thynges / to the intent they myght gett hym euell will. But the kyng sayde not a worde therto. And Jonathas met the kynge wyth great honoure at Joppa/ where they saluted one another/ & toke their rest. So when Jonathas had gone with the kyng/ vnto ỳ water that was called Eleutherus / he turned agayne to Jerusalem. Now Ptolomy had gotten the dominion of the cyties vnto Seleucia vpon the see coast / ymagynynge wicked councels agaynst Alexander/ & sent embassadours vnto Demetrius/ saying: Come/ let vs make a bonde betwyxte vs / so shall I geue the my daughter that Alexander hath/ and thou shalt raygne in thy fathers kyngdome. I repente that I gaue Alexander my daughter / for he goeth aboute to slay me. And thus he sclaundred Alexander/ because he wolde haue had his realme.

¶ Thus he toke his daughter from him/ gaue her vnto Demetrius/ and forsoke Alexāder/ so that his malyce was openly knowen. And Ptolomy cam to Antioche/ where he set two crownes vpō his awne head: ỳ crowne of Egypte and of Asia. In the meane season was kynge Alexander in Cilicia/ for they ỳ dwelt in those places / had rebelled agayn st hym. But when Alexander herde of thys, he came to warre agaynst him. So kyng Ptolomy brought forth his host & met him wyth a myghtye power / and chased hym awaye. Then fled Alexander in to Araby/ there to be defended, & kyng Ptolomys honoure increased. And Zabdiel the Arabian smote of Alexanders head/ & sent it vnto Ptolomy. But the thyrde daye after / dyed kynge Ptolomy hym selfe: and they whom he had sett in the stronge holdes/ were slayne of those ỳ were within the cytyes. And Demetrius raygned in the hundreth and seuen and fyrtye yeare. ¶

At the same tyme gathered Jonathas them that were in Jewry to laye sege vnto the castell which was at Jerusalem / and so they made many instrumentes of warre agaynst it. Then went there certayne vngodly persones (whych hated their owne people) vnto kyng Demetrius / and tolde hym/that Jonathas beleged the castel. So whē he herde it, he was angrie/ & Immediatly came vnto Ptolomais/ & wrote vnto Jonathas/ & he shulde not laye lege to & castel/ but come & speake with hym in all the haste. Neuertheles when Jonathas herde this he cōmaūded to belege it. He chose also certayne of the elders & prestes of Israell/ & put him self in the parell/ & toke with him golde/ siluer/ clothing & diuerse presentes: & wente to Ptolomais vnto the kinge/ & foūde him gracious.

And though certayne vngodly mē of hys awne people made cōplayntes vponhim/ yet the kynge intreated him / lyke as hys predecessours had done before: & promoted hym in the sight of all his frendes/ confirmed him in the hye prestlhode with all the worshipe & he had afore/ & made him his chefe frende. Jonathas also desyred the kynge that he wolde make Jewry fre/ with the thre head cyties of Samaria & the landes pertaynynge therto: vpon this dyd Jonathas promise him thre C. talentes. Where vnto the kynge consented/ & gaue Jonathas writinge of the same / conteynynge these wordes. Kynge Demetrius sendeth gretinge vnto his brother Jonathas & to the people of the Jewes. We sende you here a copy of the letter which we dyd write vnto oure elder Lasthenus/ concerning you that ye shulde knowe it.

Kynge Demetrius sendeth gretinge vnto Lasthenus his elder. For the faythfulnes & oure frendes the people of the Jewes kepe vnto vs / & for the louynge kyndnesse which they beare toward vs: we are determed to do them good. Wherfore we ordene all the coastes of Jeurye wyth. iii. cytyes/ Lyda and Ramatha (which are added vnto Jewry frō Samaria) & all the landes pertaninge there vnto/ to be frely separated for soch as do sacrifice in Jerusalem: both concernynge the paymētes which the kyng toke yearly afore tyme/ & the frutes also of the earth & trees. As for other tithes & tributes that belonged vnto vs/ we discharge them therof from this tyme forth. In lyke maner we graunte vnto them al the customes of salt & crowne taxes which were brought vnto vs. And this fredome shall they haue firme & stedfast/ from this tyme forth for euermore. Therfore se & ye make a copy of these our letters/ & deliuer it vnto Jonathas: & it maye be kepte vpon & holy mount in a conuenient place.

¶ After thys/ when Demetrius the kynge sawe that his lande was in rest/ & that no resistaunce was made hym: he sent awaye all his hoost euery man to hys awne place/ except an armye of straungers / whom he brought from the Iles of the Heathen/ wher- 1. Mach. xi. e. fore al his fathers hoost had euel wil at him.

Now was there one Tryphon (that had bene of Alexanders parte afore) which when he sawe that all the hoost murmured agaynst Demetrius: he wente to Emalcuel the Arabian (that brought vp Antyochus the sonne of Alexander) & laye sore vpon him/ to deliuer him this yōg Antiochus: that he might raygne in his fathers steade. He tolde hym also what greate euell Demetrius had done/ and how his men of warre loued him not: & so remayned there a longe season.

And Jonathas sent vnto kinge Demetrius/ to dryue them out which were in the castel at Jerusalem & in the other refuges for they dyd Israell greate harme. So Demetrius sent worde vnto Jonathas/ sayenge: I wil not only do these thinges for the and thy people/ but at tyme conuenīēt I will do both the & thy people greate worshype. But now thou shalt do me a pleasure/ yf thou wilt send me men to helpe me: for all myne armye is gone from me. So Jonathas sent hym .iij. C. stronge men vnto Antyoche/ and they came vnto the kinge/ wherfore the kynge was very glad at their cōmynge. But they that were of the citie (euen an. CXX. thousande men) gathered them together/ & wolde haue slayne the kynge/ which fled in to hys courte: and the citesyns kepte the stretes of the citie/ and beganne to fyght.

Then the kynge called for the Jewes helpe/ which came vnto hym al together/ & wēte abrode thorow the cytye/ & slewe the same daye an C. M. men: set fyre vpō the citie/ gat many spoyles in that daye / & deliuered the kinge. So when the citesyns sawe that the Jewes had gotten their wil of the cytye/ and they them selues disapoynted of their purpose they made their supplicacion vnto the kinge sayenge/ Graunte vs peace/ and lett the Jewes cease from troublinge vs and the cytie/ & vpon thys they cast awaye their weapens. Thus they made peace / and the Jewes gatt greate worshipe in the syght of the kynge / & in the sight of all that were in hys realme / & were spoken of thorow out the kyngdome: and so they came agayne to Jerusalem with greate goodes.

So the kinge Demetrius sat in the trone of his kingdome/ and had peace in his lande. Neuertheles he dyssembled in all that euer he spake / & with drewe him self from Jonathas/ nether rewarded him accordyng to the benefytes which he had done for hym/ but troubled him very sore. After this came Tryphon agayne with yonge Antiochus/ which raygned & was crowned kynge. Then there gathered vnto him al the men of warre/ whō Demetrius had put awaye: these fought agaynst Demetrius, which fled & turned hys backe. So Tryphon toke the Elephantes / & wanne Antioche. And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Jonathas, sayenge: I confyrme the in thy prestode / & make the ruler of .iiij. countrees / ỳ thou mayest be a frende of ỳ kinges.

Upon this he sent him golden vessels to be serued in / & gaue him leue to drinke in golde to be clothed in purple / and to were a collar of golde / He made hys brother Symon also captayne / from the coostes of Tyrus vnto ỳ borders of Egypte. Then Jonathas toke hys iourney / & wente thorow the cityes beyonde the water (of Jordane) & all the men of warre of Syrya gathered them vnto hym for to helpe hym. So he came vnto Ascalon / and they of the cytye receaued hym honorably: & from thence wente he vnto Gaza / but they wolde not lett him in: wherfore he layed syege vnto it burnynge vp and spoylynge the places that were aboute the cytie.

And the cytezins of Gaza submytted them selues vnto Jonathas, wyych made peace wt thē / but toke of their sonnes to pleage / sent them to Jerusalem / and wente thorow the countre vnto Damascus. Now when Jonathas herde that Demetrius pyrnces were come in to Cades (which is in Galilee) with a great hoost / purposing to put Demetrius out from medlynge in the realme: he came agaynst them / and lefte Symon his brother in the lande: wyych came to Bethsura / and layed syege to it a longe season, and discomfited thē. So they desyred to haue peace with him / wyych he graunted them, & afterwarde put thē out frō thence / toke ỳ cite / & set men to kepe it. And Jonathas wt his hoost came to ỳ water of Genesar / & bytymes in ỳ mornyng gat thē to the playne felde of Azor.

And beholde / the hoostes of the Heathen met thē in the felde / & layed watch for thē in the mountaynes: so ỳ when Jonathas came agaynst thē / the other (which were layed to watch) rose out of their places / & fought / & they that were of Jonathas syde / fled euery man: & there was not one of thē left / excepte Mathathias the sonne of Absalomus / and Judas the sonne of Calphi the captayne of the hoost. Then Jonathas rente his clothes / layed earth vpō his head / made hys prayer / & turned agayne to thē in ỳ felde: where they fought together, and he put them to flyght. Now when his awne men ỳ were fled / saw this: they turned agayne vnto hym / & helped him to folowe vpon all their enemyes vnto their tentes at Cades. So there were slayne of the Heathen the same daye .iij. M. men / & Jonathas turned agayne to Jerusalem.

Jonathas sendeth Embassitoures to Rome & to the people of Sparta to renue their couenaunt of frendshyp. Jonathas putteth to flyght the Armies of Demetrius. Tryphon taketh Jonathas by deceate.

The .xii. Chapter.

Jonathas seinge that ỳ tyme was mete for him / chose certayne men & sent them vnto Rome for to stablysh & to renue the frendshippe with them. He sent lettres also vnto Sparta / & to other places in lyke maner. So they wente vnto Rome, & entred into the counsell / & sayde: Jonathas the hye prest & the people of the Jewes sent vs vnto you / for to renue the olde frendshyp & bonde of loue. Upō this the Romaynes gaue them fre passyportes / ỳ men shulde lede them home into the lande of Juda peaceably. And this is the copy of the letters ỳ Jonathas wrote vnto ỳ Spartiās:

Jonathas the hye prest with ỳ elders, prestes / & the other people of the Jewes / sende gretinge vnto the Spartyās their brethren. There were lettres sente longe agoo vnto Onias the hye prest, frō Arius, which than raigned amōge you: ỳ ye are oure brethren / as the wrytinge made therupon / specifieth. And Onias entreated the embassitoure that was sent, honorably, & receaued the letters: wherein there was mencyō made of ỳ bonde of loue & frendshyp. But as for vs / we nede no such wrytinges: for why we haue ỳ holy bookes of scripture in oure handes to our cōforte. Neuertheles we had rather sende vnto you / for the renuyng of the brotherhode and frendshyppe: lest we shulde be straunge vnto you, for it is longe / sens the tyme ỳ ye sente wordes vnto vs. Wherfore in ỳ sacrifices ỳ we offre & other ceremonies vpō the hye solempne dayes and other we alwayt remembre you without ceassyng, like as reason is / & as it becōmeth vs to thynche vpō our brethren) yee and are ryght glad of youre prosperous honoure.

And though we haue had greate troubles and warres / so that the kynges aboute vs haue foughten agaynst vs: yet wolde we not be greuous vnto you ner to other of our louers and frendes in these warres. For we haue had helpe from heauen / so that we are delyuered, & oure enemyes subdued. Wherfore we chose Numenius the sonne of Antiochus and Antipater the sonne of Jason, and sent them vnto the Romaynes, for to renue the olde bonde of frendshyp and loue wyth them. We commaunded them also to come vnto you to salute you / and to delyuer you oure lettres, concernyng the renouacyon of oure brotherhode. And now ye shall do right well, to geue vs an answere there vnto.

And this is the copy of the wrytynge / & wyych Arius the kynge of Sparta sent vnto Onias: Arius kyng of ỳ Sparcians sendeth gretynge vnto Onias the hye prest. It is founde in wrytynge / that the Sparciāns and Jewes are brethre / and come out of the generacyō of Abrahā. And now for so moch as this is come to oure knowledg / ye shal do well / to write vnto vs of youre prosperitye. As for vs, we haue wrytte oure mynde vnto you: Oure catell and goodes are yours / and yours ours. These thynges haue we commaunded to be shewed vnto you.

When Jonathas herde / that Demetrius princes were come forth to fyght agaynst hym / with a greater hoost then afore / he mēt from Jerusalem / & met them in the lande of Hemath / for he gaue thē not space to come into his awne coūtre. And he sent spyes vnto their tentes / whych came agayne & tolde hym that they were appoynted to come vpō him in the nyght season. Wherfore when the sunne was gone downe / Jonathas cōmaunded his men to watch all the nyght / & to be ready wt weapens for to fyght: & set watches rounde about the hoost. But when the aduersaries herde that Jonathas was ready with his men to the battayll / they feared / & were afrayed in their hertes / and kyndled fyres in their tentes / brake vp / and gat thē away. Neuertheles Jonathas and his company knew it not tyll the mornyng / for they sawe the fyres burnynge.

Then Jonathas folowed vpon them / but he myght not ouertake them / for they were gone ouer the water Eleutherus. So Jonathas departed vnto the Arabiās (which were called Zabadei) slew them / & toke their goodes. He proceded further also / and came vnto Damascus / & went thorow all that coūtre. But Simō his brother toke his iourney and came to Ascalon & to the nexte stronge holdes: departynge vnto Joppa / and wanne it. For he herde that they wold lande of Demetrius partye: wherfore he sent men of warre in the cyte / to kepe it. After this came Jonathas home agayne / & called the elders of the people together: and deuyled with thē for to buylde vp the stronge holdes in Jewry / and the walles of Jerusalem / to set vp an hye wall betwixt the castell and the cite / for to separate it from the cite / that it myght be alone / and that men shulde nether bye nor sell in it.

Vpon this they came together for to buylde vp the cite: & for moch as the wall vpon ẏ brooke of ẏ west syd (called Caphethetah) was fallen downe, they repayred it. And Symon set vp Iodiadah in Sephelah / & made it stōg setting portes & lockes vpon it. Now when Tryphon purposed to raygne in Asya / to be crowned / & to slaye the kynge Antiochus: he was afrayed ẏ Jonathas wolde not suffre him / but fight against him. Wherfore he wēte about to take Jonathas / & to kill him.

So he departed / & came vnto Bethsan. Then wente Jonathas forth agaynst him to the battayll with fourtye thousande chosen men / & came vnto Bethsan also. But when Tryphon sawe that Jonathas came wyth so greate an Hoste to destroye hym / he was afrayed: and therfore he receaued him honorably cōmended him vnto all his frendes / & gaue hym rewardes: / and commaunded hys men of warre to be as obedient vnto him as to hym selfe.

And sayde vnto Jonathas: why hast thou caused thys people to take soch trauayle / seyng there is no warre betwyxte vs? Therfore lende them home agayne / & chose certayne men to wayte vpō the / & come thou vnto me to Ptolomais: for I wyll geue it ẏ / with ẏ other stroge holdes / men of warre & their officers: As for me / I must departe / thys is only the cause of my cōmyng. Jonathas beleued him / and dyd as he sayde / puttynge awaye his host / which wente in to the land of Juda. He kepte but .iii. M. by him / wherof he sent .ij. M. in to Galilee / and one .M. wente with him selfe.

Now as soone as Jonathas entred in to Ptolomais / the cytesyns sparred the gates of the cytie / and toke him / and slewe all thē with the swerde, & came in with him. Then sent Tryphon an Host of fote men and horsemen in to Galilee and in to the great playne felde / to destroye all Jonathas cōpany. But when they knew that Jonathas was takē / & all they slayne that wayted vpon him: they toke councell together / & came forth ready to ẏ battayll. So when they which folowed vpon thē / sawe that it was a matter of lyfe / they turned backe agayne. As for the other / they wente in to the lande of Juda peaceably / and bewayled Jonathas / & them that were with hym ryght sore. And Israel made great lamentacyon. Then all the heathen ẏ were rounde aboute them / sought to destroye thē For they sayde: now haue they no captayne / nor eny man to helpe them. Therfore lett vs ouercome them, and rote out their name frō amonge men.

¶ After Jonathas was taken Symon is chosen captayne / of whom Tryphon takyng his childrē & money for the redempcyon of Jonathas / kylleth hym and his chyldren. The graue of Jonathas. Tryphon kylleth Antiochus / & possesseth the realme. Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. Simon winneth Gaza. He possesseth the tower of Sion. He maketh his sonne John Captayne.

¶ The xiij. Chapter.

Now whē Symō herde that Tryphon gathered a greate Hoste / to come in to the lande of Juda / and to destroye it: & sawe ẏ the people was in greate fearfulnesse & care: He came vp to by to Jerusalem/and gathered ꝑ people together/and gaue them exortacyon/ sayinge:

Ye knowe what greate battayis I and my brethren & my fathers house haue strikē for the lawe & the Sanctuary/ & what maner 1.Macha.13.b of troubles we haue sene: thorowe occasyon pij.b wherof/ all my brethrē are slayne for Israels sake/and I am left alone. And now lett not me spare myne awne ipse in eny maner of trouble/for I am no better then my brethrē:
but wyll auenge my people & the Sanctuary/oure chyldren and oure wyues:for all the Heathen are gathered together / to destroye vs of very malyce.

At these wordes the hertes of the people were kyndled together / so that they cryed w a loude voyce/ sayinge: Thou shalt be oure captayne in steade of Judas and Jonathas thy brethrē, ordre thou oure battell/& whatsoeuer thou commaundest vs we shall do it.
So he gathered all ꝑ men of warre making haste to kynish all the walles of Jerusalem/which he made strōge rounde aboute. Then B sent he Jonathas the sonne of Absalomus with a fresh hoste vnto Joppa/ which dryue thē out ꝑ were in the castell/ and remayned there hym selfe. Tryphon also remoued from Ptolomais with a greate armye/to come in to the lande of Juda / and Jonathas w hym in warde. And Symon pytched his tentes at Iodus before the playne felde.

But when Tryphon knewe that Symon stode vp in steade of hys brother Jonathas/& that he wolde warre agaynst hym: he sent messangers vnto him/saying: Where as we haue kepte Jonathas thy brother / it is for money that he is awynge in the kynges accompte/concernynge the busynesse ꝑ he had in hande. Wherfore sende now an. C. talētes of syluer and hys two sonnes for suertye/that when he is letten forth he shall not forsake vs: and we shall sende him agayne. Ne-uertheles Symon knewe / that he dyssem-bled in his wordes: yet commaunded he the money & chyldren to be delyuered vnto hym:
lest he shuld be the greater enemye agaynst the people of Israel/& saye: because he sent him not the money and the chyldren/therfore is Jonathas dead.

C So Symon sent him the chyldrē and an hundreth talētes/but he dissembled/& wolde not let Jonathas go. Afterwarde came Tryphon in to the lande/to destroye it/and went rounde aboute by the waye / that ledeth vnto Ador. But where soeuer they wente/thy-ther wente Symon and his hoste also Now they that were in the castell / sent messan-gers vnto Tryphon ꝑ he shulde make haste to come by the wyldernesse/ and to sende thē vytailes: And Tryphon made ready all hys horsmen to come that same nyght. Neuer the lesse it was a very greate snowe / so that he came not in Galaadithim And when he dre-we nye Baschama / he slewe Jonathas and his sonnes there/and then turned for to goo home in to his awne lande.

Then sent Symon for to fet his brothers dead coarse/ and buried it in Modin his fathers cytie. So all Israel bewayled hym w greate lamentacyon / and mourned for hym very longe. And Symon made vpon the se-pulcre of his father and hys brethrē a buyldynge hye to loke vnto of fre stone behynde & before: and set vp strāge pylers/one agaynst another (for his father / hys mother & foure brethren) & set greate pilers rounde aboute/with armes vpon them for a perpetuall memory/and carued shippes beside the armes:
that they might be sene of men sayinge in the see. This sepulcre which he made at Mo-din/standeth yet vnto this daye.

Nowas Tryphon went forth to waithe w ꝑ yonge kyng Antiochus, he slew him tray- Iosephus capt.
terously, and raigned in his steade/crowned F.xbi.fry.
him self kyng of Asia/and dyd moch euell in the lande. Symon also buylte vp the castels in Jewry/makynge them stronge wyth hye towres/greate walles/portes and lockes/& layed vp vytailes in the stronge holdes. And Symon chose certayne men / and sent them to kynge Demetrius: to desyre him / that he wolde discharge the land from all bondage/for Tryphon had spoyled it very sore. Where vpon Demetrius the kynge answered hym/and wrote vnto him after this maner.

Demetrius the kynge sendeth greetynge vnto Symon the hye preest his frende/ wyth the elders & people of the Jewes. The golde crowne and precious stone that ye sent vnto vs, haue we receaued: and are ready to make a stedfast peace with you/yee & to wryte vn to oure officers/for to release you / concernynge the thynges wherin we made you fre:
& the appoyntment that we make with you/shalbe fyrme and stable. The stronge holdes which ye haue buylded/ shal be youre awne.
As for eny ouer syght or fawte committed vnto this daye/we forgeue it/ & the crowne tare ꝑ ye ought vs also. And where as was eny other tribute in Jerusalē/it shal now be no tribute: and loke who are mete amonge you to be in oure courte/let them be wrytte vp/that there maye be peace betwyxte vs.

Thus the yock of the Heathen was taken C from Israell / in the hundreth and seuentye yeare. And the people of the Jewes beganne to wryte in their lettres & actes on this maner. In ꝑ fyrst yeare of Symon ꝑ hye preest/ 1.Mach.r i.
and prynce of the Jewes.

In those dayes went Symō vnto Gaza/and

and beseged it rounde aboute/ where he lefft vp ordinaunce of warre. And wanne a towre whych he toke. So they that gatt in to the towre leapte in the cytye / whych was in a greate feare: In so moch that the people of the cytie rente their clothes, and clymmed vp vpon the walles with their wyues & chyldre beseechynge Symon to be at one wyth thē: sayenge.

Do te warde vs not after oure wickednes/ but be gracious vnto vs/ and we shall do ¶ ye ferupce. Then Symon for very pyte/ wolde fight nomore agaynst them/ but put thē out of the cytie/ and caused the houses (wherin ye Images were) to be clensed: and so entred the cytye wyth Psalmes of prayse / geuynge thākes vnto the Lorde. So whē he had cast all abhominacyons out of the cytie / he sett soch men in it as kepte the law of God / and made the cytie stronge / and buylded a dwellynge place for hym selfe.

Now when they in the castell at Jerusalem were kepte so streatly/ that they coulde not come forth ner in to ye countre/ a myght neither bye ner sell: they were very hungrye/ and many of them stamyshed to death: In so moch that they besought Symō to be at one with them / whych he graunted them. So he put them out from thence / and clensed the castell from fylthnesse. And vpon the. xxiij. daye of the seconde moneth in the. C. lxxj. yeare they entred in to it wyth thankesgeuyng and braunches of palme trees, with harpes / crowdes / cymbals / and lutes / syngynge psalmes / and songes of prayse vnto God for that the great enemy of Israel was ouercome.

And Symon ordened that the same daye shuld be kepte euery yeare in gladnesse/ and made stroge the hyll of the temple that was beside the castell / where he dwelt hym selfe with his cōpany. Symon also perceauynge that Jhon his sonne was a myghtie man of armes, made him captayne of all the hostes/ and caused him to dwell at Gaza.

¶ Demetrius is ouercome of Arsaces. Symon being captayne there is greate quyetnes in Israel. The couenaunt of frendshyp with the Romanes & with the people of Sparta is renued.

¶ The.xiiij. Chapter.

In the. C. lxxij. yeare gathered kyng Demetrius his host/ and departed vnto Media/ to gett him helpe for to fyght agaynst Tryphon. Now when Arsaces the kyng of Perlia & Media herde, ye Demetrius was entred within his borders: he sent one of his princes to take hym alyue / & to bringe hym vnto hym. So he wente and slewe Demetrius hoste/ toke hym selfe/ brought hym to Arsaces/ which kepte hym inwarde. And all the lande of Juda was in rest/ so longe as Symon lued for he sought the wealth of hys people/ therfore were they glad to haue him for their ruler/ & to do him worshype allwaye.

Symon wāne the citie of Joppa also for an hauen towne / & made it an intraunce in to the Jles of ye see. He enlarged the borders of his people/ & conquered them more lande: He gathered vp many of their people that were prysoners: he had the dompnion of Gaza/ Bethsura and the castell/ whych he clensed from fylthynes / and there was no man that resisted hym: So that euery man tylled hys grounde in peace/ the lande of Juda and the trees gaue their frute and encrease. The B elders satt all in iudgement/ & toke their dewyce for the wealth of the lande: the yonge men put on worshype and harnesse vpon thē. He prouyded bytailes for the cytyes / and made goodly stronge holdes of them: so that the fame of hys worshype was spoken of vnto the ende of the worlde. For he made peace thorow out the lande / and Israell was full of myrth and ioye. Leui. xxvi. c. 18. Mic. iiij. b

Euery mā sat vnder his vyne & fyge trees and there was no man to fraye thē awaye. There was none in ye lande to fyght agaynst them, for then ye kynges were ouercome. He helped those that were in aduersyte amonge his people, he was diligēt to set ye lawe kepte: as for soch as were vngodly and wycked he toke thē awaye. He set vp the Sanctuary/ & encreased the holy vessels of the temple.

When the Romaynes and Spartians had gotten worde, that Jonathas was dede/ they were tyght sory. But when they herde that Symō his brother was made hye prest in his stede, and how he had wonne ye lande agayne with the cytyes in it: they wrote vnto hym in tables of latyn / to renue the frendshype/ & bonde of loue/ which they had made afore with Judas & Jonathas his brethren. Which wrytynges were red before the congregacyon at Jerusalem. I. Ma. viij. c. and. xij. a.

And thys is the copy of the lettres / that C the Spartians sent: The Senatous and citesyns of Sparta sende greting vnto Symō ye great prest wt the elders/ prestes/ & ye other people of the Jewes their brethren: When youre embassytours ye were sent vnto oure people/ certifyed vs of youre worshippe/ honoure & prosperous wealth: we were glad of their cōmyng/ & haue wrytte the earande which they spake before ye counceil of ye people: namely/ that Numenius ye sonne of Antiochus/ And Antipater ye sonne of Jason the Jewes embassitours are come vnto vs/ for to renue ye olde frendshipe with vs. Vpon this ye people consented, that ye men shulde be honorably noꝛably intreated/ and that the copy of their catande ſhulde be wꝛyttē in the ſpecyall bokes of the people/ foꝛ a perpetuall memoꝛy vnto the Sparcians: yee and that we ſhulde ſende a copy of the ſame vnto Symō ꝧ great Pꝛeſte.

D After this dyd Symon ſende Numenius vnto Rome/ with a golden ſhylde of a thouſaund pounde weight to cōfirme the frendſhippe with them: which when the Romaynes vnderſtode / they ſayde: what thanckes ſhall we recompence agayne vnto Symon & his chyldzē? Foꝛ he hath ſtabliſhed his bꝛethꝛen/ & ouercome the enemyes of Iſraell.
Wherfoꝛe they grauuted him to be fꝛe. And all this wꝛote the Iewes in tables of latyn/and naled it vnto the pyers vpō the mounte Sion. The copy of the wꝛytynge is this:

The .xviij. daye of the moneth Elul in ꝧ Clxxij. yeare in the thirde yeare of Symon the hye pꝛeſt/ in the greate congregacyon of the pꝛeſtes/ rulers of the people/ and elders of ꝧ coūtre at Iſarame / were theſe wozdes openly declared:

C Foꝛ ſo moch as there was moch warre in oure land/ therfoꝛe Symon ꝧ ſonne of Ma tathiah (come of the chyldzen of Iareb) and his bꝛethꝛen/ put them ſelues in parell/ and reſyſted the enemyes of their people: ꝧ their Sanchuary and lawe might be mantey̆ned/and dyd their people greate woꝛſhipe. Jona-nathas in lyke maner/ after that he had go-uerned his people and bene their hye pꝛeſte:
dyed/ and lyeth buried beſyde his elders.

After ꝧ wolde their enemyes haue trodde their holy thinges vnder fote/ deſtroyed their lande/ and vtterly waſted their Sanctuary. Then Symon withſtode them/ & fought foꝛ his people/ ſpent moch of his awne money/ weapened the baleaunt men of his people/ gaue thē wages/ made ſtronge ꝧ cyties of Juda/ with Bethſurah that lyeth vpon ꝧ boꝛders of Jewry (where the oꝛdynaunce of their enemyes laye ſometyme) and ſet Iewes there foꝛ to kepe it.

F He made faſt Joppa alſo, which lyeth vpō the ſee / and Gaza that boꝛdꝛeth vpon Azo-tus (where the enemyes dwelt afoꝛe) & there he ſett Iewes to kepe it: & whatſoeuer was mete foꝛ the ſubduynge of the aduerſaryes/that layed he therin. Now when the people ſawe the noble actes of Symon / and what woꝛſhype he purpoſed to do foꝛ thē/ his godly behauoure / and faythfulneſſe whych he kepte vnto them / and how he ſought by all wayes the wealth of his people/ becauſe he dyd all thys / therfoꝛe they choſe hym to be their pꝛynce and hye pꝛeſt. And in his tyme they pꝛoſpered well by him / ſo that the Heathen were takē out of their land: & they alſo which were in the cytie of Dauid at Jeruſa lem in the caſtel (where they wēt out & defy-led all thynges that were aboute the Sanctuary / and dyd greate harme vnto clenynes) and Symon put mē of the Iewes in it/foꝛ the defence of the lande and the cytie / & ſet vp the walles of Jeruſalem.

And kynge Demetrius confirmed him in G his hye pꝛeſthode/ made him his frende / and dyd him greate woꝛſhipe. Foꝛ he herde that the Romayns called the Iewes their frendſ/louers and bꝛethꝛen: how honoꝛably they re ceaued Simons embaſſytours: how the Ie-wes and pꝛeſtes conſented that he ſhulde be their pꝛynce and hye pꝛeſt perpetually (tyll God rayſed vp the true pꝛophet) and that he ſhuld be their captayne/ to care foꝛ ꝧ Sanctuary/ and to ſett officers vpon the woꝛckes therof, ouer the land/ ouer the weapōs/ ouer the houſes of defence/ to make pꝛouiſion foꝛ the holy thynges/ and to be obeyed of euery man / & all the wꝛytynges of the lande to be made in his name: that he ſhulde be clothed in purple and golde/ & that it ſhulde be lau-full foꝛ none of ꝧ people noꝛ pꝛeſtes to bꝛea-ke eny of theſe thynges / to wythſtande hys wozdes/ ner to call eny congregacyon in the lande without him: ꝧ he ſhulde be clothed in purple/ & weare a colar of gold: And yf there were eny which diſobeyed oꝛ bꝛake this oꝛdi naunce/ that he ſhulde be puniſhed.

So all the people cōſented to alowe Simon/ and to do accoꝛdynge to theſe wozdes.
Symon alſo him ſelfe toke it vpon hym / & was contente to be ꝧ hye pꝛeſt, the captayne and pꝛynce of the Iewes and pꝛeſtes/ and to gouerne them all. And they commaunded to make this wꝛytynge in tables of latyn/ and faſten it vnto the compaſſe of the Sanctuary in an open place: and to laye vp a copy of the ſame in the treaſury/ that Symon & hys poſterite might haue it.

¶ Antiochus maketh a couenaunt of frendſhip with Symon/ and Triphon is perſequuted. The Romay-nes wꝛyte lettres vnto kynges and nacyons in the de fence of the Iewes. Antiochus refuſynge the helpe that Symon ſent him/ breaketh his couenaunt.

¶ The .xv. Chapter.

IN the .clxxij. yeare/ kyng Antiochus ꝧ ſonne of Demetrius ſente lettres from A the Iles of the ſee/ vnto Symon the hye pꝛeſt and pꝛynce of ꝧ Ie-wes/ and to all the people/ conteynyng theſe wozdes: Antiochus the kynge ſendeth gretynge vnto Symon the hye pꝛeſte and to the people of ꝧ Iewes. Foꝛ ſo moch as certayne wycked men haue gotten the kyngdome of oure pꝛogenytours / I am purpoſed to chalenge the realme agayne/ and to reſtoꝛe it to the olde eſtate.

Wher-

Wherfore I haue gathered a greate hoste & made shyppes of warre: that I maye goo thorowe the countre/ and be auenged of thē which haue destroyed oure lande / and wasted many cities in my realme. And therfore now I make the free also from all the trybutes/wherof all kinges my progenitours haue discharged the/ and from other customes (wher from they haue released the) whatsoeuer they be: Yee I geue the leaue to smyte money of thyne awne within thy lande. As for Jerusalem/ I will that it be holy and free: and all the weapens and houses of defence which thou hast buylded & kepest in thyne handes/ shall be thyne. Where as eny thyng is or shall be awynge vnto the kynge. I forgeue it the/ frō this tyme forth for euermore And when we haue optayned our kyngdom/ we shall do the / thy people and the temple greate worshyppe: so that youre honoure shall be knowen thorow out the whole worlde.

In the. clxxiij. yeare wente Antiochus in to his fathers lande/ & al the mē of warre came together vnto him / so that fewe were left with Triphon. So the kyng Antiochus folowed vpon him/ but he fled vnto Doza/ whych lyeth by the see syde: for he sawe that there was myschefe commynge vnto hym/ & that his host had forsaken him. Then cam Antiochus vnto Doza with an hundreth and twentye thousande men of armes vpō foote/ & eyght thousande horsmen. So he cōpased the cytie rounde aboute/ & the shyppes came by the see. Thus they vexed the cytie by land and by water / in so moch that they suffred no man to go in nor out.

In the meane season came Numenius (& they that had bene with him) from the cytye of Rome / hauynge lettres written vnto the kynges & prouyncies/ wherin were conteyned these wordes: Lucius the Mayre of Rome sendeth gretyng vnto Ptolomy the kyng. The embassitours of the Jewes oure frendes beynge sent from Symon the hye preest and from & people of the Jewes / came vnto vs/ for to renue the olde frendshippe/ and bonde of loue/ & brought a shylde of golde weyeng a thousand pounde / which we were cōtente to receaue of them. Wherfore we thought it good to wryte vnto the kynges and prouincies/ to do them no harme/ nor to take parte agaynst them/ their cyties ner countrees nether to mayntene their enemies agaynst thē. If there be eny wycked personnes therfore fled from their countre vnto you/ delyuer thē vnto Symon the hye preest/ that he maye punysh them accordynge to their awne lawe.

The same wordes wrote the Romaynes also vnto Demetrius the kyng/ to Attalus/ Iraba/ Arsaces & to all regions: as Samsanes, to thē of Sparta/ Delo/ Mindo/ Sydon/ Caria/ Samos Pamphylia/ Lycia/ Halicarnassum/ & to the Rhodes / to Phaselis/ Coo/ Side/ Arado/ Gortina/ Gnydum / to Cypres & to Cyren. And of euery lettre they sent a copy to Symon the hye preest & to the people of the Jewes. So Antiochus ye kyng brought his host vnto Doza ye secōde tyme/ to take it: where he made diuerse ordinaunce of warre/ & kepte Tryphon in / ye he shuld not come forth. Then sent Symon Antiochus two thousande chosen mē to helpe hym with gold/ syluer and other plenteous geer: Neuertheles he wolde not receaue them/ but brake all ye couenaūt which he made vō Symō afore & withdrewe him self frō him.

Ye sent Athenobius also a frende of hys vnto Symon/ for to reason with him sayīg: Ye withholde fro me Joppa & Gaza (with the castell that is at Jerusalē) which are cyties of my realme / whose borders ye haue destroyed/ & done greate euell in the land / hauyng the dominacion in many other places of my kyngdome. Wherfore deliuer now ye cc cyties which ye haue takē with the tributes of the places ye ye haue rule vpō without ye borders of Jewry: Or els geue me fyue hundreth talentes of syluer/ yee & for the harme ye haue done in the cyties & for the tributes of the same/ other fyue hundreth talētes. If no / we shall come & fyght agaynst you.

So Athenobius the kynges frende came to Jerusalem/ & when he sawe ye greate worshipe & honoure of Symon in golde/ syluer and so great plenty of ornamentes: he marueled/ and tolde Symon as the kyng commaunded him. Then answered Symon and sayd vnto him: As for vs, we haue nether taken other mens land/ ner withholdē thē / but only oure fathers heretage/ which oure enemyes had vnrightuously in possesyon a certayne tyme. This heretage of oure fathers haue we chalenged in processe of tyme. And where as thou cōplaynest concernyng Joppa and Gaza, they dyd greate harme to oure people and in oure lande / yet wyll we geue an. C. talentes for them.

Neuertheles Athenobius answered hym not one worde/ but turned agayne wrothfully vnto ye kyng/ & tolde him all these wordes/ and the greate dignyte of Symon wyth all that he had sene / and the kynge was very angrie. In the meane tyme fled Tryphon by shyppe vnto Orthosaida. Then the kynge made Cendebeus captaine of the see coost/ & gaue him an host of fote men & horsmen/ cōmaundinge him to remoue the host towarde Jewry/ & to buylde vp the cytye of Cedron/ to make vp the portes/ & to warre agaynst ye people of the Jewes. As for the kynge hym selfe/selfe/he folowed vpon Tryphon. So Cendebeus came vnto Jamnia/& beganne to vexe the people/to treade downe Jewry/to take the people prysoners/to slaye thē & to buyld vp Cedron: where he sett horsmen and other men of warre/that they myght come forth & go thorow the stretes of Jewry/ lyke as the kynge had commaunded him.

¶ Cendebeus the captayne of Antiochus hoste is put to flyght of the sonnes of Symon. Ptolomeus ſ sonne of Abobus killeth Symons his wyfe & sonnes at a bāket: John killeth them that lye in wayte for his life.

¶ The .xvj. Chapter.

THen came Jhon vp from Gaza/& tolde Symō his father, what Cendebeus had done amōge their people. Upon this called Symon two of his eldest sonnes/Judas & Jhon/& sayde vnto them: I and my brethren & my fathers house/ haue euer from oure youth vp vnto this daye/ foughten agaynst the enemyes of Israel/& God gaue vs good fortune to delyuer Israel oft tymes. And now for so moch as I am olde/be ye in steade of me & my brother/to go forth and fyght for oure people/& ꝑ helpe of God be with you. So he chose .xx. M. fyghtynge men of the countre/ with horsmen also/ which went forth agaynst Cendebeus and rested at Modin.

In the morninge they arose/and went into the playne felde: and beholde/ a myghtye greate host came agaynst them/ both of fote men and horsmen. Now was there a water broke betwyxte them/and Jhon remoued ꝑ host towarde them. And when he sawe that the people was afrayed to goo ouer the waterbroke/he wente ouer fyrst him selfe: and the men seynge this/folowed him.

Then Jhon set his horsmen & fote men in ordre/the one by the other/for their enemies horsmen were very many. But when they blewe vp ꝑ prestes trompettes/Cendebeus fled wyth hys Hoste/ wherof many were slayne/ and the remnaunt gat them to their stronge holde. Judas also Jhons brother was wounded at the same tyme. And Jhon folowed styll vpon the enemyes/ tyll he came to Cedron which he buylded. The enemyes fled also vnto the towres that were in the feldes of Azotus/and those dyd Jhon burne vp. Thus there were slayne .ij. M. men of them/and Jhon turned agayne paceably into Jewry.

And in the felde of Jericho was Ptolomy the sonne of Abobus made captayne: which because he had aboundaunce of syluer and golde (for he had maryed ꝑ daughter of Symon ꝑ hye prest) waxed proude in his mynde/ and thought to conquere the lande/ ymagenyng falsched agaynst Symon & his sonnes/ to destroye them. Now as Symon was goyng aboute thorow the cyties/ that were in the countre of Jewry/and caryng for thē: he came downe to Jericho/ with Mathathias and Judas his sonnes/in the .clxxvij. yeare in the .xj. moneth called Sabat. Then Ptolomy the sonne of Abobus receaued thē (but with dyssceate) in to a stronge house of hys called Doch/ which he had buylded/ where he made them a banket.

So when Symon and hys sonnes were merye and had dronken well/Ptolomy stode vp with his men (whom he had byd there) and toke their weapens/entred in to the banket house/& slewe Symō with his two sonnes/ and certayne of his seruauntes. So ꝯ great vnkaythfulnesse dyd Ptolomy in Israel and recōpensed euell for good. Then wrote thys Ptolomy the same vnto kynge Antiochus/ requyringe him that he shulde sende hym an host to helpe him: & so shulde he delyuer him the lande with the cyties and tributes of ꝑ same. He sent other men also vnto Gaza/for to take Jhon: and wrote vnto the captaynes to come to him/and he shuld geue them syluer/golde and rewardes. And to Jerusalem he sent other/to take it and the Sanctuary.

Then rāne there one before/& tolde Jhon in Gaza/ that is father & his brethren were slayne/ and how that Ptolomy had sent to slaye him also. Whē Jhon herde this, he was sore abasshed/and layed hādes of them that were come to destroye him/and slewe them: for he knewe/that they went aboute to kyll hym.

As for other thynges concernynge Jhon: of his warres/of his noble actes (wherin he behaued hym selfe manfully) of the buyldyng of walles whych he made/ and other of hys dedes: They are wrytten in the cronycles of hys prestehode/ from the tyme forth that he was made hye prest after his father.

¶ An Epistle of the Jewes that dwelt at Jerusalem sent vnto them which dwelt in Egypte wherin they exhorte them to geue thankes for the death of Antiochus Of the fyre þ was hydde in the ppt. The prayer of Nehemiah.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

THe brethren of the Jewes which be at Jerusalem & in the lande of Jewry / wish vnto those brethren of þ Jewes that are thorow out Egypte: good fortune, health & peace.

God the Lorde be gracious vnto you / and thyncke vpō his couenaunt þ he made with Abraham / Isaac & Jacob his faythfull seruauntes: and geue you all soch an hert / that ye maye loue and serue him / yee & perfourme hys will wyth an whole herte and of a willyng mynde: Be open youre hertes in his lawe and in hys commaundementes / sende you peace: heare youre prayers / be at one wt you, and neuer forsake you in tyme of trouble. This is here oure prayer for you.

What tyme as Demetrius raigned / in the CLxix. yeare / we Jewes wrote vnto you in þ trouble and violence that came vnto vs. In those yeares after that Jason departed oute of the holy lande and kyngdome / they brent vp the portes / & shed innocent bloude. Then made we oure prayer vnto the Lorde / and were heard: we offred / & lyghted the cādels / settyng forth cakes and bred. And now come ye vnto the feaste of tabernacles in the moneth Casleu.

In the CLxxviij. yeare the people þ was was at Jerusalem & in Jewry / the councell and Judas him self / sent this wholsome salutacyon vnto Aristoboulus kynge Ptolomys master, which came of the generacion of the anoynted prestes: and to the Jewes þ were in Egypte: In so moch as God hath delyuered vs from greate perils, we thancke hym hylie. In that we resisted so mightie a kyng. And why: he brought men out of Persis by heapes to fyght agaynst vs & the holy cytie. For as he was in Persis (namely / the Captayne with the great host) he perysshed in the tēple of Naneas / beynge disceaued thorow the deuyce of Naneas prestes. For as he was purposed to haue dwelt there / Antiochus and hys frendes came thyther / to receaue moch money for a dowry. So when Naneas prestes had layed forth the money / he entred wt a small cōpany in to the cōpasse of the temple and so they shut the temple.

Now when Antiochus entred by opening the preuye entrāce of the tēple / the prestes stoned the captayne to death / hewed them in peces that were wyth hym / smote of their heades / and threwe them out in all thynges. God be praysed / whych hath delyuered the wicked in to oure handes.

Where as we now are purposed to kepe þ purifycacion of the tēple vpon the .xxv. daye of the moneth Casleu / we thought necessary to certifye you therof: that ye also myght kepe the tabernacles feast daye / & the daye of the fyre / whych was geuen vs when Nehemiah offred / after that he had set vp þ temple and the aulter. For what tyme as oure fathers were led awaye vnto Persis / þ prestes (whych then fought þ honoure of God) toke the fyre preuely from the aulter / and hyd it in a valley / where as was a depe dyrty pyt: & therin they kepte it, because the place was vnknowen to euery man. Now after many yeares when it pleased God / þ Nehemiah shulde be sent frō the kynge of Persia: he sent the chylders chyldren of those prestes (which had hyd þ fyre) to seke it. And as they tolde vs / they founde no fyre / but thicke water. Then cōmaunded he thē to drawe it vp / & to bringe it him and þ offrynges wythall. Now whē the sacrifices were layed on & ordred / the prest Nehemiah commaunded to sprincle them & the wod wt the water. Whē this was done / & the tyme come þ the Sunne shone / which afore was hydē in þ cloude: there was a greate fyre kyndled. In so moch that euery man maruelled. Now all þ prestes prayed, whyle the sacrifyce was a makyng. Jonathas prayed first / and the other gaue answere.

Leuit.vi.a. xvi.a.

And Nehemias prayer was after this maner: O Lorde God maker of all thynges / thou fearfull & stronge / thou ryghtuous & mercyfull / thou that art onely a gracyous kynge / onely lyberall: onely iust / Almightie & euerlastynge / thou that delyuerest Israel frō all trouble / thou that hast chosen the fathers and halowed them: receaue the offeryng for the whole people of Israel / preserue thyne awne portyon / & halowe it. Gather those together / that are scatred abrode from vs: delyuer them that are vnder þ Heathens bondage / loke vpon them whych are despysed & abhorred / that the Heathē maye knowe and se / how that thou art oure God: Punysshe thē that oppresse & proudly put vs to dishonoure. Set thy people agayne in thy holy place, like as Moses hath spokē.

And the prestes songe Psalmes of thankesgeuynge, so longe as þ sacrifice endured. Now when the sacrifyce was brent / Nehemiah commaunded the greate stones to be sprynckled wt the reliqute of þ water which whē it was done, there was kyndled a flāme of them of them also: but it was consumed thorowe the lyght/that shyned from the aulter. So when this matter was knowen/it was tolde the kynge of Persia/that in the place where the prestes/which were led awaye/ had hyd fyre/there apeared water in steade of fyre/& that Nehemias & his company had purified the sacrifyces withall. Then the kynge consyderynge & ponderynge the matter dyligētly/made him a temple to prove the thynge that was done. And when he founde it so in dede/he gaue the prestes many gyftes & dyuerse rewardes: yee he toke them wyth hys awne hand/and gaue them. And Nehemias called the same place Nephthar/which is as moch to saye as a clensynge: but many men call it Nephi.

¶ How Jeremy hydde the tabernacle/the Arche/and the aultare in the pyll. Of the. ij. bookes of Jason contayned in one.

¶ The. ij. Chapter.

5. Mach. i. c. It is founde also in the wrytinges of Jeremy the prophet/that he cōmaunded them which were caried awaye to take fyre/as it is sayde afore. He commaunded them also, that they shulde not forget the lawe and commaundementes of the Lorde / and that they shulde not erre in their myndes/ when they se Jmages of syluer and golde with their ornamentes. These and soch other thynges commaūded he them/& exhorted them/that they shulde not lett the lawe of God go out of their hertes.

Jer. xxix. b

Baruc. vi. a

It is wrytten also, how the prophet(at the commaundement of God)charged them / to take the tabernacle & the arcke with them: & he wente forth vnto the mountayne / where Deut. xxxiij. a Moses clymmed vp, & sawe the herytage of God. And whē Jeremy came there, he founde an open caue/wherin he layed ỹ tabernacle/ ỹ arcke & the aulter of incense/ & so stopped the hole. There came certayne men together also folowyng him/to marck the place/ but B they coulde not fynde it. Which when Jeremy perceaued/he reproued them sayinge: As for that place /it shalbe vnknowne, vntyll ỹ tyme ỹ God gather his people together agayne/ & receaue thē vnto mercy. Then shal God shew them these thynges/ & the maiesty of ỹ Lorde shall appeare, & the cloude also/ like as it was shewed vnto Moses: & lyke as when Salomon desyred ỹ the place myght be sanctifyed/ & it was shewed him.

Exod. xl. & iij. Reg. viij. b.

For he beynge a wyse man/handled honorably and wysely offeringe vnto God in the halowinge of the temple/when it was finished. And lyke as when Moses prayed vnto the Lorde, the fyre came downe from heauē/ and consumed the burnt offeryng: Euen so prayed Salomon also / and the fyre came ỹ. Para. vij. d downe from heauen/and consumed ỹ burntofferinge. And Moses sayde: Because the synofferinge was not eaten / therfore it is consumed. In lyke maner Salomon kepte the dedycacion(or halowinge)eight dayes.

¶ * Some reade: Nehemias.

In the Annotacyōs & wrytynges of * Jeremy were these thinges put also: & how he made a lybrary/& how he gathered out of all countrees the bokes of the prophetes / of Dauid/the epistles of the kynges/and of the presentes. Euen so Judas also/loke what he lerned by experyēce of warre/ & soch thynges as hath happened vnto vs/ he gathered them all together / and so we haue them by vs. If ye now desyre to haue the same / sende some body to fetch them vnto you. Where as we then are aboute to celebrate the purylicacyon / we haue wrytten vnto you. Therfore ye shall do well / yf ye kepe the same dayes. We hope also/that the God(which delyuered his people / and gaue them all the herytage/ kyngdome, prestehode & Sanctuary that he Deut. xxx. a promised them in the lawe)shal shortly haue mercy vpon vs/and gather vs together from vnder the heauen in to his holy place: for he hath saued vs from greate perels / and hath clensed the place.

D As concernynge Judas Machabeus and his brethren/the purifycacyon of the greate temple/the dedicacion of the aulter/ yee & of the warres that cūcerne noble Antiochus & Eupator his sonne of the kynges ỹ cam 1. Mach. vi. a. downe from heauen vpon those / which mānfully defended the Jewes. For though they were but fewe / yet defended they the whole lande/droue awaye the enemyes host / recouered agayne the temple / that was spoken of thorowe out all the worlde / delyuered the citie/ doynge their best that the lawe of the Lorde which was put downe/might with all trāquilyte be restored agayne vnto ỹ Lord/ ỹ was so mercifull vnto them. As touchyng Jason also of Cyren/ we haue vnder take cō pendiously to bringe in to one boke/ ỹ thyngs that were comprehended of him in fyue. For we cōsyderynge the multitude of the bokes/ and how harde it shulde be for them ỹ wolde medle with stories and actes(& that because of so diuerse matters)haue vnder taken so to comprehende the storyes: that soch as are disposed to reade/myght haue pleasure and pastyme therin: & that they which are dilygent in soch thinges, myght the better thinke vpō thē: yee and that whosoeuer read thē/ might haue profit therby.

E Neuertheles we oure selues that haue medled with this matter for the shortenynge of it, haue taken no smal labour, but great diligence/ watchynges and trauayle. Lyke as they that make a feast / wolde fayne do other men pleasure: Eue̅ so we also (for many mens lakes) are very well cont̄et to take the labour, where as we maye shortly comprehende, the thynges that other men haue truly wrytten.

For he ꝑ buyldeth an house anew / must prouyde for many thinges, to ꝑ whole buyldynge: but he that paynteth it afterwarde / seketh but only what is comly / mete & conuenient to garnysh it withall. Euen so do we also in lyke maner. And why? He that beginneth to wryte a story for the fyrst, must with his vnderstandynge gather the matter together, set hys wordes in ordre and diligently serche out of euery parte: But he ꝑ afterwarde wyll shorten it, vseth few wordes / and toucheth not the matter at the largest. Let thys be sufficient for a Prologe, now will we begynne to shewe the matter: for it is but a folysh thynge to make a longe Prologe / and to be shorte in the story it selfe.

¶ Of the honour done vnto the temple by the kynges of the Gentyles. Symon wetteth what treasure is in the temple. Heliodorus is sent to take the awaye. He is stryken of God & healed at the prayer of Onias.

¶ The .iij. Chapter.

¶ What tyme as the holy cyte was inhabyted in all peace & wealth / & whē the lawes were yet very well kepte. (For so was it ordened by Onias the hye prest & other godly men, that were enemyes to wickednesse) It came therto, that euen the kinges & princes thē selues dyd the place greate worshippe / & garnished the temple with greate gyftes: In so moch ꝑ Seleucus kyng of Asia of his annuētes bare all the costes belongyng to the seruyce of the offringes. Then Symon of the tribe of Benjamin, a ruler of the temple / labboured to worcke some mischefe in the cite: but the hye prest resisted him.

g. Mach. .i. c.

h. Mach. iij. a

Neuertheles when he myght not ouercome Onias, he gat him to Appolonius the sonne of Therla (which then was chefe lorde in Celosyria and Phenices) & tolde hym, that the treasury in Jerusalem was full of innumerable money / and how that the comons goodes wich belonged not vnto the offeringes, were exceadinge greate also: yee & how it were possyble / that all these myght come vnder the kynges power.

g. Mach. 15. b.

Now when Appolonius had shewed the kynge of the money / as it was tolde hym: the kinge called for Heliodorus his stewarde / & sent him with a cōmaundement / to bringe him ꝑ same money. Immediatly Heliodorus toke hys iourney / but vnder a coloure / as though he wolde go thorow Celosyria & Phenices to viset the cities, but his purpose was to fulfyll the kynges pleasure. So when he came to Jerusalem / & was louyngly receaued of the hye prest into ꝑ cyte: he tolde what was determed concernynge the money / and shewed the cause of his cōmyng: he asked also / yf it were so in dede. Then ꝑ hye prest tolde him / that there was soch money layed vp for the vpholdynge of weddowes and fatherlesse chyldren / & how that a certayne of it belonged vnto Hyrcanus Tobias a noble man: & that of all the money (which that wycked Symon had bewrayed) there were .iij. hundreth talentes of syluer / and .ij. hundreth of golde: yee & that it were vnpossible for those mens meanynge to be dysceaued / ꝑ had layed vp their money in the place and tēple (which is had in worshype thorow the whole world) for the mayntenaunce and honoure of the same. Whervnto Heliodorus answered / that the kynge had cōmaunded him in any wyse / to bringe hym in the money.

¶ So at the daye appoynted / Heliodorus entred in to the temple to ordre thys matter. But there was no small feare thorowout ꝑ whole cytye. The Prestes fell downe before the auiter in their vestymentes / and called vnto heauen vpon hym / whych had made a lawe concernynge stuffe geuen to kepe, that they shulde be safely preserued / for soch as committe them vnto keppynge. Then who so had loked the hye prest in the face / it wolde haue greued his herte: for his countenaūce and the chaunginge of his coloure / declared the inwarde sorowe of hys mynde. The man was all in heuynesse / and hys body in feare: wherby they that loked vpō him / myght perceaue the grefe of hys herte. The other people also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the comō prayer / because the place was lyke to come in to confusyon. The wemen came together thorow ꝑ stretes, with hearre clothes aboute their brestes.

¶ The virgyns also that were kepte in / rāne tō Onias / some to ꝑ walles / other some looked out of the wyndowes: yee they all heide vp their handes towarde heauē / and prayed. A myserable thynge was it to loke vpon the comen people / & the hye prest beinge in soch trouble. But they besought almyghty God / that the goodes which were committed vnto them / myght be kepte whole / for those that had deliuered them vnto their keppynge. Neuertheles the thynge that Heliodorus was determed to do / that performmed he in the same place, he hym selfe personally beinge about the treasury wyth his men of warre. But the spyrite of almyghty God shewed him selfe openly, so ꝑ all they which presumed to

obeye Heliodorus/fell thorow the power of God into a greate fearfulnesse & drede. For 6.Mach.x.c. and.xib there apeared vnto thē an horse/ with a terrible man sitting vpon him/decke in goodly araye/ and the horse smote at Heliodorus with his fore fete. Now he that sat vpon the horse/had harnesse of golde vpon him.

Moreouer there appeared .ij. laye & ventyfull yōg men in goodly araye/ which stode by him/scourged hym of both the sydes. and gaue hym many stripes without ceassynge.
6.Mach.v.c. With that fell Heliodorus sodenly vnto the grounde. So they toke him vp (beinge compased aboute with greate darcknesse) & bare hym out vpon a beare. ¶ Thus he that came with so many runners and men of warre into the sayde treasury was borne out/ where as no man myght helpe hym: & so the power of God was manyfest and knowne. He laye still domme also by the power of God/destitute of all hope and lyfe. And they prayed & Lord/that he had shewed his power vpō his place and tēple/which a lytle afore was full of feare & trouble: and that thorow the reuelacyon of the almyghtye Lorde it was fylled with hope and gladnesse.

Then certayne of Heliodor' frēdes prayed Onias/ that in all haste he wolde call vpon God/to graūte him his lyfe/ which was geuynge vp the goost. So the hye prest consydered the matter/and lest the kinge shuld suspecte that the Jewes had done Heliodorus some euell: he offred an healthofferynge for him. Now when the hye Prest had optey ned his petycion/ the same yonge men in & same clothynge appeared/ & stode before Heliodorus. saynge: Thancke Onias the hye prest/
Actu.xvij.c. for for his sake hath & Lorde graunted & thy lyfe: therfore seing & God hath scourged the/ geue him prayse & thanckes/ & shewe euery man his myght & power. And when they had spoken these wordes they appeared nomore.

So Heliodorus offered vnto God/ made greate vowes vnto him/ which had graūted him his lyfe/thācked Onias/ toke his hoost/ & wente agayne to the kynge. Then testified he vnto euery man of the greate workes of God/ & he had sene with his eyes. And when the kynge asked Heliodorus who were mete to be sent yet once agayne to Jerusalem/ he sayde: yf thou hast any enemy or aduersary vnto thy realme/sende him thyther/ and thou shalt haue hym punysched/ yf he escape with his lyfe: for in that place (no doute) there is a specyall power & worcking of God. For he & dwelleth in heauē/ bysyeth & defendeth that place: and al that come to do it harme/ he punyscheth & plageth thē. ¶ This is now the matter concernyng Heliodorus/ & the kepyng of the treasury at Jerusalem.

¶ Symon reporteth euell of Onias. Jason desyrynge & he office of the hye Prest corrupteth the kynge with rewardes. ¶ he wycked intent of Jason.

¶ The .iiij. Chapter.

THis Symon now (of whō we spake afore) bringe a bewrayer of & mo- ney & of his awne naturall contre/ repoyted the worst of Onias: as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this/ & as though he had bene a bytter hyder of euel. Thus was he not ashamed to call hym an enemye of the realme/ that was so faythfull an ouerseer & defender of & cite & of his people: yee & soferuent in the lawe of God. But whē the malice of Symō increased so farre/ that thorow his frendes there were certayne manslaughters cōmitted: Onias considered the parell & might come thorow this stryfe/ & how that Appolonius (namely & chefe lorde in Celosyria and Phenices) was all set vpon tyranny/ and Symons malyce increased & same: He gat hym to the kinge/ not as an accuser of the cytesins/ but as one that by hym self intended the comon wealth of the whole multitude. For he sawe it was not possible to lyue in peace/ nether Symon to leaue of frō his folysshnesse/ except & kynge dyd loke therto. But after the decth of Seleucus/ when Antiochus (which is called the noble) toke & kingdome: Jason the brother of Onias laboured to be hye prest: for he came vnto the kynge/ and promised hym thre hundreth .lx. talentes of syluer/ & of the other rentes .lxxx. talentes. Besides this he promysed hym yet an. C. & .L. yf he myght haue the scole of the chyldren/ & that he myght call them of Jerusalem Antiochians. Which when the kynge had graunted/ & he had gotte the superiorite/ he begāne immediatly to drawe his kynsmen to the custome of the Heathen/ put downe & thynges that the Jewes had set vp of loue/ by John the father of Eupolemius/ whych was sent embassytoure vnto Rome/ for to make the bonde of frendshype and loue. He put downe all the Jewes & Lyberties of the Jewes/ and set vp the wycked statutes. He durst make a fyghtynge scole vnder the castell/ and set fayre yōge men to lerne the maners of whores and brodels.

This was now the begynnyng of & Heathenysh & straunge conuersacyō/ brought in thorow the vngracyous & vnherde wyckednesse of Jason/ which shulde not be called a Prest/ but an vngodly personne. Insomoch that the prestes were now nomore occuppyde about the seruyce of the aulter/ but despysed the temple/ regarded not the offrynges: yee gaue their dylygence to lerne to fyght/ to wrastle/ to leape/ to daunce/ & to put at the stone: not settynge by the honour of the fathers/but lyked the glory of the Grekes best of all: for the which they stroue perilously/ & were gredy to folowe their statutes/yee their lust was in all thinges to be lyke thē/which afore were their enemyes & destroyers. Now be it to do wyckedly agaynst ỹ law of God/ shall not escape vnpunyshed: but of thys we shall speake here after.

* These were kepte euery fyfte yeare.

¶ What tyme as the* Olympiades sportes were played at Tyrus (the kynge him selfe beinge present) this vngracyous Jason sent wicked men/bearyng from them of Jerusalem (whych now were called Antiochyans) iij.C. drachmas of syluer for an offerynge to Hercules. These had they that caryed them/ desyred vnder soch a fashion/as though they shulde not haue bene offred/but bestowed to other vses. Neuertheles he that sent them/ sent them to the intent that they shulde be offred vnto Hercules. But because of those that were present/they were geuen as to the makynge of shyppes. And Appolonius the sonne of Nestens was sent into Egypte/because of the noble men of Kynge Ptolomy Philometor. Now when Antiochus perceaued ỹ he was put out from medlynge in the realme/he sought his awne profyt/departed from thence/came to Joppa/& then to Jerusalem: where he was honorably receaued of Jason & the cite/& was brought in w torche lyght and with greate prayse: and so he turned his boost vnto Phenices.

g. Mach. iij. b

After iij. yeare Jason sent Menelaus/the forsayde Symons brother, to beare ỹ money vnto ỹ kyng/& to bringe him answere of other necessary matters. But he (when he was prayed of the kinge for magnyfying of his power) turned ỹ prestlode vnto him selfe/ layinge vp. iij. C. talentes of syluer for Jason. So whē he had gotten cōmaundemētes frō the kynge/he came hauinge nothinge ỹ becōmeth a prest/but bearinge ỹ stomach of a cruell tyraunt/& ỹ wrath of a wylde brute beest. Then Jason (which had dysceaued his awne brother) seinge that he him selfe was begyled also/was fayne to flē into the lande of the Ammonites/& Menelaus gat the dominyon. But as for the money ỹ he had promysed vnto ỹ kynge/he dyd nothinge therin/ when Sostratus the ruler of the castell requyred it of him. For Sostratus was ỹ man that gathered the customes: wherfore they were both called before the kinge. Thus was Menelaus put out of the prestlode/& Lysimachus his brother came in his stede. Sostratus also was made lorde of the Cyprias.

F

It happened in the meane season/ ỹ the Thar tians & Mallocias made insurrectiō/ because they were geuen for a present vnto kynge Antiochus concubyne. Then came ỹ kinge in all the haste/to stylle them agayne/& to pacyfye the matter/ leauing Andronicus there to be his debyte/as one mete therfore. Now Menelaus supposing ỹ he had gotten a right conuenient tyme/stole certayne vessels of golde out of the temple/& gaue them to Andronicus for a present: & some he solde at Tyrus and in the cytyes therby.

¶ Which when Onias knewe of a suertye/ he reproued him: but he kepte him in a Sanctuary beside Daphnis/ that lyeth by Antioche. Wherfore Menelaus gat hym to Andronicus/& prayed hym that he wolde slaye Onias. So whē he came to Onias/he counceled him craftely to come out of the Sanctuary/geuynge him his hande with an othe (how be it he suspecte him) and then he slew Onias/without any regarde of righteousnesse. For the which cause not only ỹ Jewes/ but other nacyons also toke indygnacyon/& were displeased for the vnrighteous death of so godly a man.

G

And when the kynge was come agayne from Cilicia the Jewes and certayne of the Grekes wente vnto him/ complaynynge for the vnrighteous death of Onias. Yee Antiochus hī selfe was sory in his mynde for Onias, so that it pitied him/& he wepte/remembrynge his sobernesse & manerly behauoure. Wherfore he was so kyndled in his mynde, ỹ he cōmaunded Andronicus to be stryped out of his purple clothinge/& so to be led thorow out all the cite: yee & the vngracyous man to be slayne in the same place/ where he cōmytted hys wyckednes vpon Onias. Thus the Lorde rewarded him his punyshment/as he had deserued. Now when Lysimachus had done many wicked dedes in the tēple thorow the coūcell of Menelaus/& the voyce came abrode: the multytude gathered them together agaynst Lisimachus/ for he had caryed out now mock golde.

So when the people arose/and were full of displeasure/ Lysimachus armed. iij. M. vnthryftes to defende him: a certayne tyraūte beinge their captayne/ which was growen both in age & woodnesse. But whē the people vnderstode the purpose of Lysimachus/ some gat stones some good strōge clubbes/ & some cast asshes vpon Lysimachus. Thus there were many of thē wounded/some being slayne/& all the other chaced awaye. But as for the wycked churchrobber hym selfe/ they kylled hym beside ỹ treasury. Of these matters therfore there was kepte a courte a- ỹ gaynst Menelaus. Now when the kynge came to Tyrus/they made a complaynte vnto him of Menelaus/concernyng this busynesse/and the embassytours were three. But Menelaꝰ wēt & promysed Ptolomy to geue hī him moch money / yf he wolde perswade ye kyng. So Ptolomy wēt to the kyng into a courte / (where as he was sett to coole him) & broght him out of that mynde. In so moch that he dischatged Menelaus from the accusacyons / that not withstandynge was cause of al myscheke: and those poore men / whych yf they had tolde theyr cause / yee before the Scythiās / they shulde haue bene iudged innocēt / them he condemned to death.

Thus were they soone punyshed / whych followed vpon the matter for ye cytye / for the people / and for the holy vessell. Wherfore they of Tyrus toke indygnacyon / and buryed them honorably. And so throwe the couetousnesse of them that were in power / Menelaus remayned styll in authorite / increasynge in malyce to the hurte of the cytesyns.

¶ Of the synges and tokens sene in Jerusalem. Of the ende and offence of Jason. The pursute of Antiochus agaynst the Jewes. The spoylynge of the temple.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

IN the same tyme Antyochus made hym ready to go agayne in to Egypte. Then were there sene at Jerusalem / xl. days longe / horsmen runnynge to and fro in the ayre / whych had rayment of golde, and speares. There were sene also whole hoostes of men weapened / & horses runnynge in an ordre / how they came together, how they helde forth theyr shildes / how the harnessed men drew out their swerdes, and shott their dartes.

The shyne of the golden weapens was sene / and of all maner of armure. Wherfore euery man prayed / that those tokens myght turne to good. Now when there was gone forth a false rumour / as though Antyochus had bene deed: Jason toke a. M. men / and came sodenly vpon the cytye. The cytesyns ranne vnto the walles / at the last was the cytye taken / & Menelaus fled in to the castell.

B As for Jason / he spared not his awne cytesyns in the slaughter / nether considered he what greate euell it were / to destroye ye prosperite of hys awne kynsmen: but dyd as one that had gotten the victory of hys enemyes / and not of hys frendes. For all thys gatt he 1.Mach.iiii.c. not the superiorite / but at the last receaued confusyon for hys malyce / and fled agayne lyke a vagabunde in to the lande of the Ammonytes.

Fynally / for a rewarde of his wickednesse / he was accused before Aretha the kynge of the Arabians: In so moch that he was fayne to flee from cytye to cytie / beynge despysed of euery man as a forsaker of the lawes / and an abhominable personne. And at the last (as an open enemy of his awne natural cōtre and of the cytesyns) he was dryuen in to Egypte.

Thus he that afore put many out of their awne natyue land / perished from home hymselfe. He wēt to Lacedemō / thynckinge there to haue gotten succoure by reason of kynrede. And he that afore had casten many one out vnburyed / was throwen out hym selfe / no man mournynge for hym / ner puttynge him in his graue: so that he nether enioyed ye burial of a straunger nether was he partaker of his fathers sepulcre.

Now when this was done the kynge suspecte / that the Jewes wolde haue fallē from hym: wherfore he came in a greate displeasure out of Egypte / and toke the cytie by violence. He commaunded hys mē of warre also / that they shulde kyll & not spare / but slaye downe soch as withstode them / or clymmed vp vpon the houses. 1.Mach.i.c.

Thus was there a greate slaughter of yonge men / olde men / wemen / chyldren and virgines. In.iii. dayes were there slayne lxxx. M. fourty thousande put in prison / and no lesse solde. Yet was he not content with this / but durst go in to the most holy temple (Menelaus that traytoure to the lawes and to his awne naturall countre / beyng his gyde) and with his wicked handes toke the holy vessel / which other kynges & cytyes had geuen thyther for the garnysshinge & honour of the place: them toke he in hys handes vnworthely, & defyled them.

So madd was Antiochus / that he consydered not / how that God was a lytle wroth for the synnes of them that dwelt in the cytie / for the which soch confusyō came vpon that place. And why? yf it had not happened them to haue bene lapped in many synnes / thys Antiochus (as soone as he had come) had sodenly bene punyshed / and shott out for hys Judic.v.d presumpcyon / lyke as Helyodorus was / whō Seleucus the kyng sente to robbe the 2.Mach.iii.a. treasury. Neuertheles God hath not chosen the people for the places sake / but the place for the peoples sake: and therfore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble / but afterwarde shall it enioye the wealth of them. And lyke as it is now forsaken in the wrath of Almyghty God / so when the greate God is reconcyled / it shall be set vp in hye worshippe agayne.

So when Antiochus had taken a M. and biii. C. talentes out of the temple / he gat him to Antioche in all the haste / thinckīg in his pryde / that he myght make men sayle vpon ye dryye land / and to go vpon the see / soch an hye mynde had he. He lefte debytes there to vexe the people: At Jerusalem left he Philyppe a

Phyzician/in maners moze cruell chē hym self ꝑ let hym there: Ie Garysim he left Andzonycus and Menelaus / whych were moze greuous to ꝑ citezins then other. Now as he was thus set in malice agaynst ꝑ Jewes / he sent Appollonius an hated prynce / with M. cō maūding hym to slaye all those ꝑ were of perfect age, & to sell ꝑ wemē maydes & childzē.
Whē he cam now to Jerusalē, he fained peace / & kepte hi still vntil ꝑ Sabboth daye. And then he cōmaūded his mē to take thē to their weapēs, for ꝑ Jewes kepte holy daye) & so he slew al thē ꝑ were gone forth to ꝑ opē playe / rūning here & there thorow ꝑ citie wt his mē weapened & murthured a great nōbre. But Judas Machabe⁹ whych was the tenth fled into ꝑ wildernesse, ledd his life there wt his cō-pany amōge ꝑ wilde beastes & vpon ꝑ moun-taynes, dwellynge there, and eatinge grasse / lest they should be partakers of ꝑ fylthynesse.

¶ The Jewes are compelled to leaue the law of God. The temple is defyled. The readers are monyshed that they shal not abhorre the aduersyte wherwyth ꝑ Lord afflicteth the. The grewous payne of Eleazarus.

¶ The. vj. Chapter.

AN longe after this, sent ꝑ king a messaūger of Antioche forto cōpell ꝑ Jewes to alter ꝑ ordinaūces of ꝑ fathers & ꝑ law of God, to defile ꝑ tēple ꝑ was at Jerusalē, & to call it ꝑ tēple of Jupiter Olimpius: & ꝑ they shulde be in Gazarim as those which dwell at ꝑ place of Jupiter ꝑ herberous. Thys wycked sediciō of ꝑ vngodly was heuy vpō al ꝑ people: for ꝑ tēple was ful of voluptuousnes, bibynge & bolling of ꝑ Heathē, of ribaud⁹ & harlotz, together. The wemē wēt into ꝑ holy place, & bare in that was not laufull. The auter also was full of vnlauful thingꝭ which ꝑ law forbyddeth to laye vpō it. The Sabbothes were not kepte, ꝑ other solēpne feastes of ꝑ lād were not regarded. To be playne there durst nomā be a knowne ꝑ he was a Jewe. In ꝑ dayes of ꝑ kingꝭ byrth they were cōpelled parforce to offre: & whē ꝑ feast of Bach⁹ was kepte, they were cōstrayned to weere garlādes of yuye /
& so to go about for honoure of Bachus.

BMoreouer thorow ꝑ cōceyll of Ptolomy / there went out a cōmaundmēt in ꝑ nerte ci-tyes of ꝑ Heathē / ꝑ they should intreate ꝑ Je-wes in like maner: namely to cōpell thē for to do sacrifyce after ꝑ lawes of ꝑ Gētiles: & who so wolde not, to put them to death. A py-teous thynge was it to se. There were .ij. we-men accused to haue circūcided their sonnꝭ whō when they had led roūde aboute ꝑ cytie (the babes bāgyng at their brestes they cast thē downe headlyngꝭ ouer ꝑ walles. Some ꝑ were crepte in to denne & had kepte ꝑ Sab-both, were accused vnto Philippe & brent in ꝑ fyre: because ꝑ for ꝑ feare of God they kepte ꝑ cōmaundmēt so stilly / & wolde not defende thē selues. Now I beseche all those which reade this boke / ꝑ they refuse it not for these fallꝭ of aduersite: & iudge ꝑ thinges (ꝑ are happened) for no destruccyō but for a chastenyng of oure people. And why? Whē God suffreth not sinners lōge to folow their awne mynde / but shortly punisheth thē it is a tokē of his greate louyng kyndnes. For this grace haue we of God moze then other people / ꝑ he suf-freth not vs longe to synne vnpunished lyke other nacyons, that when ꝑ daye of iudment cōmeth, he maye punish thē in the fulnes of their synnes. If we synne, he correcketh vs / but he neuer withdrawe th his mercy frō vs:
& though he punish wt aduersyte / yet doth he neuer forsake his people. But lett this ꝑ we haue spokē now wt few wordꝭ / be for a warning & exhortaciō of ꝑ Heathē. Now will we come to ꝑ declaryng of ꝑ matter. Eleazar one of the principall Scribes / an aged mā & of a welfauored coūtenaūce / was cōstrayned to gape wt opē mouth & to eate swynysh flesh. But he desyryng rather to dye gloriously then to lyue wt shame, offred him self willingly to ꝑ martyrdome. Now whē he saw ꝑ he must nedꝭ go to it he toke it pacyently: for he was at a poynte wt hī self, ꝑ he wold cōsente to no vnlaufull thing for eny pleasure of life. They ꝑ stode by being moued wt pite but not aright) for ꝑ olde frēdshype of ꝑ mā toke him asyde D priuely & prayed him ꝑ he wold let such flesh be brought him as were laufull to eate / & thē to make a coūtenaūce as though he had ea-tē of ꝑ flesh of ꝑ sacrifice like as ꝑ king commaunded, for so he might be delyuered from death: & so for ꝑ olde frendshipe of ꝑ mā they shewed him this kyndnes. But he begāne to cōsidre his discret & honorable age / his noble & worshipful stoke / & how ꝑ frō his youth vp he had bene of an honest & good cōuersacyō:
yee & how cōstantly he had kepte ꝑ ordinances & lawes cōmaūded by God wherfore he gaue thē this answere / & sayde: Yet had I rather first be laied in my graue. For it becom- t. Thess. 5 meth not myne age (sayde he) in eny wyse to dissemble, wherby many yōg personnes might thincke / ꝑ Eleazar being lxxx. yeare olde & .x were now gone to a straūge life: also thorow myne ypocrisy (for a lytle tyme of a trāsitory life) they might be disceaued: by this meanes also should I defile myne age / & make it abho mynable. For though I were now delyuered fro ꝑ tormētz of men, yet should I not escape ꝑ hād of almighty God / nether alyue nor deed.
Wherfore I will dye māfully, & do as it becō E meth mine age: Wherby I may peraduēture leaue an exāple of stedfastnes for such as be yōge / yf I wt a ready mynde & māfully dye an honest death, for ꝑ most worthy & holy lawe.

When

When he had layde these wordes / immediatly he was drawen to the tormente. Now they that led hym & were mylde a litle afore / beganne to take displeasure because of the wordes that he layde: for they thought he had spoken them of an hye mynde. But when he was in his martirdome / he mourned and layde: Thou (O Lord) which hast ꝑ holy knowlege / knowest openly: that where as I might be delyuered from death / I suffre these sore paynes of my body: but in my mynde I am wel content to suffre them / because I feare the. Thus thys man dyed / leauynge the memorial of his death for an example / not only vnto yonge men / but vnto all the people / to be stedfast and manly.

¶ The punishmēt of ꝑ .vij. brethren & of their mother.

¶ The .vij. Chapter.

Gen.xlix. IT happened also ꝑ there were vij. brethrē (with their mother) takē & cōpelled by the kinge agaynst ꝑ law / to eate swynes flesh: namely with scourges & lethren whippes. And one of them which was the chefe / layde: What seekest thou / & what requyrest thou of vs? As for vs / we are ready rather to suffre death / then to offende the lawes of God and the fathers. Then was the kinge angrye / and bad heate cauldrons and brasen pottes. Which when they were made hote / immedyatly he commaūded the tonge of him that spake first to be cut out / to pull the skynne ouer his heade / to pare of the edges of his handes & fete: yee and that in the syght of hys mother and the other of hys brethren. Now when he was cleane marred / he commaunded a fyre to be made / and so (whyle there was eny breath in him) to be fryed in the caudron / In the which when he had bene longe payned / the other brethren wyth theyr mother exorted hym to dye manfully / sayenge: The Lorde God shall regarde the treuth / and comforte vs / lyke as Deut.xxxij.c. Moses testifieth and declareth in his songe / sayenge: and he will haue compassyon on his seruauntes.

So when the fyrst was deed after this maner / they brought the seconde to haue him in derysyon / pulled the skynne with the heare ouer his heade / & asked him / yf he wolde eate swynes flesh / or he were payned in the other membres also thorow out hys body. But he answered boldly / and layde: I wyll not do it. And so was he tormented lyke as the first / & when he was euen at the geuyng vp ꝑ goost he layde: Thou most vngracyous personne puttest vs now to death / but the kyng of the worlde shall rayse vs vp (whych dye for hys lawes) in ꝑ resurreccion of euerlastinge life.

After hym / was the thyrde had in derysion: and when he was requyred, he putt out hys tonge / and that ryght soone / holdynge forth his handes manfully / and spake wyth a stedfast faith: These haue I of heauen, but now for the lawe of God I despyse them / for my trust is / that I shall receaue them of him agayne. In so moch that the kynge and they which were with hym / marueled at the yonge mans boldnesse, that he nothynge regarded the paynes. ¶

Now when he was deed also / they vexed the fourth with tormētes in lyke maner. So when he was now at his death he layde: It is better that we beynge put to death of mē / haue oure hope and trust in God / for he shal rayse vs vp agayne. As for the / thou shalt haue no resurreccion to lyfe. Joh.v.d

And when they had spoken to the fyfth / they tormented him. Then loked he vnto the kinge / & layde: thou hast power amonge mē / for thou art a mortall man also thyselfe / to do what thou wilt / but thinke not that God hath forsaken oure generacyon. Abyde the / tary styll a whyle / and thou shalt se the great power of God, how he wyll punysh the & thy sede. After hym they brought ꝑ fyrte / whych beinge at the poynte of death / sayde: Be not deceaued (O kinge) for this we suffre for our owne sakes / because we haue offended oure God / & therfore marueloustynges are shewed vpon vs. But thynke not thou / whych takest in hande to stryue agaynst God / that thou shalt escape vnpunysshed.

This excellent mother (worthy to be well ¶ reported of / and had in remembrance) sawe her seuen sonnes dye in one daye / and suffred it pacyently / because of the hope that she had in God: yee she exorted euery one of them in especyall / and that boldly and stedfastly wt parfyte wysdome / makynge vp her wyfysh thought with a manly stomacke / and sayde vnto them: I can not tell how ye came in my wombe / for I nether gaue you breth ner soule / no ner lyfe. It is not I ꝑ ioyned ꝑ mēbres of your bodies together / but the maker of ꝑ worlde / which fashioned ꝑ byrth of man / & begāne al thinges. Euen he also of his awne mercy shal geue you breath and life agayne like as ye now regarde not oure awne selues for his lawes sake.

Now thought Antyochus that she had despised him / therfore he lest her go wyth her reproues / and beganne to exorte the yongest sonne (which yet was left) not only wt wordes but swore vnto him wt an ooth / ꝑ he shulde make hym a rich & welthy man (yf he wolde forsake ꝑ lawes of his fathers) yee and ꝑ he shulde geue him what so euer were necessary for him. But when ꝑ yōge mā wolde not be moued, for all these thinges / he called his ¶ mother, and cōceled her to fauch her sonnes lyke. And whē he had exhorted her wyth many wordes/ she promesed him that she shulde speake vnto her sonne. So she turned her vnto hym(laughynge the cruell tyraunte to scorne)and spake with a bolde voyce: O my sonne/haue pitie vpon me/ that bayre ỹ ix. monethes in my wōbe/that gaue the sucke/ norished the & brought the vp vnto this age.

I beseche the(my sonne)loke vpon heauē and earth and all that is therin / and consydre/that God made them and mans generacyon of nought: so shalt thou not feare thys hangman / but suffre death stedfastly / lyke as thy brethren haue done: that I maye receaue the agayne in the same mercy with thy brethren.

Whyle she was yet speakynge these wordes/the ponge mā sayde: Whom loke ye for? Wherfore do ye tary? I wyll not obeye the kynges commaundement/but the lawe that God gaue vs by Moses. As for the that ymagynest all myschefe agaynst the Jewes/ Leui.xi.a. Deut.xxv.a. thou shalt not escape the hande of God/ for we suffre these thinges because of our sinne.

And though God be angrye wyth vs a lytle whyle(for our chastenynge and reformacyon)yet shall he be at one agayne wyth hys seruauntes. But thou.(O shamefull and most abhominable personne.)Pryde not thy selfe thorow vayne hope / in beynge so malycious vpon the seruauntes of God: for thou hast not yet escaped the iudgment of the God which is allmyghty/ and seyth all thynges. My brethren that haue suffred a lytle payne are now vnder the couenaunt of euerlastynge lyfe: but thorow the iudgment of God / thou shalt be punyshed ryghteously for thy pryde.

As for me(lyke as my brethren haue done) I offre my soule and my body for the lawes of our fathers / callynge vpon God/ that he wyll soone be mercyful vnto our people: yee and wyth payne and punyshement to make the graunte/that he only is God. In me now and in my brethren the wrath of allmyghty God is at an ende/ which ryghteously is fallen vpon all our people. 5. Macha. 5.c.

Then the kynge beynge kyndled in anger was more cruell vpon hym then vpon al the other/and toke indygnacion/that he was so lyghtly regarded. So thys ponge mandyed vndefyled/& put hys truste fyll in the Lorde. Last of all after the sonnes/was the mother put to death also. Lett thys now be ynough spoken/concernynge the offrynges / and extreme cruelnesse.

Judas gathereth together hys hoost. Nicanor is sent agaynst Judas. Judas exhorteth his soudyars to constaūcnes Nicanor is ouercome. The Jewes geue thākes after they haue put their enemyes to flyght/dyuidyng the spoyles vnto the fatherles and vnto the wydowes. Nicanor kyeth vnto Antiochus.

¶ The .viij. Chapter.

When Judas Machabeus and they that were with hym/ wente pryuely in to the townes / called theyr kynsfolkes and frendes together / toke vnto them all soch as contynued yet in the fayth and lawe of the Jewes / & brought forth vi.M.men.

So they called vpon the Lorde / that he wolde haue an eye vnto hys people / whych was trodden downe of euerymān: to be gracyous vnto the temple / that was defyled of the vngodly: to haue compassion vpon the destruccyon of the cytye / whych was shortly lyke to be layed waste / to heare the voyce of the bloude that cryed vnto hym: to remembre the most vnryghteous deathes of yonge innocent thyldren/the blasphemyes also done vnto hys name/and to punysh them. 1.Macha.5.a

Now when Machabeus had gathered thys multytude together / he was to myghtye for the Heathen (for the wrath of the Lorde was turned in to mercy) he fell vpon the townes and cytyes vnwarres / brent them toke the most commodyous places / and slewe many of the enemyes. But specyally he made soch chases by nyght / in so moch that hys manlynesse was spoken of euery where.

So when Philippe sawe that the man increased by lytle and lytle/ and that the matter prospered wyth hym for the most parte: he wrote vnto Ptolomy(whych was a captayne in Celosyria & Phenyces)to helpe him in the kynges busynes. Then sent he Mecanor Patrocly(a specyall frende of hys) in all the haste / and gaue hym of the comen sorte of the Heathen no lesse then xx. M. harnessed men / to rote out the whole generacyon of the Jewes / hauynge to helpe hym one Gorgias a man of warre/ which in matters concernynge battayls had great experience. Nycanor ordened also ỹ trybute (whych the Romaynes shulde haue had)to be geuen vnto the kynge/out of the captyuite of the Jewes / namely ij. M. talentes. And immediatly he sent to the cyties of the see coost/requyrynge them for to bye Jewes to be their seruauntes & bonde men/promysynge to sell thē lxxx. and ten for one talente: but he consydered not the wrath of allmyghty God/ & was to come vpon hym.

When Judas knewe of thys / he tolde the Jewes that were wyth hym of Nicanors commynge. Now were there some of them fearfull/not trustynge vnto the ryghtuousnes of God and fled their waye.

But the other that remayned / came together and besought the Lorde / to delyuer them from that wycked Nicanor/ whych had solde had solde them or euer he came nye them: & though he wolde not do it for their sakes/ yet for the couenaunt that he made wyth they? fathers/ & because they called vpon hys holy & gloryous name. And so Machabeus called his men together/ namely aboute vi. M. exorting them not to agree vnto their enemies nether to be afraied for ỹ multitude of their aduersaries cõminge agaynst them vnrighteously: but to fight manly/ considerynge the iniurie that they had done to the holy place without cause/ how they had despyted and oppressed the cytie/ yee & destroyed the lawes of the fathers. For they (sayde he) trust in their weapens and boldnesse/ but oure confidence is in the allmyghty Lorde/ whych in the twynckelynge of an eye maye both destroye them that come agaynst vs/ and all the worlde.

Ye exorted them also to cal to remẽbraunce the helpe/ that God shewed vnto their fathers: as when there perished an C. & lxxxv. M. of Sẽnacheribs people: And of ỹ battail ỹ they had in Babilõ against ỹ Gallacyans: how ỹ all the Macedonyãs ỹ came to helpe thẽ/ stode in feare: & how they being but only vi. M. slewe an C. & xx. M. thorow the helpe that was geuen them from heauen/ wherby they also had receaued many benefites.

Thorow these wordes the men, toke good hertes vnto them/ ready to dye for the lawe & the coũtre. So he sett vpon euery company a captaine/ one of his awne brethrẽ: Simõ/ Joseph & Jonathas: geuynge ech one xv. C. men. He cauled Eldras also to reade the holy boke vnto them/ and to geue them a token of the helpe of God.

Then he himself beinge captayne in ỹ fore front of the battayll/ buckled wyth Nicanor And God was their helpe/ in so moch that they slewe aboue ix. M. men & compelled ỹ more parte of Nicanors hoost to flie, they were so wounded & feable. Thus they toke the money from those that came to bye them/ & followed vpon them on euery syde. But whẽ the tyme came vpon them/ they returned/ for it was the Sabbath/ and therfore they folowed nomore vpon them. So they toke their weapens & spoyles & kepte the Sabbath/ geuynge thankes vnto the Lord, whych had delyuered them that daye/ and shewed them his mercy. After the Sabbath they distributed the spoyles to the sicke, to the fatherlesse and to wyddowes/ and the residue had they them selues wyth theirs. When this was done/ and they all had made a generall prayer: they besought the mercyfull Lorde to be at one with his seruauntes.

Of those also that were with Timotheus and Bachides/ which fought agaynst them/ they slewe xx. M. wanne hye and stronge holdes/ and deuided moo spoyles: euer geuynge an equal porcion vnto ỹ sicke/ to ỹ fatherless to wyddowes & to aged persons. And when ỹ they had dylygently gathered their weapens together/ they layed them all in conueniente places/ & the remnaunt of ỹ spoyles brought they to Jerusalem. They slewe Phylarches that wicked personne/ which was wyth Tymotheus/ and had vexed many Jewes. And when they helde the thãkesgeuinge at Jerusalẽ for the victory/ they brent those that had sett fyre on the portes of the temple: namely Callisthenes/ which was fled in to an houser and so they gatt a worthy rewarde for they? wyckednesse. As for that most vngracyous Nicanor/ wich had brought a thousande marchauntes/ to bye the Jewes/ he was thorow the helpe of the Lorde brought downe euen of them whom he regarded not: in so moch ỹ he put of hys gloryous rayment/ fled by see/ and came alone to Antyoche/ wyth greate shame and dishonour/ which he gatt thorow the destruccyon of hys hoost. Thus he ỹ promysed the Romaynes to paye them their tribute/ when he toke Jerusalem: begãne now to saye planely/ that God was the defender of the Jewes/ & therfore not possible to woũd them/ because they folowed the lawes which God had made.

Antiochus willing to spoyle Persepolis is deyned to flyght. As he persecuteth the Jewes/ he is stryckē of the Lorde. The fayned repentaunce of Antiochus. He dyeth.

The. ix. Chapter.

At the same tyme came Antiochus agayne vnto dyshonoure out of Perlis. For when he came to Persepolis/ and vnder toke to robbe the tẽple and to subdue the citie' the people ranne together and defended thẽselues/ in so moch that he and his were fayne to flie with shame. And so after that flyght/ it happened/ that Antiochus came agayne wyth dyshonoure. But when he came to Egbathana/ he gatt knowlege what was happened vnto Nycanor & Tymotheus. Now as he was auaunsynge hymself in hys wrath/ he thought he was able to auenge the iniury that was done to them/ vpon the Jewes: and therfore commaunded to make ready hys charet/ haystynge on hys iourney wythout ceassynge/ the iudgement of God prouokinge him/ because he had spoken so proudly/ that he wolde come to Jerusalem/ and make it a graue of the Jewes. But the Lorde God of Israell/ that seyth all thynges/ smote hym wyth an inuysyble plage/ wherych no man coulde heale.

I Mach. i.

For as soone as he had spoken these wor-
B des/there came vpon hym an horrible payne of hys bowles / and a sore greke of the tharmes. And that was but right:for he had martyred other mens bowels with cruelte and straunge tormentes / how be it he wolde in no wyse ceasse from his malyce. Yee he was yet the prouder and more malycious against the Jewes: But whyle he was commaundynge to make haste in the matter/it happened that he fell downe violently from the charet/so that it brosed hys body / and dyd hym greate payne.

And so he that thought he myght commaunde the floudes of the see(so proude was he beyonde the condicyon of mã)and to weye the hye mountaynes in a payre of scoales / was now brought downe to the grounde / & caried vpon an horslytter /knowleggynge the manyfolde power of God vpon hym: so that the wicked body of hys was ful of wormes/ whych in hys payne fell quyck out of hys Actꝛg.a. flesh: In so moch that hys hoost was greued with the smell and stynche of hym. Thus he that a lytle a fore thought he myght reach to the starres of heauen / hym myght no man now abyde nere beare / for the vehemence of C stynche.

Therfore he beynge brought from hys greate pryde/beganne for to come to ỹ knowlege of hym selfe: for the punyshment of God warned hym /and hys payne increased euer more and more. And when he hym selfe might not abyde hys awne stynche / he sayde these wordes:It is reason to be obedient vnto God and that a man despyse not to be lyke vnto hym. Thys wycked personne prayed also vnto the Lorde/of whom he shulde haue optayned no mercy. And as for the cytie that he came vnto so hastely/to bynge it downe to the grounde/and to make it a graue for dead mẽ: now he desyreth to delyuer it free.

And as touchynge the Jewes/whom he had iudged not worthy to be buryed / but wolde haue cast thẽ out for to be deuoured of ỹ foulꝭ & wilde beastes/sayenge/that he wolde haue destroyed both olde and yonge: Now he promyseth / to make them lyke the cytesyns of Athens. And where as he had spoyled the holy temple afore / now he maketh promyse to garnish it with greate giftes/to increase the holy ornamentes/ and of hys awne rentes to beare the costes / and charges belongynge to the offeringes: yee and that he wolde also become a Jewe hym selfe / to go thorow euery place of the worlde, and to preach the power D of God.

But when hys paynes wolde not ceasse/ (for the ryghteous iudgmẽt of God was come vpon hym)out of a very despayre he wrote vnto the Jewes a lettre of intercession/cõteynynge these wordes:The kynge and prince Antiochus wysheth vnto the vertuous citesyns of the Jewes / moch health and good prosperite.

Iff ye and youre children fare well / and yf all thinges go after youre mynde: we geue greate thankes. In my sickenesse also do I remembre you louyngly: for as I came out of Persya/ and was taken with sore dysease: I thought it necessary to care for ỹ comen wealth. Nether despaire I in my self/ but haue a good hope to escape this sickenes.

But conspderynge that my father led an hoost sometyme in the hyer places/ and shewed who shulde raygne after hym / that(yf there happened any cõtrouersy, or eny harde thyng were declared)they in the lande myght knowe their chefe lorde/ that there shulde be C no insurrection: Agayne/ when I ponder by my self / how that all the myghtye men and neghbours rounde aboute/are layenge wayte/and loke but for oportunyte to do harme: I haue ordened that my sonne Antyochus shall raygne after me/whom I oft commended to many of you / when I was in the hyer kyngdomes/ and haue wrytten vnto hym as it followeth herafter. Therfore I praye you & requyre you / to remembre the benefytes that I haue done vnto you generally and in especyall. For I hope that he shal be of sober & louynge behauoure/& yf he folowe my deuyce/he shall be indyfferent vnto you. Wanke.biij.c

Thus that murthurer and blasphemare of God was sore smytten: & lyke as he had intreated other men / so he dyed a myserable death in a straunge countre vpon a mountayne. And his body dyd Philyppe(that went with hym) cary awaye: whych fearynge the sonne of Antyochus / wente in to Egypte to Ptolomy Philometor.

¶Judas Machabeus taketh the cytie & the temple. He beginneth to throwe the actes of Eupator. The Jewes fyght agaynst the Idumeans: Timotheus inuadeth Jewrye/with whom Judas ioyneth battell. xl. men aparre in the ayre to the helpe of the Jewes. Timothy is slayne.

¶The.x.Chapter.

Machabeus now and hys company I (thorow the helpe of the Lorde) i. Mach.iij.c.
wanne the temple and the cytye agayne/destroyed the aulters and chapels & the Heathen had buylded thorow the strete:clensed the temple, made another aulter of bycke stone/& after.ij. yeares they offered sacrifyces/set forth the incense / the lyghtes & shewe bred. When that was done/ they fell downe flat vpon the grounde / and besought the Lorde/ that they myght come nomore in to soch trouble:but yf they synned eny moeny more agaynst him / he him self to chastē them wyth mercy / and not to come in the hādes of those aleauntes and blasphemous men.

Now vpon the same daye that ỹ straungers polluted the temple, it happened that on the very same daye it was clensed agayne: namely / the.xxv. daye of the moneth called Casleu. They kepte.viij. dayes in gladnesse / lyke as in ỹ feast of the tabernacles: remembryng that not longe afore / they helde the feast of the tabernacles vpon the mountaynes and in dennes lyke beastes. And to the same token they bare grene bowes / braunches and palmes before him that had geuen them good fortune to clense his place. They agreed also together / and made a statute / ỹ euery yeare those dayes shulde be solemply kepte of all the people of the Jewes. 1. Mach.iij.k.

Now Antiochus then (that was called the noble) dyed / it is sufficiently tolde. Now will we speake of Nicanor the sonne of that wicked Antiochus / how it happened wyth him: and so with few wordes to comprehende the aduersyte that chaunsed in ỹ warres. When he had takē in the kyngdome / he made one Lysias (which had bene captayne of the host in Phenices and Siria) ruler ouer the matters of the realme. For Ptolomy that was called Macron / beynge a ruler for the Jewes (and specially / to syt in iudgment for such wronge as was done vnto them) vnder toke to deale peaceably wyth them. For the which cause he was accused of the frendes before Eupator: and when he was suspecte to be a traytoure (because he had lefte Cyprus that Philometor had committed vnto hym: and because he departed from noble Antiochus / that he was come vnto) he poysoned him selfe / and dyed.

Now when Gorgias was gouernoure of the same places, he toke straungers and vnder toke of tymes to warre wyth the Jewes. 1. Mac.v.a. Moreouer the Idumeans that helde ỹ stroge holdes / receaued those that were dryuen from Jerusalem / and toke in hande to warre also. But they that were with Machabeus besought and prayed vnto the Lorde / that he wolde be their helper: and so they fell in to the stronge holdes of the Idumeans / and wanne many places by strength: Soch as came agaynst them they slew / and kylled no lesse (of all together) then twentye thousande. Neuertheles some / no lesse then nyne thousande / were fled in to two stronge towres / hauynge all maner of ordynaunce to withstande them.

Then Machabeus leauing Symon / Josephus / Zacheus and those that were wyth them (which were very many) wente to besege them / and to fyght where most nede was. Now they that were wyth Symon beynge led wyth couetousnesse / were intreated for money / thorow certayne of those that laye in ỹ towres: toke.lxx.M. Drachmas / & let some of them escape. But when it was tolde Machabeus what had happened / he called the captaynes of the people together / accusynge those persones / ỹ they had solde the brethren for money / and lett their enemyes go. So he slewe those traytours / and immediatly wente in hande wyth the.ij. towers. And whē they had ordred them selues manly with their weapens and handes, they slewe in the two castels moo then twentye thousande.

Now Timotheus when the Jewes had ouercome afore / gathered a multytude of straunge people / brought an host also of horsmen of the Asians / to wynne Jewry by strength. But when he drewe nye / Machabeus ỹ they that were with hym fell to their prayer / sprenckled asshes vpō their heades / beyng gyrded with hearrie cloth about their loynes / fell downe before the aulter / and besought the Lorde that he wolde be mercyfull to them / but an enemye vnto their enemyes / and to take parte agaynst their aduersaries / accordynge as it is promysed in ỹ lawe. So after the prayer / they wente on further from the cyte: and when they came nye the enemyes / they prepared them selues agaynst them. 1. Mac.v.c. v. Mac.vij.d. Mach.xij.b. Jose.xv.§.d

And by tymes in the mornynge at ỹ breake of the daye / both the hoostes buckled together. The one parte had the Lorde for their refuge / which is the geuer of prosperyte / strength and victory. The other had a manly stomack / which is a captayne of warre.

The battayll now beynge greate / there apeared vnto the enemyes from heauen. v. men vpō horsbacks wyth bridels of golde / leadinge the Jewes / and two of them hauyng Machabeus betwixte them / that kepte him safe on euery syde wyth their weapens / but shot dartes and lightenynges vpon the enemyes: wherfore thorow they were confounded with blyndnesse & so sore afrayed / that they fell downe. There were slayne of fote men twentie thousande and fyue hundreth / and syxe hundreth horsmen. As for Timotheus him selfe / he fled vnto Gazar a very stronge holde / wherin Cereas was captayne. But Machabeus and his company layed syege to it chearfully.iiij.dayes. 2. Mac.x.b. and.xi.b. 1. Mac.iv.d.

Now they that were wythin trustynge to the strength of the place / cursed and banned exceadyngly / and made greate crakynge wyth wycked wordes. Neuertheles vpon the sixth daye in ꝑ morninge .xx. yong men of Machabeus company, beynge sett on fyre in their myndes because of the blasphemy: came manfully vnto the wall / and with bolde stomackes they and their other companyons clymmed vp vpon the towres / vndertakynge to set fyre vpon the portes / & to burne those blasphemous persons quicke. Two dayes were they destroying the castell / whych when they founde Timotheus (that was crepte in to a corner) they kylled him / & slewe Cereas his brother in lyke maner with Appollophanes. When this was done they sunge Psalmes / wyth prayses & thanckesgeuynges vnto the Lorde / which had done so greate thynges for Israel, and geuen them the victory.

Lysias góeth about to ouercome the Jewes. Succour is sent from heauen vnto the Jewes. The letter of Lysias to the Jewes. The letter of kyng Antiochus vnto Lysias. A letter of the same vnto the Jewes. A letter of the Romaynes to the Jewes.

The .xj. Chapter.

A NOt longe after thys / Lysias the kynges stewarde and a kynsman of his) which had ꝑ gouernaunce of his matters (take sore displeasure for the thynges that had happened: and when he had gathered. lxxx. M. men of fote with all the hoste of the horsmen / he came agaynst the Jewes / thynckynge to wynne ꝑ cytie to make it an habytacion for the Grekes and the temple wolde he haue to be an house of lucre / lyke as the other goddes houses of the heathē are, & to sell the prestes office euery yeare: Not consyderyng ꝑ power of God, but was wylde in hys mynde / trustynge in the multitude of fote men in thousandes of horsmē, & in his .lxxx. B So he came in to Jewry & then to Bethsura (a castell of defence lyinge in a narow place .v. furlonges from Jerusalem) & wāne it. Now when Machabeus and his cōpany knewe that the stronge holdes were taken / they fell to their prayers with weppynge and teares before the Lorde: and all the people in lyke maner besought him / that he wolde sende a good angell to delyuer Israel. Machabeus hym selfe was the fyrst that made him ready to ꝑ battayll / erortyng the other that were with him / to ieoperde them selues and to helpe their brethren. And when they were goyenge forth of Jerusalem together with a redy and wyllyng mynde / there apeared before thē vpō horsbacke a mā in whyte clothynge with harnesse of golde / shakynge his speare. Then they praysed the Lorde all together, which had shewed them mercy / & were comforted in their myndes: in so moch that they were ready / not only to fyght with men, but with the most cruell beestes / yee & to runne thorow walles of yron.

Thus they wente on willyngly hauynge an helper from heauen / and the Lorde mercyfull vnto them. They fell myghtely vpon their enemyes lyke lyōs / brought downe .xj. M. fote men .vij. C. horsmen / put all ꝑ other to flyght / many of them beynge wounded / and some gat awaye naked. Yee Lysias him selfe was fayne to fle shamefully / and so to escape. Neuertheles the mā was not wyth out vnderstandynge, but consydered by hym selfe that his power was mynished and ponderd how the Jewes beynge defended by the helpe of Almighty God / were not able to be ouercome: wherfore he sent thē worde / and promysed / ꝑ he wolde cōsente to all thynges which were reasonable, and to make ꝑ kyng their frende. To the which prayer of Lysias Machabeus agreed lekynge in all thynges the comen wealth: and whatsoeuer Machabeus wrote vnto Lysias concernynge the Jewes / the kyng graūted it. For there were lettres wrytten vnto the Jewes from Lysias cōteynynge these wordes.

Lysias sendeth gretynge to the people of the Jewes. Jhon and Absalon whych were ꝺ sent from you / deliuered me wrytynges / & requyred me to fulfyll the thynges concernynge their earande. Therfore loke what might be graunted, I certifyed ꝑ kyng therof: & whatsoeuer was conuenient, I agreed therto. If ye now wyll be faythfull in ꝑ matters / I shal endeuer my selfe hereafter also to do you good. As concernynge other thynges by euery artycle therof: I haue cōmytted thē to youre messaungers, and to those whom I sent vnto you / to comen with you of ꝑ same / fare ye well. In the hundreth & .xlviij. yeare / ꝑ .xxiiij. daye of ꝑ moneth Dioscorinthius.

Now the kynges lettre conteyned these wordes. Kynge Antiochus sendeth gretinge vnto his brother Lisias. For so moch as oure father is now deed / oure wyll is / that they which are in oure realme / lyue without eny insurrecc̄yon, and euery man to be dyligent in his awne matters. We vnderstande also / that the Jewes wolde not consent to oure father / for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentyles / but stykly to kepe their awne statutes: for the which cause they requyre of vs also / to lett them remayne styll by their awne lawes.

Wherfore oure minde is / that this people shalbe in rest: we haue concluded and determed also / to restore thē their temple agayne: that they maye lyue accordynge to the vse & custome of their fore fathers. Thou shalt do vs a pleasure therfore / yf thou sende vnto them and agre with them: that whē they are certicertified of oure minde/they maye be of good chere/and loke to their awne wealth.

And this was the lettre/ that the kynge wrote vnto the Jewes: Kyng Antiochus sendeth gretynge vnto the councell and ỹ other people of ỹ Jewes. If ye fare well/ we haue oure desyre: as for vs/ we are in good health. Menelaus came and tolde vs/ how ỹ youre desyre was to come downe to youre people/ which are with vs.

Wherfore those that will come/ we geue them fre lyberte/ vnto the. xxx. daye of the moneth of Aprill/ that they maye vse ỹ meates of the Jewes and their awne lawes/ lyke as afore: and none of them by eny maner of wayes to haue harme/ for thynges done in ignorance. Menelaus whom we haue sent vnto you/ shall cõme with you at large/ fare ye well. In the. CLviij. yeare/ the. xv. daye of the moneth of April.

The Romaynes also sent a lettre/ conteynynge these wordes: Quintus Mennius & Titus Manlius embassitours of the Romaynes/ sende gretynge vnto the people of the Jewes. Loke what Lysias the kynges kynsman hath graunted you/ we graunte you the same also. But as concernynge the thynges which he referred vnto the kynge/ sende hyther some with spede: and ponder the matter dyligently amonge your selues/ that we maye cast ỹ best to youre profite/ for we must departe now vnto Antioche. And therfore wryte shortly agayne/ ỹ we maye know youre mynde. Fare well. In ỹ hundreth xlviij. yeare/ the. xv. daye of the moneth of April.

¶ Timotheus troubleth the Jewes. The wycked deade of the Jeppytes agaynst the Jewes. Judas is auenged of them. He setteth fyre on the gate of Jamnia. The pursute of the Jewes agaynst Tymothye. Timothye is take & let go vnhurt. Judas pursueth Gorgias. Judas offeryng sacrifice for the dede, sheweth the hope of the resurrection.

¶ The. xij. Chapter.

When these couenauntes were made Lysias wente vnto the kyng/ & the Jewes tylled their grounde. But Timotheus/ Appollonius ỹ sonne of Gemei/ Jerome and Demophon ỹ proude/ Nicanor the captayne of Cypers/ & they that laye in those places: wolde not lett them lyue in rest and peace. They of Joppa also dyd euen soch a shamefull dede. They prayed the Jewes that dwelt amonge them/ to go with their wyues and chyldren in to ỹ shyppes which they had prepared/ and dyd wyth them, as though they had ought thẽ no euell wyll. For so moch then as there was gone forth a generall proclamacion thorow ỹ cytie because of peace, they cõsented therto/ & suspecte nothynge: but when they were gone forth in to the depe/ they drowned no lesse then. iij. C. of them.

When Judas knew of this crueltie shewed vnto his people/ he commaunded those that were with him to make thẽ ready/ exhortyng them to call vpon God the ryghtuous iudge: went forth agaynst those murthurers of his brethren/ set fyre in the hauẽ by nyght/ brẽt vp the shyppes/ and those that escaped from the fyre/ he slewe with the swearde. And whẽ ỹ he had done thys/ he departed as though he wolde come agayne/ and rote out all them of Joppa. But when he had gotten worde that the Jamnites were mynded to do in lyke maner vnto the Jewes which dwelt amõge thẽ/ he came vpon the Jamnites by nyght/ & sett fyre in the hauen with the shyppes: so that the lyght of the fyre was sene at Jerusalem/ vpon a. ij. C. and. xl. furlonges.

Now when they were gone from thence. xv. furlonges/ in their iourney towarde Timotheus. v. thousande men of fote and. v. hundreth horsmen of the Arabians fought with hym. So whẽ the battell was earnest/ and prospered with Judas thorow the helpe of God: the residue of the Arabyans beinge ouercome/ besought Judas to be at one wt them/ & promysed to geue hym certayne pastures/ and to do hym good in other thynges. Judas thynckynge that they shulde in dede be profytable concernynge many thynges/ promysed them peace: wherupon they shoke handes/ and so they departed to their tentes. Judas wente also vnto a cytye/ whych was very faste kepte with brydges/ fenced round aboute wyth walles/ and dyuerse kyndes of people dwellynge therin/ called Caspin.

They that were within it/ put soch trust in the strẽgth of the walles/ & in their stoare of vytales: that they were the slacker in their doynges/ cursynge and reuylynge Judas wt blasphemyes/ and speakynge soch wordes as it becommeth not. But Machabeus callynge vpon the greate Prynce of the worlde (whych wythout any battayllrammes or ordynaunce of warre/ dyd cast downe the walles of Jericho/ in the tyme of Josue) fell manfully vpon the walles/ toke the cyte/ & (thorow the helpe of the Lorde) made an exceadynge greate slaughter: In so moch that a lake of two fourlonges brode whych laye therby/ semed to flowe wyth the bloude of the slayne. Josue. vi.

Then departed they from thence. vij. C. & L. furlonges and came to Caraca vnto the Jewes that are called Tubianei. But as for Timothe/ they could not get him there: for (not one matter dyspatched) he was departed from thence/ and had lefte certayne men men in a very stronge holde. But Dositheus & Sosipater/ which were Captaynes wyth Machabeus/ slewe those ꝑ Timotheus had lefte in the house of defence/ euē. v. M. men. And Machabeus ꝓpared him with the. vj M. men ꝑ were aboute him/ set them in ordre by companyes/ and wente forth agaynst Timotheus/ which had with him an. C. and xx. M. men of fote. ii. M. and. vi C. horsmen.

Judith. vij. c. 1. Reg xiij. c. & Paral. xx. d

When Timotheus had knowledge of Judas comynge/ he sent the women/ chyldren and the other baggage vnto a castell called Carnion. (For it could not be wōne/ & was harde to come vnto / the wayes of the same places were so narow) and whē Judas company came fyrst in syght/ the enemyes were smytten with feare / throw the presence of God/ which seyth all thynges: In so moch ꝑ they sleynge one here / another there / were rather discomfited of their awne people and wounded wꝑ strokes of their awne sweardes. Judas also was very earnest in folowynge vpon them punishynge those vngodly / and slewe xxx. M. men of them. Timotheus also him selfe fell in to the handes of Dositheus and Sosipater/ whom he besought wᵗ many prayers/ to let him go with his lyfe: because he had many of the Jewes fathers & brethrē in prison which (yᵗ they put hym to death) myght be disapoynted. So whē he had promysed fayth fully to delyuer thē agayne accordyng to the condicyon made/ they let him go without harme/ for the health of the brethren. And when Judas had slayne. xxb. M. he wente from Carnion.

Now after ꝑ he had chased awaye & slayne his enemyes/ he remoued the hoste towarde Ephron a stronge cytie/ wherin dwelt many dyuerse people of the heathen/ & the stronge yonge men kepte the walles/ defendyng thē myghtely. In this cytie was moch ordinaūce/ and prouysion of dartes. But when Judas and hys company had called vpon Almighty God (which wᵗ hys power breaketh the strength of the enemyes) they wanne the cytie/ and slewe. xxb. M. of them / that were within. From thence wente they to the cytye of the Scythians / whych lyeth. vi. C. furlonges from Jerusalem. But whē ꝑ Jewes which were in the cytie testifyed/ that ꝑ citesyns dealte louyngly with them/ yee and intreated them kyndly in the tyme of their aduersite/ Judas and his company gaue them thankes/ desyrynge them to be frendly still vnto them: and so they came to Jerusalem the hye feast of the weekes beynge at hande. And after the feast they went forth agaynst Gorgias the gouernoure of Idumea / wyth iij. M. men of fote & iiij. C. horsmen. Which when they met together/ it chaunsed a fewe of the Jewes to be slayne. And Dositheus ꝑ one of the Bachenors a mighty horsmā toke holde of Gorgias/ and wolde haue taken him quycke. But an horsmā of Thracia fell vpō him/ and smote of his arme/ so that Gorgias escaped & fled in to Maresa. When they now ꝑ were of Gorgias syde / had foughtē longe & were weary: Judas called vpon the Lorde that he wolde be their helper / & captayne of the felde: and with that / he beganne wyth a manly voyce to take vp a songe of prayse/ & a crye: In so moch that he made the enemies afrayed / and Gorgias men of warre toke their flyght. So Judas gathered his hoste/ & came in to the cytie of Odolla. And when the seuenth daye came vpō them / they cleansed them selues (as ꝑ custome was) & kepte the Sabboth in the same place. And vpon ꝑ daye folowynge/ Judas & his company cam to take vp the bodies of thē that were slayne/ and to bury thē in the fathers graues. Now vnder the cotes of certayne Jewes whych were slayne/ they founde Jewels that they had taken out of the temple & from the Idols of the Jaunters: which thynge is forbydden the Jewes by the lawe. Then euery mā saw that this was the cause, wherfore they were slayne. Deute. vij. c. Josu. vij. a.

And so euery man gaue thankes vnto ꝑ ꝙ Lorde for his ryghtuous iudgment / whych had opened the thynge that was hyd. They fell downe also vnto their prayers / and besought God/ ꝑ the fawte which was made/ might be put out of remembraūce. Besydes that/ Judas exorted the people earnestly/ to kepe thē selues from soch synne: for so moch as they sawe before their eyes/ ꝑ these men were slayne for the same offence. So he gathered of euery one a certayne/ in so moch ꝑ he brought together two thousande drachmas of syluer which he sent vnto Jerusalē/ that there myght a sacrifyce be offred for the mysdede In the which place he dyd well and ryght: for he had some consyderacyon & ponderyng of the lyfe that is after this tyme. For yf he had not thought that they / which were slayne/ dyd yet lyue it had bene superfluous and vayne to make eny bowe or sacrifyce *for thē/ that were dede. But for so moch as he sawe/ that they which dye in the fauoure & beleue of God/ are in good rest and loye/ he thought it to be good & honorable for a recōcylynge/ to do ꝑ same for those whych were slayne/ ꝑ the offence myght be forgeuen.

¶ The cõminge of Eupator in to Jewry. The death of Menelaus. Machabeus goyng to feyght agaynst Eupator/moueth his soudiars vnto prayer. He inuerly ouerthrowe fyue thousande men in the tentes of Antiochus. Rhodocus the betrayer of the Jewes is taken. Antiochus retayneth freendship with the Jewes.

¶ The.xiij Chapter.

In the. C.lxix. yeare gatt Judas knowlege/that Antiochus Eupator was commynge wyth a greate power in to Jewry / & Lysyas the stewarde and ruler of his matters with him: hauynge an. C. and. x. M. men of fote. v. M. horsmen. xvij. Elephantes / and. iij. C. charettes. Menelaus also ioyned him self wyth them (but wyth greate dyscreate) and spake fayre to the kynge / not for eny good of the countre / but because he thought to haue bene made some greate man of auctorite. But the kinge of kinges moued Antiochus mynde agaynst thys vngodly personne / and Lysias vnfourmyd the kynge, that thys Menelaus was the cause of all myschefe: so that the kynge commaunded to take him/and(as the maner of them is) to put hym vnto death in the same place.

1. Mach. vi. d

There was also in the same place a tower of. L. cubytes hye/heapped with asshes: but aboue it was so made /that men myght loke downe on euery syde. Where in to the kynge commaunded that shamefull person to be cast amonge the asshes / as one that was cause of all vngraciousnesse. And reason it was, that & vnthryft shulde dye soch a death/ and not to be buryed: for he had done moch myschefe vnto the aulter of God (whose fyre & asshes were holy) therfore was it right/ & he him self also shulde be destroyed with asshes.

2. Mach. xv. e

But the kynge was woode in his mynde and came to shewe hym self more cruell vnto the Jewes/then hys father was. Which when Judas perceaued / he commaunded the people to call vpon the Lorde nyght and daye: that he wolde now helpe them also /lyke as he had done allwaye: For they were afrayed to be put from their lawe/from their naturall countre and from the holy temple: and not to suffre the people (whych a lytle whyle afore beganne to recouer) to be subdued agayne of & blasphemous nacions.

So when they had done thys together / and besought the Lord for mercy/ with weepynge and fastynge thre dayes longe / flatt vpon the grounde: Judas exhorted them /to make them selues ready. But he and the elders together deuysed / to go forth first wyth their people / afore the kynge brought hys hoost in to Jewry / and afore he beleged the cytye/ & so to committe the matter vnto God.

Wherfore he ascryued the power of all kynges vnto God the maker of the worlde/ exhortynge hys people to feyght manfully/ (yee euen vnto death) for the lawes/ the temple/ the cytye / their awne natyue countre/ and to defende the cytesyns: and set his hoost before Modyn. He gaue them also that were wyth hym / a token of the victory of God/ chosynge out the manlyest yonge men/ wente by nyght in to the kynges pauylyon/ slewe of the hoost. xiij. M. men / & the greatest Elephantes / wyth those that satt vpon them.

1. Mach. vi. f

Thus when they had brought a greate feare and rumour amõge the tentes of their enemyes/and all thynges went prosperously wyth them / they departed in the breake of the daye / God beynge their helper and defender. Now when the kynge perceaued the manlynesse of the Jewes / he wente about to the take the stronge places by craft /and remoued hys hoost vnto Bethsura / whych was a well kepte house of defence of the Jewes: but they were chaced awaye / hurte and discomfyted.

2. Mach. xi. d

And Judas sent vnto them that were in it / soch thynges as were necessary. In the Jewes hoost also there was one Rhodocus/ whych tolde the enemyes their secretes: but they sought him out and when they had gotten hym, they put hym in prison. After thys dyd the kynge comen wyth them that were in Bethsura / take truce wyth them / departed, and stroke a battayl wyth Judas, which ouercame him.

But when he vnderstode / that Philippe (whõ he had left to be ouerseer of hys businesses at Antioche) begãne to rebel agaynst hym, he was astonnyed in hys mynde: so that he yelded hym self to the Jewes / and made thẽ an othe / to do whatsoeuer they thought right.

Now when he was reconcyled wyth them/ he offred / made moch of the temple / gaue greate gyftes vnto it / enbraced Machabeus / makynge hym captayne and gouernour frõ Ptolomays vnto the Gerrenes.

Neuertheles when he came to Ptolomays / the people of the cytye were not content wyth that bonde of frendshype: for they were afrayed / that he wolde breake the couenaunt. Then wente Lysyas vp in to the seate and enfourmed the people/ shewed thẽ the cause why/and pacifyed them. So he came agayne to Antyoche. Thys is now the matter concernynge the kynges iourney / & his returne.

¶ By the mocyon of the Lorde/ Demetrius sendeth Nicanor to kyll the Jewes. Nicanor maketh a compact wt the Jewes/ which he yet breaketh through the mocyon of the kynge. Nicanor cõmaundeth Razis to be taken. The boldnes of Razis.

¶ The.xiiij. Chapter.

After

After thre yeares was Judas informed/how that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a greate power and shyppes/ thorow the hauen of Tripolis/to take certayne commodyous places and countrees/ agaynst Antiochus ȝ his captayne Lysias. Now Alcimus(which had bene hye Preest/ & wylfully defyled hym self, in the tyme of the myxtynge)seing/ ꝙ by no meanes he coulde be helped/ ner haue any more intraunce to the aultare:he came to kynge Demetrius in the hundreth and one & fyftye yeare/ presentynge vnto him a crowne of golde/a palme & an olyue tree: which(as men thought)belonged to the temple/ & that daye he held his tonge. But whē he had gottē oportunyte for his madnesse/Demetrius called hym to counsell/ and asked hym/what thinges or councels the Jewes leaned vnto? He answered: The Jewes that be called Assidei(whose captayne is Judas Machabeus)maynteyne warres/ make insurrecc̄yons/ and wyll not let the realme be in peace.

For I beynge depryued of my fathers honoure(I meane the hye presthode) am come hyther:partly because I was faythfull vnto the kynge/and partly because I sought the profyt of ꝙ cytesins. And why? all oure people thorow the wickednesse of them, are not a lytle troubled. Wherfore I beseche the(O kynge)conspore all these thynges diligently/ and then make some prouysyon for the lande and the people/accordynge to ꝙ kyndnesse that thou hast offred vnto them. For as longe as Judas hath the vpperhāde, it is not possible that men can lyue in peace.

When he had spoken these wordes/ other frendes also haynge euell wyll at Judas/ sett the kynge Demetrius on fyre agaynst him. Which immediatly sent Nicanor (ruler of the Elephantes) a captayne/ into Jewry:cōmaundynge him/ to take Judas him selfe alyue, but to slaye them that were with him and to make Alcimus hye preste of the temple.

Then the Heathen whych fled oute of Jewry from Judas/ came to Nicanor by flockes/thynckynge the harme and decaye of ꝙ Jewes to be their welfare. Now when the Jewes herde of Nicanors commynge/ and the gatheryng together of the Heathen:they sprēckled thē selues with earth/ & besought god/ which made them hys people/ & euer defended his awne porcion with euydent tokens, that he wolde preserue them styll. So as the commaundemēt of the captayne/ they remoued from thence/ and came to a towne called Dessalan. And Symon Judas brother fell in hande with Nicanor/but thorow the sodayne commyng of the enemyes/he was afrayed.

Neuertheles Nicanor hearinge the manlynes of them that were with Judas/ & the bolde stomackes that they had to fyght for their naturall countre/ durst not proue the matter wyth bloudsheddynge. Wherfore he sent Posidonius/ Theodocius & Mathias before, to geue and to take peace. So when they had taken longe aduysement there vpō/ and the captayne shewed it vnto the multytude:they were agreed in one minde/to haue peace. And they appoynted a daye to syt vpō these matters quyetly amonge them selues/ the stoles also were brought and set forth. Neuertheless Judas commaunded certayne men of armes to wayte in conuenient places/ lest there shulde sodenly aryse any euell thorow the enemyes. And so they commoned reasonably together.

Nicanor/ whyle he abode at Jerusalem/ ordred him selfe not vnreasonbly/ but sent awaye the people that were gathered together. He loued Judas euer with his hert, and fauoured him. He prayed him also to take a wyfe, and to bringe forth chyldren. So he maryed/lyued in rest/ and they led a comen lyfe. But Alcimus perceauynge the loue ꝙ was betwyxte them/ and how they were agreed together/came to Demetrius/ & tolde him that Nicanor had taken straunge matters in hande/and ordened Judas(an enemy of the realme)to be the kynges successoure. Then the kynge was sore displeased/ & thorow ꝙ wycked accusacyōs whych Alcimus made of Nicanor/he was so prouoked/ that he wrote vnto Nicanor saying: that he was very angrie for ꝙ frendshippe and agremēt/ which he had made wyth Machabeus. Neuertheles he commaunded him in all ꝙ haste/ that he shulde take Machabeus preisoner/ and sende him to Antioche.

Which lettres when Nicanor had sene/ he was at his wyttes ende/and sore greued/ that he shulde breake the thynges wherin they had agreed:specially, sayenge Machabeus was the man/that neuer dyd hym harme. But because he myght not wyth stande the kynge, he sought oportunite to fulfil his commaundement. Notwythstanding when Machabeus sawe that Nicanor beganne to be churlysh vnto hym/ and that he intreated him more rughly then he was wonte, he perceaued ꝙ soch vnkyndnes came not of good/ and therfore he gathered a few of his men/ & withdrewe him self from Nicanor. Which when he knewe that Machabeus had manfully preuented him/he came in to the great and most holy temple:and commaunded the prestes(which were doynge their vsuall of-kringes)to delyuer hym the man. And when they sware that they coulde not tell where the man was whom he sought / he stretched out his hande / & made an othe / sayinge: If ye wyll not delyuer me Judas captyue / I 1.Mach.vij.c shall remoue this tẽple of God into ỹ playne felde / I shall breake downe the aulter / and consecrate this temple vnto Bachus. After these wordes he departed.

F Then the prestes lyft vp their handes towarde heauen / and besought hym that was euer the defender of their people / sayinge: Thou O Lorde of all / which hast nede of nothynge / woldest that the temple of thy habytacyon shulde be amonge vs. Therfore now 1.Mach.iiij.c. O moost holy Lorde / kepe thys house euer vndefyled / whych lately was clensed. Now ỹ.Mach.x.a. was there accused vnto Nicanor / one Razis an Alderman of Jerusalem / a louer of the whole cyte / and a mã of good reporte: which for the kynde herte that he bare vnto the people / was called a father of the Jewes. Thys man oft tymes / when the Jewes were mynded to kepe thẽ selues vndefyled / defended & delyuered them / beinge content stedfastly to spende his body and his lyfe for his people.

G So Nicanor wyllynge to declare ỹ hate / that he bare to the Jewes / sent fyue hundreth men to take hym: for he thought / yf he gat him he shulde bringe the Jewes in great decaye. Now when the people begãne to rushe in at hys house / to breake the dores / & to set fyre on it: he beinge now taken / wolde haue defended himself with his sworde: chosynge rather to dye manfully / then to yelde hymself to those wicked doers: & because of his noble stocke / he had rather haue bene put to extreme cruelte. Notwithstandyng what tyme as he missed of hys stroke for haste / & ỹ multitude fell in vyolẽtly betwixte the dores: he rãne boldly to the wal / & cast himself downe manfully amonge the heape of thẽ / which gaue soone place to his fall / so that he fel vpon his bely. Neuertheles whyle there was yet breath wythin hym / he was kyndled in hys mynde / and whyle hys blonde gusshed out exceadingly (for he was very sore wounded) he ranne thorow the myddest of the people / and gat hym to the toppe of a rocke. So whẽ hys blonde was now gone / he toke out hys awne bowels with both his handes / & threw them vpon the people: callynge vpon ỹ Lord of lyfe & spyrite / to rewarde him this agayne / and so he dyed.

¶ Nicanor goeth aboute to come vpon Judas on the Sabboth daye. The blasphemye of Nicanor. Machabeus expoundynge vnto the Jewes the vylyon / boldeneth their hertes. The prayer of Machabeus. After the hoste of Nicanor is ouercome / Machabeus commaundeth his hed and hys handes to be cut of / & his tonge to be geuen vnto fowles.

¶ The.xv.Chapter.

NOw when Nicanor knewe that 1.Mach.vij.d. Judas was in the countre of Samaria / he thought wyth all hys power to fyght a felde wyth hym vpon a Sabboth daye. Neuertheles the Jewes that were compelled to go wyth hym / sayde: O do not so cruelly and vnkyndly but halowe the Sabboth daye, and worshyppe hym that seyth all thinges. For all thys / yet 1.Mach.xv.c sayde the vngracyous personne: Is there a myghtye one in heauen that cõmaunded the Sabboth daye to be kepte? And whenthey sayde: yee the lyuynge God / the myghtye Lorde in heauen commaunded the seuenth daye to be kepte he sayde: And I am myghty Exo.xx.d vpon earth to commaunde them for to arme them selues / and to performe the kynges bulynesse. Notwithstandynge he myght not haue his purpose.

Nicanor had deuysed wyth greate pryde to ouercome Judas / and to bringe awaye B the victory. But Machabeus had euer a fast confydence and a parfecte hope in God that he wolde helpe him / and exhorted his people / not to be afrayed at the cõmynge of the Heathen: but alwaye to remembre the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen / yee and to be sure now also / that almyghtye God wolde geue them the victory. He spake vnto them out of the lawe and prophetes / putting thẽ in remembraũce of ỹ battayls / that they had fought afore / and made them to be of a good corage.

So when their hartes were pricte vp he shewed them also the dysceatfulnesse of the Heathen / and how they wolde kepe no couenaunt nor othe. Thus he weapened thẽ not with the armoure of shylde and speare / but with wholsome wordes and exhortacyõs. He shewed them a dreame also / wherthorow he made thẽ al glad / which was this: he thought that he sawe Onias (whych had bene hye prest / a vertuous and louynge man / sad and of honest conuersacyon / well spoken / & one that had bene exercysed in Godlynes from a chylde) holdyng vp his handes towarde heauen / and prayenge for his people. After this there apeared vnto hym another mã / whych C was aged honorable and glorious. And Onias sayde: This is a louer of the brethren / and of the people of Israell. This is he that prayeth moch for the people / and for all the holy cytie: Jeremy the prophete of God. He thought also ỹ Jeremy helde out hys ryght hande / and gaue hym (namely vnto Judas) a sworde of golde / sayenge: Take this holy sworde / a gyfte from God / wherwith thou shalt smyte downe the enemyes of the people of Israel.

And

And so they were well comforted thorow the wordes of Judas / and toke corage vnto them / so that the yonge men were determed in their myndes to fyght / and to byde stylly at it: In so moch that in the thynges whych they toke in hande / their boldnesse shewed ye same / because the holy cytie and the temple were in parell: for the which they toke more care / then for their wyues / chyldren / brethrē and kynsfolckes. Agayne / they that were in the cytye / were most carefull for those which were to fyght. Now when they were all in a hope that the iudgment of ye matter was at hand, and the enemyes drewnye / the host beynge set in araye / the Elephantes and horsmen euery one standynge in hys place: Machabeus consydered the commyng of ye multytude / the ordynaunce of dyuerse weapens, the cruelnesses of the beestes / & helde vp his handes to warde heauē / callyng vpō the Lorde that doth wonders. which geueth not the victory after the multytude of weapens and power of the host, but to them that please hym) accordynge to hys awne wyll. Therfore in his prayer he sayd these wordes.

v. Para. xiij. c. Judic. vij. b

O Lorde, thou that diddest sende thyne Angell in the tyme of Ezechias kyng of Juda / and in the hoste of Sennaherib slewest an hundreth and fyue and foure score thousand: sende now also thy good angell before vs (O Lorde of heauens) in the fearfulnesse and drede of thy myghtye arme / that they which come agaynst thy holy people to blaspheme thē / maye be afrayed. And so he made an ende of his wordes. Then Nicanor & they ye were with hym / drewe nye with shawmes and longes: but Judas & his company wyth prayer and callinge vpon God.

iiij. Reg. xix. & Esaye xxxvij. Ecclesiast. xlviij. c. & 2. Esdr. vij. d.

With their handes they smote, but wyth their hertes they prayed vnto the Lorde / and slew no lesse then .xxxb. men: For thorow ye presente helpe of God they were gloriously comforted.

Now when they left of / & were turnynge agayne with ioye / they vnderstode that Nicanor hymselfe was slayne wyth the other. Then they gaue a greate shoute and a crye / prayesynge the Almighty Lord with a loude voyce. And Judas (which was euer ready to spende his body and lyfe for his citesyns) cōmaunded to smyte of Nicanors head / wyth hys arme & hande, & to be brought to Jerusalem. When he came there / he called all the people / and the prestes at the aulter wyth those that were in the castell, and shewed thē Nicanors head / and his wyckedhāde, which he had presumptuously holden vp agaynst ye temple of God. He caused the tonge also of ye vngodly Nicanor to be cut in lytle peces / & to be cast to the foules / and the cruell mās hande to be hanged vp before the temple.

So euery man gaue thanckes vnto the Lord / sayinge: blessed be he / that hath kepte hys place vndefyled.

As for Nicanors head / he hanged it vp vpon the hye castell, for an euydent & playne tokē of the helpe of God. And so they agreed all together / to kepe that daye holy / namely the .xiij. daye of the moneth Adar / which in the Syrians language is called the nexte daye before Mardocheus daye. Thus was Nicanor slayne / & from that tyme forth the Jewes had the cytie in possession: And here wyll I now make an ende.

The.xiij. Chapter.

Marci.iij.a Luce.viij.a

THe same daye went Jesus out of ꝑ house, and sat by the see syde / and moch people resorted vnto hym, so gretly ꝑ he went/& sat in a shippe/ and all the people stode on the shoore. And he spake many thynges to thē in symilytudes/ sayīg: Beholde/the sower wēt forth to sowe. And as he sowed/some fell by ꝑ wayes syde/ & the fowles came & deuoured it vp. Some fell vpō stony groūde where it had not moche erth/and anone it spronge vp/because it had no depth of erth: and when the sunne was vp it caught heet/and for lacke of rotynge wyddred awaye. Some fell amonge thornes / & ꝑ thornes spronge vp and choked it. Parte fell in good ground/ and brought forth good frute: some an hundred fold/ some syrtie fold some thirtie folde. Whosoeuer hath eares to heare let him eare.

And the disciples came and sayde to hym: why speakest thou to thē in parables? He answered and sayde vnto them / it is geuen vnto you to knowe the secretes of the kyngdome of heuen / but to them it is not geuen.

a ✠ That is/ To him ꝑ hath a good hert towarde goddes wo.de is full fyll it / shalbe more grace geuē. And to him that hath not/ shalbe taken awaye euen the same knowledge that he hath/ and hys herte so hardened ꝑ he shall not repent.

a For whosoeuer hath to him shall be geuē: and he shall haue aboundance. But whosoeuer hath not: from him shalbe taken awaye euen that he hath. Therfore speake I to thē in symilitudes: for though they se, they se not: & hearinge they heare not: neuer vnderstāde. And in them is fulfylled the Prophecye of Esaias/which prophesye sayth: with ꝑ eares ye shall heare and shall not vnderstande, and with ꝑ eyes ye shall se, & shall not perceaue. For this peoples hertes are wered grosse, and their eares are dull of herynge / & their eyes haue they closed lest they should se with their eyes/and heare with their eares / and shulde vnderstāde with their hertes/ & shuld tourne that I myght heale them.

¶ But blessed are youre eyes/ for they se: & youre eares, for they heare. Verely I saye vnto you/ ꝑ many prophetes / and perfayt men haue desyred to se those thynges which ye se/ & haue not sene thē: & to heare those thynges which ye heare & haue not herde thē. Heare ye therfore the symilitude of ꝑ sower. Whosoeuer heareth the worde of the b kyngdom & vnderstandeth it not, ther cometh ꝑ cuyll man & catcheth awaye ꝑ which was sowne in his hert. And this is he which was sowne by the waye syde. But he that was sowne in the stony grounde / is he which heareth the b Kyngedom signifieth here the gospell: by which God raigneth in the hertes of the faythfull & the same signifieth Christ which is oure kynge & oure kyngdō/ raigning in vs/ and in whome we raygne as we prayse. Mat. vi.b.

worde of God / and anone with ioye receaueth it yet hath he no rotes in him selfe, and therfore dureth but a season: for as sone as trybulacyon or persecucion aryseth because of the worde, by & by he falleth. He that was sowne amonge thornes is he that heareth ꝑ worde of God: but the care of this worlde, & the disceytfulnes of ryches choke the worde/ and so is he made vnfrutefull. He which is sowne in the good grounde is he that heareth the worde and vnderstandeth it: which also bereth frute and bryngeth forth / some an hundred folde / some syxtye folde / and some thirtye folde.

Another symilitude put he forth vnto thē sayinge: ✠ The kyngdome of heauen is lyke vnto a mā which sowed good seed in his feld. But whyll men c slept there came hys foo & sowed tares amonge the wheate, & went hys waye. When the blade was spronge vp and had brought forth frute, then appered the tares also. Then came the seruauntes to the housholder and sayde vnto hym: Syr sowedest not thou good seed in thy closse to thē where then hath it tares? He sayde to thē: the enuious mā hath done this. Then the seruaūtes sayde vnto him: wylt thou then that we go & wede them oute? But he sayd/nay/ lest whyll ye go aboute to wede out ꝑ tares/ ye plucke vppe also with them the wheate by ꝑ rotes: let bothe growe to gether tyll haruest come/ and in tyme of haruest/ I wyll saye to the repers/gather ye fyrst the tares/and bynde thē in shewes to be brent: but gather the wheete into my barne. ✠

c ✠ This slepe signifieth / the negligence and ignorance that men haue of God / which cōmeth by the carefulnes of ryches & pleasures of thys worlde.

✠ Another parable he put forth vnto them sayinge: The kyngdome of heauē is lyke vnto a grayne of mustard seed/which a man taketh and soweth in his felde/ which is ꝑ leest of all seedes. But when it is growne / it is ꝑ greatest amonge herbes, and it is a tree: so ꝑ the byrdes of the ayer come and byde in the braunches of it. Marci.iiij.d.

Another symylitude sayde he to them. ¶ The kyngdome of heauē is lyke vnto leuē which a woman taketh and hydeth in.iij. pecks of of meele/tyll all be leuended.

All these thinges spake Jesus vnto ꝑ people by symilitudes / & with oute symilitudes spake he nothynge to thē/ to fulfyll ꝑ which was spoken by the Prophet sayng: * I wyll open my mouth in symilitudes/ & wyll speake forth thynges which haue bene kepte secrete from the begynnynge of the worlde. ✠ Marci.iiij.c. * Psal.lxxviij.a

✠ Then sent Jesus the people awaye / & came home. And hys disciples came vnto hym, sayinge: declare vnto vs the symilitude of the tares of the felde. Then answered he & sayde to them. He that soweth the good seed is the sonne of mā. And the felde is ꝑ worlde. ¶ Tares are expounded.

And

And the chyldren of the kyngdome / they are the good seed. And the tares are the chyldren of the wycked. And the enemye that soweth them / is the deuyll. The haruest is the ende of the worlde. And the reapers be the Angels. For euen as the tares are gathered & brent in the fyre: so shall it be in the ende of thys worlde. * The sonne of man shall sende forth Apoca. xiij. c. his Angels / and they shall gather out of his kyngdome all thynges that offende / and thē which do iniquite / and shall cast them into a furnes of fyre. There shalbe waylinge and Mathew. xiij. gnasshyng of teth. * Then shall the iuste men shine as bryght as the sonne in the kyngdom of their father. Whosoeuer hath eares to hear / let him heare. ✠ ✠ Agayne the kyngdom of heauen is lyke vnto treasure hyde in the felde / the whych a man fyndeth and hydeth: and for ioye therof goeth & selleth all ꝑ he hath / & byeth ꝑ felde.

Agayne the kyngdome of heauē is lyke to a marchaūt that seketh good pearles / which whē he had founde one precious pearle / wēt and solde all that he had / and bought it.

Agayne the kyngdom of heauē is lyke vnto a neet cast in to the see / ꝑ gathereth of all kyndes of fyshes: which when it is full / men drawe to lande / & sytte & gather ꝑ good in & to vessels / & cast the bad awaye. So shall it be at the ende of ꝑ worlde. The Angels shall come oute & seuer the bad from the good / & shall cast thē into a furnes of fyre: there shal be waylinge and gnasshinge of teth.

Jesus sayde vnto them. Vnderstāde ye all these thynges? They sayde: ye Lorde. Then sayde he vnto them: Therfore euery * Scribe which is taught vnto the kyngedome of heauen is lyke an housholder / which bryngeth forth out of his treasure. thinges bothe new and olde. ✠

And it came to passe whē Jesus had fynished these similitudes ꝑ he departed thence / & came in to his awne countre, & taught thē in their synagoges / in so moche ꝑ they were astonyed and sayde: whence cometh all thys wysdome & power vnto him? Is not this the Carpenters sonne? Is not his mother called Mary? and hys brethren be called James & Joses and Simon and Judas? And are not his systers all herewith vs? Whence hath he all these thynges. And they were offended by hym. Then Jesus sayde to them / a Prophete is not withoute honoure / saue in hys awne countre / and amonge hys awne kynne. And he did not many myracles there / for there vnbeleefes sake

Then came to Jesus Scribes and Pharises from Jerusalem saying: why do thy disciples transgresse ẏ traditions of the elders? for they wet not their handes when they eate bred. He answered & sayde vnto them: why do ye also transgresse the commaundement of God, thorow youre traditions? For God cõmaunded sayng: honoure thy father & mother and he that curseth father or mother shall suffer deeth. But ye saye, euery mã shall saye to his father or mother: that which thou desyrest of me to helpe the with: is geuẽ God: & so shall he not honoure his father or his mother. And thus haue ye made, that the cõmaundemẽt of God is without effecte, thorough youre tradicyons. And he called the people vnto him, & sayd to them: heare and vnderstande. That whych goeth into the mouth, defyleth not the man: but that which commeth out of the mouth, defyleth the man.

Then came his disciples, and sayde vnto him: Perceauest thou not, how that the Pharises are offended in hearing this sayinge? He answered and sayde: * all plantes which my heauenly father hath not planted, shalbe plucked vp by the rotes. Let thẽ alone, they be ẏ blynde leaders of the blynde. And if the blynde leade the blynde, both shall fall into ẏ dyche.

* Origen and Chrisostom vnderstande thys of the Pharises because of their euell opinions. Hilarius and Erasmus vnderstand it of mennes traditions. ¶

Then answered Peter & sayd to him: declare vnto vs this parable. Then sayde Jesus: are ye yet without vnderstãdinge? perceaue ye not, ẏ whatsoeuer goeth in at ẏ mouth, descendeth doune into the bely, & is cast oute into the draught? But those thynges wbych proceede out of the mouth, come frõ the hert, and they defyle the man. For out of the herte come euill thoughtes, murder, breakyng of wedlocke whordom, theefte, false witnesbearynge, blasphemye. These are the thynges which defyle a man. But to eate wyth vnwashen handes, defyleth not a man.

And Jesus went thence, & departed into the costes of Tyre and Sydon. And beholde a woman which was a Cananite cam out of the same coostes, & cryed vnto hym sayinge: haue mercy on me Lorde thou sonne of Dauid, my daughter is pytcously vexed wyth a deuyll. He answered, & sayde: I am not sent, but vnto the loost shepe of the house of Israel. Then she cam & worshipped him, sayinge: master helpe me. He answered & sayde: it is not good, to take the chyldrens breade, and to cast it to * dogges. She answered & sayde: truthe Lorde, neuerthelesse the dogges eate of the crõmes which fall frõ their masters table. Then Jesus answered & sayde vnto her. And he healed them, in so moche that the people wondred, to se the the dõme speake, the maymed whole, the halt to go, & the blynde to se. And they glorifyed the God of Israel.

For in the resurrecyon they nether mary nor are maryed: but are as the Angels in heauen.

Mar.xij.b

Is touchyng the resurrection of the dede: haue ye not redde what is sayde vnto you of God, which sayth:* I am Abrahams God / & Isaacs God/ and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dede: but of the lyuynge. And when the people hearde that / they were astonyed at his doctryne.

Exod.iij.b.

✠ When the Pharises had hearde how ỳ he had put the Saduces to syence/ they drewe to gether, & one of them which was a doctour of lawe, asked him a question tẽptinge him & sayinge: Master which is the chefe cõmaundemẽt in the lawe? Jesus sayde to him: Loue the Lord thy God with all thyne herte, with all thy soule / and wyth all thy mynde. This is the fyrst and the chefe commaundement. And the is another lyke vnto thys. Loue thyne neyboure as thy selfe. In these two commaundementes hange all the lawe and the Prophetes.

Whyll the Pharises were gathered together/ Jesus asked them sayinge: what thynke ye of Christ? Whose sonne is he? They sayde vnto him, the sonne of Dauid. He sayde vnto them: how then doeth Dauid in spyrite / call hym Lorde sayinge: The Lorde sayde to my Lorde, syt on my ryght hande tyll I make thyne enemyes thy fote stole. If Dauid call him Lord: how is he then his sonne? And none could answere hym agayne one worde: nether durste eny from that daye forth, aske him any moo questions. ✠

b* Vntyll I make thyne enemyes thy fote stole. i. e. thys acqueth not when the enemyes of Christ are subdued & then Christ hath no maistry on the ryght hande/ but sygnifyeth no ende thalbe of the tryme/ as it oft dothe accordyng to the maner of ỳ Hebrewes / as in Mat.xxviij.b. & so ỳ thys worde vntyll is taken for a tyme with out ende. or els sholde Christ haue an ende of syttynge with hys father in heauen.

The Gospell

¶ Christe cryeth wo ouer the Phariſes Scribes and ypocrites/& prophecieth the deſtruccion of Jeruſalē.

¶ The.xxiij. Chapter.

THen ſpake Jeſus to the people / & to his diſciples ſayīg: *The Scribes and ỳ Phariſes ſyt in Moſes cate All therfore whatſoeuer they byd you obſerue that obſerue and do: but after their workes do not: for they ſaye, and do not. Ye they bynde heuy burthens and greuous to be borne & ley thē on mēnes ſhoulders. but they thē ſelfes will not heaue at thē with one of their fyngers All their workes they do for to be ſene of mē. They ſet abroade their phylacteries & make large borders on their garmentes, & loue to ſyt vppermoſte at ſeaſtes and to haue ỳ cheſe ſeates in ỳ ſynagoges and gretynges in the marketes, & to be called of men Rabbi.

But ye ſhall not ſuffre youre ſelues to be called Rabbi for one is youre maſter / that is to wit Chriſt, and all ye are brethren. And call no man youre father vpon the erthe' for t ere is but one your father & he is in heaue Be not called maſters / for there is but one youre maſter, & he is Chriſt. He ỳ is greateſt amōge you ſhalbe youre ſeruaūt. But who ſoeuer exalteth hym ſelfe / ſhalbe brought lowe. And he ỳ humbleth him ſelfe / ſhalbe exalted. Wo be vnto you Scribes & Phariſes ỳpocrites, for ye ſhutte vp the kyngdome of heaue before men: ye youre ſelues go not in neither ſuffre ye thē that come to enter in.

Wo be vnto you Scribe & Phariſes, ypocrites: ye deuoure widdowes houſes: & that vnder a coloure of prayynge longe prayers wherfore ye ſhall receaue ỳ greater dāmaciō.

Wo be vnto you Scribes and Phariſes ypocrites, which compaſſe ſee and lande, to bringe one into youre beleife: and whē he is brought ye make hym two folde more the chylde of hell, then ye youre ſelues are.

Wo be vnto you blynde gydes, which ſaye whoſoeuer ſweare by the temple: it is nothynge: but whoſoeuer ſweareth by ỳ golde of ỳ temple be offendeth. Ye fooles & blynde: whether is greater the golde or the tēple that ſanctifieth ỳ golde? And whoſoeuer ſweareth by the aulter, it is nothynge: but whoſoeuer ſweareth by the offeryng that lyeth on ỳ aulter offendeth. Ye fooles and blynde: whether is greater the offeryng / or the aultre which ſanctifyeth the offeryng? Whoſoeuer therfore ſweareth by the aultre / ſweareth by it / and by all that there on is. And whoſoeuer ſweareth by the temple / ſweareth by it & by him that dwelleth therin. And he ỳ ſweareth by heauen ſweareth by the ſeate of God & by him that ſytteth theron.

Wo be to you Scribes & Phariſes ypocrites, which tyth mynt, anyſe / & cōmyn / and leaue the waygh̄ter matters of the lawe vndone: iudgemēt / mercy / & fayth. Theſe ought ye to haue done / & not to haue left the other vndone. Ye blynde gydes which ſtrayne out a gnat and ſwalowe a cammell.

Wo be to you Scribes & Phariſes ypocrites / which make clene the vtter ſyde of the cuppe / & of the platter: but wythin they are full of bzybery & excelle. Thou blynde Phariſe / clenſe fyrſt ỳ ynneſyde of ỳ cup & platter / that ỳ outeſyde of thē maye be clene alſo.

Wo be to you Scribes & Phariſes ypocrites / for ye are lyke vnto paynted tombes which appere beautifull outwarde: but are within full of deed bones & of all fylthynes. So are ye / for outward ye appere righteous vnto men / whē within / ye are full of ypocryſye and iniquite.

Wo be vnto you Scribes & Phariſes ypocrites: ye bylde the tombes of the Pzophetes / & garniſhe the ſepulchres of ỳ ryghteous / & ſaye: yf we had bene in the dayes of oure fathers / we wolde not haue bene parteners wt thē in the bloude of the Pzophetes. So then ye be wytneſſes vnto youre ſelues / ỳ ye are the chyldren of thē which kylled the Pzophetes. Fulfill ye lykewyſe the meaſure of youre fathers. Ye ſerpēntes & generaciō of [b]*vipers / how ſhuld ye eſcape the dampnacion of hell?

[b] Of vipers is ſpoken afore in Mat.iij.d.

✣ Wherfore, beholde I ſende vnto you Pzophetes wyſe men & ſcribes, of them ye ſhall kyll & crucifye: and of thē ye ſhall ſcourge in youre ſynagoges / and perſecute frō cytie to cytie; that vpon you maye come all ỳ ryghteous bloude that was ſheed vpon the erthe / frō the bloude of ryghteous Abel / vnto that bloude of Zacharias ỳ ſonne of Barachias / whō ye ſlewe betwene the tēple & the aultre. Verely I ſaye vnto you / all theſe thynges ſhall lyght vpon this generacion. Jeruſalē / Jeruſalē which kylleſt Pzophetes / & ſtoneſt them which are ſent to the: how often wolde I haue gathered thy chyldren together / as the henne gathereth her chyckēs [c]*vnder her wynges but ye wolde not: Beholde youre habitacion ſhalbe lefte vnto you deſolate. For I ſaye to you / ye ſhall not ſe me hence forth / tyll that ye ſaye: bleſſed is he that cōmeth in the name of the Lorde. ✣

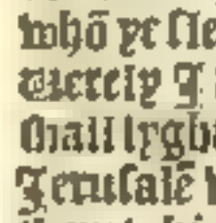
¶ Chriſt ſheweth his diſciples the deſtruccion of the temple the ende of the worlde the tokens of the latter dayes / and warneth them to wake / for the worlde ſhall ſodenly perſiſhe.

¶ The.xxiiij. Chapter.



AND Jeſus went out & departed frō the temple: & his diſciples came to him for to ſhewe him the byldyng of the tēple. Jeſus ſayde vnto the: ſe ye not all theſe thynges? Verely I ſaye vnto youther shall not be here lefte one stone vpõ another, that shall not be cast doune.

Luke xxi.g. And as he sat vpõ the moũt Oliuete hys disciples came vnto him secretly sayig. Tell vs when shall these thynges shalbe? what sygne shalbe of thy cõmyng? & of ẏ ende of ẏ worlde? Ephe v.b And Jesus answered & sayd vnto thẽ: *take hede ẏ no man deceaue you. For many shall come in my name sayinge: I am Christ: and shall deceaue many. Ye shall heare of warres/ & of the fame of warres: but se that ye be not troubled. For all these thynges must come to passe, but the ende is not yet. For naciõ shall ryse agaynst nacyõ and realme agaynst realme: and there shalbe pestilence, honger and erthquakes in all quarters. All these are the begynnynge of sorowes.

Then shall they put you to trouble/ & shall kyll you: & ye shalbe hated of all nations for my names sake. And then shall many be offended & shall betraye one another/ & shall hate one ẏ other. And many false prophetes shall aryse, and shall deceaue many. And because iniquite shall haue the vpper hand/ ẏ loue of many shall abate. But he that endureth to ẏ ende, the same shalbe safe. And this glad tydynges of the kyngdome shalbe preached in all the worlde for a wytnes vnto all nacyons: and then shall the ende come.

When ye therfore shall se ẏ abhominaciõ that betokeneth desolacion spokẽ of by Daniel the Prophet, stande in the holy place: let him that redeth it vnderstande it. Then lett them which be in Jury, flye into ẏ moũtaynes. And let him which is on ẏ house toppe/ not come downe to fet eny thynge out of hys house. Nether let him which is in ẏ felde, returne backe to fetche his clothes. Wo shalbe in those dayes to thẽ that are with chylde/ & to thẽ that geue sucke. But praye that youre flight be not in ẏ winter, nether on ẏ Sabboth daye. For then shalbe great tribulaciõ/ such as was not from the beginning of the worlde to this tyme, nor shalbe. Ye & except those dayes should be shortened, there shulde *no flesshe be saued: but for the chosens sake, those dayes shalbe shortened.

Then yf eny man shall saye vnto you: lo/ here is Christ or there is Christ: beleue it not. For there shall arise false Christes & false prophetes & shall do great miracles & wonders. In so moche that yf it were possible the verie electe should be deceaued. Take hede/ I haue tolde you before. Wherfore yf they shall saye vnto you: beholde he is in the desert go not forth: beholde he is in the secret places/ beleue not. For as the lightninge cometh out of the East and shyneth into ẏ west: so shall the cõmynge of ẏ sonne of mã be. For where soeuer a dead karkas is, euẽ thyther will the egles resorte. Immediatly after the tribulacions of those dayes, shall ẏ sunne be darkened: & the mone shall not geue her lyght, & ẏ starres shall fall frõ heauẽ/ & the powers of heauẽ shall moue. And then shall appere the sygne of ẏ sonne of man in heauen. And then shall all ẏ kynredes of the erth mourne, and they shall se ẏ sonne of mã come in ẏ cloudes of heauen with power & greate glorie. * And he shall sende his Angels wt the greate voyce of a trompette & they shall gather to gether his chosen, from the fower wyndes/ & from the one ende of the worlde to the other.

Learne a symilitude of ẏ sygge tree: whẽ his braũches are yet tender & his leues spryng/ ye knowe that sommer is nye. So like wise ye, when ye se all these thinges, be ye sure ẏ it is neare, euen at the dores. Verely I saye vnto you that this generaciõ shall not passe tyll all these be fulfylled. Heauẽ & erth shall perishe, but my woordes shall abide. But of that daye and houre knoweth no mã no not the angels of heauen, but my father only.

D Genesis. vij.b. Luke.xvij.f.

* As ẏ tyme of Noe was, so lyke wyse shall the cõmynge of the sonne of man be. For as in the dayes before the floud: they dyd eate & dryncke, mary, & were maried/ tyll vnto the daye that Noe entred into ẏ shippe/ & knew of nothinge, tyll the floud came and toke thẽ all awaye. So shall also the cõmynge of the sonne of mã be. Then two shalbe in ẏ felde/ the one shalbe receaued and the other shalbe refused two shalbe gryndinge at the myll ẏ one shalbe receaued, & the other shalbe refused. * Wake therfore/ because ye knowe not what houre youre master will come. Of this be sure, ẏ yf the good mã of the house knewe what houre the theefe wolde come: he wolde surely watche, and not suffre his house to be broken vppe. Therfore be ye also redy/ for in the houre ye thynke he wolde not: will the sonne of man come. Jf there be any faythfull seruaũt & wyse, whom his master hath made ruler ouer his housholde to geue thẽ meate in season conuenient. happy is that seruaũt whõ his master, when he cometh) shall finde so doynge. Verely I saye vnto you, he shall make him ruler ouer all hys goodes. But & yf that cursed seruaunt shall saye in his herte/ my master wyll defer his commyng/ and begynne to smyte his felowes ye and to eate & to dryncke with the dronchen: ẏ seruauntes master wyll come in a daye when he loketh not for hym & in an houre ẏ he is not ware of, and wyll deuyde him and geue him his rewarde with ypocrites. And there shalbe wepinge and gnasshynge of teth.

The Gospell

Then ꝯ * kyngdō of heauē shalbe lykened vnto ten virgins, which toke their lampes/ & went to mete the brydgrome: fyue of them were folysshe, & fyue were wyse. The folysshe toke their b * lampes, but toke none oyle with thē. But the wyse toke oyle with thē in their vessels with their lampes also. Whill the brydgrome tarved all slombred & slepte. And euē at mydnyght, there was a crye made: behold/ the brydgrome cometh, go out agaynst hym. Then all those virgins arose / and prepared their lāpes. And the folysshe sayde to ꝯ wyse: geue vs of youre oyle for oure lampes goo out. But ꝯ wyse answerd sayinge: * not for/ lest ther be not ynough for vs & you: but goo rather to them that sell & by for your selues. And whyll they went to bye, the brydgrome came: & they that were redy, wēt in with him to the weddyng & ꝯ gate was shut vp. After warders came also the other virgins saying: Master master, open to vs. But he answered & sayde verely I saye vnto you: I knowe not you. Watche therfore: for ye knowe neither the daye nor yet the houre, wherin ꝯ sonne of man shall come. ✠

✠ Lykewyse as a certayne mā redy to take his iorney to a straūge coūtre / called his seruauntes & delyuered to thē his goodes. * And vnto one he gaue .v. talentes, to another .ii. & to another one: to euery mā after his ability/ and streyght waye departed. Then he ꝯ had receaued the fyue talentes/ wēt & bestowed them and wanne other fyue talentes. Lykewyse he ꝯ receaued two / gayned other two. But he that receaued that one / went & dygged a pyt in ꝯ erth/ and hyd his masters money. After a longe season the Lorde of those seruaūtes came and rekened with thē. Then came he that had receaued fyue talentes / & brought other fyue talentes sayinge: master thou delyueredst vnto me fyue talentes: beholde I haue gayned with thē fyue talentes moo. Then his master sayde vnto hym: well good seruaūt and kaythfull. Thou hast bene kaythfull in lytel/ I will make the ruler ouer moche: b * entre in into thy masters ioye. Also he that receaued two talentes / came and sayde: master thou delyueredst vnto me two talentes: beholde I haue wone two other talentes with them. And his master sayde vnto him well good seruaūt and kaythfull. Thou hast bene kaythfull in lytell/ I wyll make ꝯ ruler ouer moche / goo in into thy masters ioye. ✠

Then he which had receaued the one talent came and sayde: master / I consydered that thou wast an harde man / whych repest where thou sowedst not / & gatherest where thou strawedst not, & was therfore afrayde/ & wēt and hyd thy talent in the erth: beholde/ thou hast thyne awne. His master answered and sayde vnto him: thou euyll seruaunt and slowthfull/ thow knewest that I repe where I sowed not & gather where I strawed not; thou oughtest therfore to haue had my money to the chaungers/ & then at my cōmynge shulde I haue receaued myne awne wyth vauntage. Take therfore the talent frō hym/ and geue it vnto him which hath ten talentes. * For vnto euery mā that hath shalbe geuē/ and he shall haue aboundance/ and from him that hath not, shalbe taken awaye, euē that he hath. And cast that vnprofytable seruaūt into f * vtter derknes: there shalbe wepynge and gnashynge of teeth.

✠ When the sonne of mā cometh in his glorie, & all the holy angels with him, then shall he syt vpon the seate of his glorie, and before him shalbe gathered all nacyōs. And he shall seperate thē one from another / as a shepher deuydeth the shepe from the gootes. And he shall set the shepe on his ryght hande/ and the gotes on the lyfte. Then shall the Kynge saye to them on hys ryghte hande: Come ye blessed chyldren of my father / inheret ye the kyngdome prepared for you from the begynnynge of the worlde. For I was an hongred/ and ye gaue me meate. I thursted/ & ye gaue me medycine. I was herbourlesse / & ye lodged me. I was naked & ye clothed me. I was sicke & ye visited me. I was in prison and ye came vnto me. Then shall the ryghteous answere him saying: master, whē sawe we the an hongred/ and fed the? or a thurst / and gaue the drinke? when sawe we the herbourlesse/ and lodged the? or naked and clothed the? or whē sawe we the sycke or in prison and came vnto the? And the kyng shall answere and saye vnto thē: verely I saye vnto you: in as moche as ye haue done it vnto one of the least of these my brethren/ ye haue done it to me.

Then shall the kynge saye vnto them that shalbe on the lyfte hand: departe from me ye cursed/ into euerlastynge fyre: which is prepared for the deuyll & his angels. For I was an hūgred/ and ye gaue me no meate. I thursted & ye gaue me no drinke. I was herbourlesse/ and ye lodged me not. I was naked/ and ye clothed me not. I was sycke & in prison/ and ye visyted me not.

Then shall they also answere him saying: master / when sawe we the an hungred/ or a thurst/ or herbourlesse/ or naked/ or sycke/ or in prison/ & dyd not vnto the? Then shall he answere them & saye: verely I saye vnto you in as moche as ye dyd it not to one of the least of these / ye dyd it not to me. And these shall go into euerlastynge payne: & the ryghteous into lyfe eternall. ✠

AND it came to passe/ whē Iesus had fynyshed all these sayinges, he sayd vnto his disciples: ✠ *Ye knowe þ after two dayes shalbe ester/ & the sonne of mā shalbe deliuered to be crucifyed. Then assembled to gedder the chefe prestes & the scrybes and the elders of the people vnto the palice of the hye preste, called Cayphas, and helde a counsell how they myght take Iesus by suttelte and kyll him. But they sayde not on þ holy daye, lest eny vprore aryse amōge the people.

Mar.xiij.a. Luke.xxij.a

When Iesus was in Bethany/ in þ house of Simon the leper, ther came vnto hym a woman/ which had an alabaster boxe of precious oyntmēt and powred it on his heed, as he sate at þ bourde. When his disciples sawe that/ they had indignacion sayinge: what needed thys waste? Thys oyntment myght haue bene well solde/ & geuen to the poore. When Iesus vnderstode that/ he sayde vnto them: why trouble ye þ womā? She hath wrought a good worcke vpō me. For ye shal haue poore folcke alwayes with you: but me shal ye not haue all wayes. And in that she casted thys oyntmēt on my bodye, she dyd it to burye me with all. The chefe Prestes & the elders/ & all ỹ coūcell, sought false witnes agaynst Jesus, for to put hym to deeth/ but founde none: in so moche that whē many false witnesses came/ yet foūde they none. At ỹ last came two false witnesses, & sayde: This felowe sayde: I can destroye ỹ tēple of God/ & bylde it agayne in iij. dayes. And the chefe Prieste arose/ & sayde to him: answerest thou nothinge? How is it ỹ these beare witnes agaynst the? But Jesus held his peace. And ỹ chefe prieste answered/ and sayde to him: I charge the in ỹ name of ỹ lyuynge God/ that thou tell vs/ whether thou be Christ ỹ sonne of God. Jesus sayde to him: thou hast sayd. Neuertheles I saye vnto you hereafter shall ye se the sonne of man syttinge on the right hande of power/ and come in the cloudes of the skye.

Mar.xiiij.g. Luke.xxij.g.

*Then ỹ hye prieste rētt his clothes sayinge: he hath blasphemed: what nede we of eny moo witnesses? Behold now ye haue heard his blasphemy: what thynke ye? They answered and sayde: he is worthy to dye. Then spat they in hys face and bufeted hym wyth fistes. And other smote him with ỹ palme of their handes on the face sayinge: tell vs thou Christ/ who is he that smote the?

Mar.xiiij.g. Luke.xxij.f.

Peter sate without in the palace. And a dāsell came to hym sayinge: Thou also waste wyth Jesus of Galile: but he denyed before them all sayinge I wot not what thou sayst. When he was goone out into the porche/ another wenche sawe hym/ & sayde vnto thē that were there. This felowe was also wyth Jesus of Nazareth. And agayne he denyed with an othe that he knewe the man. And after a while came vnto hym they that stode by and sayde vnto Peter *surely thou arte euen one of them/ for thy speache bewrayeth the. Then began he to course & to sweare, ỹ he knewe not the mā. And immediatly the cocke krewe. And Peter remembred the wordes of Jesu which sayde vnto him: before the cocke crowe/ thou shalt denye me thryse: and went out at the dores and wepte bitterly.

¶ The.xxvij. Chapter.

When the morninge was come/ all ỹ the chefe prestes and the elders of ỹ people helde a coūsayle agaynst Jesus/ to put hym to deeth/ and brought him bounde and delyuered him vnto Poncius Pylate the debite.

Mar.xv.a. Luke.xxiij.a.

Then when Judas whych betrayed hym/ sawe that he was condēpned/ he repēted him selfe/ and brought agayne the. xxx. plates of syluer to the chefe Prestes & elders sayinge: I haue synned betrayinge the innocēt bloud. And they sayde: what is that to vs? See thou to ỹ. And he cast doune ỹ syluer plates in ỹ tēple & departed/ and went & hounge him selfe.

And the chefe prestes toke ỹ syluer plates & sayd. it is not lawfull for to put thē into ỹ treasure/ because it is ỹ pryce of bloud. And they toke counsell/ & bought w thē a potters felde to bury straūgers in. Wherfore ỹ felde is called the felde of bloud/ vntyll this daye. Then was fulfylled/ ỹ which was spoken by Jeremy the Prophet sayinge: & they toke. xxx. syluer plates/ the prise of hym ỹ was valued whō they bought of ỹ childre of Israel, & they gaue thē for ỹ potters felde/ as the Lorde appointed me. Jesus stode before ỹ debite: & ỹ debite asked him sayinge: arte thou ỹ king of the Jues: Jesus sayd vnto hym: Thou sayest. But ꝓ chefe ꝓstes & the elders had persuaded ꝓ people/that they shulde aske Barrabas, and shulde destroye Iesus. Then ꝓ debite answered & sayde vnto thē: whether of the twayne will ye ꝓ I let loose vnto you? And they sayd/Barrabas. Pilate sayde vnto thē: what shall I do then with Iesus which is called Christ? They all sayde to him: let hym be crucifyed. Then sayde ꝓ debite: what euyll hath he done? And they cryed ꝓ more sayinge: let him be crucyfyed. ¶ Whē Pilate sawe that he ꝓfyted nothinge/but ꝓ moare busines was made/he toke water & washed hys hādes before ꝓ people sayinge: I am innocēt of ꝓ bloud of thys iuste person & ꝓ ye shall se. Then ꝓ soudeours of ꝓ debite toke Iesus vnto the comen hall/& gathered vnto him al the company. And they stripped him and put on him a purpill roobe and platted a croune of thornes and put vpon his heed/& a rede in his ryght hande: & bowed their knees before hym and mocked hym/saying: hayle kyng of the Iewes: and spitted vpō hym/and toke the rede and smote hym on the heed.

And when they had mocked him/they toke the robe of hym agayne/ and put hys awne rayment on him/& led him awaye to crucify him. And as they came out/they founde a mā of Cyren, named Simon: hym they cōpelled to beare his crosse. And when they came vnto the place/called Golgotha (that is to saye/a place of deed mens sculles) they gaue him vineger to drincke mēgled with gall. And whē he had tasted therof, he wolde not drynche.

When they had crucifyed him/they parted his garmentes/& dyd cast lottes: to fulfyll ꝓ was spoken by the Prophet.* They deuyded my garmētes amonge thē: & vpō my vesture dyd cast lottes. And they sate & watched hym there and they set vp ouer hys heed the cause of hys deeth wrytte. This is Iesus the kynge of the Iewes. * And there were two theues crucyfyed wyth hym, one on the ryght hande & another on the lyfte.

AND he began agayne to teache by ꝧ see side. And there gadered to geder vnto him moche people / so greatly ꝧ he entred into a ship / & sate in the see, & all the people was by the see syde on ꝧ shooze. And he taught thē many thinges in similitudes & sayde vnto them in his doctrine. Herken to: beholde / there wēt out a sower to sowe. And it foztuned as he sowed / ꝧ some fell by ꝧ waye syde / & the fowles of the ayze came & deuoured it vp. Some fell on stony grouńde where it had not moche erth: & by & by sprāge vp because it had not depth of erth: but as sone as the sunne was vp it caught heet, and because it had not rotynge wydred awaye.

And some fell amonge the thornes, and the thornes grewe vp and choked it so that it gaue no frute. And some fell vpon good grounde and dyd yelde frute that sprong and grewe and brought forthe: some thyrty folde some sixtye folde, and some an hundred folde. And he sayde vnto thē: he that hath eares to heare, let hym heare. ✝

And when he was alone / they that were aboute him with the. xij. asked him of ꝧ similitude And he sayde vnto them. To * * you is it geuē to knowe ꝧ mistery of the kingdome of God. But vnto them ꝧ are with out shall all thinges be done in similitudes: ꝧ whē they se they shall se & not discerne: & whē they heare they shal heare, & not vnderstāde: lest at any tyme they shulde tourne & their synn' shuld be forgeuen thē. And he sayde vnto them: perceaue ye not this similitude: how then shuld ye vnderstande all other symylytudes.

The sower soweth the worde. And they ꝧ are by the wayes syde where the worde is sowen, are they to whom assone as they haue herde it / Satā cometh immediatly / & taketh awaye ꝧ worde ꝧ was sowen in their hertes. And they that are sowen amōge the thornes are suche as heare ꝧ worde: & the care of this worlde & the disceytfulnes of ryches and the lustes of other thinges entre in & choocke the worde / & it is made vnfrutfull. And those that weare sowen in good grouńde, are they that heare the worde and receaue it & bringe forth frute, some thirty folde some sixty folde some an hundred folde.

And he sayde vnto thē: is the cādle lyghted to be put vnder a busshell or vnder the table, & not rather to be put on a candlestick? For there is nothynge to preuy, that shall not be opened: nether so secreet / but that it shall come abroade. If eny man haue eares to heare let hym heare. ¶ The .v. Chapter. ✠

AND they cam ouer to the other syde of the see into the countre of þ Gaderenites. And when he was come out of þ shippe there met him out of the graues a man possessed of an vncleane spirite, which had his abydinge amõge þ graues. And no man coulde bynde him: no not w cheynes/ because þ whẽ he was oftẽ bounde with fetters & cheynes, he plucked þ chaynes a sunder/ & brake the fetters in peces. Neither coulde eny mã tame him. And alwayes bothe night & daye he cryed in the mountaynes and in the graues/ and bet him selfe with stones.
When he had spyed Jesus a farre of/ he rãne
* & worshipped him and cryed with a loude voyce & sayde: what haue I to do with the Je sus the sonne of the moost hyest God? I re-quyre the in the name of God þ thou tormẽt me not. For he had sayd vnto him: come out of the man thou foule spirite. And he asked him:
what is thy name and he answered sayyng:
my name is Legion for we are many. And he prayed him instantly, þ he wolde not sende them awaye out of the countre.

B And ther was there nye vnto þ mountayns a greate heerd of swyne feedinge/ & all the deuyls besought him sayinge: sende vs in to þ heerde of swine, that we maye enter into thẽ.
And anone Jesus gaue them leaue. And the vncleane spirites wẽt out & entred in to þ swyne.
And the heerd starteled/ & ran headling in to þ see. They were about .ii. M swyne and they were dzouned in þ see. And the swyne heerdes feed & tolde it in the citie and in the countre.
And they came out for to se what had happened: and came to Jesus/ & sawe him that was vexed with the fende and had the Legiõ/ syt/both clothed & in his ryght mynde, and were afrayed. And they that sawe it tolde thẽ/ how it had hapened to hym that was possessed wt the deuyll: and also of the swyne. * And they beganne to praye him that he wolde departe frõ their coostes. ¶ And whẽ he was come into þ shippe he þ had the deuyll prayed him þ he myght be wt him. Howbeit Jesus wolde not suffre him/ but sayde vnto him: go home in to thyne awne house & to thy frendes/ & shewe them what great thinges þ Lorde hath done vnto the/ & how he had cõpassion on the. And he departed and beganne to publysshe in the tẽ cities/ what greate things Jesus had done vnto him/ and all men dyd merueyle.

¶ And when Jesus was come ouer agayne by shyppe vnto the other syde/ moche people gadered to him/ & he was nye vnto þ see * And beholde, ther came one of the rulers of the Synagoge/ whose name was Jairus: & whẽ he sawe him/ he fell doune at his fete/ and besought hym greatly sayinge: my daughter lieth at poynt of deeth/ I wolde thou woldest come & laye thy hande on her that she myght be safe & liue. And he wẽt with him/ & moche people folowed him/ and thronged him.

And ther was a certen womã/ whych was diseased of an yssue of bloude .xii. yeres/ & had suffred many thinges of many physycions/ & had spent all þ she had/ & felte none amende-mẽt at all, but wexed worse & worse. When she had herde of Jesus: she came into þ prea-ce behynde him/ & touched his garmẽt. For she thought: yf I maye but touche his clothes I shall be whole. And streyght waye her fountayne of bloude was dryed vp/ and she felt in her body, that she was healed of the plage.

And Jesus immediatly felt in him selfe/ þ vertue that went out of him/ & tourned him round aboute in þ preace/ & sayde: who touched my clothes? And hys disciple sayde vnto him: seyst thou the people thrust the/ and yet askest/ who did touche me? And he loked roũd about/ for to se her that had done that thinge
The woman feared & trembled (for she knew what was done wyth in her) & she came and fell doune before hym/ & tolde hym the truth of euery thinge. And he sayde to her: Daughter thy fayth hath made the whoale: go in peace/ and be whole of thy plage.

D * Whyll he yet spake, ther came frõ the ruler of the Synagoges house, certayne which sayd: thy daughter is deed: why diseasest thou the Master eny further? Assone as Jesus herde that worde spoken/ he sayde vnto the ruler of the Synagoge: be not afrayed/ only moare thẽ Peter & James & John þ brother of James. * And he came vnto the house of þ ruler of the Synagoge/ & sawe þ wõdringe: & them that wepte & wayled greatly & went in & sayde vnto thẽ: why make ye this a doo wepe? The mayden is not deed/ but slepeth.

And they lawght him to scorne. Then he put them all out & toke the father & þ mother of the mayden/ & them that were with him/ and entred in where the mayden laye/ & toke the mayden by the hande/ & sayde vnto hyr: Ta-

THere was in the dayes of Herode the kynge of Iurie a certayne Preste named Zacharias / of the courle of Abia. And hys wyfe was of the daughters of Aaron: and her name was Elizabeth. Booth were perfect before God and walked in all the lawes and ordynaunces of the Lorde, that no man coulde fynde fawte with them. And they had no chylde because that Elizabeth was barē and booth were well stricken in age.

And it came to passe / as he executed the Preastes office before God / as hys course came / accordyng to the custome of þ Prestes office / his lot was to burne incense. And he went into the temple of the Lorde / and the whoale multitude of þ people were without in prayer whill the incense was aburnynge. And ther appered vnto him an Angell of the Lorde standynge on the ryght syde of þ aultare of incense. And when Zacharias sawe him him he was abashed/& feare cam on him.

B And the Angell sayde vnto him: feare not Gene.xviij.b. Zachary for thy prayer is hearde:* And thy wyfe Elizabeth shall beare the a sonne, and thou shalt call his name John; & thou shalt haue ioye and gladnes & many shall reioyce at his byrth. For he shalbe greate in ỹ syght of the Lord, & shall nether drincke wyne ner stronge drincke. And he shalbe fylled with ỹ holy goost, euē in his mothers wombe: & many of the chyldrē of Israel shall he tourne to their Lorde God. And he shall go before him in the spyrite & power of Helias to tourne the *hertes of the fathers to the chyldrē, and the vnbeleuers to the wysdome of the iuste men: to make the people redy for the Lorde.

* To make the chyldren haue lothe an harte to God as Abraham and the fathers had.

And Zacharias sayde vnto ỹ angell: wher by shall I knowe this? seyng that I am olde and my wyfe well stryken in yeres. And the angell answered and sayde vnto hym. I am Gabryel that stande in the presens of God & am sent to speake vnto the: and to shewe the these glad tydinges. And beholde thou shalt be domme & not be able to speake, vntyll ỹ tyme ỹ these thynges be performed because thou beleuedst not my wordes which shalbe fulfylled in their season.

And the people wayted for Zacharias and merueyled that he tarryed in the temple. And when he came out, he coulde not speke vnto thē Wherby they perceaued that he had sene some vysyon in the temple. And he beckened vnto them & remayned speachelesse.

C ✠ And it fortuned as sone as ỹ tyme of his office was oute he departed home into hys awne house. And after those dayes, his wyfe Elizabeth cōceaued, & hyd her selfe fyue monethes sayinge: This wyse hath God dealte with me in the dayes whē  he loked on me/ to take frō me the rebuke ỹ I suffred amōge men. Matth.xiij.b. Marck.vj.a. And he came to Nazareth where he was noursed & as his custome was, went into the synagoge on the Sabboth dayes, & stode vp for to rede. And there was delyuered vnto hi the boke of the Prophete Esaias. And when he had opened the boke he founde the place, Esaie.lxi.a. where it was writte. The spirite of ꝑ Lorde vpon me, bicause he hathe annointed me: to preache ꝑ Gospell to the poore he hathe sente me: & to heale the broke hearted: to preache deliuerance to the captyue, & sight to ꝑ blynde & frely to set at liberte thē that are brused, & preache the acceptable yere of the Lorde.

D And he closed the boke, & gaue it agayne to the ministre, and sat downe. And the eyes of al ꝑ were in the Synagoge, were fastened on him. And he began to saye vnto thē. This day is this scripture fulfylled in your eares. And all bare hym wytnes, & wondred at the gracious wordes which proceded out of hys mouth. ✠ & sayd: Is not this Josephs sonne?

And he sayde vnto thē: Ye maye very wel saye vnto me this prouerbe. Physicion, heale thy selfe. ✠ what soeuer we haue herde done in Capernaum, do the same here likewyse in thyne owne countre. And he sayde, verely I say vnto you: No Prophet is accepted in his E owne countre.

And as many as were in ꝑ synagoge whē they herde that, were fylled with wrath: and rose vp, & thrust him out of the cite, & ledde him euen vnto the edge of the hyll, where on their citie was builte, to cast him downe hedlynge. But he went his waye euē thorow the Matth.4.b. Luce.4.a. myddes of them: ✠ and came into Capernaum a cytie of Galile, & there taught them on the Sabboth dayes. And they were astonyed at his doctrine: for his preachinge was Matth.7.b. Marcke.1.c. with power. And in the synagoge there was I a man which had a spirite of an vncleane deuell, & cryed wt aloude voyce sayinge: let me alone, what hast thou to do with vs, thou Jesus of Nazarethe? Arte thou come to distroye vs? I knowe the what thou arte, euen ꝑ holy of God. And Jesus rebuked him sayēg: holde thy peace & come out of him. And the deuyll threwe him in the myddes of thē & came out of him, & hurt him not. And feare cam on thē all, & they spake amonge thē selues sayinge: what maner a thynge is this? for with auctorite and power he commaūdeth the foule spirites, and they come out? And the fame of him spred abrode thorowe out all places of the countre rounde aboute. ✠

And that same Leuy made him a great feaste at home in his owne house. And ther was a great cõpany of Publicans & of other ỹ sat at meate with him. Matth.9.a. Marck.2.b. And ỹ Scribes & Pharises murmured agaynst his disciples, sayenge: Why eate ye and drincke ye with publicans & synners? Jesus answered and sayde vnto them: They that are whole nede not of ỹ physicion: but they that are sycke. I came not to cal the ryghteous, but synners to repentaunce.

Then they saide vnto him: why do ỹ disciples of Johñ faste often and praye, & ỹ disciples of the Pharises also: and thyne eate & drincke? And he sayd vnto thẽ. Cã ye make G Matth.9.b. Mar.2.c. the chyldren of the weddynge faste, as longe as the brydgrome is present with them? The dayes wyll come, when the brydgrome shalbe taken away from them: then shal they fast in those dayes.

Then spake he vnto thé a similitude: No man putteth a pece of a newe garment, in to an olde vesture: for yf he do, then breaketh he the newe, & the pece that was taken out of ỹ newe, agreyth not with the olde. Also, no mã poureth newe wyne into olde vessels. For yf he do, the newe wyne breaketh the vessels, & rũneth out it selfe, & the vessels perishe: But newe wyne muste be poured into newe vessels, & both are preserued. Also, noma ỹ drynketh olde wyne, straight way can away with newe for he sayeth, ỹ olde is pleasaunter.

¶ He reuyleth the disciples/that plucked the eares of corne/he healeth the mã with the withered hande/choseth his twelue Apostles/maketh a swete sermon/ and teacheth to do good for euyll.

¶ The.vj.Chappter.

¶ It happened on an after Sabothe, I that he went thorow the corne felde Matth.12.a. Marck.2.d. and that his disciples plucked the eares of corne, and eate and rubbed them in their handes. And certaine of ỹ Pharises sayd vnto them: Why do ye that which is not lawfull to do on the Saboth dayes? And Jesus answered them and saide: Haue 1.Reg.21.a. ye not redde what Dauid dyd, when he him selfe was an hungred, and they whiche were w̄ him: howe he went into the house of God, & toke & eate the loues of halowed bread, and gaue also to them which were w̄ him: which was not lawfull to eate, but for the Prestes only. And he sayde vnto them: The sonne of man is Lorde of the Saboth daye.

✠ And it fortuned in another Saboth also, that he entred into the synagoge & taught H Matth.12.a. Marck.3.a. And ther was a man whose ryght hand was dryed vp. And the Scribes & Pharises watched him, to se whether he wolde heale on the Saboth day, that they might fynde an accusacyon agaynste him. But he knewe their thoughtes, & saide to the man which had the wyddred hande: Ryse vp, & stande forth in ỹ mydes And he arose & stoppes forthe. Then sayde Jesus vnto the: I will aske you a question: Whether is it lawfull on the Saboth dayes to do good or to do euill? to saue lyfe or for to destroye it? And he beheilde them all in cõpasse/ & sayde vnto the mã: Stretche forth thy hande. And he dyd so: & his hande was restored/ & made as whole as ỹ other. And they were fylled full of madnes/ & comuned one vñ another, what they myght do to Jesu.

C * And it fortuned in those dayes, that he wẽt out vnto a mountayne for to praye/ and cõtinued all nyght in prayer to God. And as sone as it was daye, he called his disciples and of them he chose twelue/ whych also he called Apostles. Simon whom he named Peter & Andrew his brother. James and John/ Philip and Bartlemew/ Mathew & Thomas/ James ỹ sonne of Alpheus & Simon called Zelotes/ and Judas James sonne/ & Judas Iscarioth/ which same was the traytour.

Matth.viij.a Luce.vi.d. Joan.vi.a

+ And he came doune with them and stode in the playne felde with the company of hys disciples/ & a greate multitude of people out of all parties of Jurie and Jerusalem/ & frõ the see coste of Tyre & Sidon/ which came to heare him/ and to be healed of their diseases: and they also that were vexed with foule spretes/ & they were healed. And all ỹ people preased to touche him: for there went vertue out of him/ and healed them all.

And he lyfted vp his eyes vpõ ỹ disciples/ and sayde: Blessed be ye poore: for yours is ỹ kyngdom of God. Blessed are ye that honger now: for ye shalbe satisfyed. Blessed are ye that wepe now: for ye shall laugh. Blessed are ye when men hate you, & thrust you out of their companye/ and rayle/ and abhorre youre name as an euyll thynge for ỹ sonne of mãnes sake. Reioyce ye then & be glad: for beholde youre rewarde is greate in heauen. + After this maner their fathers entreated the Prophetes.

 Christ calleth men here poore which are poore in spirite/ which trust in no worldly thynge and are so taught and despysed of other/ beynge poore & cõtrite in hert/ which often do not prosper in the worlde because they leade a godlyfe & put their hole trust and confidence in God as in Matth.v.a

But wo be to you that are  ryche: for ye haue therin youre cõsolacion. Wo be to you that are full: for ye shall hõger. Wo be to you that now laugh: for ye shall wayle and wepe. Wo be to you when all men prayse you: for so dyd their fathers to the false prophetes.

b* Wo be vnto you that are ryche &c. Of this ryches is spoken Matth xix.c.

But I saye vnto you which heare: Loue youre enemyes. Do good to them which hate you. Blesse them ỹ curse you. And praye for them which wrõgfully trouble you. And vnto him ỹ smyteth the on ỹ one cheke/ offer also ỹ other. And him ỹ taketh awaye thy goune/ forbyd not to take thy coote also. Geue to euery mã that asketh of the. Matth.vij.b.

If ye loue them which loue you: what thanke are ye worthy of? for the very synners loue their louers. And yf ye do for them which do for you: what thancke are ye worthy of? for the very synners do euẽ the same. If ye lende to them of whome ye hope to receaue: what thancke shall ye haue? for the very synners lende to synners to receaue as moch agayne. Wherfore, loue ye youre enemyes do good & lende/ lokynge for nothynge agayne: & youre rewarde shalbe greate/ and ye shalbe ỹ chyldren of the hyest. for he is kynde vnto the vnkynde and to the euyll.

+ Be ye therfore mercyfull, as youre father is mercyfull. * Judge not/ & ye shall not be iudged. Condemne not and ye shall not be condemned. Forgeue/ and ye shalbe forgeuẽ. Geue/ and it shalbe geuen vnto you: good measure, prested doune/ shakẽ to gether and runnynge ouer/ shall men geue into youre bosomes. * For with what measure ye mete/ with ỹ same shall men mete to you agayne.

And he put forth a symilitude vnto them: Can the blynde leade ỹ blynde? Do they not both then fall into the dyche? The disciple is not aboue his master. Euery man shalbe perfecte/ euẽ as his master is. Why seyst thou a moote in thy brothers eye/ & considerest not the beame that is in thyne awne eye? Ether how canst thou saye to thy brother: Brother/ let me pull out ỹ moote that is in thyne eye: whẽ thou perceauest not the beame that is in thyne awne eye? Ypocrite cast oute the beame out of thyne awne eye fyrst, and then shalt thou se perfectly to pull out the moote out of thy brothers eye.

Matth.vij.c

* It is not a good tree that bringeth forthe euyll frute: nether is that an euyll tree/ that bringeth forthe good frute. For euery tree is knowen by his frute. Nether of thornes gather men fygges/ nor of bullshes gather they grapes. A good mã out of the good treasure of his herte/ bringeth forth ỹ which is good. And an euyll man oute of the euyll treasure of his hert/ bringeth forthe ỹ which is euyll. For of the aboũdaunce of ỹ hert, hys mouth speaketh.

Why call ye Master Master: and do not as I byd you? Whosoeuer cometh to me and heareth my sayinges & doth the same I will shewe you to whome he is lyke. He is lyke a man which bylt an house: and dygged deepe & layde the foundacyon on a rocke. When the waters arose the flud bet vpon that house, & coulde not moue it. For it was grounded vpõ a rocke. But he that heareth and doth not, is lyke a man that without foundacion bylt an house vpon the erth agaynst which ỹ fludde dyd beat: and it fell by and by. And the fall of that house was greate.

¶ The. viij. Chapter.

And it fortuned after that / that he him selfe went through out cytyes and tounes/ preachynge/ and shewynge the kyngdome of God / and the twelue with him. And also certayne women/ which were healed of euell spretes / & infirmities: Mary called Magdalen/ out of whom went seuē deuyls/ and Joanna ȳ wyfe of Chusa Herodes stewarde / & Susanna & many other: which ministred vnto thē of their substaunce. ✠ * Whē moch people were gathered to gether/ & were come to him oute of all cytics, he spake by a symilitude. A sower went out to sowe his seede: and as he sowed some fell by the waye syde/ and it was trodē vnder fete/ and the foules of the ayre deuoured it vp. And some fell on stone / and as sone as it was spronge vp/ it widdred awaye/ because it lacked moysture. And some fell amōge thornes, and the thornes sprange vp with it/ and choked it. And some fell on good groūde and sprange vp/ and bare frute / an hundred foolde. And as he sayd these thynges/ he cryed: He that hath eares to heare/ let him heare.

And his disciples asked him saying: what maner symilitude is this? And he sayde: d* vnto you is it geuē to knowe the secretes of the kyngdom of God, but to other in symilitudes: that when they se they should not se / and whē they heare they should not vnderstande.

d* Vnto you is it geuen to knowe the secrettes of God &c Looke in Mar. iiij. b.

The symilytude is this. The seede is the worde of God. Those ȳ are besyde the waye/ are they that heare / and afterwarde cometh the deuyll and taketh awaye the worde oute of their hertes lest they should beleue and be saued. They on ȳ stones/ are they which whē they heare/ receaue ȳ worde with ioye. But these haue no rotes/ which for a whyle beleue, and in tyme of temptaciō go awaye. And ȳ which fell amōge thornes are they whych heare/ and go forth/ & are choked with cares and with ryches, and volupteous lyuinge/ & bringe forth no frute. That in ȳ good groūde/ are they which with a good and pure herte/ heare the worde and kepe it and bringe forth frute with pacience. ✠

And as they sayled, he fell a slepe / and there arose a storme of winde in the lake/ and they were fylled with water/ & were in ieopardy. And they went to him & awoke him sayynge: Maister Maister, we are loost. Then he arose & rebuked ȳ wynde & the tempest of water/ and they ceased/ and it wexed calme. And he sayde vnto thē: where is youre fayth? They feared and wondred sayynge one to another: what felowe is this? for he cōmaūdeth both the wyndes & water/ & they obey him? ✠ And they sayled vnto the region of the Gaderenites/ which is ouer agaynst Galile.

And as he went out to land/ ther met hym a certayne mā out of ȳ citie/ which had a deuyll longe tyme/ & ware no clothes / nether abode in eny house: but amonge graues.

When he sawe Jesus/he cryed / & fell doune before him/ & with a loude voyce sayd: What haue I to do with the Jesus the sonne of the God most hyest? I beseche the tormente me not. Then he cõmaunded the foule spyrite to come out of ỹ mã. For ofte tymes he caught him/ & he was bounde with chaynes / & kept with fetters: and he brake ỹ bondes / & was caryed of the fende/into wyldernes.

And Jesus asked him saying: What is thy name? And he sayd: * Legió, because many deuyls were entred into hym. And they besought him that he wolde not cõmaunde thẽ to go out into the depe. And ther was there by an heerde of many swyne, feedynge on an hyll and besought him/that he wolde suffre them to enter into them. And he suffred them. Then went the deuyls out of the mã/and entred into the swyne: And the heerd toke their course and ran heedlynge into the lake / and were choked. When the herdmen sawe what had chaunced/they fled & tolde it in the citie and in the villages.

And they came out to se what was done: & came to Jesus/and founde the man / oute of whõ the deuyls were departed/syttynge at ỹ fete of Jesus/clothed & in his ryght mynde/ & they were afrayde. They also which sawe it tolde thẽ by what meanes he that was possessed of the deuyll/ was healed. And all the whole multitude of the cõtreye of ỹ Gaderenites, besought him ỹ he wolde departe frõ thẽ: for they were taknẽ w greate feare. And it fortuned when Jesus was come agayne ỹ the people receaued him. For they all wayted for hym: * And beholde ther came a man named Jairus (and he was a ruler of ỹ synagoge) and he fell doune at Jesus fete/ & besought him that he wolde come into hys house/for he had but a daughter only /vpon a twelue yere of age / and she laye a dyinge. And as he went the people thronged him.

And a woman hauynge an issue of blond twelue yeres (which had spent all her substãce amonge Phisicions, nether coulde be holpen of eny) came behinde him / & touched the hem of his garment / & immediatly her issue of blond staunched. And Jesus sayde: Who is it that touched me? When euery mã denyed/ Peter & they ỹ were w him/sayde: Master/ the people thrust the and bere the: and sayest thou who touched me? And Jesus sayd: Some body touched me. For I perceaue ỹ vertue is gone oute of me. When the woman sawe that she was not hyd/ she came trymblinge/ & fell at his fete/ & tolde him before all ỹ people for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediatly. And he sayde vnto her: Daughter be of good comforte. * Thy fayth hath made the hoale, go in peace. Matth.ix.d. Mar.v.d

While he yet spake/there came one frõ the rulers of the synagogis house which sayde to him: thy daughter is deed / disease not ỹ master. When Jesus hearde that/ He answered the father sayng: * Feare not / beleue only & she shalbe made whole. And when he cam to the house he suffred no mã to go in with him/ saue Peter/James and John / & the father & the mother of the mayden. Euery body wepte & sorowed for her. And he sayde: Wepe not: for she is not deed / but slepeth. And they lewgh him to scorne. For they knew that she was deed. And he thrust thẽ all out/ & caught her by the hande: and cryed sayinge: Mayde aryse. And her spyrite came agayne / and she rose strayght waye. And he commaunded to geue her meate. And the father & ỹ mother of her were astonyed. But he warned them that they shuld tell no man what was done. Matth.ix.d Mar.v.d

And it folowed about an. viij. dayes after those sayinges, that he toke Peter, James, & John & went vp into a mountayne to praye And as he prayed, the fashyon of his countenaunce was chaunged, & his garment was whyte & shoone. And behold two men talked with him, and they were Moses and Helyas which appered gloriously & spake of his departynge which he shuld ende at Jerusalē. Peter & they that were whim were heuy & slepe. And when they woke / they sawe hys glorie/ and two men standynge with him.

And it chaunced as they departed frō him, Peter sayde vnto Jesus: Master, it is good beynge here for vs: Let vs make thre tabernacles one for the & one for Moses & one for Helyas: & wist not what he sayde. Whyll he thus spake, there came a cloude & shadowed them and they feared when they were come vnder the cloude And there came a voyce out of the cloude saying: This is my deare sonne heare him. And as sone as ꝑ voyce was past Jesus was founde alone. And they kept it close: & tolde no man in those dayes eny of those thynges which they had sene.

And it chaunced on the nexte daye as they came doune from the hyll moche people met him. And beholde a man of the cōpany cryed out sayinge: Master/ I beseche the beholde my sonne / for he is all that I haue: and se/ a spyrete taketh him & sodenly he cryeth/ and he teareth him that he foometh agayne/ and with moche payne departeth frō him/ whē he hath rent him/ & I besought thy disciples to cast him oute/ & they coulde not. Jesus answered and sayd: O generacion wt out fayth/ & croked: how longe shall I be wyth you? & shall I suffre you? Bringe thy sonne hyther. As he yet was a comminge/ the fende rent him and tare hym. And Jesus rebuked the vnclene spyrete/ and healed the chylde / and delyuered him to his father. And they were all amased at the myghty power of God.

Whyll they wōdred euery one at all thinges which he dyd, he sayde vnto his disciples: Let these sayinges synke doune into youre eares The tyme will come / when the sonne of mā shalbe deliuered into the handes of men. But they wist not what that worde meant/ and it was hyd from them / that they vnderstode it not. And they feared to aske him of ꝑ sayinge

¶ The .xiij. Chapter.

THer were ꝯpresent at ꝯ same season that shewed hym of the Galileans/ whose bloude Pylate mēgled with their awne sacrifyce. And Jesus answered/ & sayde vnto them: Suppose ye ꝯ these Galileans were greater synners then all the other Galileans/ because they suffred suche punyshment? I tell you naye: but except ye repent/ ye shall all lyke wyse perysshe Or those .xviij. vpon which the toure in Syloe fell/ & slewe thē/ thinke ye that they were synners aboue all mē that dwel in Jerusalē? I tell you naye: But except ye repent, ye all shall lyke wyse perysshe.

+ He put forthe this symilitude: a certayne mā had a fygge tree planted in his vyneyarde & he came & sought frute theron/ and founde none. Then sayde he to the dresser of hys vyneyarde: beholde/ this thre yeare haue I come & sought frute in this fygge tree/ & fynde none: cut it doune: why combreth it ꝯ grounde: and he answered & sayde vnto hym: Lorde let it alone this yeare also/ tyll I dygge rounde aboute it, & donge it/ to se whether it will beare frute: & yf it beare not then/ after ꝯ /cut it doune. And he taught in one of their synagoges on the Sabboth dayes. And beholde ther was a woman which had a spyrite of infirmite .xviij. yeares: & was bowed together & coulde not lyfte vp her selfe at all. When Jesus sawe her/ he called her to him/ & sayde to her: woman thou arte delyuered from thy dysease. And he layde hys handes on her, and immediatly she was strayght/ and glorysyed God. And ꝯ ruler of the synagoge answered wyth indignacyon (because that Jesus had healed on the Sabboth daye) and sayde vnto ꝯ people. Ther are syx dayes in whych men ought to worke: in them come and be healed/ and not on the Sabboth daye.

Then answered hym the Lorde, and sayd: *ypocrite/ doth not eache one of you on the Sabboth daye/ lowse his oxe or his asse from the stall/ & leade him to ꝯ water? And ought not thys daughter of Abraham, whom Satan hath bounde lo .xviij. yeares/ be lowsed frō this bonde on ꝯ Sabboth daye? And when he thus sayde/ all his aduersaries were ashamed/ and all the people reioysed on all the excellent dedes/ that were done by hym. E

Then sayde he: what is the kyngedome of God lyke? or wherto shall I cōpare it? It is lyke a grayne of mustard seede/ which a mā toke and sowed in his garden: and it grewe & wered a greate tree/ and the foules of ꝯayer made nestes in the braunches of it.

And agayne he sayde: wherunto shall I lyken the kyngdome of God? it is lyke leuen/ which a woman toke/ and hyde in thre bushels of floure/ tyll all was thorow leuended. And he went thorow all maner of cyties and tounes teachinge/ and iorneyinge towardes Jerusalem. Then sayde one vnto him: Lorde/ are ther feawe ꝯ shalbe saued? And he shall saye: I tell you I knowe you not whence ye are: departe from me all ye workers of iniquite. There shalbe wepinge & gnashinge of teth/ when ye shall se Abraham and Isaac & Jacob, and all the Prophetes in the kyngdome of God/ & youre selues thrust oute at dores. ¶ Jesus ¶ Jesus eateth with ye Pharyser/healeth the dropsy vpon the Sabboth/teacheth to be lowly/telleth of the great supper/& warneth them that will folowe hym/ to laye their accomptes before what it will cost them. The salt of the earth.

¶ The.xiiij. Chapter. ✠

AND it chaunted that he went into ye house of one of ye chefe Pharises to* eate breed on a Saboth daye: they watched hym. And beholde there was a man before him, which had ye dropsye. And Jesus answered & spake vnto ye lawears and Pharises sayinge: is it lawfull to heale on the Saboth daye? And they helde their peace. And he toke him & healed hym/ and let him go: and answered them sayinge/ which of you shall haue an asse or an oxe fallen into a pyt/ and will not strayght waye pull him out on the Saboth daye? And they coulde not answer him agayne to that.

He put forthe a similitude to ye gestes/ whē he marked how they pleased to the hyest roumes/ & sayd vnto thē: When thou arte bidden to a weddinge of eny man/ syt not doune in ye hyest roume/ lest a more honorable mā then thou be bidden of him/ and he that bade bothe him & the, come and saye to the: geue this mā roume, and thou then beginne with shame to take the lowest roume. But rather whē thou arte bydden/ go & syt in the lowest roume/ ye whē he that bade the commeth, he maye saye vnto the: frende syt vp hyer. Then shalt thou haue worshippe in the presence of them that syt at meate with the.* For whosoeuer exalteth hym selfe/ shalbe brought lowe. And he that humbleth him selfe/ shalbe exalted. ✠

Then sayde he also to him that had desyred him to dyner: ✠ Whē thou makest a dyner or a supper: call not thy frendes, nor thy brethrē nether thy kynsmē or yet ryche neyghbours: lest they bydde the agayne/ & a recompence be made the. But when thou makest a feast/ call the poore, the mayned the lame & the blynde and thou shalt be happy/ for they cannot recompence the. But thou shalt be recōpensed at the resurrection of the iuste men.

When one of them that sate at meate also hearde that, he sayde vnto him: happy is he ye eateth breed in the kyngdome of God. ✠

Then sayde he to him. ✠ A certayne man ordened a greate supper/ & bade many/ & sent his seruaunt at supper tyme/ to saye to thē that were biddē/ come: for all thinges are now redy. And they all atonce beganne to make excuse. The fyrst sayd vnto him: I haue bought a ferme/ and I must nedes go & se it/ I praye the haue me excused. And another sayd: I haue bought fyue yooke of oxen/ and I go to proue thē/ I praye the haue me excused. The thyrde sayd: I haue maryed a wyfe and therfore I cannot come. And the seruaunt went/ and brought hys Master worde therof.

Then was the good man of the house displeased, & sayd to his seruaūt: Go out quickly into the stretes & quarters of the citie/ and bringe in hyther ye poore & the mayned & the halt & the blynde. And ye seruaunt sayd Lorde it is done as thou cōmaundest & yet there is roume. And the Lorde sayd to the seruaunt: Go out into the hye wayes & hedges/ & cōpel thē to come in, that my house maye be fylled. For I saye vnto you/ that none of those men which were biddē/ shall taste of my supper. ✠

There went a greate cōpany with him/ and he turned & sayde vnto thē: ✠ *If a mā come to me/ & hate not his father & mother & wyfe and chyldren/ and brethren, and systers: moreouer and hys awne lyfe/ he cannot be my disciple. And whosoeuer beare not his crosse/ and come after me cannot be my disciple.

Which of you disposed to bylde a toure/ sitteth not doune before and counteth the cost/ whether he haue sufficiēt to perfourme it: lest after he hath layde the foundacyō, and is not able to perfourme it, all ye beholde it/ beginne to mocke him sayinge: this man beganne to bylde/ and was not able to make an ende. Or what king goeth to make batayle agaīst another kynge/ and sytteth not doune fyrst/ and casteth in his mynde, whether he be able with ten thousande/ to mete him that cometh agaynst him with .xx. thousand. Or els whyll ye other is yet a greate waye of, he wyll sende ambasseatours/ and desyre peace. So lyke wyse one of you that forsaketh not all that he hath/ can be my disciple. ✠

*Salt is good/ but yf salt haue loste hys saltnes, what shall be seasoned ther with? It is nether good for the lande nor yet for the donge hyll/ but men cast it out at the dores. He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

¶ The louynge mercy of God is openly set forth in the parable of the hundreth shepe of the sonne ye was lost

¶ The.xv. Chapter. ✠

THen resorted vnto hym all the publicans and synners, for to heare hym. And the Pharises and Scribes murmured sayinge: He receaueth to his cōpany synners and eateth with them. Then put he forthe this symilitude to them sayinge: What man of you hauynge an hundreth shepe yf he loose one of them/ doth not leue nynty and nyne in the wyldernes/ and go after that which is loost vntyll he fynde hym? And when he hath founde hym, he putteth hym on hys shulders with ioye: And allone as he cometh home he calleth to gether hys louers and neyghbours sayinge vnto them: Reioyse with me for I haue founde my shepe which was loost. I saye vnto you/

vnto you that lyke wyse ioye shalbe in heuē ouer one synner that repenteth / more then ouer nynty & nyne iuste persons/which nede no repentaunce. Then came his father out & entreated him. He answerd & sayde to hys father: Lo these many yeares haue I done the seruice/ neither brake at any tyme thy cōmaundment/ & yet gauest thou me neuer so moche as a kyd to make mery with my louers: but assone as this thy sonne was come/ which hath deuoured thy goodes with harlotes, thou haste for his pleasure kylled ℣ fatted caulfe. And he sayd vnto him: Sonne/ thou wast euer with me/ and all that I haue is thyne: it was mete that we shuld make mery and be glad: for thys thy brother was deed/ and is alyue agayne: and was loste, and is founde. ✠

¶ The parable of the wycked Mammon. Not one tytle of Gods worde shall perysh. ¶ The tyrde mā and poore Lazarus.

¶ The xvi. Chapter.

And he sayd also vnto his disciples. I ✠ There was a certayn ryche mā/ which had a stewarde/ that was accused vnto him, that he had wasted his goodes. And he called hym and sayd vnto him: How is it/ that I heare this of the? Geue a compte of thy stewardshyppe: for thou mayste be no longer stewarde. The stewarde sayd with in hym selfe: what shall I do? for my master will take awaye frō me the stewardshippe. I can not dygge/ and to begge/ I am ashamed. I woote what to do/ that when I am put out of the stewardshippe/ they maye receaue me into their houses.

Then called he all hys masters detters/ & ✠ sayd vnto the fyrst: how moche owest thou vnto my master? And he sayd an hondred tonnes of oyle. And he sayd to him: take thy bill/ & syt doune quyckly and wryte fyfty. Then sayd he to another: what owest thou? And he sayde: an hondred quarters of wheate. He sayd to him: Take thy bill, and wryte foure score. And the Lorde commended the vniuste stewarde because he had done wysely. For the chyldren of thys worlde are in their kynde/ wyser then the chyldren of lyght. And I saye ¶ also vnto you: * make you frendes of ℣ wicked māmon, ℣ whē ye shall departe they may receaue you into euerlastinge habitacions. ✠

The lawe and the Prophetes tayned vntyll the tyme of Johñ and sence: that tyme ꝑ kyngdome of God is preached, & euery man stryueth to go in. Sonest shall heuen & earth perysshe, then one tytle of the lawe shall perisshe. Whosoeuer forsaketh his wyfe & maryeth another breaketh matrimony. And euery man which maryeth her ꝑ is deuorced frō her husbande, committeth aduoutry also.

C ✠ There was a certayne ryche man, which was clothed in purple and fyne bysse, & fared delicyously euery daye. And there was a certayne begger named Lazarus, whyche laye at his gate full of sores desyrynge to be refreshed with the cromes whyche fell frō the ryche mānes borde. Neuertheles, ꝑ dogges came and licked hys sores. And it fortuned that the begger dyed, and was caryed by the angelles into * Abrahams bosome. The ryche man also dyed, and was buryed.

And beinge in hell in tormētes, he lyfte vp his eyes and sawe Abraham a farre of. & Lazarus in his bosome, & he cried & sayd: father Abraham, haue mercy on me, & sende Lazarus ꝑ he maye dyppe the typpe of his fynger in water, & cole my tōge: for I am tourmented in this flame. But Abraham sayd vnto hym: Sonne, remēbre that thou in thy lyfe tyme, receauedst thy pleasure, & contrary wyse Lazarus payne. Now therfore is he cōforted, & thou art punished. Beyonde al this, betwene you and vs there is a greate space set, so ꝑ they whiche wolde go from hence to you can not: nether maye come from thence to vs.

Then he sayde I pray the therfore father, send him to my fathers house. For I haue fyue brethren: for to warne thē lest they also come into the place of tourment. Abrahā sayde vnto hi: they haue Moyses & the Prophetes let them here them. And he sayd: naye father Abraham, but yf one came vnto them from the deade, they wolde repent. He sayde vnto hym: If they here not Moses and the Prophetes, neither wyll they beleue, though one rose from death agayne.

I Then sayde he to hys disciples, it can not be auoyded but that offences wyll come. Neuertheles wo be to hym thorowe whome they come. And the Apostles sayde vnto the Lorde. Increase our fayth. And the Lorde sayde: yf ye had fayth lyke a grayne of mustard sede, & shulde saye vnto thys sycamine tree, plucke thy selfe vp by the totes, and plante thy selfe in the see: he shulde obey you.

Who is it of you yf he had a seruaūte plowinge or fedinge catell, that wolde say vnto him when he were come from the felde: Go quickly and syt downe to meate: & wolde not rather saye to him, dresse wherwith I maye sup, and gyrde vp thy selfe and serue me, tyll I haue eaten & dronken, & afterwarde, eate thou, and dr̄incke thou? Doeth he thāke that seruaūte because he dyd that which was cōmaūded vnto hime I trowe not. So likewise ye, when ye haue done all those thinges whyche are cōmaunded you, say. We are vnprofitable seruauntes. we haue done that whyche was our duety to do.

✠ And it chaunced as he went to Jerusalē that he passed thorow Samaria and Galile. And as he entred into a certayne towne, there met him ten men ꝑ were lepers. And it chaunced as they went, they were clensed. And one of thē whē he sawe that he was clēsed, turned backe agayne, & with a loude voyce praysed god and fell downe on hys face at his fete, and gaue him thākes. And ꝑ same was a Samaritane. And Jesus answered & saide: are there not ten clensed? But where are those nyne? There are not founde that returned agayne, to geue God prayse saue only this straūger. And he saide vnto him: aryse, & go thy waye thy fayth hath made the whole. ✠

✠ When he was demaunded of the Pharises, whē the kingdome of God shulde come he answered them & sayd: The kyngdome of God cometh not with waytinge for. Neither shall men saye: Lo here, lo there. For beholde the kyngdome of God is with you.

And he sayd vnto the disciples: the dayes wyll come, when ye shall desyre to se one day of the sonne of man, & ye shall not se it. And they shall say to you: Se here, Se there. Go not after them, nor folowe them, for as the lyghtenynge that apereth out of ꝑ one parte of heuen, and shineth vnto the other parte of heauen. So shall the sonne of man be in his dayes. But fyrst must he suffre many thynges, and be refused of this nacion.

¶ The.xviii. Chappytre.

3 And he put forth a symilitude vnto thē, sygnifyenge that men ought al wayes to praye and not to be werye, sayinge: There was a Judge in a certayne cyte, which feared not God neither regarded man. And ther was a certayne wedowe in the same cite, which came vnto him sayinge: auenge me of myne aduersary. And he wolde not for a whyle. But afterwarde he sayde to him selfe: though I feare not god nor care for man, yet bycause thys wydowe troubleth me, I wyl auenge her lest at ỹ last she come & hagge on me. And the Lorde sayd here what the vnryghtwes Judge sayeth.

5 And shall not God auenge his electe, whiche crye daye and nyght vnto hym, ye though he deferre them? I tell you he wyl auenge them and that quickely. ✠ Neuertheles, whē the sonne of mā cometh, suppose ye, that he shall fynde fayth on the earth.

✠ And he put forthe this symilitude, vnto certayne which trusted in them selues ỹ they were perfecte, and despysed other. Two men went vp into the tēple to praye: ỹ one a Pharisē & the other a publicā. The Pharise stode & prayed thus with him selfe. God I thanke the that I am not as other men are, extorsioners, vniuste, aduoutrers, or as this publicā I fast twyse in the weke. I geue tythe of all that I possesse. And the publican stode a farre of, & wolde not lyfte vp his eyes to heuen, but smote hys brest sayenge: God be mercyfull to me a synner. I tell you this man departed home to his house iustifyed more then the other. For euery man that exalteth hym selfe, shalbe brought low: And he that humbleth hym selfe, shalbe exhalted. Math.23.b.

They brought vnto him also babes, that he shulde touche thē. Whe his disciples saw that, they rebuked them. But Jesꝰ called thē vnto him, & sayde: Suffre chyldren to come vnto me, & forbidde them not. For of suche is the kyngdome of God. Verely I saye vnto you: whosoeuer receyueth not ỹ kyngdome of God as a chylde: he shall not entre therin.

And a certayne ruler asked hym sayinge: good master: what ought I to do, to optaine eternal lyfe? Jesus sayde vnto him: Why callest thou me good? None is good, saue God only. Thou knowest the cōmaundementes: Thou shalt not cōmit aduoutry: thou shalte not kyll: thou shalt not steale: thou shalt not beare false wytnes: Honoure thy father and thy mother. And he sayde all these haue I kept frō my youthe. When Jesus sawe him mourne, he sayde: with what difficulte shall they that haue ryches entre into the kyngedome of God: it is easyer for a Camell to go thorowe a nedles eye, then for a riche man to entre into the kingdome of God. Then sayde they that herde that. And who shall then be saued? And he sayde: Thynges whiche are vnpossyble with men are possyble with God.

Then Peter sayde: Lo we haue lefte all, & haue folowed the. And he saide vnto them: Verely I saye vnto you, ther is no man that leaueth house, other father & mother, other brethren, or wyfe, or chyldren for the kyngedome of Goddes sake, whiche same shall not receyue muche more in this worlde: and in the worlde to come, lyfe euerlastinge.

Father yf thou wilt/ withdrawe this cup frõ ¶ me. Neuertheles/ not my will/ but thyne be fulfylled. And ther apperred an angell vnto him from

hym from heauen/ conforteynge hym. And he was in an agonye/ and prayed lomwhat longer. And hys sweate was lyke droppes of blood/ trickleynge doune to the grounde. And he rose vp from prayer and came to his disciples/ and founde them slepynge for sorowe/ and sayde vnto them: why slepe ye? Aryse and praye/ lest ye fall into temptacion.

Whyll he yet spake: beholde/ there came a compayny/ & he that was called Judas one of the twelue/ went before them/ and prealed nye vnto Jesus to kysse him. And Jesus sayd vnto him: Judas/ betrayest thou the sonne of man with a kysse? When they which were about him sawe what wolde folow/ they sayd vnto him: Lorde/ shall we smite vs swearde. * And Matth.xxvi.c. Marc.xiiii.c. Joh.xviii.b. one of the smote a seruaut of the hyest prestes of all/ & smote of hys ryght eare. And Jesus answered & sayd. Suffre ye thus farre forthe. And he touched his eare/ and healed him.

Then Jesus sayde vnto the hye prestes & rulers of the temple and the elders which which were come to him. Be ye come out/ as vnto a thefe with swerdes & staues? When I was dayly with you in the temple/ ye stretched not forth handes agaynst me. But thys is euen youre very houre/ and the power of darcknes. Then toke they him/ & ledde hym/ and brought hym to the hye Prestes house. And Peter folowed a farre of.

When they had kyndled a fyre in the myddes of the palys/ & were set doune to gether Matth.xxvi.g. Marc.xiiii.g. John.xviii.c. * Peter also sate doune amonge the. And one of the wenches, beholde him as he sate by the fyer, & set good eye syght on him & sayde: this same was also with him. Then he denied him sayinge: woman I knowe hym not. And after a lytell whyle/ another sawe hym and sayde: thou arte also of the. And Peter sayde: man I am not. And about the space of an houre after/ another affirmed sayinge: verely euen thys felowe was wyth hym/ for he is of Galile/ & Peter sayde: man I wote not what thou sayest. And immediatly whyll he yet spake, the cocke crewe. And the Lorde tourned backe and loked vpon Peter. And Peter remembred the wordes of the Lorde/ how he sayde vnto him/ before ỹ cocke crowe/ thou shalt denye me thryse. And Peter went out/ and wepte bitterly.

And the men that stode about Jesus/ mocked him/ & smote hym/ & blyndfolded hym/ & smoote his face. And asked him sayng: arede who it is that smoote the? And many other thinges despytfullye sayd they agaynst him.

And assone as it was daye ỹ elders of the people and the hye Prestes and Scribes/ came to gether/ & ledde him into their counsell sayinge: arte thou very Christ? tell vs. And he sayde vnto them: yf I shall tell you/ ye wyll not beleue. And yf also I aske you/ ye wyll not answere me or let me go. Herafter shall the sonne of man syt on the ryght hand of the power of God. Then sayde they all: arte thou then the sonne of God? He sayd to them: ye saye that I am. Then sayde they: * what nede Matth.xxvi.g. we eny further witnes? We oure selues Marc.xiiii.g. haue herde of hys awne mouthe.

¶ Jesus is brought before Pylate and Herode. The women make lamentacion for him. He prayeth for his enemyes/ forgeueth the theefe vpon hys ryght hande/ and dyeth on the crosse and is buryed.

¶ The.xxiii. Chapter.

And ỹ whole multitude of the arose, & ledde him vnto Pilate. And they ỹ began to accuse hym sayinge: we haue founde thys felowe peruertinge the people/ and forbyddynge to paye tribute to Cesar: sayinge, that he is Christ a kynge. And Pylate appoled him sayinge: arte thou ỹ kynge of the Jewes? He answered him and sayde: thou sayest it. Then sayde Pilate to the hye Prestes/ and to the people: I fynde no faute in this man. And they were ỹ more fearce sayinge. He moueth ỹ people/ teachynge thorow out Jewry/ and begame at Galile/ euen to this place. Ⅱ Matth.xxvii.f. Marc.xv.a. Joh.xviii.c.

When Pylate herde mencion of Galile he asked whether the mā were of Galile. And assone as he knewe that he was of Herodes iurisdiccio he sent him to Herode, which was also at Jerusalem in those dayes. And when Herode sawe Jesus he was exceedingly glad for he was desyrous to se him of a longe season, because he had herde many thynges of hym/ and trusted to haue sene some myracle done by him. Then questioned he with hym of many thynges. But he answered hym not one worde. The hye Prestes and Scribes/ stode forth and accused him straytly. And He rod with his men of warre/ despised him/ and mocked him, and arayed hym in whyte/ and sent him agayne to Pylate. * And ỹ same daye Act.iiii.c. Pylate and Herod were made frendes to gether. For before they were at variaunce.

And Pylate called to gether ỹ hye Prestes and the rulers/ & the people/ and sayde vnto them: ye haue brought this man vnto me/ as one that peruerted the people. And beholde I ¶ haue examined him before you/ & haue founde no faute in this man/ of those thinges where of ye accuse him. No nor yet Herode. For I sent you to hym: and lo nothinge worthy of deeth is done to him. I will therfore chasten him & let hi louse. * For of necessite he must Matth.xxvii.b Marc.xv.a. Joh.xviii.a. haue let one louse vnto them at that feast.

And all the people cryed atonce sayinge: away with him/ & delyuer to vs Barrabas: which for insurreccion made in ỹ citie & murther was cast in prison. Pilate spake againe to thē wyllynge to let Jesus lowse. And they cried sayinge: Crucify him/Crucify him. He sayde vnto thē the thyrde tyme. What euyll hath he done? I fynde no cause of deeth in hī I will therfore chasten him/ & let hym lowse.

Math.xxvij.c. Mar.xv.a. Joh.xix.d. * And they cryed w a loude voyce/ & required that he myght be crucyfyed And the voyce of them and of the hye Prestes preuayled.

D And Pilate gaue sentence that it shuld be as they required & let lowse vnto them/him & for insurrection and mother/ was cast into prison/whō they desyred: & delyuered Jesus to do w hym what they wolde. * And as they ledde him awaye, they caught one Symō of Syrene/cōmynge out of the felde: & on hym layde they the crosse/ to beare it after Jesus.

Math.xxvij.d. Mar.xv.b.

And there folowed him a greate cōpany of people & of wemē/ which wemē bewayled & lamented him. But Jesus turned backe vnto thē, & sayde: Daughters of Jerusalem/wepe not for me: but wepe for youre selues/ & for youre childrē. For beholde/ ydayes wil come/ when men shall saye: * happy are & baren & the wombes that neuer bare and the pappes which neuer gaue sucke. Then shall they begynne to saye to & mountaynes, fall on vs. & to the hyllys/couer vs. For yf they do thys to a grene tree/what shalbe done to the drye.

Esa.liij.a. Lucę.xxiij.c. Apoc.vj.d.

And ther were two euyll doers ledde wyth him to be slayne. * And when they were come to & place which is called Caluary, ther they crucifyed him/ & & euyll doers, one on & right hande & the other on & lefte. Then sayde Jesus: father forgeue them/ for they woote not what they do. And they parted his rayment & cast lootes. And the people stode & beheilde.

Math.xxvij.d. Mark.xv.b. Joh.xix.d.

And & rulers mocked him with thē saying he holpe other men/let hym helpe him selfe/ yf he be Christ & chosen of God. The soudiers also mocked him/and came and gaue him vynegar and sayde: yf thou be that kynge of the Jewes saue thy selfe. And hys superscripcīō was written ouer him in Greke/in Latin, & Hebrew: This is the kynge of the Jewes.

And one of the euyll doers which hanged/ rayled on him sayinge: If thou be Christ saue thy selfe and vs. The other answered and rebuked him sayinge: Nether feareſt thou God because thou arte in the same damnacyon? We are righteously punished, for we receaue acco:dynge to oure dedes: But thys man hath done nothinge amysse. And he sayd vnto Jesus: Lorde remēber me when thou comeſt into thy kyngdome. And Jesus sayde vnto him: Verely I saye vnto &, today shalt thou be with me in * Paradyse.

* Why Peter Martyr (as affyrmeth Erasmus in hys annotacyons vpon thys text) is vnderstode a place of purgatorye.

And it was about the fyrſt houre. And ther came a darckenes ouer all the lande vntyll & nynth houre and the sonne was darckened. And & vayle of the tēple dyd rent euē thorow the myddes. And Jesus cryed wyth a greate voyce and sayd: father/into thy handes I cō mende my spyrete. And when he thus had sayd he gaue vp the goost. When the Centurion sawe what had happened/ he glorifyed God sayinge: Of a suretye this mā was perfecte. And al the people that came to gether to that syght/beholdynge the thynges whych were done: smoote their brestes/ & returned home. And all his acquayntaunce/and the wemen that folowed hym from Galile/ stode a farre of beholdynge these thynges.

And beholde ther was a man named Joseph/a councellour/and was a good mā and a iuste/ & did not consent to the coūsell & dede of them/which was of Aramathia/a citie of the Jewes: whych same also wayted for the kyngdome of God: he went vnto Pylate and begged & body of Jesus/ & toke it doune/ & wrapped it in a lynnē clooth/ & layed it in an hewē toūbe/ wherin was neuer man before layed. ¶ And & daye was & Saboth euen/ & the Sabothdrue on. The wemen & folowed after which came wyth him from Galile/ beheilde the sepulcre & how his body was layed. And they returned & prepared odoures and oyntmentes: but rested the Saboth daye, acordynge to the commaundement.

On & morowe after & Saboth/erly in the morninge/they came vnto & grauē toūbe & brought & odoures wyth they had prepared & other wemē wh thē. And they founde & stone rowled awaye frō & sepulcre/ & went in: but founde not the body of the Lorde Jesu. And it happened/as they were amased therat: Beholde two men stode by them in shynynge vestures. * And as they were afrayde, and bowed doune their faces to the erth: they sayd to them: why seke ye the lyuynge amonge the deed? He is not here: but is rysen. Remember how he spake vnto you/when he was yet with you in Galile/sayinge: that the sonne of man must be delyuered into the handes of synfull men/ & be crucified/and the thyrde daye ryse agayne

And they remembred his wordes/ & returned frō the sepulcre, & tolde all these thinges vnto the eleuen & to all the remenaunt. * It was Mary Magdalen and Joanna & Mary Jacobi/ and other that were wyth them/ which tolde these thynges vnto & Apostles/ and their wordes semed vnto them fayned thinges, nether beleued they thē. selfe/ and departed wondrynge in hym selfe at that whych had happened. ✠

✠ And beholde/ two of them went that same daye to a toune whych was from Jerusalem about thre scooze forlonges/ called Emaus: and they talked to gether of all these thynges that had happened. And it chaunsed/ as they commened to gether and reasoned/ that Jesus hym selfe drue neare/ & went wyth them. But their eyes were holden/ that they coulde not knowe hym. And he sayde vnto them: What maner of communicacōs are these that ye haue one to another as ye walke/ and are sadde? And the one of them named Cleophas, answered and sayde vnto hym: arte thou only a straunger in Jerusalem, and haste not knowen ꝯ thynges whych haue chaunsed therin in these dayes? To whom he sayd: what thynges?

And they sayd vnto hym: of Jesus of Nazareth whych was a Prophet, myghtye in dede and worde before God/ and all the people. And how the hye Prestes/ and oure rulers delyuered hym to be condempned to deeth: and haue crucyfyed hym. But we trusted that it shuld haue bene he that shuld haue delyuered Israel. And as touchynge all these thynges to daye is euen the thyrd daye/ that they were done.

Ye and certayne wemen also of oure company made vs astonyed, whych came erly vnto the sepulchre, and founde not hys body: and came sayinge, that they had sene a vision of angels whych sayde that he was alyue. And certayne of them whych were wyth vs/ went their waye to the sepulchre/ and founde it euen so as the wemen had sayde: but hym they sawe not.

And he sayde vnto them: O foles and slowe of herte to beleue all that the Prophetes haue spoken Ought not Christ to haue suffred these thynges, and to enter into hys glory? And he began at Moses/ and at all the Prophetes, and interpreted vnto them in all scryptures whych were wrytten of hym. And they drue nye vnto the toune which they wēt to. And he made as though he wolde haue gone further. But they constrayned hym sayinge/ abyde wyth vs/ for it draweth towardes nyght, and the daye is farre passed. And he went in, to tary wyth them.

And it came to passe as he sate at meate wyth them, he toke breed/ blessed it/ brake & gaue to them. And their eyes were opened & they knewe hym: and he vanysshed out of their syght. And they sayde betwene them selues: dyd not oure hertes burne wyth in vs/ whyll he talked wyth vs by ꝯ waye/ and as he opened to vs the scryptures? And they roose vp the same houre/ & returned agayne to Jerusalem/ and founde the eleuen gathered to gether/ and them that were with them whych sayde: the Lorde is ryssen in dede/ and hath apered to Simon. And they tolde what thynges was done in the waye/ and how they knewe him in breakynge of breed. ✠

As they thus spake ✠ Jesus hym selfe stode in the myddes of them/ and sayde vnto them: peace be with you. And they were abasshed and afrayde/ supposynge that they had sene a spyrite. And he sayde vnto them: why are ye troubled/ and why do thoughtes aryse in youre hertes? Beholde my handes and my fete/ that it is euen my selfe. Handle me and se: for spyretes haue not fleshe and bones/ as ye se me haue. And when he had thus spoken he shewed them his handes and his fete. And whyll they yet beleued not for ioye and wondred/ he sayde vnto them: Haue ye here eny meate? And they gaue him a pece of a broyled fysshe/ and of an hony combe. And he toke it/ and ate it before them.

And he sayde vnto them. These are the wordes which I spake vnto you whyl I was yet with you: that al must be fulfylled which were wrytten of me in the lawe of Moses and in the Prophetes/ and in the Psalmes: * Then opened he their wyttes/ that they myght vnderstand the scryptures, and sayde vnto them: Thus is it wrytten/ and thus it behoued Christ to suffre/ and to ryse agayne from deeth the thyrde daye/ and that repentaūce and remission of synnes shuld be preached in his name amonge all nacyons/ ✠ & must be begynne at Jerusalem. And ye are wytnesses of these thynges. And beholde, I wyll sende the promes of my father vpō you. * But tary ye in the citie of Jerusalē, vntyll ye be endewed with power from an hye.

And he ledde them out into Bethany/ and lyfte vp his handes and blessed them. * And it cam to passe, as he blessed them he departed from thē/ and was carved vp into heuen. And they worshipped him/ and returned to Jerusalem wyth greate ioye/ & were cōtinually in ꝯ tēple prayinge & laudinge God:

Amen.

Act. i. a.

Luke. xvi. d.

Here endeth the Gospell of Saynete Luke.

¶ The Gospell of Sayncte Johan.

¶ The eternall lyfe of Christ/and how he became man. The testimony of Jhon. The callynge of Andrew. Peter. &c.

¶ The fyrst Chapter. ✠

IN the begynnynge was the worde/ & the worde was with God: and the worde was God. The same was in the begynnynge wyth God. All thynges were made by it/ and wythoute it/ was made nothynge that was made. In it was lyfe/ & the lyfe was the lyght of men & a *the lyght shyneth in ỳ darckenes but the darckenes comprehended it not.

a ¶ The lyght shyneth in the darckenes &c. By the lyght is vnderstande Christ & by the darckenes vngodlye vnbeleuynge me/ amõg whome Christ came & they receaued him not as Ephe.iii.d

There was a man sent from God whose name was John. The same cam as a witnes to beare wytnes of the lyght that all men thrugh him myght beleue. He was not that lyght/ but to beare witnes of the lyght. That was a true lyght whych lyghteth all mẽ that come into the worlde. He was in the worlde/ and the worlde was made by hym: and yet b *the worlde knewe hym not.

b ¶ The worlde knewe him not The worlde is here taken for the people of the worlde/ as after in the.xv. & Mat.xvi.c.

He cam amonge hys awne/ and hys awne receaued hym not. But as many as receaued hym/ to them he gaue power to be the sonnes of God in that they beleued on hys name: wych were borne not of blonde nor of the wyll of the flesshe/ nor yet of the will of man: but of God.

And the worde was made flesshe and dwelt amonge vs/ and we sawe the glory of it/ as the glory of the only begotten sonne of the father/ whych worde was full of grace and verite. ✠

✠ Johan bare wytnes of hym and cryed sayinge: This was he of whome I spake he that cometh after me/ was before me/ because he was yer then I. And of hys fulnes haue al we receaued/ euen c * grace/ for grace. For the lawe was geuen by Moses, but grace and truthe came by Jesus Christ.

c ¶ Grace for grace By grace vnderstande fauour The meanynge is/ for the fauoure that God the father hath to hys sonne Christ hath he receaued vs in to fauoure: so ỳ as Christ is beloued of hys father/ euen so are we beloued for hys sake as Rom.v.c.

d * No man hath sene God at eny tyme. The only begotten sonne, which is in the bosome of the father he hath declared him. ✠

d ¶ No mã hath sene God at any tyme &c. Where can no bodely eye beholde the maiestie of god in his spirituall nature as he is/ as we haue declared in Exod. xxxiii.d

✠ And this is the recorde of Johan. when the Jewes sent Prestes and Leuites frõ Jerusalem to aske hym, what arte thou? And he confessed and denyed not & sayde playnly I am not Christ. And they asked hym: what then? arte thou Helyas? And he sayde: I am not. Arte thou ỳ Prophete? And he answered no. Then sayd they vnto hym: what arte thou that we maye geue an answere to them that sent vs: What sayest thou of thy selfe? He sayde: I am ỳ e * voyce of a cryar in ỳ wildernes, make straight the waye of the Lorde, as sayde the Prophete Esaias.

e ¶ Voyce that is I am that I preache I am sent to prepare you spirites & to cry on you to amende that ye maye receaue Christ and hys grace.

And they whych were sent, were of the Pharyses. And they asked hym, and sayde vnto hym: why baptisest thou then yf thou be not Christ nor Helyas neither a Prophet? Johan answered thẽ sayinge: I baptyse wyth water: but one is come amonge you, whom ye knowe not he it is that cometh after me, whiche was before me/ whose no latchet I am not worthy to vnlose. These thynges were done in Bethabara beyonde Jordã where Johan dyd baptise. ✠

✠ The nexte daye Johan sawe Jesus commynge vnto him, and sayde: beholde ỳ lambe of God, which taketh awaye the synne of the worlde. This is he of whom I sayd. After me cometh a man/ whych was before me/ for he was yer then I/ and I knewe him not: but that he shuld be declared to Israel/ therfore am I come baptysinge wyth water.

And Johan bare recorde sayinge: I sawe ỳ Spirite descende from heuen/ like vnto a doue and abyde vpon him/ and I knewe hym not. But he that sent me to baptise in water the same sayde vnto me: * vpon whom thou shalt se the spirite descende and tary styll on hym, the same is he which baptiseth with the holy goost. And I sawe and bare recorde that this is the sonne of God. ✠ Math.iii.d. Mar.i.b. Luke.iii.d

The nexte daye after/ Johan stode agayne/ and two of hys disciples. And he beheld Jesus as he walked by/ and sayde: behold the lambe of God. And the two disciples harde hym speake and folowed Jesus. And Jesus ✠ turned about/ and sawe them folowe/ & sayd vnto thẽ: what seke ye? They sayd vnto him: Rabbi (which is to saye by interpretacyon/ Master) where dwellest thou? He sayde vnto them: come and se. They came & sawe where he dwelt: and abode with him that daye. For it was about the tenth houre.

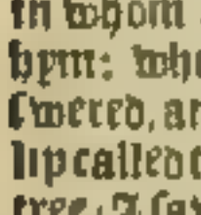
One of ỹ two which hearde John speake and folowed Jesus / was Andrew Simon Peters brother. The same foũde hys brother Simon fyrst/and sayde vnto hym: we haue founde Messias/which is by interpretacyõ/ annoynted:and brought hym to Jesus. And Jesus beheilde him and sayde: thou arte Simon the sonne of Jonas/thou shalt be called Cephas:which is by interpretacion, a stone.

The daye folowyng Jesus wolde go into Galile/ & founde Philip/ and sayd vnto him/ folowe me.Philip was of Bethsaida ỹ citie of Andrew and Peter. And Philip founde Nathanael/ and sayde vnto hym. We haue founde hym of whome Moses in the lawe/ and the Prophetes dyd wryte Jesus ỹ sonne of Joseph of Nazareth. And Nathanael sayd vnto hym: can there eny good thynge come oute of Nazareth? Philip sayde to him:come and se.

Jesus sawe Nathanael comynge to hym/ and sayde of him. Beholde a ryght Israelyte/ in whom is no gyle. Nathanael sayde vnto hym: where knewest thou me? Jesus answered, and sayde vnto him: Before that Philip called the, when thou wast vnder ỹ frygge tree/ I sawe the. Nathanael answered and sayd vnto him: Rabbi/ thou arte the sonne of God/thou arte ỹ kyng of Israel. Jesus answered and sayde vnto him: Because I sayde vnto the/I sawe the vnder ỹ frygge tree/thou beleuest. Thou shalt se greater thinges then these. And he sayde vnto him: Verely/verely/ I saye vnto you: hereafter shall ye see heuen open/and the angels of God ascendynge and descendynge ouer the sonne of man.

¶ Christ turneth the water vnto wyne/and dryueth ỹ byers & sellers out of the temple.

¶ The.ij.Chapter.



And the thyrde daye/was ther a mariage in Cana a citie of Galile: & the mother of Jesus was there. And Jesus was called also and his disciples vnto the mariage. And when the wyne fayled the mother of Jesus sayde vnto him: they haue no wyne. Jesus sayd vnto her: woman what haue I to do wyth the? myne houre is not yet come. His mother sayde onto the mynistres: whatsoeuer he sayeth vnto you/ do it. And there were standynge there/ syxe waterpottes of stone after the maner of the purifyinge of the Jewes / contaynynge two or thre fyrkins a pece.

And Jesus sayde vnto them: fyll ỹ waterpottes with water. And they fylled thẽ vp to the brym. And he sayde vnto them: drawe out now/& beare vnto the gouerner of ỹ feaste. And they bare it. When the ruler of the feast had tasted the water that was turned vnto wyne/and knewe not whence it was (but ỹ mynistres which drue the water knewe) he called the bridegrome / and sayde vnto hym: All men at the begynnynge / sett forth good wyne and* when men be dronke, then that which is worse. But thou hast kept backe ỹ good wyne/vntyll now.

* when men be dronke &c. That is/ when men be fylled & satisfyed.

This begynnynge of myracles dyd Jesus in Cana of Galile, and shewed his glory and his disciples beleued on him. After that he descẽded into Capernaum/ & his* mother/ and his brethren, and his disciples, but contynued not manye dayes there.

And the Jewes ester was euen at hande/ and Jesus wẽt vp to Jerusalem, and founde syttynge in the temple those that solde oxen and shepe and doues & chaungers of money. And he made a scourge of small cordes / and draue thẽ all out of the tẽple / with the shepe & oxen, & powred out the chaungers money/ and ouerthrue the tables, and sayde vnto thẽ that solde doues: Haue these thinges hence, & make not my fathers house an house of marchaundyse. And his disciples remẽbred, how that it was wryten:* the zele of thyne house hath euen eaten me.

* Psal.lxviij.b.

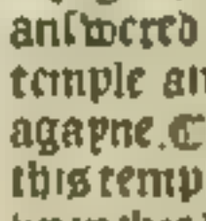
Then answered the Jewes and sayde vnto hym: what token shewest thou vnto vs/ seynge that thou dost these thynges? Jesus answered & sayde vnto them: * destroye this temple and in thre dayes I wyll reare it vp agayne. Then sayde ỹ Jewes: xlvi. yeres was this temple abylynge: & wylt thou reare it vp in thre dayes? But he spake of the temple of his body. Assone therfore as he was rysen frõ deeth agayne, hys disciples remembred ỹ he thus sayde. And they beleued ỹ scripture/ and the wordes which Jesus had sayde.

* Matth.xxvi.b. Marc.xiiij.b

When he was at Jerusalem at ester in the feaste/ many beleued on his name/ whẽ they sawe his myracles which he dyd. But Jesus put not hym selfe in their handes / because he knewe all men / and neded not / that eny mã should testifie of him. For he knewe what was in man.

¶ The cõmunycacion of Christ wt Nicodemus. The doctryne and baptyme of John/and what wytnesse he beareth of Christ.

¶ The.iij.Chapter.



There was a mã of the Pharises named Nycodemus a ruler amonge the Jewes. The same came to Jesus by nyght, and sayde vnto hym. Rabbi, we know ỹ thou arte a teacher which arte come from God. For no man coulde do suche myracles as thou doest / except God were with hym. Jesus answered & sayd vnto him: Verely verely I saye vnto the: except a mã be borẽ a newe / he cannot se the kyngdõ of God. Nicodemus sayde vnto him: how can a mã be borẽ when he is olde? can he enter into his mothers wombe & be bozē agayne?

a ✠ Except a mā be borne of water & of the spiete &c. By this is sygnyfyed þ baptme which is the mortifycacyon of þ fleshe ordeyned by Johan baptist/and the remyssyon of þ spiete which is exemplyfyed by Christ.

Jesus answered: verely verely/I saye vnto þ: ✠ except þ a man be bozen of water & of the spiete, he cannot enter into þ kyngdō of God. That which is bozen of the flesshe is flesshe: & that whych is bozen of the spiete / is spiete. Marueyle not that I sayd to the, ye must be bozen a newe. The wynde bloweth where he lysteth & thou hearest hys sounde: but canst not tell whēce he cometh & whether he goeth. So is euery man that is bozen of the spiete.

b ✠ No man ascendeth into heauen but he that came from heauē &c. That is, no man can come in heauen but by Christ þ sonne of God that cam from heauē to Daly by his rygh teousnes must we ascende.

And Nycodemus answered and sayde vnto him: how can these thynges be? Jesus answered & sayde vnto him: arte thou a master in Israel/ & knowest not these thynges: verely verely I saye vnto the/ we speake þ we know/ & testify that we haue sene: and ye receaue not oure wytnes. If when I tell you erthly thynges/ ye beleue not: how shulde ye beleue/ yf I shall tell you of heuenly thynges?

b ✠ And ✠ no man ascendeth vp to heauē/ but he that came doune from heauen that is to saye the sonne of man which is in heauen

And as Moses lyfte vp the serpent in the wyldernes euē so must the sonne of man be lyfte vp/ that none that beleueth in hym perisshe: but haue eternall lyfe.

✠ For God so loueth the worlde / that he hath geuē his only sonne that none that beleue in him shulde perisshe. but shulde haue euerlastyng lyfe. For God sent not his sonne into þ worlde, to cōdempne the worlde: ✠ but that the worlde thrugh him, myght be saued. He that beleueth on hym shall not be condempned. But he that beleueth not is condempned all redy because he beleueth not in the name of the only sonne of God And this is the condempnacion/ that lyght is come in to the worlde & the men loued darcknes more then lyght / because their dedes were euyll. For euery man that euyll doeth / hateth the lyght: neither commeth to lyght lest hys dedes shuld be reproued. But he that doth trueth/ commeth to þ lyght that his dedes myght be knowē/ how þ they are wrought in God.

c ✠ But that þ worlde thrugh hym myght be saued &c. The worlde here doth only sygnifye þ the chosen ☾ and those that do beleue.

After these thynges cam Jesus & hys disciples into the Jewes land/ & ther he haūted with thē & baptised. And John also baptised in Enon besydes Salim / because ther was moche water there/ & they came & were baptised. For John was not yet cast into prison.

D ✠ And ther arose a questiō betwene Johns disciples and the Jewes aboute purifyinge. And they came vnto John/ & sayde vnto him: Rabbi/ he that was wt the beyonde Jordan/ to whō thou bareste wytnes. Beholde þ same baptiseth/ & all men come to hym. John answered/ & sayde: a mā can receaue nothynge at all except it be geuē him from heauen. Ye youre selues are witnesses, how that I sayde I am not Christ/ but am sent before him. He þ hath the bryde, is the brydegrome. But the frende of the brydegrome which standeth by and heareth him reioyseth greately of þ brydegromes voyce. This my ioye is fulfylled. He must increase: and I must decrease.

He that cōmeth from an hye is aboue all He that is of þ erth, is earthly and speaketh of the erth. He that commeth from heauen/ is aboue all & what he hath sene and hearde that he testifieth: but no man receaueth hys testimonye. How be it, he that hath receaued his testimonye * hath set to his seale þ God is true. For he whō God hath sent/ speaketh the wordes of God. ✠ For God geueth not þ spyete by measure (vnto hym). The father loueth the sonne and hath geuen all thynges into hys hande. He that beleueth on þ sonne hath euerlastynge lyfe: and he that beleueth not the sonne shall not se lyfe but the wrath of God abydeth on him.

d ✠ He hath set to hys seale &c. that is hath it printed in hys herte/ as it were with a seale.

e ✠ God geueth not the spirite by measure &c. How the spirite & the gyftes of the spirite are geuen by measure/ reade Roma. xii. 1 Corinth. xii. And euen so is the spirite it selfe geuē faythfoll vnto all christendome by measure: but to Christ/ whych alone hath put awaye all synnes and death was it geuen aboue measure, as in Colum.

☾ The louynge communycacyon of Christ with the woman of Samaria by the welles syde. How he healeth the ruler a lorde.

☾ The iiii. Chapter.

When the Lorde had knowledge/ how þ Pharises had hearde/ that Jesus made and baptised moo disciples then John (though that Jesus him selfe baptised not: but hys disciples) he lefte Jewry, and departed agayne into Galile. And it was so that he must nedes goo thrugh Samaria. Then came he to a citte of Samaria called Sichar, besydes þ possessyon that Jacob gaue to hys sonne Joseph. And there was Jacobs well. Jesus then wery ed in hys iorney / sate thus on the well. And it was * about the syxte houre: & there came a woman of Samaria to drawe water. And Jesus sayde vnto her: geue me drynke. For hys disciples were gone awaye vnto the toune to bye meate. Then sayde the woman of Samaria vnto him: how is it / þ thou beynge a Jewe, askest drynke of me, which am a Samaritane? For the Jewes medle not with the Samaritans Jesus answered & sayde vnto hyr: yf thou knewest the gyfte of God, and who it is that sayeth to the geue me drynke, thou woldest haue asked of him, & he wolde haue geuen þ water of lyfe. The woman sayde vnto hym. Syr thou hast nothynge to drawe with / & the well is depe: from whence then hast thou þ water of lyfe? Arte thou greater then oure father Jacob which gaue vs þ well, & he him selfe dranke therof, and his chyldren/ and his catell?

a ✠ About the syxte houre &c. The Jewes reken þ houres of their daye from the sonne rysynge to the sonne settyng/ so that the syxte houre was xii. houres after the sonne rysynge which at that tyme of the yere was about none.

Jesus answered and sayde vnto hyr: whosoeuer drincketh of this water / shall thyrst agayne. But whosoeuer shall drincke of the water that I shall geue hym / shall neuer be more more a thyrst: but ꝑ water that I shall geue him, shalbe in hym a well of water / spryngynge vp into euerlastynge lyfe. The woma sayd vnto him: Syr geue me of that water / ꝑ I thyrst not / nether come hyther to drawe. Jesus sayd vnto her. Go & call thy husband / and come hyther. And the woman answered and sayde to him: I haue no husband. Jesus sayde to her: Thou hast well sayd / I haue no husband. For thou hast had fyue husbādes / and he whom thou now hast / is not thy husband. That sayest thou truely.

The woman sayde vnto hym: Syr I perceaue ꝑ thou arte a Prophet. Oure fathers worshipped in thys mountayne: & ye saye ꝑ in Jerusalem is ꝑ place where men ought to worshippe. Jesus sayde vnto her: woma beleue me, the houre cometh / when ye shall nether in this moūtayne nor yet at Jerusalem / worshippe the father. Ye worshyppe ye wot not what: we knowe what we worshyppe. For saluacion cōmeth of the Jewes. But the houre cōmeth & now is / when the true worshippers shall worshippe ꝑ father in ꝑ spyrete / & in trouthe. For verely suche the father requyreth to worshippe hym. God is a spyrete / & they ꝑ worshippe hym / must worshippe hym in spyrete and trouthe.

The woman sayde vnto hym: I wot well Messias shall come / wyche is called Chryst. When he is come / he will tell vs all thinges: Jesus sayde vnto her: I that speake vnto thee am he. And euen at ꝑ poynte came hys disciples / & maruelled that he talked with ꝑ woman Yet no man sayd vnto him: what meanest thou / or why talkest thou with her? The woman then lefte her waterpot, and wēt her waye into the cytie / & sayd to the men. Come se a man which tolde me all thynges ꝑ euer I dyd. Is not he Chryst? Then they went out of the cytie / and came vnto him.

And in ꝑ meane whyle his disciples prayed him saying: Master, eate. He sayde vnto thē: I haue meate to eate, that ye know not of. Then sayde the disciples betwene thē selues: hath eny mā brought him meate? Jesus sayd vnto them: my meate is to do the wyll of him ꝑ sent me. And to fynyshe his worcke. Saye not ye: there are yet foure monethes, & then commeth haruest? Beholde I saye vnto you / lyfte vp youre eyes, and loke on the regions: for they are white all redy vnto haruest. And he ꝑ repeth receaueth rewarde, & gathereth fruite vnto lyfe eternall: ꝑ both he ꝑ soweth / and he that repeth myght reioyse together. And herein is ꝑ saying true / that one soweth and another repeth. I sent you to repe that wherein ye bestowed no laboure. Other men laboured, & ye are entred into their labours.

Many of the Samaritans of that cytie beleued on him / for the saying of the woma / which testified: he tolde me all thynges that euer I dyd. Then when the Samaritans were come vnto him they besought hym / ꝑ he wolde tary with them. And he abode there two dayes. And many moo beleued because of his awne wordes, and sayde vnto the woman: Now we beleue not because of thy sayinge: for we haue herde hym oure selues / and knowe that thys is euen in dede Chryst the sauioure of the worlde.

After two dayes he departed thence / and went awaye into Galile. * And Jesus hym selfe testified that a Prophete hath none honoure in his awne countre. Then as sone as he was come into Galile / the Galileans receaued hym wheych had sene all the thynges that he dyd at Jerusalem at ꝑ feast. For they wēt also vnto the feast daye. And Jesus cam agayne into Cana of Galile / wher he turned the water into wyne. Math.xiij.f. Marke.vi.a Luke.iij.c

And ther was a certayne ruler / whose sonne was sycke at Capernaum. As sone as the same herde that Jesus was come out of Jewry into Galile, he wēt vnto him / and besought him / that he wolde descende / & heale hys sonne. For he was euen redye to dye. Then sayde Jesus vnto hym: excepte ye se signes & wonders / ye cannot beleue. The ruler sayde vnto him: Syr come awaye or euer that my chylde dye. Jesus sayd vnto him: Go thy waye / thy sonne lyueth. And the man beleued the wordes that Jesus had spoken vnto him / and went his waye. And anone as he went on his waye his seruauntes mets him / & tolde him sayinge: thy chylde lyueth. Then enquyred he of them the houre when he began to amende. And they sayde vnto hym: Yesterdaye the seuenth houre / the feuer lefte hym. And the father knewe that it was the same houre in which Jesus sayde vnto him: Thy sonne lyueth. And he beleued / & all hys housholde. This is agayne the seconde myracle that Jesus dyd / after he was come oute of Jewry into Galile.

The healeth the man that was sycke eyght & thyrtie yere. The Jewes accuse him. he answereth for hym selfe / and reproueth them.

The .v. Chapter.

After that there was a feast of the Jewes and Jesus went vp to Jerusalē. And there is at Jerusalē / by the* slaughterhouse, a pole called in the Ebrue tonge / *bethseda, hauyng fyue porches / in which laye a greate multytude of syche folcke, of blinde, halt and wydered / waytinge for the mouinge of the water. For an angell wēt doune at a certayne season into the pole and troubled ꝑ water. Whosoeuer then fyrst after the sterynge of ꝑ water / stepped

* The Grebe hath Chepe house: a place where they kylled ꝑ beestes ꝑ were offred.

a. Bethseda or as some writeth Bethesda is as moche to saye as a spitle or an hospitall where as poore folkes hath their beynge. Whych place was by a pole where ỳ they that were offred in ỳ temple were kept. And sycke remayned ther lookynge for ỳ mouyng of the water. 5.c.

stepped in, was made whoale of whatsoeuer disease he had. And a certayne mā was there/ which had bene diseased xxxviii. yeres. Whē Jesus sawe him lye, and knewe that he now longe tyme had bene diseased / he sayde vnto him. Wylt thou be made whoale? The sycke man answered him: Syr: I haue no mā whē ỳ water is troubled to put me into the pole. But in the meane tyme / whyll I am about to come, another steppeth doune before me.

Jesus sayde vnto him: ryse, take vp thy beed & walke. And immediatly the man was made whole/ & toke vp his beed/ & went. And the same daye was ỳ Saboth daye. The Jewes therfore sayde to hym that was made whole. It is the Saboth daye/ it is not lawfull for the to carry thy beed. He answered thē: he that made me whole/ sayde vnto me: take vp thy beed/ & get the hence. Then asked they him what man is that whych sayd vnto the/ take vp thy beed and walke. And he that was healed/ wist not who it was. For Jesus had gotten him selfe awaye/ because ỳ ther was preace of people in the place.

And after that / Jesus founde hym in the temple/ & sayde vnto him: beholde thou arte made whole / synne no more / lest a worse thynge happen vnto the. The man departed & tolde the Jewes that it was Jesus/ whych had made him whole. ¶ And therfore the Jewes dyd persecute Jesus/ & sought ỳ meanes to slee him/ because he had done these thynges on ỳ Saboth daye. And Jesus answered thē:

D ¶* My father worcketh hytherto and I worche. ¶ That is/ my father kepeth not ỳ Saboth daye no more do I. But my father vseth no cōmen merchaundyse on the Saboth & no more do I.

¶* My father worcketh hytherto, & I worke. Therfore the Jewes sought ỳ more to kyll hym not only because he had brokē the Saboth: but sayde also that God was his father and made him selfe equall with God.

Then answered Jesus & sayde vnto them: verely verely, I saye vnto you: the sonne can do nothynge of him selfe, but that he seeth ỳ father do. For whatsoeuer he doeth, ỳ doeth the sonne also. For the father loueth ỳ sonne/ and sheweth him all thynges whatsoeuer he him selfe doeth. And he will shewe hym greater worckes then these/ because ye should marueyle. For lykewyse as the father rayseth vp the deed/ & quyckeneth thē / euē so the sonne quyckeneth whom he wyll. Neither iudgeth the father eny man: but hath committed all iudgement vnto the sonne / because that all men should honoure the sonne/ euē as they honoure the father. He that honoureth not the sonne/ ỳ same honoureth not ỳ father which hath sent hym. Verely / verely I saye vnto you: He that heareth my wordes/ & beleueth on him that sent me / hath euerlastyng lyfe/ and shall not come into dampnacyon: but is escaped from deeth vnto lyfe.

Verely/ verely I saye vnto you: the tyme shall come/ & now is / when ¶* the deed shall heare ỳ voyce of the sonne of God. And they that heare shall lyue. For as the father hath lyfe in him selfe, so lykewyse hath he geuē to the sonne to haue lyfe in him selfe: and hath geuen hym power also to iudge / in that he is the sonne of man. Marueyle not at thys: ỳ houre shall come in ỳ which, * all that are in ỳ graues, shall heare his voyce, and shall come forthe: they that haue done good vnto ỳ resurrection of lyfe: and they that haue done euyll, vnto the resurrection of dāpnacion. ✠

¶* The deed shall heare the voyce of the sonne of God. ¶ Here he speaketh of the resurrection of all flesh vpon whom ỳ wicked ghostly flesh & his worckinges/ & whereby synner is brought frō ỳ death of his synnes into ỳ lyfe of rygh teousnes. And specially of the callyng of the gentyles / whych was done after the commynge of ỳ holy goost: for the gentyles are reputed as dead men in cōparyson to the Jewes. And afterward when he sayth. All ỳ are in the graues shall heare the voyce of ỳ sonne of mā &c. He meaneth the generall resurrection whych shalbe in ỳ last daye.

¶ I can of myne awne selfe do nothyng at all. As I heare, I iudge, and my iudgmēt is iust / because I seke not myne awne wyll, but the wyll of ỳ father which hath sent me. If I beare wytnes of my selfe/ my wytnes is not true. Ther is another ỳ beareth wytnes of me/ and I am sure that the wytnes which he beareth of me, is true.

Ye sent vnto John/ & he bare wytnes vnto the trueth. But I receaue not the record of man. Neuerthelesse these thynges I saye, that ye myght be safe. He was a burnynge, & a shynynge lyght & ye wolde for a season haue reioyced in his lyght. But I haue greater wytnes then the wytnes of John. For the workes which the father hath geuē me to fynisshe: the same workes ỳ I do/ beare wytnes of me that the father sent me. And ỳ father him selfe which hath sent me beareth wytnes of me. Ye haue not harde his voyce at eny tyme nor ye haue sene his shape: therto his word haue ye not abydynge in you. For whō he hath sent: hym ye beleue not.

Search ỳ scriptures/ for in thē ye thincke ye haue eternall lyfe: & they are they whych testify of me. And yet will ye not come to me/ that ye might haue lyfe. I receaue not prayse of men. But I knowe you / that ye haue not the loue of God in you. I am come in my fathers name and ye receaue me not. If another shall come in his awne name/ him wyll ye receaue. How can ye beleue which receaue honoure one of another/ and seke not the honoure that commeth of God only?

Do not thynche that I wyll accuse you to my father. Ther is one that accuseth you: euē Moses in whō ye trust. For had ye beleued Moses / ye wolde haue beleued me: for he wrote of me. But seynge ye beleue not his wrytynge: how shuld ye beleue my wordes? ✠

¶ Jesus feedeth fyue thousand men departeth awaye/ ỳ they shuld not make him kyng / & reproueth ỳ fleshly hearers of his worde. The carnall are offended at him.

¶ The.vi. Chapter. ✠

After these thynges Jesus wēt his waye ouer ỳ see of Galile nye to a cytie called Tiberias. And a great multitude folowed hym / because they they had sene his myracles whych he dyd on them that were diseased. And Jesus went vp into a mountayne / & there he sate wyth hys disciples. And ester, a feast of ꝑ Jewes was nye. ✠* Then Jesus lyfte vp his eyes, and sawe a great cõpany come vnto hym / & sayd vnto Philip: whence shall we bye breed that these might eate. This he sayd to proue him: for he him selfe knewe what he wolde do.

Math xiiij. b. Marck. vi. c. Luke. ix. b.

Philip answered him, two hundred peny worthe of breed are not sufficient for them, ꝑ euery man haue a lytell. Then sayde vnto him one of his disciples, Andrew Simõ Peters brother. There is a lad here / which hath fyue barly loues and two fyshes: but what is that amonge so many? And Jesus sayde: ✠ Make ꝑ people syt doune: There was moche grasse in the place. And the men sate doune / in nombre, about fyue thousand. And Jesus toke the breed and gaue thanckes & gaue to the disciples, and hys disciples to them that were set doune. And lykewyse of the fyshes as moche as they wolde.

When they had eate ynough he sayde vnto his disciples gather vp the broken meate that remayneth: that nothynge be loost. And they gathered it to gether, and fylled twelue basshettes with the broken meate, of the fyue barly loues: which broken meate remayned vnto them that had eatẽ. Then the men / whẽ they had sene the myracle ꝑ Jesus dyd, sayd: this is of a trueth the Prophete that shulde come into the worlde.

Whẽ Jesus perceaued ꝑ they wolde come / & take him vp to make him kyng *he departed agayne into a moũtayne him selfe alone.

Math. xiiij. c Marck. vi. c Luc. vi. c

And whẽ euẽ was come his disciples wẽt vnto the see & entred into a shippe and went ouer the see vnto Capernaum. And anone it was darcke / & Jesus was not come to them. And the see arose with a greate wynde that blew. And when they had rowẽ aboute a. xxv. or a. xxx. furlonges, they sawe Jesus walke on the see & drawe nye vnto ꝑ shippe, & were afrayed. And he sayde vnto them: It is I / be not afrayde. Then wold they haue receaued hym into the shyp / and the shyp was by and by at the lande whither they went.

The daye folowynge / the people whych stode on the other syde of the see, sawe ꝑ ther was none other shyp theare / saue that one wherin to his disciples were entred / & that Jesus went not in with hys disciples in the shyp: but that his disciples were gone awaye alone. How be it ther cam other shippes frõ Tiberias nye vnto the place, where they ate breed when the Lord had blessed. Then whẽ ꝑ people sawe that Jesus was not there neither his disciples, they also toke shippyng & came to Capernaum seekynge for Jesus.

And whẽ they had founde hym on ꝑ other syde of the see they sayde vnto hym: Rabbi / whẽ camest thou hyther? Jesus answerd thẽ and sayde: verely, verely I saye vnto you: ye seke me / not because ye sawe the myracles: but because ye ate of ꝑ loues, & were fylled. ✠ Laboure not for the meate which perysheth, but for the meate that endureth vnto euerlastinge lyfe, which meate the sonne of man shall gene vnto you. For him hath God the father * sealed.

* (Sealed) that is: he hath put hys marke of the holye goost on him which testifieth vnto myracles what he is.

Then sayde they vnto him: what shall we do ꝑ we myght worke the workes of God? Jesus answered and sayde vnto them. This is the worke of God / that ye beleue on him, whõ he hath sent. They sayde vnto him: what sygne shewest thou then / that we maye se & beleue the? What doest thou worke? Oure fathers dyd eate Manna in the desert / as it is wrytte: He gaue them breed from heauen to eate. Jesus sayde vnto thẽ: verely / verely I saye vnto you: Moses gaue you not breed from heauen: but my father geueth you the true breed from heauen. For the  breed of God is he which cõmeth doune from heauẽ, and geueth lyfe vnto the worlde.

 The breede of God is he which cõmeth doune frõ heauen & ye The worde of the gospell (which is Christ) is ꝑ true and lyuely breed of heauen ꝑ geueth lyfe to ꝑ whole worlde.

Then sayd they vnto him: Lord, euermore geue vs this breed. And Jesus sayd vnto thẽ: I am that breed of lyfe. He that commeth to me shall not hunger: and he that beleueth on me shall neuer thurst. ✠ But I sayde vnto you: that ye haue sene me / & yet beleue not. All that the father geueth me shall come to me: and hym that cometh to me, I cast not awaye. For I came doune from heauen: not to do myne awne will but hys will which hath sent me. And this is the fathers will which hath sent me that of all which he hath geuen me, I shulde loose nothinge: but shuld rayse it vp agayne at ꝑ last daye. And this is ꝑ will of him ꝑ sent me: that euery mã which seyth ꝑ sonne & beleueth on hym, haue euerlasting lyfe. And I will rayse him vp at ꝑ last daye. The Jewes then murmured at him, because he sayd: I am that breed which is come doune frõ heauẽ. And they sayde: Is not this Jesus the sonne of Joseph, whose father and mother we knowe? How is it then that he sayeth / I came doune frõ heauen? Jesus answered & sayde vnto them. Murmur not betwene youre selues. ✠ *No man can come to me except ꝑ father which hath sent me draw me hym. And I will rayse hym vp at the last daye. It is wrytten in ꝑ Prophetes / that they shalbe all taught of God. Euery man therfore that hath herde and hath learned of the father commeth vnto me. Not that eny man hath sene ꝑ father, saue he which is of God, the same hath sene the father.

Math. xi. b. Luc. xi. b.

Verely verely I saye vnto you, he that beleueth leueth on me, hath euerlastynge lyfe. I am ꝑ breed of lyfe. Youre fathers dyd eate Manna in the wyldernes and are deed: Thys is that breed which commeth from heauen that he which eateth of it, shulde also not dye. I am that lyuinge breed which came doune from heauē. If eny man eate of this breed, he shall liue for euer. And the breed that I will geue, is my flesshe, which I wyll geue for the lyfe of the worlde. ✠

And the Iewes stroue amōge them selues saying: How can this felow geue his flesshe to eate? Then Iesus sayde vnto thē: ✠Uerely, verely I saye vnto you, except ye eate the flesshe of ꝑ sonne of mā & drincke his bloude, ye shall not haue lyfe in you. Whosoeuer ea-teth my flesshe & dryncketh my bloude, hath eternall lyfe: & I wyll rayse him vp at ꝑ last daye. ✠For my flesshe is meate in dede: & my bloude is drincke in dede. He that eateth my flesshe & drinckeeth my bloude, dwelleth in me and I in him. As the lyuinge father hath sent me, euen so lyue I by my father: and he that eateth me shall lyue by me. Thys is ꝑ breed which cam from heauē: not as youre fathers haue eaten Manna & are deed. He ꝑ eateth of this breed, shall lyue euer. ✠

These thinges sayd he in the synagoge as he taught in Capernaum. Many therfore of his disciples, whē they had herde this, sayde:
this is an harde sayinge: who can abyde the hearynge of it? Iesus knewe in hym selfe, ꝑ his disciples murmured at it, and sayd vnto them:  Doth this offende you? What and ye shall se the sonne of mā ascende vp where he was before? It is ꝑ spyrete ꝑ quyckeneth, the flesshe profiteth nothinge. The wordes ꝑ I speake vnto you, are spyrete and lyfe. But there are some of you that beleue not. For Ie sus knewe from the beginninge, which they were that beleued not & who shulde betraye him. And he sayd: therfore sayde I vnto you: that no mā can come vnto me, except it were geuen vnto him of my father.

From ꝑ tyme many of his disciples went backe & walked no moare with hym. Then sayde Iesus to the twelue: wyll ye also goo awaye? Then Simō Peter answered: Master to whom shall we goo? Thou haste the wordes of eternall lyfe, * & we beleue & know that thou arte Christ the sonne of ꝑ lyuynge God. Iesus answered thē: Haue not I chosen you twelue, and yet one of you is a deuyll?
He spake it of Judas Iscariot the sonne of Simon. For he it was ꝑ shuld betraye hym, and was one of the twelue. ✠

¶ Jesus cōmeth to Jerusalem at the feast, teacheth ꝑ Jewes ꝑ reproueth thē: There are diuerse opinions of hym amonge the people. The Pharises rebuke the officers because they haue not taken him, and chyde with Nicodemus for takynge his parte.

¶ The.vii. Chapter. ✠

After that, Iesus went about into Galile, & wolde not go aboute in Iewry for ꝑ Jewes sought to kyll hym. The Jewes tabernacle feast was at hande. His brethrē therfore sayde vnto him: get the hence and go into Iewry that thy disceyples maye se thy worckes that thou doest. For ther is no man ꝑ doeth eny thynge secretly, and he him selfe seketh to be knowē openlye. If thou do soche thynges, shewe thy selfe to the worlde. For as yet his brethrē beleued not in him.

Then Iesus sayde vnto them: My tyme is not yet come: but youre tyme is all waye redy. The worlde can not hate you. But me it hateth: because I testify of it, that ꝑ workes of it are euill. Go ye vp vnto this feast. I will not go vp yet vnto this feast, for my tyme is not yet full come. These wordes he sayde vnto thē, & abode styll in Galile. But as sone as his * brethren were gone vp, then wēt he also vp vnto the feaste: not openly, but as it were preuely. Then sought hym the Iewes at the feast, & sayde: where is he. And moche murmurynge was ther of hym amonge the people. Some sayde: He is good. Other sayde naye, but he deceaueth ꝑ people. How be it no man spake openly of hym, for feare of the Iewes. ✠

✠ In the myddes of the feast, Iesus went vp into the temple and taught. And ꝑ Jewes marueyled sayinge: How knoweth he the scriptures, seynge that he neuer learned? Jesus answered them, & sayde: My doctrine is not myne: but his that sent me: If eny man wyll do hys * wyll he shall know of the doctrine whether it be of God, or whether I speake of my selfe. He ꝑ speaketh of him selfe, seketh his awne prayse. But he ꝑ seketh his prayse that sent him, the same is true & no vnrygh-tewesnes is in him.

Dyd not Moses geue you a lawe, & yet none of you  keepeth the lawe? why go ye about to kyll me. The people answered and sayde: thou haste the deuill: who goeth aboute to kyll the? Jesus answered & sayde to them: I haue done one worcke, & ye all maruayle. Moses therfore gaue vnto you circūcision not because it is of Moses: but of ꝑ fathers: And yet ye on the Saboth daye, circumcyse a man. If a mā on the Saboth daye receaue circumcision without breakynge of ꝑ lawe of Moses: disdayne ye at me, because I haue made a man euery whit whoale on the Saboth daye: Judge not after ꝑ vtter apparāce: but iudge ryghtewes iudgement.

Then sayde some of them of Jerusalem: is not this he whom they go about to kyll? Beholde he speaketh boldly, & they saye nothing to him.

to him. Do the rulers knowe in dede ꝑ this is very Chꝛist? How beit we knowe this mā whence he is: but whē Chꝛist cometh/no mā shall knowe whence he is.

Then cryed Jesus in ꝑ tẽple as he taught sayinge: ye knowe me/ and whence I am ye knowe. And yet I am not come of my selfe/ but he that sent me is true / whom ye know not. I know him: foꝛ I am of him/ & he hath sent me. Then they sought to take hym: but no mā layde hādes on him/ because his tyme was not yet come. Many of the people beleued on him & sayde: whē Chꝛist cometh/ will he do moo myꝛacles then this mā hath done?

The Pharises heard that ꝑ people murmured such thinges about him. Wherfoꝛe the Pharises and hye pꝛestes sent ministres foꝛth to take hym. Then sayde Jesus vnto thē: Yet am I a lytell whyle wt you / & then go I vnto him ꝑ sent me. Ye shall seke me/ & shall not fynde me: & where I am/ thyther can ye not come. Then sayde the Jewes betwene them selues: whither wyll he go/ that we shall not fynde him? Wyll he go amonge the gentyls which are scattered all abꝛoade/ & teache the gentils: What maner of saying is this that he sayd: ye shall seke me/ & shall not finde me: and where I am thither can ye not come?

In the last daye/ ꝑ great daye of the feast ✠ Jesus stode and cryed sayinge: If eny man thyꝛst/ lett him come vnto me & dꝛynke. He that beleueth on me/ as sayeth the scripture out of his belly shall flowe ryuers of water of lyfe. This spake he of the spꝛyte which they that beleued on hym/ shulde receaue. ✠ Foꝛ ꝑ holy goost was not yet there/ because that Jesus was not yet glorifyed.

✠ Many of the people/ when they herde this saying sayd: of a truth this is a pꝛopheꝛ: other sayde, this is Chꝛist: some sayde: shall Chꝛist come out of Galile? * Sayeth not ꝑ scripture that Chꝛist shall come of the seed Mich.v.a Joh.vij.a. of Dauid: & out of the toune of Bethleem where Dauid was? So was ther dissencion amonge the people about him. And some of thē wolde haue taken him: but no mā layed handes of him. Then came the mynisters to the hye pꝛestes & Pharises. And they sayd vnto them: why haue ye not bꝛought him? The seruauntes answered: neuer man spake as this mā doeth. Then answered thē the Pharises: are ye also disceaued? Doth eny of the rulers oꝛ of ꝑ Pharises beleue on hym? But the comen people which knowe not ꝑ lawe are curssed. Nicodemus sayde vnto them: He that came to Jesus by nyght / & was one of them. Doth oure lawe iudge eny mā befoꝛe it heare him/ and knowe what he hath done? They answered and sayd vnto him: arte thou also of Galile? Search and loke/ foꝛ out of Galile aryseth no Pꝛophete. And euery man went vnto his awne house. ✠

Nd Jesus went vnto mounte oliuete/ & erly in the moꝛnynge came agayne into the temple and all the people cam vnto hym/ and he sate doune & taught thē. And the Scribes & Pharises bꝛought vnto him a woman take in aduoutry/ & set hyꝛ in the myddes & sayde vnto him: Maister, this womā was take in aduoutry euē as ꝑ dede was adoyng. * Moses in ꝑ lawe commaunded vs that suche shulde be stoned. What sayest thou therfoꝛe? And thys they sayde to tempt him: ꝑ they myght haue/ wherof to accuse him. Jesus stouped doune/ and with his fynger wꝛote on the grounde. And whyll they contynued asking him / he lyfte him selfe vp/ & sayde vnto thē: let him ꝑ is amonge you without synne / cast the fyꝛst stone at her. And agayne he stouped doune & wꝛote on the grounde. And as sone as they heard that/ they wēt out one by one/ ꝑ eldest fyꝛst. And Jesus was lefte alone/ & the womā standynge in the myddes. When Jesus had lyfte vp him selfe agayne/ and sawe no man/ but the woman / he sayde vnto hir: woman where are those thine accusars? Hath no mā condempned the? She sayde: No mā Lorde. And Jesus sayde: Neither do I condēpne the. *Go/ and synne no moare. ✠ Luck.xxi.a. Luck.xx.b.

✠ Then spake Jesus agayne vnto thē sayīg: I am the lyght of the woꝛlde. He ꝑ foloweth me shall not walcke in darchnes: but shall haue ꝑ light of lyfe. The Pharises sayde vnto him: thou beaꝛest recoꝛde of thy selfe, thy recoꝛde is not true. Jesus answered & sayde vnto thē: though I beare recoꝛde of my selfe, yet my recoꝛde is true: foꝛ I knowe whence I cam & whither I go. But ye cānot tell whēce I come and whither I go. Ye iudge after the flesshe, I iudge no man. And yet I iudge, my iudgemēt is true. Foꝛ I am not alone: but I & the father ꝑ sent me. It is also wꝛytten in youre lawe, that the testimony of two men is true. I am one ꝑ beare wytnes of my selfe/ & the father that sent me / beareth wytnes of me. Then sayde they vnto hym: where is thy father? Jesus answered: ye nether knowe me/ noꝛ yet my father. If ye had knowen me/ ye shulde haue knowen my father also. These woꝛdes spake Jesus in ꝑ tresury/ as he taught in the temple/ and no man layde handes on him/ foꝛ his tyme was not yet come. ✠

Then sayde Jesus agayne vnto them:

a* Gods synne nomoꝛe &c. The gospell pꝛeacheth not remyssion of synnes vnto vs ꝑ we shuld continew in synne/ but ꝑ we shulde change oure lyfe and walke in a newe lyfe of the spirite/ neuer purposynge to synne any moꝛe

I go my waye/& ye shall seke me / & shall dye in youre synnes. Whyther I go/ thyther can ye not come. Then sayde the Jewes: will he kyll hym selfe/because the sayth: whyther I go/thyther can ye not come? And he sayde vnto them: ye are frō beneth/I am frō aboue Ye are of this worlde/I am not of this worlde. I sayd therfore vnto you/that ye shall dye in youre synnes. For except ye beleue that I am he/ye shall dye in youre synnes.

Then sayd they vnto him, who arte thou? And Jesus sayde vnto thē: Euē the very same thynge that I saye vnto you. I haue many thynges to saye/and to iudge of you. Ye & he ꝑ sent me is true. And I speake in ꝑ world/ those thynges which I haue herde of hym. How beit they vnderstode not that he spake of his father. Then sayd Jesus vnto thē: whē ye haue lyft vp an hye the sonne of mā/then shall ye knowe that I am he / & that I do no thynge of my selfe: but as my father hath taught me/ euē so I speake: and he that sent me/is with me. The father hath not lefte me alone/for I do all wayes those thynges that please hym. As he spake these wordes/ many beleued on him.

Then sayde Jesus to those Jewes which beleued on hym. If ye cōtinue in my word/ then are ye my very disciples/& shall knowe the trueth: & the trueth shall make you free. They answered hym: We be Abrahās seede/ and were neuer bonde to eny mā: why sayest thou then/ye shalbe made fre.

Jesus answered thē: verely. *verely I saye vnto you/ that whosoeuer cōmytteth synne/ is the seruaunte of synne. And the seruaunt abydeth not in ꝑ house for euer: But ꝑ sonne abydeth euer. If ꝑ sonne therfore shall make you fre/then are ye fre in dede. I knowe that ye are Abrahams seede: but ye seke meanes to kill me/because my saying haue no place in you. I speake that I haue sene wyth my father: and ye do that which ye haue sene ꝑ youre father. They answered and sayde vnto him: Abrahā is oure father. Jesus sayde vnto them. If ye were Abrahams chyldren ye wolde do the dedes of Abraham. But now ye go aboute to kyll me/ a man that haue tolde you the truthe whych I haue herde of God: this dyd not Abrahā. Ye do ꝑ dedes of youre father. Then sayde they to him: we were not borne of fornicacyon. We haue one father/ which is God. Jesus sayd vnto them: yf God were youre father / then wolde ye loue me. For I proceaded forthe and come from God. Neither came I of my selfe / but he sent me. Why do ye not knowe my speache? Euē because ye cānot abyde ꝑ hearyng of my word.

Ye are of youre father the deuyll/and the lustes of youre father ye wyll do. He was a murtherer from the begynnynge/and abode not in the trueth / because there is no trueth in hym. Whē he speaketh a lye/then speaketh he of his owne. For he is a lyar/ and ꝑ father therof. And because I tell you the trueth/ therfore ye beleue me not.

Which of you can rebuke me of synne? If I saye ꝑ trueth/why do not ye beleue me? *He ꝑ is of God heareth Goddes wordes. Ye therfore heare thē not/because ye are not of God. Then answered the Jewes and sayd vnto hym: Saye we not well that thou arte a Samaritane and hast ꝑ deuyll? Jesus answered: I haue not the deuyll: but I honoure my father/& ye haue dishonoured me. I seke not myne owne prayse: but ther is one that seketh and iudgeth.

Verely verely I saye vnto you / yf a man kepe my sayinges / he shall neuer se deeth. Then sayde the Jewes to hym. Now knowe we that thou hast the deuyll. Abraham is deed/ and also the Prophetes: and yet thou sayest/ yf a mā kepe my saying/ he shall neuer taste of deeth. Arte thou greater then oure father Abraham/which is deed? and the Prophetes are deed. Whom makest thou thy selfe.

Jesus answered: If I honoure my selfe/ myne honoure is nothynge worth. It is my father that honoureth me/ whych ye saye/ is youre God, and ye haue not knowē him: but I knowe him. And yf I shuld saye/I knowe hym not / I shulde be a lyar lyke vnto you. But I knowe him/and kepe his sayinge.

Youre father Abraham was glad to se my *daye & he sawe it and reioyced. Then sayde the Jewes vnto him: thou arte not yet. l. yere olde, and hast thou sene Abraham? Jesus sayd vnto thē: Verely verely I saye vnto you: yer Abraham was I am. Then toke they vp stones, to caste at him. But Jesus hid him selfe, and went out of the temple.

*Hy daye re. All the holy fathers that were before the commynge of Christ frō the begynnynge of the worlde had the same fayth in Christ that we haue whych be called Christē.

Christ maketh the man to se ꝑ was borne blynde.

The.ix. Chapter.

And as Jesus passed by, he sawe a man which was blynde from hys byrth. And his disciples asked him sayinge: Master, who dyd synne: this man or his father & mother, that he was borne blynde? Jesus answered: Neither hath this man synned nor yet his father and mother: but that the workes of God shulde be shewed on him. I must worke the workes of him ꝑ sent me whill it is daye. *The night cometh when noman can worke. As longe as I am in the worlde, I am the lyght of the worlde.

*The night &c. is. When ye true knowlege of Christ/how he only iustifieth/ is lost: the can noman worke a good worke B in the sight of God/ how glorious so euer his werke apere.

As sone as he had thus spoke, he spatte on the grounde and made claye of the spetle / & rubbed the claye on the eyes of the blynde, & sayde vnto him: Go wesshe the in the pole of

Syloe/

Syloe/which by interpretacion/ signifyeth sent. He went his waye & washed and came agayne seynge. The neyghboures & they ꝑ had sene him before how ꝑ he was a begger/ sayde: is not this he ꝑ sate & begged? Some ¶ sayde: this is he. Other sayde: he is lyke him.

But he him selfe sayde: I am euē he. They sayde vnto hym. How are thyne eyes opened then? He answered and sayde. The man ꝑ is called Ihesus/ made claye, and anoynted myne eyes/ & sayde vnto me. Go to the pole Siloe and washe. And I went and washed and receaued my syght. They sayd vnto him: where is he? He sayde: I can not tell.

Then brought they to ꝑ Pharises/ hym ꝑ a tyme before was blynde: for it was ꝑ Sabboth daye when Iesus made the claye & opened his eyes Then agayne the Pharises also asked him how he had receaued his syght. He sayde vnto thē: He put claye vpō myne eyes & I washed/ & do se. Then sayde some of the Pharises: thys mā is not of God/ because he kepeth not the Saboth daye. Other sayde: how can a man ꝑ is a synner/ do suche myracles? And there was stryfe amonge thē. Then spake they vnto the blynde agayne: What sayst thou of hym / because he hath opened thyne eyes? And he sayde: He is a Prophet.

But the Iewes dyd not beleue of ꝑ felow/ how that he was blynde and receaued hys syght/ vntyll they had called the father & mother of hym that had receaued his syght. And they asked them saying: Is this youre sonne/ whom ye saye was borne blynde? How doth he now se then? Hys father and mother answered them & sayde, we wote well that this is oure sonne/ & ꝑ he was borne blynde: but by what meanes he now seyth that can we not tell/ or who hath opened his eyes/ can we not tell. He is olde ynough/ aske him, let him ¶ answere for him selfe. Suche wordes spake his father and mother/ because they feared ꝑ Iewes. For the Iewes had cōspyred all redy that yf eny man dyd confesse ꝑ he was Christ he shuld be excommunicat out of the synagoge. Therfore sayde his father and mother: he is olde ynough/ aske him.

Then agayne called they the man ꝑ was blynde/ & sayd vnto him: Geue God ꝑ prayse: we know ꝑ this mā is a sinner. He answered and sayde: Whyther he be a synner or no / I cannot tell: One thynge I am sure of/ that I was blynd/ & now I se. Then sayd they to him agayne. What dyd he to the? How opened he ¶ thyne eyes? He answered them/ I tolde you yer whyle/ and ye dyd not heare. Wherfore wold ye heare it agayne? Will ye also be his disciples? Then rated they him/ & sayd: Thou arte hys disciple. We be Moses disciples. We are sure that God spake wyth Moses. This felow we knowe not frō whence he is

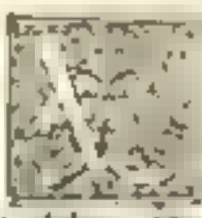
The man answered and sayde vnto them: this is a meruelous thinge that ye wote not whēce he is/ seing he hath opened myne eyes. For we be sure ꝑ God heareth not *synners. But yf eny mā be a worshipper of God & do his will, him heareth he. Sence ꝑ worlde began was it not hearde that eny mā opened the eyes of one that was borne blynd. If this mā were not of God he couldē haue done no thinge. They answered and sayde vnto hym: thou arte all to gether borne in synne/ & dost thou teache vs? And they cast him out.

*God heareth no sinners &c. that is / he heareth none that repēt not nor is not in mynde to leaue their euell lyfe.

Iesus hearde that they had excōmunicate him: & assone as he had founde hym, he sayde vnto hym: doest thou beleue on the sonne of God? He answered & sayde: Who is it Lord/ ꝑ I myght beleue on hym? And Iesus sayde vnto him: Thou hast sene hym/ & he it is that talketh wt the. And he sayde: Lord I beleue/ & worshipped him. ¶ Iesus sayd: I am come vnto iudgement into thys worlde: that they which se not myght se/ & they which se might be made blynde. And some of the Pharises which were with him/ hearde these wordes & sayde vnto hym: are we then blynde? Iesus sayde vnto them: yf ye were blynde ye shulde haue no synne. But now ye saye/ we se/ therfore youre synne remayneth.

¶ Christ is the true shepherde/ & the dore of the shepe/ Some saye: Christ hath the deuell/ & is madd/ Some saye: he speaketh not the wordes of one that hath the deuell. Because he telleth the trueth/ the Iewes take vp stones to cast at him/ call his preachyng blasphemy/ and go aboute to take him.

¶ The x. Chapter. ✣



Verely verely I saye vnto you: he ꝑ entreth not in by the dore into the A shepefolde / but clymeth vp some other waye: the same is a theefe & a robber. He ꝑ goeth in by the dore is ꝑ shepeherde of the shepe: to him the porter openeth/ & the shepe heare his voyce / & he calleth hys awne shepe by name & leadeth thē out. And when he hath sent forth hys awne shepe, he goeth before thē & the shepe folowe him: for they knowe his voyce. A straunger they will not folowe but will flye from hym: for they knowe not ꝑ voyce of straūgers. This similitude spake Iesus vnto thē. But they vnderstode not what thynges they were which he B spake vnto thē. Then sayd Iesus vnto them agayne. Verely verely I saye vnto you: I am the dore of ꝑ shepe. All euē as many as came before me, are theues & robbers: but ꝑ shepe dyd not heare thē. I am ꝑ dore: by me yf eny mā enter in, he shalbe safe/ & shall go in & out & fynde pasture. The theefe cōmeth not but for to steale / kyll/ and destroye. I am come that they myght haue lyfe/ and haue it more abundantly. ✣

I am the good shepeheerd. The good shepheerd geueth hys lyfe for the shepe. An hyred seruaũt/ which is not ye shepeherd/ nether the shepe are hys awne/ seyth the wolfe cõmynge. & leueth the shepe/ & flyeth and ye wolfe catcheth thẽ/ & scattereth ye shepe. The hyred seruaũt flyeth / because he is an hyred seruaunt/ & careth not for the shepe. I am ye good shepheheerd/ and knowe myne/ and am knowen of myne. * As my father knoweth me: euẽ so know I my father. And I geue my lyfe for ye shepe: & other shepe I haue/ which are not of this fold. Them also must I bring/ that they maye heare my voyce / & that ther maye be one flocke and one shepeherde. Therfore doth my father loue me/ because/ I put my lyfe from me / that I myght take it agayne. No mã taketh it from me: but I put it awaye of my selfe. I haue power to put it from me/ and haue power to take it agayne: This cõmaundemẽt haue I receaued of my father. And there was a dissencyon agayne amonge ye Iewes for these sayinges/ & many of them sayde. He hath the deuyll/ & is made: why heare ye him? Other sayd/ these are not the wordes of him that hath the deuyll. Can the deuyll open the eyes of the blynde?

And it was at Ierusalem the feaste of ye dedicacion/ and it was winter: & Iesus walked in Salomõs porche. Then cam ye Iewes rounde aboute him/ and sayd vnto him: How longe dost thou make vs doute? If thou be Christ/ tell vs playnly. Iesus answered thẽ: I tolde you and ye beleue not. The workes ye I do in my fathers name/ they beare witnes of me. But ye beleue not/ because ye are not of my shepe. As I sayde vnto you: my shepe heare my voyce / & I knowe them/ and they folow me/ and I geue vnto thẽ eternall lyfe/ & they shall neuer perysshe / nether shall eny man plucke them oute of my hande. My father which gaue them me / is greater then all & no mã is able to take them out of my fathers hande. And I and my father are one.

Then ye Iewes agayne toke vp stones/ to stone hym wt all. Iesus answered thẽ: many good workes haue I shewed you frõ my father: for which of thẽ wyll ye stone me? The Iewes answered him sayinge. For thy good workes sake we stone ye not: but for thy blasphemy/ & because ye thou beinge a mã/ makest thy selfe God. Iesus answered them. Is it not written in youre lawe. * I saye, ye are Goddes? If he called them Goddes vnto whõ the worde of God was spoken (& ye scripture can not be broken) saye ye then to hym/ whõ the father hath sanctifyed / and sent into the worlde/ thou blasphemest/ because I sayd I am the sonne of God? If I do not ye workes of my father / beleue me not. But yf I do/ then though ye beleue not me yet beleue the workes/ that ye maye knowe & beleue that the father is in me/ and I in him.

Christ rayseth Lazarus frõ death. The hye prestes and Pharises gather a councell agaynst him/ he getteth him out of the waye.

The.xi. Chapter.

Certayne man was sycke / named Lazarus of Bethania ye towne of Mary and her syster Martha. It was ye Mary which anoynted Iesus with oyntment & wyped hys fete wt her heere, whose brother Lazarus was sycke / & his systers sent vnto him sayinge. Lorde beholde he whõ thou louest is sycke. When Iesus hearde ye he sayde: this infirmite is not vnto deeth but for the laude of God, that the sonne of God might be prayed by the reason of it. Iesus loued Martha and her syster and Lazarus. Then after he had hearde that he was sycke, yet abode he two dayes styll in ye same place where he was.

Then after ye, sayd he to hys disciples: lette vs go into Iewry agayne. His disciples sayd vnto hym: Master, the Iewes lately sought meanes to stone the / & wylt thou go thyther againe? Iesus answered, are ther not twelue houres in the daye? If a mã walke in ye daye/ he stombleth not, because he seyth the lyght of this world. But yf a mã walke in ynight/ he stõbleth because ther is no lyght in hym. This sayde he, & after that, he sayd vnto thẽ: oure frende Lazarus sleepeth, but I goo to wake him oute of sleepe. Then sayde hys disciples: Lorde yf he sleepe / he shall do well ynough. Howbeit Iesus spake of his deeth: but they thought ye he had spoken of ye naturall sleepe. Then sayd Iesus vnto thẽ playnly/ Lazarus is deed/ & I am glad for your sake/ ye I was not there because ye maye beleue. Neuertheles let vs go vnto him. Then sayd Thomas which is called Didymus, vnto the disciples: let vs also go/ ye we maye dye with him. Then went Iesus, & founde that he had lyne in hys graue foure dayes already. Bethanie was nye vnto Ierusalem aboute. xv. furlonges of/ & many of ye Iewes were come to Martha and Mary to comforte thẽ ouer their brother. Martha assone as she hearde that Iesus was comynge/ went & met hym: but Mary sate styll in the house.

Then sayd Martha vnto Iesus: Lorde yf thou haddest bene here / my brother had not bene

She ſayd vnto him:ye Lorde I beleue ẏ thou arte Chriſt the ſonne of God which ſhulde come into the worlde. ✠And aſſone as he had ſo ſayde / ſhe went her waye & called Marie her ſyſter ſecretly ſayinge.The maiſter is come & calleth for the.And ſhe aſſone as ſhe hearde ẏ aroſe quickly & came vnto hym.Ieſus was not yet come vnto the toune: but was in ẏ place where Martha met hym. The Iewes then which were with her in the houſe & cōforted her, when they ſawe Mary/ that ſhe roſe vp haſtely and went out/ folowed her/ſayinge: She goeth vnto the graue/to wepe there.

* I am the reſurrection and lyfe &c. That is I am the auctor of reſurrection & lyfe for thoſe that beleue in me will I raiſe vp at the laſte daye into lyfe eueraſtyinge: & thoſe that are deed ſhall lyue by me becauſe they beleue in me.

Then whē Mary was come where Ieſus was & ſawe hym / ſhe fell doune at hys fete/ ſaying vnto him:Lorde yf thou haddeſt bene here/ my brother had not bene deed. Whē Ieſus ſawe her wepe/ and ẏ Iewes alſo wepe/ which came with her/ he groned in ẏ ſpyrite/ & was troubled in him ſelfe & ſayde: Where haue ye layed hym? They ſayde vnto hym: Lorde come & ſe.And Ieſus wept.Then ſayd the Iewes:Behoilde how he loued hym. And ſome of thē ſayd: coulde not he which opened the eyes of the blynde/ haue made alſo/ ẏ this man ſhuld not haue dyed? Ieſus agayne groned in hym ſelfe/ & came to the graue.It was a caue and a ſtone layde on it.

Ieſus ſayde: take ye awaye ẏ ſtone. Martha the ſyſter of him ẏ was deed/ ſayde vnto him: Lorde by this tyme he ſtyncketh. For he hath bene deed foure dayes :Ieſus ſayd vnto her: Sayde I not vnto the/ that yf thou dydeſt beleue / thou ſhuldeſt ſe ẏ glory of God.Then they toke awaye ẏ ſtone frō ẏ place where the deed was layde. And Ieſus lyfte vp hys eyes and ſayd:Father I thancke the becauſe that thou haſt hearde me. I wot that thou hearеſt me all wayes: but becauſe of the people that ſtande by I ſayde it ẏ they maye beleue/ that thou haſt ſent me.

And when he thus had ſpoken/ he cryed wt a loude voyce. Lazarus come forth. And he ẏ was deed/ came forth, bounde hande and fote with graue bondes / & hys face was bounde with a napkin. Ieſus ſayde vnto thē: Iowle him / & let him go. Then many of the Iewes which came to Mary and had ſene ẏ thinges which Ieſus dyd/ beleued on hī. ✠But ſome of them went their wayes to the Phariſes/ and tolde them what Ieſus had done.

Then Ieſus ſix dayes before eſter, came to Bethany where Lazarus was wich was deed & whō Ieſus rayſed from deeth. Then toke mary a pounde of oyntment called Nardus / perfecte & precious/ & anoynted Ieſus fete/ and wypt his fete with her heer & the houſe was fylled of the ſauer of the oyntment.* Then ſayde one of his diſciples named Judas Iſcarioth Simōs ſonne/ which afterward betrayed him: why was not this oyntment ſolde for thre hundred pence/ & geuē to the poore? Mat.xxi.a Mar.xiy.a. Luc.xix.f.

* On the morowe, moche people ꝑ were come to the feast when they hearde ꝑ Jesus shuld come to Jerusalem, toke braunches of palme trees & wēt & met him, & cryed Hosanna, blessed is he that in the name of ꝑ Lord, commeth kynge of Israel. And Jesus got a yonge asse & sate theron, accordynge to that whych was wrytten: feare not daughter of Syon, beholde thy kyng cōmeth syttyng on ¶ an asses coolte. These thinges understode not his disciples at the fyrst: but whē Jesus was glorified, then remēbred they ꝑ soche thinges were written of him, and that soche thinges they had done vnto him. The people ꝑ was w̄ him whē he called Lazarus out his graue, & raysed him frō deeth, bare recorde. Therfore met hym the people, because they hearde ꝑ he had done soche a myracle. The Pharises therfore sayde amōge them selues perceaue ye how we preuayle nothynge? Beholde the worlde goth awaye after him.

There were certayne Grekes amōge thē, that came to praye at ꝑ feast: the same came to Philip which was of Bethsaida a citie in Galile, & desyred him saying: Syr we wolde fayne se Jesus. Philip came & tolde Andrew. And agayne Andrew & Philip tolde Jesus. ¶ And Jesus answered thē sayng: the houre is come ꝑ the sonne of man must be glorifyed.

✠ Verely verely I saye vnto you, except ꝑ wheate corne fall into ꝑ grounde and dye, it bydeth alone. If it dye, it bringeth forth moche frute. He ꝑ loueth his lyfe shall destroye it: & * he ꝑ hateth his lyfe in this worlde, shall kepe it vnto lyfe eternall. If eny mā minister vnto me, let him folowe me and where I am ther shall also my minister be. And yf eny mā minister vnto me, hym wyll my father honoure. ✠

a * he that hateth his lyfe &c. that is he that can be content to lose his temporall lyfe in this worlde for Christes sake & his worde shall lyue for euer as in Matth.x. Marc.viij. Luce.ix.

Now is my soule troubled, and what shall I saye? Father deliuer me frō this houre: but therfore came I vnto this houre. Father glorifye thy name. Then came there a voyce frō heaue. I haue glorifyed it & will glorifye it agayne. Then sayd the people that stode by & hearde: it thoundreth. Other sayde an angell spake to him. Jesus answered & sayde: this voyce cam not because of me, but for youre sakes.

✠ Now is the iudgement of this worlde: now shall ꝑ prince of this worlde be cast out. And I, yf I were lyfte vp from the erth, will drawe all men vnto me. This sayde Jesus, signifyinge what deeth he shulde dye. The people answered him: We haue learde oute of ꝑ lawe ꝑ Christ bydeth euer, & how sayest thou then that the sonne of mā must be lyfte vp? who is that sonne of man? Then Jesus sayde vnto thē: yet a lytell whyle is the lyght with you. Walke whyll ye haue lyght, lest ꝑ darckenes come on you. He that walketh in the darcke, wotteth not whyther he goeth. Whyll ye haue lyght beleue on the lyght, ꝑ ye maye be the chyldren of the lyght. ✠

These thinges spake Jesus & departed, & hyd him selfe from them. And though he had done so many miracles before thē, yet beleued not they on him, ꝑ the sayinge of Esaias the Prophet myght be fulfilled, ꝑ he spake. ¶ * Lorde who shall beleue oure sayinge? And to whō is ꝑ arme of the Lorde opened? Therfore could they not beleue, because ꝑ Esaias sayth agayne. he hath blynded their eyes and hardened their hertes, that they shulde not se w̄ their eyes, & vnderstāde with their hertes & shuld be cōuerted, and I shuld heale them. Soche thynges sayd Esaias whē he sawe his glory, & spake of him. Neuertheles amōge the chefe rulers many beleued on him. But because of ꝑ Pharises they wolde not be a knowē of it, lest they shuld be excōmunicat. For they loued the prayse ꝑ is geuē of men, more then the prayse that cōmeth of God.

And Jesus cryed & sayde: he that beleueth on me, beleueth not on me, but on him that sent me. ¶ Christ washeth the disciples fete, telleth thē of Judas the traytour and cōmaundeth them earnestly to loue one another.

¶ The.xiij. Chapter. ✠

Before the feast of ester whē Jesus knew ꝑ his houre was come, ꝑ he shulde departe oute of this worlde vnto the father. Whē he loued hys which were in ꝑ worlde, vnto ꝑ ende he loued thē. And whē supper was ended, after ꝑ the deuyll had put in ꝑ hert of Judas Iscarioth Simons sonne, to betraye him: Jesus knowyng that the father had geuē all thynges into his handes, & that he was come frō God, and wēt to God: he rose from supper, & layde a syde his vpper garmētes, & toke a towell, and gyrde hym selfe. After that, he poured water to wasshe his fete. He wastheth them fete / to declare that he came to mynister to other / not to be ministred vnto; and further to teache by this washing / his ministracio was to purge & wasshe away the spech of synne which is done by the shedinge of his blode: for the blode of Christ spilled in to our herres by the worde of his Gospell and receaued by faith cleuseth vs frō all synne.

water into a basyn, & * * begāne to wasshe his disciples fete, & to wype thē with the towell / wherwith he was gyrde.

Then came he to Simon Peter. And Peter sayde to him: Lorde shall thou wesshe my fete? Iesus answered & sayde vnto him: what I do, thou wotest not now / but thou shalt knowe hereafter. Peter sayde vnto him: thou shalt not wesshe my fete whyll ỹ worlde stādeth. Iesus answered him: yf I wasshe ỹ not / thou shalt haue no part with me. Simō Peter sayde vnto him: Lorde / not my fete only: but also my handes & my heed. Iesus sayde to hym: he ỹ is washed / needeth not saue to wesshe his fete, & is clene euery whit. And ye are clene: but not all. For he knewe his betrayer. Therfore sayde he: ye are not all clene.

After he had washed their fete, & receaued his clothes & was set doune agayne, he sayd vnto them: wot ye what I haue done to you? Ye call me master & Lord, & ye saye well for so am I. If I then youre Lorde and master haue washed your fete ye also ought to wesshe one anothers fete. For I haue geuen you an ensample, ỹ ye shuld do as I haue done to you. Verely verely I saye vnto you / ỹ seruaunt is not greater then his master, neither the messenger greater then he that sent hym.

If ye vnderstāde these thynges, happy are ye yf ye do them. I speake not of you all / I knowe whō I haue chosen. But ỹ the scripture be fulfylled: he ỹ eateth breed with me / hath * lyfte vp his hele agaynst me. Nowtell I you before it come: that when it is come to pasle ye myght beleue ỹ I am he. Verely verely I saye vnto you. He that receaueth whōsoeuer I sende / receaueth me. And he that receaueth me, receaueth him that sent me.

When Iesus had thus sayd, he was troubled in ỹ spyrete, & testyfyed saying: verely verely I saye vnto you / ỹ one of you shall betraye me. And then the disciples loked one on another doutynge of whom he spake. There was one of his disciples, which leaned on Iesus bosome, whō Iesus loued. To him becked Simon Peter that he shuld aske who it was of whō he spake. He then as he leaned on Iesus brest, sayd vnto him: Lorde who is it? Iesus answered, he it is to whō I geue a soppe, whē I haue dypt it. And he wet a soppe / & gaue it to Iudas Iscarioth Simons sonne. And after the soppe * Satan entred into him. Then sayd Iesus vnto him: ỹ thou doest do quyckly. That wist no mā at the table for what intēt he spake vnto him. Some of thē thought / because Iudas had ỹ bagge / ỹ Iesus had sayd vnto him bye those thynges ỹ we haue nede of against the feast: or ỹ he shuld geue some thynge to the poore. As sone then as he had receaued ỹ soppe, he wēt immediatly out. And it was night / whē he was gone out. Iesus sayde: now is ỹ sonne of mā glorifyed. And God is glorifyed by hym. If God be glorified by him God shall also glorify him in him selfe: & shall straycht waye glorify him.

b. To lyfte vp his hele is / to oppresse by violence: for whō ye thynke of tryppe with his hele / him do ye vtterly ouerthowe.

e * After the soppe Satan entred &c. Satan was entred into hym before as thys Euāgelist affirmeth in the begynning of this Chapter. But now begāne he more to enforce his strenghte / and more openly to shewe hym selfe. In lyke maner as ỹ Apostles had the holy goost before Christes resurrectiō whē they beleued on him whē they confessed hym to be the sonne of God &c. But then euydently receaued hym when Christ was ascended. Act. 2.

✣ Deare children, yet a lytell whyle am I with you. Ye shall seke me / & as I sayde vnto ỹ Iewes / whyther I goo, thyther can ye not come. Also to you saye I now. A new cōmaūdemēt geue I vnto you / ỹ ye loue to gether as I haue loued you / ỹ euen so ye loue one another. By this shall all men knowe ỹ ye are my disciples, yf ye shall haue loue one to another. Simon Peter sayde vnto hym: Lorde whyther goest thou? Iesus answered hym: whyther I go thou canst not folowe me now, but thou shalt folowe me afterwardes. ✣ Peter sayde vnto hym: Lorde / why can not I folowe ỹ now? I wyll geue my lyfe for thy sake. Iesus answered him: wylt thou geue thy lyfe for my sake? Verely / verely I saye vnto the / the cocke shall not crowe, tyll thou haue denyed me thryse.

The. xiiij. Chapter. ✣

And he sayde vnto his disciples: Let not youre hertes be troubled. Beleue in God and beleue in me. In my fathers house are many mansions. If it were not so / I wolde haue tolde you. I go to prepare a place for you. And yf I go to prepare a place for you / I will come agayne / & receaue you euen vnto my selfe ỹ where I am, there maye ye be also. And whyther I go ye knowe & the waye ye knowe.

Thomas sayde vnto him: Lorde we knowe not whyther thou goest. Also how is it possible for vs to knowe the waye? Iesus sayde vnto him: I am the waye, the truthe & ỹ lyfe. And no mā cometh vnto the father, but by me. If ye had knowē me, ye had knowē my father also. And now ye knowe him & haue sene him.

There were together Simō Peter & Thomas/ which is called Didymus: & Nathanael of Cana a cite of Galile/ & the sonnes of Zebedei/ & two other of the disciples. Simon Peter sayde vnto thē: I go a fyshynge. They sayde vnto him: we also will go with ye. They went their waye & entred into a shippe strayght waye/ & that night caught they nothinge. But whē ye morninge was now come Iesus stode on ye shore: neuertheles the disciples knewe not ye it was Iesus. Iesus sayde vnto thē: Syrs, haue ye eny meate? They answered him/ no. And he sayd vnto thē: cast out ye net on ye right syde of ye ship/ & ye shal fynde. They cast out/ and anone they were not able to drawe it for the multitude of fysshes.

Then sayde the disciple whō Iesus loued vnto Peter: It is ye Lorde. When Simō Peter herde that it was the Lorde, he gyrde his mantell to him (for he was naked) & sprange into the see. The other disciples came by ship for they were not farre from lande/ but as it were two hondred cubites/ & they drewe the net wyth fyshes. Assone as they were come to lande/ they sawe hoote coles and fysshe layd theron/ & breed Iesus sayde vnto thē: bringe of the fysshe which ye haue now caught. Simon Peter stepped forth and drewe the net to londe full of greate fyshes/ an hondred & liij. And for all ther were so many/ yet was not the net broken. Iesus sayde vnto them: come & dyne. And none of the disciples durste aske him: what arte thou? For they knewe that it was the Lorde. Iesus then came and toke breed/ and gaue them/ and fysshe lykewyse. And thys is now the thyrde tyme that Iesus appered to hys disciples/ after that he he was ryssen agayne from deeth. ✠

When ỹ fyftith daye was come/they were all wt one accorde to gether in one place. And sodēly ther came a sounce frō heauē, as it had bene the cōmynge of a myghty wynde/ and it fylled all ỹ house where they sate. And there appered vnto them clouen tonges/lyke as they had bene fyer/ and it sate vpon eache of thē: *& they were all fylled wyth the holy Goost/ and beganne to speake wyth other tonges/ euen as the spyrete gaue them vtteraunce. Act.iij.c. and.xix.b.

And ther were dwellinge at Jerusalē/ Jewes/deuoute men wyche were of all nacyōs vnder heauē. When this was noysed aboute the multitude came together and were astonyed/ because that euery man hearde them speake his awne tounge. They wondred all & marueyled/ sayinge amōge thē selues: Beholde, are not all these wyche speake/ of Galile? And how heare we euery man his awne tounge wherin we were bozen? Parthians/ Medes & Elamytes/ and the inhabiters of Mesopotamia/ of Jury, & of Capadocia/ of Ponthus & Asia/ Phrygia/ Pamphylia, & of Egypte/ & of the parties of Lybia wyche is besyde Syrene/ & straungers of Rome/ Jewes and* conuertes Grekes & Arabians: we haue herde thē speake wyth oure awne tonges ỹ greate workes of God. ✠ They were all amased/ & wōdred sayinge one to another what meaneth thys? Other mocked them sayinge: they are full of newe wyne. * Conuertes: that is he the gentyles cōuerted to ỹ Jewes fayth

✠ But Peter stepped forth wyth ỹ eleuē/ and lyft vp his voyce/ & sayde vnto them: Ye men of Jewrye/ & all ye that inhabite Jerusalem: be this knowē vnto you & wyth youre eares heare my wordes. These are not dronken, as ye suppose: for it is yet but ỹ thyrde houre of the daye. But this is ỹ wyche was spoken by the Prophete Joel: It shalbe in the last dayes sayth God: of my spyrete I will powre out vpō all flesche. And youre sonnes & youre daughters shall prophesy and youre yonge men shal se visions, & youre olde men shall dreme dremes. And on my seruaūtes/ & on my handemaydēs I will powre out of my spyrete in those dayes/ & they shall prophesye. And I will shewe wonders in heauē aboue/ & tokens in the erth beneth/ bloud and fyre/ & the vapour of smoke. * The sunne shalbe turned into darcknes/ & the mone into bloud before that greate & notable daye of the Lorde come. * And it shalbe/ ỹ whosoeuer shall call on the name of the Lorde/ shalbe saued. Joel.ij.g. Roma.x.c.

✠ Ye men of Israel heare these wordes. Jesus of Nazareth a man approued of God amonge you wyth myracles/ wondres & sygnes wyche God dyd by hym in the myddes of you, as ye youre selues knowe: hym haue ye taken by ỹ handes of vnrightewes persones/ after he was delyuered by ỹ determinat cōsell & foreknowledge of God/ and haue crucifyed & slayne: whom God hath raysed vp & lowsed the sorowes of deeth/ because it was vnpossyble that he shuld be holden of it. For Dauid speaketh of him. * I fore hāde I sawe God alwayes before me: for he is on my right hande/ that I shuld not be moued. Therfore dyd my hert reioyce/ and my tonge was glad. Moreouer also my flesche shall rest in hope/ because thou wilt not leue my soule in hell/ nether wilt suffre thine holye/ to se corrupcyō Thou hast shewed me ỹ wayes of life/ & shalt make me full of ioye wyth thy countenaūce. Psal.xvi.c.

✠ Men & brethren/ let me freely speake vnto you of the patriarke David. * For he is both deed & buryed/ & hys sepulcre remayneth wt vs vnto this daye. Therfore seinge he was a Prophet/ & knewe that God had sworne wyth an othe to him, that ỹ frute of his loynes shuld syt on his seat, (in ỹ Christ shulde ryse agayne in the flesche) he sawe before: & spake of the resurrection of Christ/ that his soule shulde not be left in hell: nether hys flesche shuld se corrupcion. This Jesus hath God raysed vp/ wherof we all are witnesses. ✠ 1.Re.ij.b.

Sence now that he by the ryght hande of God exalted is/ & hath receaued of the father the promyse of the holy Goost, he hath shed forth ỹ which ye now se & heare. For David is not ascended into heuē: but he sayde. * The Lorde sayde to my Lord syt on my right hāde vntyll I make thy foes thy fote stole. So therfore let al the house of Israel knowe for a suerty/ that God hath made ỹ same Jesus whom ye haue crucifyed/ Lorde and Christ. Psal.cix.a.

✠ When they hearde this they were pricked in their hertes/ & sayd vnto Peter & vnto the other Apostles: Ye mē & brethren, what shal we do? Peter sayde vnto them: repent and be baptised euery one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for ỹ remissyon of synnes/ and ye shall receaue the gyfte of the holy goost. For the promyse was made vnto you & to youre children, and to all that are a farre, euen as many as ỹ Lorde oure God shall call. And wt many other wordes bare he witnes & exhorted them sayinge: Saue youre selues from this vntoward generacion ✠ Then they that gladly receaued his preachinge/ were baptised: and the same daye/ ther were added vnto them aboute thre thousande soules.

And they continued in ỹ Apostles doctrine & felouchippe/ and in breakynge of breed/ & in prayer. And feare came ouer euery soule. And many wondres & signes were shewed by ỹ Apostles. And all that beleued kept thē selues to gether/ & had all thyng (cōmen/ & solde their possessions and goodes/ & departed thē to all men/ as euery man had nede. And they contynued dayly with one accorde in ỹ tẽple/ and brake breed in euery house/and dyd eate their meate together/with gladnes & singlenes of hert prayseinge God/ & had fauour wt all the people. And the Lorde added to the cõgregacion dayly soche as shuld be saued.

Saul had pleasure in his deeth. And at that tyme ther was a great persecucion agaynst the congregacyō whych was at Jerusalē/ and they were all scattered abroade thorowout ꝑ regiōs of Jury & Samaria/ except ꝑ Apostles. Then deuout men dressed Steuen/ & made great lamētaciō ouer him. But Saul made hauocke of the congregaciō, and entred into euery house & drewe out bothe man & womā & thrust thē into prison. Howbeit they that were scattered abroade/ went euery where preachinge ꝑ worde. Then came Philip into a citie of Samaria, & preached Christ vnto them. And the people gaue hede vnto those thinges which Philip spake/ with one accorde in that they harde and sawe the myracles which he dyd. For vnclene spyretes cryinge with loude voyce/ came out of many ꝑ were possessed of thē. And many taken with palsyes/ and many that halted, were healed. And ther was greate ioye in that citie. And ther was a certayne mā called Simon/ which before tyme in ꝑ same citie/ vsed witchecrafte & bewitched the people of Samarie, sayinge that he was a man that coulde do greate thynges. Whom they regarded/ frō the lest to ꝑ greatest/ sayinge: this felow is ꝑ great power of God. And hym they set moche by/ because ꝑ of longe tyme he had mocked them with sorcery. But assone as they beleued Philippes preachynge of the kyngdome of God & of ꝑ name of Jesu Christ/ they were baptysed both the men and women. Then Simon him selfe beleued

Beholde, I am he whom ye seke, what is the

They which were scattred abroade thorow the affliccion that arose aboute Steuē/ walked thorow out tyll they came vnto Phenice and Cypers & Antioche preachinge the worde to no man/but vnto ỹ Jewes only. Some of them were men of Cypers and Syrene/ which when they were come into Antioche/ spake vnto the Grekes/and preched ỹ Lorde Jesus. And the hande of the Lorde was with them, and a greate nombre beleued & turned vnto the Lorde.

Tydinges of these thinges came vnto the eares of the congregaciō/ which was in Jerusalem. And they sent forth Barnabas that he should go vnto Antioche. Which when he was come and had sene ỹ grace of God/ was glad/and exhorted thē all/ that with purpose of hert/they wolde continually cleaue vnto the Lorde. For he was a good man/ and full of the holy goost & of faythe: & moche people was added vnto the Lorde. Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus/for to seke Saul. And when he had founde hym/ he brought hym vnto Antioche. And it chaunced that a whole yere they had ther conuersacion with the congregacion there/ and taught moche people: in so moche that ỹ disciples of Antioche were the fyrst that were called Christen.

*In those dayes came Prophetes frō Jerusalē vnto Antioche. Herode persecuteth the Christen / & pleth James & putteth Peter in prison/ whom the Lorde delyuereth by an Angell. The shamefull death of Herode.

¶ The.xii. Chapter. ✝

IN that tyme Herode ỹ kynge stretched forth his hādes to vexe certayne of the congregacyō. And he kylled James ỹ brother of John with the swerde & because he sawe that it pleased the Jewes, he proceded forther/& tobe Peter also. Then were the dayes of swete breed. And whē he had caught him/he put him in prison & delyuered him to.iiii. *quaternions of soudyers to be kepte/ entendynge after ester to bringe him forth to ỹ people. Then was Peter kepte in prison. But prayer was made w̄out ceasynge of the congregacion/ vnto God for him. And whē Herode wold haue brought hym oute vnto the people/ the same nyght slepte Peter betwene two soudyers, bounde with two chaynes, and the kepers before the dore kepte the prison.

* Quarterni is foure,

And beholde the angell of the Lorde was there present/ and a light shyned in the lodge. And he smote Peter on the syde/ & stered hym vp sayinge: aryse vp quickly. And his cheyns fell of from hys handes. And the Angell sayd vnto hym: gyrde thy selfe and bynde on thy *sandales. And so he dyd. And he sayde vnto hym: cast thy mantle aboute the/ and folowe me. And he came oute and folowed hym, and wist not, that it was truthe which was done by ỹ Angel, but thought he had sene a visiō. When they were past the fyrst and the secōde watche/ they came vnto the yron gate/ that ledeth vnto the citie, which opened to thē vp his awne accorde. And they went out & passed thorowe one strete/ and by and by the Angell departed from hym.

And when Peter was come to hym selfe/ he sayde: now I knowe of a surety, that the Lorde hath sent his Angel/ & hath delyuered me out of the hande of Herode/ & from all the waytyng for of ỹ people of the Iewes. ✠ And as he consydred the thinge, he came to ỹ house of Mary the mother of one *John, which was called Marke also, where many were gathered to gether in prayer. As Peter knocked at ỹ entry dore, a damell came forth to herken, named Rhoda. And whē she knew Peters voyce, she opened not the entre for gladnes, but ran in and told how Peter stode before ỹ entre. And they sayde vnto her: thou arte mad. And she bare thē doune that it was euen so. Then sayde they: it is his angel. But Peter contynued knockynge: and when they had opened the dore, & sawe hym, they were astonyed. And he beckened vnto thē wyth the hande, to holde their peace, and tolde them by what meanes ỹ Lorde had brought him oute of the prison. ✠ And he sayde go shew these thinges vnto Iames & to the brethren. And he departed and went into a nother place.

* This John is ỹ same Marke that wrote the gospell of Marke.

As sone as it was daye ther was no lyttell a do amōge the soudiers, what was become of Peter. When Herode had called for him, and founde him not, he examined the keepers, and cōmaunded thē to departe. And he descended from Iewry to Cesarea, and ther aboode. Herode was displeased wyth them of Tyre and Sidon. And they came all at once, and made intercession vnto Blastus the kynges chamberlen, and desyred peace, because their cōtrey was norysshed by the kinges lande. And vpon a daye appoynted, Herode arayed hym in royall apparell, and sat him in his seate, & made an oracion vnto them. And the people gaue a shoute, sayinge: it is ỹ voyce of a God and not of a man. And immediatly the angel of ỹ Lorde * smote him because he gaue not God the honoure, & he was eaten of wormes & gaue vp the goost. And the worde of God grewe & multiplied. And Barnabas & Paul returned to Ierusalem, whē they had fulfylled their office, & toke wyth thē John, which was also called Marcus.

Paul and Barnabas are called to preache amonge ỹ heythen. Of Sergius Paulus & Elymas the sorcerar. Paul preacheth at Antioche.

¶ The .xiij. Chapter.

There were at Antioche, in the congregacion certayne * prophetes & teachers: as Barnabas and Simō called Niger, & Lucius of Cirene and Manahen Herode the Tetrarkes norsfelowe, and Saul. As they ministred to the Lorde & fasted, the holy goost sayde: separate me Barnabas & Saul, for the worke where vnto I haue called them. Then fasted they & prayed and * put their handes on them, & let them go. And they after they were sent of the holy goost, came vnto Seleucia, and from thence they sayled to Cyprus. And when they were come to Salamine, they shewed the worde of God in the synagoges of ỹ Iewes. And they had John to their minister.

When they had gone thorowout ỹ Ile vnto the citie of Paphos, they founde a certayne sorcerer, a false prophet which was a Iewe, named b Bariesu which was wyth ỹ ruler of the countre one Sergius Paulus a prudent man. The same ruler called vnto hym Barnabas and Saul, & desyred to heare the worde of God. But Elymas the sorcerar, for so was his name by interpretaciō, withstode thē, & sought to turne awaye the ruler from the fayth. Then Saul * which also is called Paul beynge full of ỹ holy goost set his eyes on hym, & sayde: O full of all suttelte & disceytfulnes the chylde of the deuyll & ỹ enemye of all ryghtcousnes, thou ceasest not to peruert the strayght wayes of the Lorde. And nowe beholde the hande of the Lorde is vpō ỹ & thou shalt be blynde & not se ỹ sunne for a season. And immediatly ther fell on hym a myste & a darckines, & he wēt aboute sekinge thē that shuld leade him by the hande. Then ỹ rulat whē he sawe what had happened, beleued & wondred at the doctrine of the Lorde.

b * Bariesu ỹ is by interpretacid Jesus sonne, euē this name had thys sorcerar gotte to hymself wyde vb all. As nowe oute sorcerars & cōiurers whē they go to worke, they call to crossynge and prayinge wyth all holy wordes to deceaue the people with all makynge them to iudge ỹ they rather talke wt God then wt ỹ deuell. And Elimas was hys name by interpretacion sayth ¶ the text / wbych (as Erasmus affyrmeth in hys paraphrasis) sounded as moche in the Syrian language, as great & false Prophet.

c * Saul which also is called Paul. Of the name of Paul do many dispute but the most allowed opinions / that of the Hebrues he was called Saul: & after ỹ maner of speache of ỹ Gentyles and Romaynes he was called paul.

When they that were with Paule, were departed by shippe frō Paphus, they came to Perga a citie of Pamphilia: and there John departed from them and returned to Ierusalem. But they wandred thorowe the countres frō Perga to Antioche a citie of the coūtrey of Pisidia and wēt into the synagoge on the Saboth daye and sate doune. And after the lawe and the Prophetes were redde, the rulers of the synagoge sent vnto thē sayinge Ye men and brethren, yf ye haue ony sermon to exhorte the people, saye on.

Then Paul stode vp and beckened wyth the hande, & sayde: Men of Israel, & ye that feare God geue audience. The God of thys people chose oure fathers, and exalted the people when they dwelt as straungers in the lande of Egypt, and wyth a myghty arme brought them oute of it and about the tyme of xl. yeares suffred he their maners in the wyldernes. ¶ Variaunce aboute circumcision. The Apostles pacifye the matter at Jerusalem. Paul and Barnabas preche at Antioche. ¶ The.xv. Chapter.

And certayne men came downe from Iewrie/ and taught the brethren * except ye be circumcysed after the maner of Moses/ye cannot be saued. And when ther was no smal dissencion & disputyng not a lyttel vnto Paul & Barnabas agaynst them. They determined that Paul and Barnabas/ and certayne other of them shuld ascende to Jerusalē vnto the Apostles & elders aboute thys question. And after they were brought on their waye by the cōgregacyon/ they passed ouer Phenices & Samaria / declarynge the conuersion of the Gentyls/and they brought great ioye vnto all the brethrē And when they were come to Jerusalē/ they were receaued of the congregacion and of ꝑ Apostles and elders. Then rose vp certayne of the secte of the Pharises/ whych dyd beleue/saying/ that it was needfull to circumcyse them and to entoyne them to kepe ꝑ lawe of Moses. And the Apostles & elders came to gether to reason of this matter.

And whē ther was moche disputynge Peter rose vp & sayd vnto thē: Ye men & brethrē/ ye knowe how that a good whyle agoo/ God chose amōge vs ꝑ the Gentyls by my mouth shuld heare the worde of the Gospell and beleue. And God which knoweth the hert/bare them wytnes / and gaue vnto them the holy goost / euen as he dyd vnto vs and he put no difference betwene thē & vs / but wyth fayth * * purified their hertes. Now therfore why tempte ye God that ye wolde put a yoke on the disciples neckes / whych nether oure fathers nor we were able to beare. But we beleue that thorowe the grace of the Lorde Jesu Christ we shalbe saued, as they do. Then all the multytude was peased and gaue audience to Barnabas and Paul, which tolde what synges and wonders God had shewed amonge the Gentyls by them.

maimres/ which are not lawfull for vs to receaue, nether to observe, seinge we are Romayns. And ꝑ people ranne on thē. & the officers rent their clothes, & cōmaunded thē to be beatē w rodes. And when they had beatē them sore, they cast thē into prison cōmaūdynge the iayler to kepe them surely. Which iayler when he had receaued suche cōmaundement thrust them into the vnner prison, & made their fete fast in the stockes.

F At mydnight Paul & Sylas prayed and laud'd God. And the prisoners hearde them. And sodenly there was a greate erthquake so that the foundacion of ꝑ prison was shakē, & by & by all ꝑ doores opened, & euery mānes bandes were lowsed. When the keper of the prison waked out of his slepe & sawe the prison doores open he drue oute his swearde and wolde haue kylled him selfe, supposinge the prisoners had bene fledde. But Paul cried w a loude voyce saying: do thy selfe no harme/ for we are all heere. Then he called for a lyght and sprange in and cam tremblynge/ & fell doune before Paul & Sylas/ & brought thē oute & sayde: Syrs what must I do to be saued? And they sayde: beleue on the Lorde Iesus & thou shalt be saued & thy household: And they preached vnto him the worde of the Lord, & to all that were in his house. And he toke thē the same houre of the nyght & washed their woundes, & was baptised with all ꝑ belonged vnto him straight waye. When he had brought thē into his house, he set meate before them / and ioyed that he with all hys household, beleued on God.

And when it was daye, the officers sent ꝑ ministers sayīg: let those men go. Then the keper of the prison tolde this sayinge to Paul/ the officers haue sent worde to lowse yow. Now therfore get you hēce and go in peace. Then sayd Paul vnto thē: they haue beatē vs openly vncondēpned, for all ꝑ we are Romayns/ & haue cast vs into prison: & now wolde they sende vs awaye preuely? Naye not so/ but let thē come thē selues & fet vs out. When ꝑ ministers tolde these wordes vnto ꝑ officers/ they feared when they hearde that they were Romayns, & cam & besought thē / and brought thē out, and desyred them to departe out of ꝑ cytie. And they went out of ꝑ prison & entred into ꝑ house of Lidia/ & when they had sene the brethren/ they cōforted them & departed.

¶ Paul cōmeth to Thessalonica/ wher the Iewes set the cytie on a rore. Paul escapeth/ & commeth to Athens/ where he preacheth the true & vnknowne God

¶ The.xvij. Chapter.

Now they made their iorney thorow Amphipolis/ and Appolonia/ they cam to Thessalonica where was a Synagoge of the Iewes. And Paul as his maner was went in vnto them/ & the saboth dayes declared out of the scripture vnto them, * openynge & allegynge that Christ must nedes haue suffred and ryssen agayne from deeth, and that this Iesus was Christ, whom sayd he, I preache to you. And some of them beleued & cam and companyed with Paul and Sylas: also of the honorable Grekes a greate multitude & of ꝑ chefe wemen not a feawe. * Luke.xxiiij.b.

But ꝑ Iewes which beleued not hauyng indignacīō toke vnto them euyll men which were vagabondes, & gathered a company, & B set all the cytie on a rore / and made assaut vnto the house of Iason, & sought to bringe them out to the people. But whe they founde them not, they drue Iason and certayne brethrē vnto the heedes of ꝑ cite cryinge: these/ that trouble the worlde are come hyther also which Iason hath receaued preuely.* And these all do contrary to the decrees of Cesar/ affirmynge another kynge, one Iesus. And they troubled the people & the officers of the cytie / when they hearde these thynges. And when they were sufficiently answered of Iason & of the other, they let them go. * Iohn.xix.b.

And the brethren immediatly sent awaye Paul and Sylas by nyghte vnto Berrea. Which when they were come thyther, they C entred in to the Synagoge of the Iewes. These were the noblest of byrthe amōge thē of Thessalonia / which receaued the worde wyth all dyligence of mynde / and searched *the scriptures dayly whether those thinges were euen so. And many of them beleued: also of worshypfull women which were Grekes, and of men not a feawe. When the Iewes of Thessalonia had knowledge that ꝑ worde of God was preached of Paul at Berrea/ they came and moued the people there. And then by and by the brethrē sent awaye Paul to go as it were to the see: but Sylas & Timotheus abode there styll. And they that gyded Paul, brought him vnto Athens, and re- D ceaued a cōmaūdemēt vnto Sylas & Timotheus for to come to him atōce & came their waye. While Paul wayted for thē at Athēs/ his spirite was moued in him / to se the cytie geuen to worshyppyng of ymages. Then he disputed in the synagoge w the Iewes/ & w ꝑ deuout personnes, and in the market dayly with them that came vnto hym. Certayne Philosophers of the Epicures and of the Stoyckes/ disputed with him. And some ther were which sayd: what will this babler saye? Other sayde: he semeth to be a tydynges bringer of newe deuils because he preached vnto them Iesus & the resurrecciō. ¶ The.xviij. Chapter.

After that Paul departed from Athens & came to Corinthū/& foūde a certayne Jewe named Aquila borne in Ponthus/lately come frō Italie with his wyfe Priscilla (because that the Emperour Claudius had cōmaunded all Jewes to departe from Rome) & he drewe vn to thē. And because he was of ꝑ same crafte/ he abode with them & wrought: their crafte was to make tentes. And he preached in the synagoge euery Sabboth daye/ & exhorted ꝑ Jewes and the gentyls.

When Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia/Paul was cōstrayned by B the spyrite to testifie to the Jewes that Jesus was very Christ. And when they sayde cōtrary & blasphemed/ he shoke hys rayment and sayde vnto thē: youre bloud vpō youre awne heedes/ & from hence forth I go blamelesse vnto the gentyls. And he departed thence / & entred into a certayne mannes house named Justus a worshypper of God / whose house ioyned hard to the synagoge. How beit one Crispus the chefe ruler of the synagoge be- C leeued on the Lorde wyth all his household/& many of the Corinthians gaue audiēce/& beleued and were baptised.

Then spake the Lorde to Paul in the nyght by a vision: be not afrayde / but speake/and holde not thy peace: for I am with the/ & noman shall inuade the that shall hurte the. For I haue moche people in this citie. And he cōtinued there a yeare and syx monethes/ and taught them the worde of God.

When Gallio was ruler of the countre of D Acaia the Jewes made insurrection wt one accorde agaynst Paul/& brought him to the iudgement seate/saying: this felow counceleth men to worshyp God cōtrary to ꝑ lawe. And as Paul was about to open his mouth/ Gallio sayde vnto the Jewes: yf it were a matter of wronge / or an euyll dede (O ye Jewes) reason wold that I shulde heare you: but yf it be a question of wordes/or of names/ or of youre lawe / loke ye to it youre selues. ¶ Of the xii men whom Paul baptised at Ephesus/ and what miracles were done by him. Demetrius mouyth sedicion in the cyte.

¶ The xix. Chapter. ✠

And it fortuned whyll Apollo was at Corinthum, that Paul passed thorow the vpper coostes and came to Ephesus, & founde certayne disciples & sayde vnto thē: haue ye receaued the holy goost sence ye beleued? And they sayde vnto hym: no we haue not hearde whether ther be eny holy goost or no. And he sayde vnto thē: wherwith were ye then baptised? And they sayde: *with Johns baptyme. Then sayd Paul: John verely baptised with the baptym of repentaunce, sayeng vnto the people that they shuld beleue on him / which shuld come after him: that is on Christ Jesus. Whē they hearde that, they were baptised in the name of the Lorde Jesu. And Paul layde his hādes vpon them & the holy goost came on them & they spake with tonges, and prophesied. and all the men were about. xii.

* Wyth Johns baptyme &c. The difference betwene the baptyme of John & ỹ apostles was a thyng this that Johns baptised tho to beleue in christ that was for to come & the Apostles baptysed the to beleue in christ which was come all readye & had offered for ỹ remission of the synnes of so many as beleued in him.

And he wēt into the synagoge / & behaued him selfe boldely for the space of thre monethes disputynge and geuynge them exhortacions of the kyngdom of God. ¶ When ouers were hardeherted & beleued not/ but spake euyll of the waye / and that before the multitude: he departed from thē/ and seperated the disciples. And he disputed dayly in ỹ scole of one called Tyrānus. And this contynued by the space of two yeares: so that all they which dwelt in Asia / hearde the worde of the Lorde Jesu / bothe Jewes & Grekes. ¶ And God wrought no small myracles by the handes of Paul: so that from his body/ were brought vnto ỹ sicke/ napkyns or parelett(/ and the diseases departed from them/ and the euyll spyretes went out of them.

Then certayne of the vagabounde Jewes exorcistes, toke vpon them to call ouer them which had euyll spyretes/ the name of ỹ Lord Jesus sayinge: We adiure you by Jesu whō Paul preacheth. And ther were seuē sonnes of one Sceua a Jewe and chefe of ỹ prestes which dyd so. And the euyll spyrete answered & sayde: Jesus I knowe & Paul I know: but who are ye? And the man in whome the euyll spyrete was, ranne on them/ & ouercame thē/ and preuayled agaynst them/ so ỹ they fledde out of that house naked & wounded. And this was knowen to all the Jewes & Grekes also, which dwelt at Ephesus and feare came on them all/ and they magnified the name of the Lorde Jesus. ¶

And many that beleued/ cam & confessed & shewed their workes. Many of thē which vsed curious crafftes/ brought their bokes & burned them before all men / & they counted the pryce of them/ & founde it fyfty thousand *syluerlynges. So mightely grewe ỹ worde of God, and preuayled. After these thynges were ended Paul purposed in the spyrete, to passe ouer Macedonia & Achaia / & to go to Jerusalem sayeng: After I haue bene there, I must also se Rome. So sent he into Macedonia two of thē that ministred vnto hym Timotheus and Erastus: but he hym selfe remayned in Asia for a season.

¶ The same tyme ther arose no lytell a do aboute that waye. For a certayne mā named Demetrius/ a syluersmyth / which made syluer schrynes for Diana/ was not a lytell beneficiall vnto the craftes men. Which he called together wythe worhemen of lyke occupaciō/ & sayd: Syrs/ ye knowe ỹ by this crafte we haue vauntage. Moreouer ye se & heare ỹ not alone at Ephesus/ but almost thorow out all Asia/ this Paul hath perswaded & turned awaye moche people sayinge ỹ they be not goddes which are made with hādes. So ỹ not only this oure crafte cometh into parell to be set at nought: but also that ỹ tēple of the greate Goddas Diana shulde be despysed / and her magnificence shulde be destroyed/ which all Asia and the worlde worshippeth.

¶ When they hearde these sayinges / they were full of wrathe/ and cryed out sayinge: Greate is Diana of the Ephesians. And all ỹ citie was on a rooze/ & they rushed into the comen hall with one assent/ & caught Gayus and Aristarcus/ men of Macedonia / Pauls companiōs. When Paul wolde haue entred in vnto the people/ the disciples suffered him not. Certayne also of the chefe of Asia which were his frendes/ sent vnto hym / desyringe him that he wolde not preace into the comen hall. When ỹ towne clarcke had ceased ỹ people / he sayde: ye men of Ephesus / what man is it that knoweth not how that the cytye of the Ephesians is a worshipper of ỹ great goddes Diana, & b* of the ymage which cam frō heauen. Seinge then that no mā sayth here agaynst ỹ: ought to be content, and to do nothing rashly: for ye haue brought hither these mē which are nether robbers of churches / not yet despisers of youre goddes. Wherfore yf Demetrius & the craftes men whych are with him haue eny sayinge to eny man / the lawe is open, and ther are rulers, let thē accuse one another. If ye goo aboute eny other thynge, it maye be determined in a lawfull congregacyon. For we are in ieopardy to be accused of this dayes busynes: for as moche as ther is no cause wherby we maye geue a rekenynge of this concourse of people. And when he had thus spoken he let the congregacion departe.

¶ The .xx. Chapter.

After the rage was ceased / Paul called ỹ disciples vnto him, & toke hys leaue of thē / & departed for to go into Macedonia. And when he had gone ouer those partyes / & geuen them large exhortacōs, he cam into Greece / & there abode iij. monethes. And when the Jewes layde wayt for him as he was about to sayle into Syria / he purposed to returne thorow Macedonia. Ther accompanied him into Asia / Sopater of Berrea / and of Thessalonia Aristarcus and Secundus / and Gayus of Derba / and Timotheus: & oute of Asia Tychicus and Trophimos. These went before / & tarved vs at Troas. And we sayled awaye from Philippos after the e ster holy dayes / & cam vnto thē to Troas in fyue dayes / where we abode seuen dayes.

B And on ỹ morowe after ỹ Saboth daye ỹ disciples cam to gether for to breake breed / and Paul preached vnto thē (redy to departe on the morowe) & continued the preachynge vnto mydnyght. And the nexte daye we arriued at Samos / and taried at Trogilon. The nexte daye we came to Mileton: for Paul had determined to leaue Ephesus as they sayled / because he wolde not spende the tyme in Asia. For he hasted to be (yf he coulde possible) at Jerusalem at the daye of Pentecoste. Wherfore frō D Mileton he sent to Ephesus / and called the elders of the congregacion. And when they were come to him, he sayd vnto thē: Ye know from the fyrst daye that I cam into Asia / after what maner I haue bene with you at all seasons / seruynge the Lorde wyth all humblenes of mynde / & with many teares / & tēptacōs which happened vnto me by ỹ layinge awayte of the Jewes / & how I kepte backe nothinge ỹ was profitable: but that I haue shewed you & taught you opēly and at home in youre houses, witnessing both to ỹ Jewes / & also to the Grekes, the repentaūce toward God / & fayth toward oure Lorde Jesus.

And now beholde / I go bounde in ỹ spyrete vnto Jerusalē / & knowe not what shall come E on me there, but ỹ the holy goost witnesseth in euery cytie sayinge: that bandes & trouble abyde me. When we hearde this, both we & other of the same place besought him that he wolde not go vp to Jerusalē. Then Paul answered and sayde: what do ye weppinge & breakinge myne herte? I am redy not to be bound only/ but also to dye at Jerusalē for the name of þ Lorde Jesu. When we couldе not turne hys mynde/ we ceased / sayinge: the wyll of the Lord be fulfilled. For they sawe one Trophymus an Ephesian wyth him in the cytye. Him they supposed Paul had brought into the tẽple. And all the cytie was moued / & the people swarmed together. And they toke Paul and drue hym oute of the temple / and forth with the dores were shut to.

As they went about to kyll hym / tydinges came vnto the hye captayne of the soudyers / that all Ierusalem was moued. Which immediatly toke soudiers & vndercaptaynes / & ranne doune vnto them. When they sawe ꝑ hyer captayne & the soudiers they lefte smytinge of Paul. Then the captayne cam neare & toke him / and cõmaunded him to be bounde wt two chaynes / & demaunded what he was / & what he had done. And one cryed this / another ꝑ amõge the people. And when he coulde not knowe ꝑ certaynte for the rage / he commaũded him to be caryed into the castle. And when he cam vnto a Grece / it fortuned that he was borne of the soudiers for the violẽce of the people. For the multitude of ꝑ people folowed after crynge: away wyth him.

And as Paul shulde haue bene carried into the castle / he sayde vnto the hye Captayne: maye I speake vnto the? Which sayde: Cãst thou speake Greke? Arte not thou that Egyptian which before these dayes made an vproure / and ledde out into the wyldernes .iiij. thousande men that were mortherers? But Paul sayde: I am a mã which am a Iewe of Tharsus a citie in Cicill a Citezin of no vyle cytie / I beseche the suffre me to speake vnto the people. When he had geuen him lycence / Paul stode on the steppes / and beckened wt the hande vnto the people / & ther was made a great sylence. And he spake vnto them in ꝑ hebrue tonge sayinge.

¶ Paule answereth the Iewes / is scourged / and layde in prison agayne.

¶ The .xxij. Chapter

MEn / brethrẽ and fathers / heare myne answere which I make vnto you. When they hearde ꝑ he spake in the Ebrue tonge to them / they kept ꝑ more sylence. And he sayd: I am verely a mã which am a Iewe borne in Tharsus / a cytie in Cycill: neuertheles yet brought vp in this cytie / at the fete of Gamaliel / and informed diligently in ꝑ lawe of the fathers / & was feruent mynded to God warde / as ye all are this same daye / & * I persecuted this waye vnto the deeth byndynge & deliuerynge into prison bothe men & wemen / as ꝑ chefe prest doth beare me wytnes / & all ꝑ elders of whom also I receaued letters vnto ꝑ brethren / and went to Damasco to bringe thẽ which were there bounde vnto Ierusalem for to be punyshed.

Act.viii.a. and.ix.a

And it fortuned / as I made my iorney and was come nye vnto Damasco aboute none that sodenly ther shone from heauen a great lyght rounde aboute me / and I fell vnto the erth / & heard a voyce sayīg vnto me, * Saul Saul / why persecutest thou me? And I answered: what arte thou Lorde? And he sayde to me: I am Iesus of Nazareth whom thou persecutest. And they that were wt me / sawe verely a lyghte and were afrayde: but they hearde not ꝑ voyce of him ꝑ spake with me. And I sayde. what shall I do Lorde? And the Lord sayd vnto me: Aryse & go in to Damasco and there it shalbe tolde the of all thinges which are apoynted for the to do. And when I sawe nothing for ꝑ brightnes of ꝑ lyght / I was ledde by the hande of them that were with me / and came into Damasco.

And one Ananias a perfect mã / & as pertaynynge to the lawe hauynge good reporte of all the Iewes which there dwelt / cam vnto me / and stode and sayde vnto me: Brother Saul / looke vp. And ꝑ same houre I receaued my syght and sawe him. And he sayd / the God of oure fathers hath ordeyned ꝑ before / ꝑ thou shuldest knowe his will / & shuldest se that which is ryghtfull / & shuldest heare the voyce of hys mouthe: for thou shalt be hys wytnes vnto all men of those thyngs / which thou hast sene and hearde. And now: why tarriest thou? Aryse and be baptised / and wesshe awaye thy synnes / in callynge on the name of the Lorde. And it fortuned / when I was come agayne to Ierusalem & prayde in the tẽple / that I was in a traunce / and sawe him sayīg vnto me. Make haste / & get ꝑ quyckly out of Ierusalem: for they will not receaue thy wytnes that thou bearest of me. And I sayde: Lord they knowe that I prysoned / and bet in euery synagoge thẽ ꝑ beleued on the. And when the blood of thy wytnes Steuen was shed, I also stode by / & consented vnto his deeth & kept the raymẽt of thẽ that slewe him. And he sayd vnto me: departe / for I will sende the afarre hence vnto the Gentyls.

They gaue him audiẽce vnto this worde / and then lyfte vp their voyces & sayd: away with soche a felowe from the erth: it is pytie that he shuld lyue. And as they cryed & cast of their clothes / and threw dust into the ayer / the captayne bad him to be brought into the castle / & cõmaunded him to be scourged / & to be examined / that he myght know wherfore they cryed on hym. And as they bounde hym wtth thonges / Paul sayde vnto ꝑ Centurion that stode by: Is it lawfull for you to scourge a man that is a Romayn and vncõdempned?

When

When the Centurion heard that / he went/ and tolde the vpper Captayne sayinge: What intēdest thou to do? This mā is a Romayn.

Then the vpper Captayne cam/ & sayd to him: tell me, art thou a Romayne? He sayd: Ye. And the captayne answered: with a great some obtayned I this fredō. And Paul sayde: I was fre borne. Then strayght waye departed from him/ they which shulde haue examined hym. And the hye Captayne also was afrayde/ after he knewe that he was a Romayne: because he had bounde him.

On the morowe because he wolde haue knowen the certaynte wherfore he was accused of the Iewes, he lowsed him from hys bondes, and commaunded the hye Prestes & all the counsell to come together/ & brought Paul and set him before them.

¶ Paul commeth before the councell. Debate aryseth amōge the people, the Captayne delyvereth him, God comforteth hym.

¶ The .xxiij. Chapter.

A Iosu.xij.b.

PAul beheldе the councell and sayd: men and brethren/ I haue lyued in all good cōscience before God* vntyll this daye. The hye prest Ananias cōmaunded thē that stode by / to smyte him on the mouth. Then sayde Paul to hym: God smyte the thou paynted wall. Sittest thou and iudgest me after the lawe: and commaundest me to be smytten contrary to the lawe? And they that stode by sayde: revilest thou Goddes hye Preste? Then sayde Paul: I wist not brethren ý he was the hye preste. For it is wrytte:* thou shalt not curse the ruler of thy people. Exod.xxij.d.

B When Paul perceaued that the one parte were Saduces/ and the other Pharises: he cryed out in the councell. Men and brethē/ *I am a Pharisaye/ & sonne of a Pharisaye. Of the hope and resurrection from deeth / I am Iudged. And when he had so sayde / ther arose a debate betwene the Pharisayes & the Saduces and the multitude was deuyded. Philip.iij.a. Math.xxij.c. *For the Saduces saye that ther is no resurrectiō/ nether angell/ nor spyrit. But ý Pharisayes graunt bothe. And ther arose a great crye/ and the Scribes which were of ý Pharisayes parte/ arose and stroue sayinge: we fynde none euyll in this mā. Though a spyrite or an angell hath spered to hym/ lett vs not fyght agaynst God.

C And when ther arose greate debate / the captayne fearyng lest Paul shuld haue bene pluckt a sonder of them / cōmaunded ý souldiers to go doune/ & to take him frō amonge them and to bryng hym into the castell. The nyght folowyng / God stode by him & sayde: be of good cheare Paul: for as thou hast testified of me in Ierusalem/ so must thou beare wytnes at Rome. When daye was come/ certayne of the Iewes gathered them selues together, and made a vowe/ sayinge / that they wolde nether eate nor dryncke tyll they had kylled Paul. They were about .xl. which had made this conspiracion. And they came to ý chefe Preste and elders/ and sayde: we haue bounde oure selues with a vowe/ ý we wyll eate nothynge vntyll we haue slayne Paul. D Now therfore geue ye knowledge to the vpper captayne & to the councell/ that he bryng him forth vnto vs to morow / as though we wolde knowe some thynge more perfectly of him. But we (or euer he come neare) are redy in the meane season to kyll him.

When Pauls systers sonne herde of their layinge awayte, he went and entred into the castle/ and tolde Paul. And Paul called one of the vnder captaynes vnto him/ and sayde: bryng this younge man vnto the hye Captayne: for he hath a certayne thyng to shewe him. And he tooke him and sayde: Paul ý presoner called me vnto him/ and prayed me to bryng this younge man vnto the / which hath a certayne matter to shewe the.

The hye captayne toke him by the hand & E went a parte with him oute of the waye: and asked him: what hast thou to saye vnto me? And he sayde: the Iewes are determyned to desyre the ý thou woldest bringe forth Paul to morowe into the councell/ as though they wolde enquire somewhat of him more perfectly. But folowe not their myndes: for ther lye in wayte for him of thē more then .xl. men/ which haue bounde them selues w a vowe/ that they wyll nether eate ner dryncke tyll they haue killed him. And now are they redy/ and loke for thy promes.

The vpper captayne let the younge man departe & charged hym: se thou tell it out to no man ý thou hast shewed these thynges to me. And he called vnto him two vnder Captaynes sayinge: make redy two hundred soudiers to go to Cesarea & horsmen threscore & ten/ & speare men two hundred/ at the thirde houre of the nyght. And delyure thē beastes that they maye put Paul on, and bringe him safe vnto Felix the hye debyte / and wrote a letter in this maner. F

Claudius Lysias vnto the most myghty rular Felix/ sendeth gretyng. This mā was take of the Iewes/ & shuld haue bene kylled of thē. Then came I with soudiers & rescued him/ & perceaued that he was a Romayne. And when I wolde haue knowen the cause/ wherfore they accused him/ I brought hym forth into their councell. There perceaued I G ý he was accused of questions of their lawe: but was not gylty of eny thynge worthy of deeth or of bondes. Afterwarde when it was

Then the soudiers as it was cōmaunded thē/toke Paul/& brought him by nyghte to Antipatras. On the morowe they lefte ỹ horsmen to go with him/& returned vnto the castle. Whych when they came to Cesarea/ they delyuered the epistle to the debyte/& presented Paul before him. Whē the debyte had redde the letter/ he asked of what countre he was. And whē he vnderstode ỹ he was of Cicill/I will heare the (sayde he) whē thyne accusars are come also: & cōmaūded him to be kepte in Herodes pallys.

¶ Paul is accused before Felix/he answereth for him selfe.

¶ The.xxiiij.Chapter.

AFter fyue dayes/ Ananias the hye Preste descended/ wyth elders and wyth a certayne Oratour named Tartullus/ & enformed ỹ rular of Paul. When Paul was called forth/Tartullus begāne to accuse him saying: Seinge ỹ we lyue in great quietnes by ỹ meanes of ỹ/ & that many good thinges are done vnto this nacion thorowe thy prouidence: ỹ alowe we euer & in all places most myghty Felix wyth all thanckes. Then Paul (after that the rulat hym selfe had beckened vnto him that he shuld speake) answered: I shall with a moare quiet mynde answere for my selfe/ for as moche as I vnderstande that thou hast bene of many yeres a iudge vnto this people/ because that thou

But this I confesse vnto the/that after ỹ waye, which they call heresy/ so worshippe I the God of my fathers/ beleuinge all thynges which are writtē in the lawe & ỹ Prophetes & haue hope towardes God/that the same resurreccion of the deed (which they thē selues loke for also) shalbe/ both of iust and vniust. And therfore study I to haue a cleare conscience towarde God/ & toward mā also.

But after many yerrs I came & brought almes to my peple & offeringes in the which they founde me purified in ỹ temple/nether with multitude/nor yet wt vnquietnes/ howbeit there were certayne Jewes out of Asia/ which ought to be here present before the/ & accuse me/ yf they had ought agaynst me: or

And Felix willyng to shew the Jewes a pleasure/ lefte Paul in prison bounde.

¶ The Jewes accuse Paule before Festus/he appeleth vnto the Emperoure/and is sent vnto Rome.

¶ The.xxv.Chapter.

NOw Festus was come into ỹ prouince after thre dayes, he ascended A from Cesarea vnto Jerusalē. Then enformed hym the hye Prestes and the chefe of the Jewes of Paul. And they besought him & desyred fauour agaynst hym/ that he wolde sende for him to Jerusalem: & layde awayte for him in ỹ waye/to kyll him. Festus answered that Paul shulde be kept at Cesarea: but that he hym selfe wolde shortly departe thyther. Let them therfore (sayde he) whych amonge you are able to do it/ come doune with vs and accuse hym, yf ther be eny faute in the man.

When

When he had taryed there moare then ten dayes, he departed vnto Cesarea, & the nexte daye sate doune in the iudgement seate, & cõmaunded Paul to be brought. When he was come, the Iewes which were come frõ Ierusalem, cam aboute hym and layde many and greueous cõplayntes agaynst Paul, whych they coulde not proue as longe as he answered for hym selfe, that he had nether agaynst ỹ lawe of the Iewes, nether agaynst the temple, nor yet agaynst Cesar offended eny thynge at all.

Festus wyllinge to do ỹ Iewes a pleasure answered Paul & sayde: wylt thou go to Ierusalem and there be iudged of these thinges before me? Then sayde Paul: I stande at Cesars iudgement seate, where I ought to be iudged. To the Iewes haue I no harme done, as thou very well knowest. If I haue hurte thẽ, or cõmytted eny thynge worthy of deeth I refuse not to dye. If none of these thinges are, where of they accuse me, no man ought to delyuer me to them. I appeale vnto Cesar Then spake festus with delyberacion, & answered. Thou hast appealed vnto Cesar: vnto Cesar shalt thou go.

After a certayne dayes, kynge Agrippa & Bernice came vnto Cesarea to salute Festus And whẽ they had bene there a good season, Festus rehersed Pauls cause vnto the kinge saying: ther is a certayne man left in prison of Felix, about whom when I came to Ierusalem the hye Prestes & elders of the Iewes enformed me, and desyred to haue iudgemẽt agaynst him. To whõ I answered: It is not the maner of ỹ Romayns to delyuer eny mã, that he shuld perisshe, before thathe which is accused, haue the accusars before hym, and haue lycence to answer for him selfe concernynge ỹ cryme layde agaynst him: when they were come hyther, without delaye on the morowe I sate to geue iudgemẽt, & cõmaunded the man to be brought forthe. Agaynst whõ whẽ ỹ accusers stode vp, they brought none accusacion of soche thynges as I supposed: but had certayne questions agaynst hym of their awne superstycion, and of one Iesus which was deed whome Paul affirmed to be alyue. And because I doubted of soche maner questions, I asked him whether he wolde go to Ierusalem, & there be iudged of these matters. Then when Paul had appealed to be kept vnto ỹ knowledge of Cesar, I cõmaũded him to be kept, tyll I myght send him to Cesar. Agrippa sayd vnto Festus: I wolde also heare the man my selfe. To morow (sayd he) thou shalt heare hym. And on the morowe when Agrippa was come and Bernice with greate pompe, & were entred into ỹ councell house with the captaynes & chefe men of the citie, at Festus commaundement Paul was brought forth. And Festus sayd: kynge Agrippa, & all men whych are heare present with vs: ye se this man about whom all the multitude of the Iewes haue bene with me, both at Ierusalem, and also here, cryinge that he ought not to lyue eny lenger. Yet founde I nothynge worthy of deeth that he had cõmitted. Neuertheles seynge that he hath appealed to Cesar, I haue determined to sende him Of whõ I haue no certayne thynge to write vnto my Lord. Wherfore I haue brought him vnto you, & specially vnto the, kynge Agrippa, ỹ after examinacion had, I myght haue sum what to wryte. For me thinckethe it vnreasonable, for to sende a prisoner, & not to shewe ỹ causes which are layde agaynst him

Kyng Agrippa heareth Paule, whithe telleth him his callynge from the begynnynge.

The xxvi. Chapter.

Agrippa sayd vnto Paul: thou arte permytted to speake for thy selfe. Then Paul stretched forth ỹ hãde, & answered for him selfe. I thinke my selfe happy kynge Agrippa, because I shall answere this daye before the, of all the thynges wherof I am accused of the Iewes namely because thou art experte in all customes and questions, which are amonge the Iewes. Wherfore I beseche the to heare me pacyently.

My lyuinge of a chylde, which was at ỹ fyrst amõge myne awne nacion at Ierusalẽ knowe all ỹ Iewes which knewe me frõ the begynninge, yf they wolde testifie it. For after the most straytest secte of oure laye, lyued I a Pharisaye. And now I stande & am iudged for the hope of the promes made of God vnto oure fathers: vnto whych promes oure xii trybes instantly seruynge God daye and nyght hope to come. For which hopes sake, kynge Agrippa, am I accused of the Iewes. Why shulde it be thought a thynge incredyble vnto you, that God shuld rayse agayne ỹ deed? I also verely thought in my selfe, that I ought to do many contrary thynges, clene agaynst ỹ name of Iesus of Nazareth: which thynge I also dyd in Ierusalem. Where many of the saynctes I shut vp in prison, & had receaued auctorite of the hye prestes. And whẽ they were put to deeth, I gaue the sentence. And I punisshed thẽ ofte in euery synagoge, and compelled thẽ to blaspheme: & was yet more mad vpon thẽ, & persecuted them, euẽ vnto straũge cities. About which thinges as I went to Damasco with auctorite & licẽce of the hye Prestes, euẽ at middaye (o kyng) I sawe in the waye a lyght from heauẽ, aboue the brightnes of ỹ sunne, shyne rounde about me and them which iorneyed with me.

When we were all fallen to the erthe/ I
Act. xx.a. and.xxvj.b. heaꝛde a voyce speakynge vnto me/& sayng in the Hebꝛue tonge: * Saul/ Saul/ why persecutest thou me? It is harde foꝛ the to kicke agaynst the pricke. And I sayde: Who arte thou Lo,de? And he sayde I am Jesus whom thou persecutest/ but ryse & stand vp on thy fete. Foꝛ I haue apered vnto the foꝛ this purpose/ to make the a minister & a witnes both of those thynges which thou hast sene/ & of those thynges in the which I will appere vnto the/ delyueringe the frō the people/ & frō the gentyls/ vnto which nowe I sende the/ to open their eyes/ that they nyght turne frō darcknes to lyght/ & from the power of Satan vnto God/ that they maye receaue foꝛgeuenes of synnes & inheritaunce amonge thē which are sanctified by fayth in me.

Wherfoꝛe kynge Agrippa/ I was not disobedient vnto the heauēly vision: but shewed fyrst vnto them of Damasco/ and at Jerusalem/ & thoꝛow out all the costes of Jewry/ & to the gētyls/ that they should repent/ & tourne to God/ & do therypght woꝛkes of repentaūce Foꝛ this cause the Jewes caught me in the tēple & went about to kyll me. Neuertheles I obtaynedhelpe of God & cōtynew vnto thys daye witnesinge bothe to small and to great sayng none other thynges/ then those which the pꝛophetes & Moses dyd saye should come/ that Christ should suffre and that he shulde be the fyrst that shulde ryse from deeth/ and shulde shewe lyght vnto the people/ & to the gentyls. As he thus answered foꝛ hym selfe: Festus sayde with a lowde voyce. Paul/ thou arte besydes thy selfe. Moche learninge hath made the mad. And Paul sayde: I am not mad/ most dere Festus: but speake the woꝛdes of trueth and sobernes. The kynge knoweth of these thinges/ before whome I spoke freely: nether thynke I that eny of these thynges are hydden from him Foꝛ this thinge was not done in a coꝛner. Kynge Agrippa beleuest thou the Pꝛophetes? I wote well thou beleuest. Agrippa sayde vnto Paul: Sumwhat thou bꝛyngest me in mynde foꝛ to be come a Christen. And Paul sayde: I wolde to God that not only thou: but also all that heare me to daye/ were/ not sumwhat only but altogether soche as I am/ except these bondes. And when he had thus spoken/ the kynge rose vp/ & the debite/ and Bernice/ and they that sate with them. And when they were gone aparte/ they talked betwene them selues sayinge: This man doeth nothyng worthy of deeth/ noꝛ of bondes Then sayde Agrippa vnto Festus: This mā mpght haue bene lowsed/ yf he had not appealed vnto Cesar.

Paul sayleth towarde Rome/ Julius the Captayne intreateth hym curteously/ at the last they suffreth shypwrake.

The.xxvii.Chapter.

When it was concluded that we shuld sayle into Italy/ they delyuered Paul & certayne other pꝛesoners vnto one named Julius, an vnder captayne of Cesars soudiars. And we entred into a ship of Adramicū/ & lowsed frō land/ apoynted to sayle by the costes of Asia/ one Aristarcus out of Macedonia/ of the contre of Thessalia/ beinge wt vs. And the nexte daye we came to Sidon. And Julius courteously entreated Paul/ & gaue him lyberte to go vnto hys frendes/ & to refresshe hym selfe. And frō thence lanched we/ & sayled harde by Cypers/ because the wyndes were contrarye. Then sayled we ouer the see of Cylicia/ and Pamphilia/ & cam to Myra a citie in Lycia.

And there the vndercaptayne foūde a shippe of Alexāder/ redy to sayle into Italy/ & put vs therin. And when we had sayled slowly many dayes/ & scace were come ouer agaynst Gnydon (because the wynde withstode vs) we sayled harde by the costes of Candy/ ouer agaynst Salmo/ & wt moche woꝛke sayled beyonde it/ & cam vnto a place called goodpooꝛte Nye wher vnto was a cytie called Lasea. When moche time was spēt & sayling was now ieopardeous/ because also that we had ouerlonge fasted/ Paul put thē in remembꝛaunce/ and sayde vnto thē. Syrs/ I perceaue that thys viage wilbe wt hurte & moche domage/ not of the ladynge & ship only: but also of oure lyues. Neuertheles the vnder captayne beleued the gouerner & the maister/ better then tho thynges which were spokē of Paul. And because the hauē was not cōmodius to wynter in/ many toke coūsell to departe thence/ yf by eny meanes they mpght attayne to Phenices & there to wynter/ whych is an hauen of Candy/ and seruth to the southwest & noꝛthwest wynde. When the south wynde blewe/ they supposynge to obtayne their purpose lowsed vnto Asson/ and sayled paste all Candy.

But anone after/ ther arose agaynst their purpose/ a flawe of wynde out of the noꝛtheest. And whē the ship was caught & could not resist the wynde. we let her go & dꝛaue with the wether. And we came vnto an yle named Clauda/ & had moche woꝛke to come by a bote/ which they toke vp & vsed helpe/ vndergerdinge the shippe/ fearinge lest we should haue fallē into Syrtes/ & we let doune a vessell & so were caryed. The nexte daye whē we were tossed wt an exceadinge tēpest/ they lightened the ship. & the thꝛde daye we cast out wt oure awne handes the tackilynge of the shippe. When at the last nether sunne noꝛ starre in many dayes appered & no small tēpest laye vpon vs/ all hope that we should be saued/ was then takē awaye. Then after longe abstynence/ Paul a * Lest we should haue fallen into Syrtes Syrtes are perlous sandy places in the see about the costes of Affrica of the nature of whirpooles.

stode forth in the myddes of them and sayde: Syrs ye shulde haue harkened to me / & not haue lowsed from Candy / nether to haue brought vnto vs this harme & losse. And now I exhorte you to be of of good chere. For ther shalbe no losse of eny mans lyfe amõge you / saue of & ship only. For ther stode by me this nyght the angell of God whose I am, & whõ I serue, saying: feare not Paul for thou must be brought before Cesar. And lo / God hath geuen vnto the all that sayle with the. Wherfore syrs be of good chere: for I beleue God / & it shalbe euẽ as it was tolde me. How be it we must be cast into a certayne ylonde.

But when the fourtenth nyght was come as we were caried in Adria about mydnyght / the shypmen demed that ther appered some countre vnto them: and sounded / and founde .xx. fedõs. And whẽ they had gone a lytell further, they sounded agayne / and founde .xv. fedoms Then fearynge lest they shuld haue fallẽ on some rocke / they cast .iiij. ancres out of the sterne / and wyshed for the daye. As the shypmen were about to flie out of the shyp / & had let doune & bote into the see / vnder a couloure as though they wolde haue cast ancres oute of the forshippe: Paul sayde vnto the vnder captayne and the Soudiers: except these abyde in & shyp ye cánot be safe. Then the Soudiers cut of the rope of the bote / and let it fall awaye.

And in the meane tyme betwyxt that and daye, Paul besought thẽ all to take meate / sayinge: this is the fourtenth daye & ye haue tarryed and contynued fastinge / receauynge nothing at all. Wherfore I praye you to take meate: for this no dout is for youre helth: for ther shall not an here fall from & heed of eny of you. And when he had thus spoken, he toke breed and gaue thanckes to God in presence of thẽ all, and brake it / and beganne to eate. Then were they all of good cheare / and they also toke meate. We were all together in the shyp / two hundred threscore & sixtene soules. And when they had eaten ynough they lyghtened & shyp / & cast out & wheate in to the see.

When it was daye / they knew not & lande but they spied a certayne hauen wt a bancke into the which they were mynded (yf it were possible) to thrust in the shyp. And when they had taken vp the ancres / they committed thẽ selues vnto the see / & lowsed & rudder bondes and hoysed vp the mayne sayle to the wynde & drue to lande. But they chaunced on a place / which had the see on bothe the sydes / & thrust in the shyp. And the fooze parte stucke fast & moued not but the hynder brake with the violence of the waues.

The Soudyars councell was to kyll the presoners / lest eny of thẽ / whẽ he had swomme out shulde fle awaye. But & vnder captayne wyllynge to saue Paul kept them from their purpose / and cõmaunded that they & coulde swyme shulde cast them selues fyrst into the see / and scape to lãd. And the other he cõmaunded to go / some on bordes / and some on broken peces of the shyp. And so it came to passe / that they came all safe to lande.

¶ The vyper hurteth not Pauls hande / he healeth Publius father / and preacheth Christ at Rome.

¶ The .xxviij. Chapter.

And when they were scaped / then they knewe that the yle was called Milete. And the people of & coũtre shewed vs no lytell kyndnes: for they kyndled a fyre & receaued vs euery one / because of the present rayne and because of & colde. And when Paul had gathered a bondell of styckes / and put them in to the fyre / there came a vyper out of the heet and kept on his hande. When the men of & countre sawe the wormne hange on hys hande / they sayde amonge them selues: this mã must nedes be a murtherer: whom (though he haue escaped the see) yet vengeaunce suffreth not to lyue. But he shoulke of the vermen into the fyre & felt no harme. How be it they wayted when he shulde haue swolne / or fallen doune deed sodenly. But after they had loked a greate whyle / and sawe no harme come to him, they chaunged their mynde / and sayde that he was a God.

In the same quarters the cheefe man of the yle whose name was Publius / had a lordshippe: the same receaued vs / and lodged vs thre dayes courteously. And it fortuned that the father of Publius laye sycke of a feuer and of a bludy flixe. To whom Paul entred in and prayde / and layde his handes on hym and healed hym. When this was done / other also which had dyseases in the yle / came and were healed. And they dyd vs great honoure. And when we departed / they laded vs with thynges necessary.

After thre monethes we departed in a shyp of Alexandry which had wyntred in the yle / whose badge was Castor & Pollux. And whẽ we came to Syracusa / we taried there thre dayes. And from thence we fet a compasse & came to Regium. And after one daye & south wynde blewe and we came the nexte daye to Putiolus where we founde brethren, & were desyred to tary with them seuẽ dayes and so came to Rome. And from thence / when the brethren hearde of vs they came agaynst vs to Appiforum & to the thre taueres. When Paul sawe them he thanked God & waxed bolde. And when he came to Rome the vnder Captayne delyuered & presoners to the cheefe captayne of the host: but Paul was suffred to a Castor and pollux. These in old tyme were estemed as Goddes: which yf they appeared bothe together were counted fauourable & louchyt to Mariners and suche as trauayled & seas: yf one after a nother / or but one alone / vnfortunate and cruell. The owner of the shippe carryed þ baage of them/ not wythoute great confydence therin tayne kyng that these men shulde þ ouer throwe his viages because he honoured them with þ carying therof.

dwell by hym selfe wyth one Soudyer that kept hym.

And it fortuned after thre dayes/ þ Paul called the chefe of the Iewes to gether. And when they were come/ he sayde vnto them. Men and brethren though I haue cõmytted nothinge agaynst þ people or lawes of oure fathers: yet was I deliuered prisoner from Ierusalem into the handes of the Romayns. Which when they had examined me/ wolde haue let me go, because they foũde no cause of deeth in me. But when the Iewes cryed cõtrary/ I was constrayned to appeale vnto Cesar: not because I had ought to accuse my people of. For thys cause haue I called for you, euen to se you/ and to speake wyth you: because þ for þ hope of Israel/ I am bounde with this chayne.

And they sayde vnto hym: We nether receaued lettres out of Iewry pertayninge vnto the/ nether came eny of the brethren that shewed or spake eny harme of the. But we wyll heare of þ what thou thinckest. For we haue hearde of this secte/ that euery where it is spoken agaynst. And when they had apoynted him a daye/ ther came many vnto him into his lodgyng. To whõ he expounded and testified the kyngdom of God/ and preached vnto them of Iesu: both out of the lawe of Moses and also out of the Prophetes, euẽ from mornynge to nyght. And some beleued the thynges which were spokẽ/ and some beleued not.

When they agreed not amonge thẽ selues they departed/ after that Paul had spoken one worde. Well spake þ holy ghost by Esay the Prophet vnto oure fathers, sayinge: *Go vnto this people & saye: With youre eares shall ye heare/ and shall not vnderstande: and with youre eyes shall ye se and not perceaue. Esaie.vi.c. Mathæi.xiii.b. Marci.iiii.b. Luc.viii.b. Johã.xij.c.

For the hert of this people is wexed grosse and their eares were thycke of hearyng/ and their eyes haue they closed: lest they shulde se with their eyes/ and heare with their eares/ and vnderstande with their hertes/ and shuld be conuerted/ and I shuld heale them. Be it knowen therfore vnto you/ that thys saluacyon of God is sent to the gentyls/ and they shall heare it. And when he had sayde that/ þ Iewes departed/ and had greate despycions amonge them selues. G

And Paul dwelt two yeres full in his lodgynge/ & receaued all that cam to him/ preachynge the kyngdome of God/ and teachynge those thynges which concerned the Lorde Iesus with all confydence/ vnforboden.

Here endeth the Actes of the Apostles.

The Prologe to the Epistle of Sayncte Ix.

Paul to the Romayns.

SO as moche as this Epistle is the principall & moost excellent part of the newe Testamente & moost pure Euangelion that is to saye glad tydinges and that we call Gospell and also a light and awaye in vnto the hole scripture I thinke it meete & ryghte that every Christen man not only knowe it by rote & wythout the booke: but also exercise him selfe therin euermore contynually as with the daily foode of the soule. No man verely can rede it to often or loke vpon it to well: for the more it is studyed the easier it is the more it is chewed & the pleasanter it is & the more grotesly it is searched the preciouser thynges & more full treasure of spirituall thynges fyndeth he therin.

I wyll therefore bestowe my labour & diligence (the rather this my small preface or prologe) to prepare awaye the rather vnto so farforth as God shall geue me grace that it may be the better vnderstonded of every man. For it hath bene hetherto craftely darckened with glosis & wonderfull dreames of Sophisters & no man coude skype out & entende & meanynge of it. Which neuertheles of it selfe is a bright lyghte & sufficient to geue lyght vnto all & scripture.

First we must marke diligently the maner of speakynge of the Apostel and aboue all thynge knowe what Paul meane by these wordes & the lawe Spirite Grace Fleshe Righteousnes Flesshe Spirite & suche lyke / or els vnder stonde thou it neuer so often thou shalt but loose thy laboure. This worde lawe maye not be vnderstande here after the comune maner & to vse Paules terme after the maner of men or after mans wyttes & thou wolde fayne the lawe here in this place were nothynge but lernynge which teacheth what ought to be done and what ought not to be done as it goeth with mannes lawe where & lawe is fulfylled without warde workes only though the hert be never so farre of But God iudgeth the grounde of the hert & the thoughtes & & secret mouynges of the mynde and therfore his lawe requyreth the grounde of the herte & loue from the botome therof / & is not content with the outwarde worke only: but requyreth those workes most of all which spynge not of loue from the grounde & lowe botome of the herte though they appere outward neuer so honest & good As Christ in his Gospell rebuketh the Pharises above all other & were open synners & called the ypocrites that is to saye dissemblers & painted sepulchres which pharises peraduenture semed as perteynynge to the outwarde dedes & workes of the lawe: per & Paul in the third Chapter of his Epistell vnto the Philippians confesseth of him selfe & as touchynge the lawe he was suche a one as no man coude complayne on & not with standyng was yet a murderer of the Christen persecuted the & to muche the more & he compelled the to blaspheme Christ & was all to gether meeke & ientle as inwardly which now fayne outward good workes are.

For this cause therefore Paul calleth all men sparcles because that no man kepeth the lawe from the grounde of the herte neither can kepe it though he appeare outward full of good workes.

For all men are naturally prouoked vnto euyll & hate the lawe: no lyke in oure selues vnlust & tediousnes to do good but lust & delectation to do euyll. Now where no free lust is to do good there the botome of the herte fulfylleth not the lawe & there no doute is all synne & wrath is deserued before God though there be neuer so great and ofte workes shewe & appearaunce of honeste thynges. For this cause concludeth Saynct Paul in the seconde Chapter that the Jewes are all synners & transgressours of the lawe though they make men beleue thorowe ypocrisy of outwarde workes how that they fulfyll the lawe and sayth that he only which doth the lawe is righteous before God meaninge therby that no man with outwarde workes fulfylleth the lawe.

How Paule vseth certen wordes in the diuinite vnderstande.

The lawe of God requyreth loue.

Thou sayth here to the Jewe teachest a man shalde not breake wedlocke & yet breakest wedlocke thy selfe wherin thou iudgest an other man therin condemnest thou thy selfe: for thou that iudgest doest euen the very same thynges which thou iudgest As though he wolde saye that thou spekest outwardly well in the workes of the lawe and iudgest them that synne not so. Thou teachest other men & seest a moote in an other mans eye but art not ware of the beame that is in thyne owne eye. For though thou kepe the lawe outwardly with workes for feare of rebuke shame & punyshemente other for loue of rewarde vauntage & vayne glory yet doest thou all without lust & loue towarde the lawe & hadest leuer a greate deale otherwyse do yf thou dorste not feare the lawe perwardly in thyne herte / thou woldest that there were no lawe no nayther God the auctor & begeter of the lawe yf it were possible: so paynefull it is vnto the. to haue thyne appetites refrayned & to be kepte doune. Wherfore then it is a playne conclusion / that thou fro the grounde and botome of thyne herte arte an enemye to the lawe what preuayleth it now that thou teachest an other man not to steale when thou thy selfe arte a thefe in thyne herte and outwardly woldest fayne steale yf thou durst / though that & outwarde dedes thyne not awaye be hyde with sothe ypocrites & dissimulers / but breake forth amonge euen as an euyll scabbe or a pocke cannot all waye be kept in with violence of medicine.

Thou teachest an other man but teachest not thy selfe ye thou woteste not what thou teachest for thou vnderstandest not the lawe aryght how that it cannot be fulfylled & iustified but with an vnfayned loue & affection to greatly it cannot be fulfylled with outward dedes & workes only. Moreouer & lawe encreaseth synne as he sayth in & seuen Chapter because that man is an enemye to the lawe for as muche as it requireth so many thynges clene contrarie to his nature whereof he is not able to fulfyll one poynte or tytle as the lawe requireth it. And therfore are we more prouoked and haue greater lust to breake it. For which cause sayth he in the seuenth Chapter / that the lawe is spirituall as though he wolde saye yf the lawe were fleshly & vnto mans doctrine it might be fulfylled / satisfyed and stylled with outwarde dedes. But nowe is the lawe goostly & no man fulfylleth it excepte he all that he doeth springe of loue fro the botome of the herte. Suche a newe herte & lusty courage vnto the lawe warde canst thou neuer come by of thyne owne strenght & enforcement but by the operacion & workynge of the spirite. For the spirite of God only maketh a man spirituall & lyke vnto the lawe so that now hereforth he doeth no thynge of feare or for iniuries sake or of vayne glorye but of a free herte & of inward lust. The lawe is spirituall & wolde be loued and fulfylled of a spirituall herte & therfore of necessite requyreth it the spirite that maketh a mannes herte free / & geueth hym lust and courage vnto the lawe warde. Where so be a spirite is not there remayneth synne grudgynge & hatered agaynst the lawe which lawe neuertheles is good ryghteous and holy.

The lawe encreaseth synne.

The spirite is required yet we can kepe & lawe.

Acquaynte thy selfe therfore with the maner of speakynge of the Apostel & let this now stycke fast in thyne herte / that it is not both the one to do dedes & workes of the lawe & to fulfyll the lawe. The worke of the lawe is whatsoeuer a man doeth or can do of his owne free wyll of his owne proper strenghte & enforcynge. Not withstondynge though there be neuer so greate workynge yet as longe as there remayneth in the herte vnlustfulnes grudgynge grefe & fayne lothsumnes & copulsion towarde the lawe so longe are all the workes vnprofytable lost & damnable in the lawe are fro the syght of God. This meaneth Paul in the thirde Chapter where he sayth by the dedes of the lawe shall no fleshe be iustified in the syghte of God. Here by perceaue thou that those sophisters are but dissemblers which teache a man how & must prepare him selfe to grace & to the fauore of God with good workes before he haue & spirite & true fayth of Christ. How can they prepare the selues vnto the fauoure of God to that which is good whe they the selues can do no good no cannot once thinke a good thought or consent to do good the deuyll pollutynge their hertes / myndes & thoughtes captyue at his pleasure, Can thou worcher please God thynkest thou/ which are done with grete payne & tediousnes vnto an vnpil wpll with a contrary & grudginge mynde? O holy sayncte Polsperus/how myghtely/ vnto the scripture of Paul dyddest thou confounde this verye/ about/ I trowe) a twelue hundred yeres go ouerthwp.

Polsperus.

To fulfyll the lawe what it is

To fulfyll the lawe to do the workes therof/ whatsoeuer the lawe commaundeth with lowe lust & inward affection & delectacion: and to yeue gods will frely wyllyngly & without compulcion of ye lawe/ euen as though there were no lawe at all. Suche lust & loue vnto the lawe cometh only by the worchynge of the spirite in the herte/ as he sayth in the.v. Chap. Loue is the spirite nowe otherwyse gete then by fayth only in ye we beleue the promyses of God/ with out wauerynge how that God is true and wyll fulfyll all his good promyses toward vs for Christes bloudes sake/ as it is playne in the.iy. & Chap. I am not ashamed sayth Paul of Christes gladde tydynges for it is the power of God vnto saluacion to as many as beleue. For attones & to gether euen as we beleue the glad tydynges preached to vs/ the holy ghost entreth into oure hertes & fowleth the bondes of the deuyll which before possessed oure hertes in captiuite & bryd them that we coulde haue no lust to the wyll of God in the lawe. And as the spirite commeth by fayth only euē so fayth cometh by hearynge the worde or glad tydinges of God when Christ is preached how that he is Goddes sonne & man also dyed and ryse agayne for/ oure sakes as he sayth in the.iii.iii.& x. Chapters. All oure rightwysnes then cometh of fayth & fayth and the spirite come of God & not of vs.

The spirite cometh by fayth.

Fayth cometh by hearyng the glad tydynges.

Why I saye fayth bringeth the spirite it is not to be vnderstande that fayth deserueth the spirite/ or ye the spirite is not present in vs before fayth. For the spirite is euer in vs & fayth is the gyfte & worchyng of the spirite. But thorow preachynge the spirite begynneth to worcher in vs. And as by preachynge the lawe he worcheth the feare of God/ so by preachyng the glad tydynges he worcheth fayth. And nowe when we beleue & are come vnder the couenaunt of God/ then are we sure of the spirite by the promise of God & then the spirite accompaneth fayth inseparablie & we beginne to feele his workynge. And so fayth certifyeth vs of the spirite & also bringeth the spirite wyth her vnto the worchyng of all other gyftes of grace & to the worchynge out of the rest of oure saluacion vntyll we haue all to gether ouercome synne death hell & Satan & are come vnto the euerlastyng lyfe of glorie. And for this cause saye we sayth bringeth ye spirite Here of cometh it that fayth onely iustifieth makyth ryghtwyse & fulfylleth the lawe for it bringeth the spirite thorow Christes deserynges the spirite bringeth lust vnto the herte maketh him feruently hote & geueth him strength to worke the dedes of the lawe with lowe/ as the lawe requyreth. Then at the last ouer of the same fayth so worchynge in the herte springe all good workes by there owne accorde. That meaneth he in the thirde Chapter/ after he hath cast awaye the workes of the lawe/ so ye he soundeth as though he wolde breake & dyssanull the lawe thorow fayth: he answereth to that myght be layde agaynst his saynge: we destroye not the lawe thorow fayth but maintayne further ouer/ yt is/ the lawe thorow fayth.

Fayth iustifyeth.

Workes springe of fayth.

Synne.

Synne in the scripture is not called that outwarde worke only cōmytted by the body but all the whole substance & whatsoeuer receyueth mouyth or goeth vnto the outwarde dede & that whether the workes springe as vnbeleefe/ pryde/ envye & rednes vnto the dede in the grounde of the herte with all the powers affections & appetites wherewith we can but synne. So that we saye that a man then synneth/ when he is caried awaye headlonge into synne all together as moche as he is of that poysen inclynacion & corrupte nature wherein he was conceyued & borne. For there is none outwarde synne cōmytted except a man be caried awaye all together vnto lyke soule herte body lust & mynde therunto. The scripture lyeth singularly vnto the herte & vnto the rote & originall fountayne of all synne/ which is vnbeleefe in the botome of the herte. For as fayth only iustifyeth & bringeth the spirite & lust vnto the outwarde good workes euē so vnbeleefe only damneth & hurteth onte the spirite prouoketh the fleshe & goeth vp lust vnto the euyll outwarde workes as happened to Adam and Euam Paradyse Genesis.iii.

Fayth is ye mayster of all good workes/ & vnbeleefe of euyll.

For this cause Christ calleth synne vnbeleefe & that notably in the.xvi. Chapter of sayncte John. The spirite sayth he shall rebuke the worlde of synne because they beleue not in me And John.viii. he sayth. I am ye lyght of ye worlde. And therfore in the.xii. of John he bydeth them whyle they haue lyght to beleue in the lyght/ that ye maye be the children of lyght for he that walketh in darckenes wotteth not whether he goeth. Now as Christ is the lyght so is the ignorance of Christ that darckenes whereof he speaketh in which he ye walketh wotteth not whyther he goeth that is he knoweth not how to worke a good worke in the syght of God or what a good worke is. And therfore in the.xi. he sayth as longe as I am in the worlde/ I am the lyght of the worlde but there cometh nyght whē no mā can worke/ which nyght is but ignorance of Christ in which no mā can se to do any worke that pleaseth God. And Paule honesteth ephesi.iiii. that they walke not as other hethen which are straūgers frō the lyfe of God thorow the ignorance that is in the. And agayne in the same Chapter. Put of sayth he/ the olde mā which is corrupte thorowe the lustes of errour/ that is to saye ignorance And Rom.xiii. Let vs cast awaye the dedes of darckenes that is to saye of ignorance & vnbeleefe. And.i. Petri.i. Fassion not youre selues vnto youre olde lustes of ignorāce. And.i. John.ii. He that loueth his brother abydeth in lyght and he that hateth his brother walketh in darckenes & wotteth not whither he goeth for darckenes hath blynded his eyes. By lyght he meaneth the knowledge of Christ & by darckenes/ the ignorāce of Christ. For it is impossible that he that knoweth Christ truly shulde hate his brother.

Furthermore/ peter wolde haue this thynge more clearly thou shalt vnderstande ye it is impossible to synne any synne at all except a mā breake the fyrst cōmaundemēt before. Now is the fyrst cōmaundemēt deuyded into two verses. Thy Lorde God is one God & thou shalt loue thy Lorde God with all thyne herte & all thy soule with all thy power and with all thy myght. And the whoale cause why I synne agaynst any inferioure precepte is ye this loue is not in myne herte for were this loue wrytten in my herte & were full & perfect in my soule it wold kepe myne herte frō consentynge vnto any synne. And the whoale & onely cause why this loue is not wrytten in oure hertes is that we beleue not ye fyrst parte that oure Lorde God is one God. For wyst I what these wordes one Lorde & one God meaneth that is to saye/ yf I vnderstode that he made all & ruleth all & ye whatsoeuer is done to me whether it be good or bad is per dys wyll & ye he only is the Lorde that ruleth & doth it & wist therto what thys worde/ myne meaneth that is to saye yf myne herte beleued & felte the infinite benefites & kyndedes of God to me warde & vnderstode & stedfastly beleued ye many folde couenauntes of mercye wherewith God hath bounde hym selfe to be myne wholye & all together with all hys power & loue mercye & myght/ then shuld I loue him with all myne herte soule power & myght and of that loue cume kepe his commaundementes. See ye now that as fayth is the mother of all goodnes & of all good workes so is vnbeleefe ye grounde & rote of all euyll & all euyll workes. Finally/ yf any mā hath forsake synne & is conuerted to put his trust in Christ and to kepe the lawe of God doth fall at a tyme the cause is/ that the fleshe thorow negligence hath choked the spirite & oppressed hys & taken from hys the fode of his strength with ye fode of hys meditacion in God & in hys wonderfull dedes & in the many folde couenauntes of hys mercye.

Wherfore then before all good workes as good frutes there must nedes be fayth in the herte whence they spring. And before all bad dedes as bad frutes there must be vnbeleefe in the herte as in the rote fountayne pith & strength of all synne. Which vnbeleefe & ignorance is called the hed of the serpēt & of the olde dragō which the womās seed Christ

muste treade vnder fote as it was promysed vnto Adam. Grace & gifte haue this differences. Grace properly is Goddes fauoure vnmoueable or kindnesse towarde vs, without desertynge of vs he beareth to vs whereby he was moued & enclined to geue Christ vnto vs & with all his other gyftes of grace. Gifte is the holy goost & his werkynge whan he poureth into the hertes of them on who he hath mercy & whom he fauoureth. Though the gyftes of the spirite entre in vs by degrees & haue not yet their full perfection, yet & though there remayne in vs yet temptacions, lustes and spirites fyghtynge ayenst the spirite as he sayth here in the .vij. Chapter & in the .v. to the Galathians & as it was spoken before in the .vij. chapter of Rome, of the debate betwene the woman sede & the sede of the serpent, yet neuertheles Goddes fauoure is so great & so stronge ouer vs for Christes sake & we are counted for full holy & perfecte before God. For Goddes fauoure towarde vs dyeth not by litle & litle encreasinge a lytell & a lytell as do the gyftes but reuiueth vs hole & all to gether in full loue so. Christes sake onely interceadynge and mediatynge & because that the giftes of the spirite and batayle betwene the spirite and carnalnesse are begonne in vs all ready.

Of this now vnderstandest thou the .vij. Chapter where Paul accuseth him selfe as a synner & yet in the .viij. chap. sayeth there is no damnacion to them that are in Christ & that because of the spirite and because the gyftes of the spirite are begonne in vs. Synners we are because the fleshe is not full kylled and mortified. Neuertheles in as moche as we beleue in Christ & haue the ernest & beginninge of the spirite & would fayne be perfecte, Goddes fauoure & fauoure is vnto vs & he wil not lay on vs the synne neither will count it as synne but weareth vs according to oure beleue in Christ & according to his promyses which he hath sworne to vs vntyll the synne be full slayne & mortified vp dethe.

Faith is not mans opinion & dreame as some imagin & fayne whe they heare the Worde of the Gospell which whe they se that there folowe no good workes nor mendemet of liuynge, though they beare & yet cal vnto many dayes of faith then they fall from the right waye & saye faith only sufficieth vnto iustificacion & saluacion & what soeuer he wille righteousnesse & life. The cause is when they heare the Gospell or glad tydynges they fayne of their awne strength certayne imaginacions & thoughtes in their hertes sayynge I beleue the Gospell I remember the Worde to I beleue. And that they count a liuely faith which notwithstandynge as it is but mans imaginacion & fayninge cannot profite nor neither folowe there any good workes or mendemet of liuynge. But right faith is a thinge wrought by the holy ghost in vs which chaungeth vs & turneth vs in to a newe nature & begetteth vs a newe men & maketh vs the children of God as thou redest in the .j. of John & kylleth the olde Adã and maketh vs all to gether newe in the hertes mynd will & in all oure affections & powers of the soule the holy ghost euer accompanynge his & enlargynge & herte. Faith is a lyuely thinge mighty in operatinge valiaunte & stronge euer doinge euer fruitfull so that it is impossible that he which is endued therewith can not but worke all wayes good workes without ceasinge. He asketh not whether good workes are to be done or not but hath done them ere the occasion be made of them & is all waye doinge for loue is his nature: nether doth he cease in his hertes & lyuely mouynge of the spirite & ere him therevnto. Wherfore he that forbeareth good workes & is an vnbeleuynge person & faithles & goeth about gropinge after faith & good workes & wotteth not what faith or good workes meane though he babbell neuer so many thinges of faith & good workes.

Faith what it is.

Faith is then a lyuely & stedfast trust in the fauoure of God wherwith we stomppe oure selues all to gether vnto God & that trust & is surely grounded & stedeth so fast in oure hertes that a man wolde not once doute of it though he shulde dye a thousand dethes therfore. And suche trust wrought by the holy goost through faith maketh a man glad lusty cheerfull & true harted vnto God & to all creatures. By the meanes where of willingly & without compulsion he is gladde & redy to do good vnto euery man to do seruice vnto euery man to suffre all thinges that God may be loued & praysed which hath geuen him such grace, so that it is impossible to seperate good workes fro faith euen as it is impossible to seperate hete & burninge fro fyre. Therfore take hede to thy selfe & beware of thyne awne fantasyes & imaginacions which to iudge of faith & good workes will serue whan vnderstode they are but the blindnesse of all thynges most folysshe. Desire God that he wil worke faith in thyne herte or elles whatsoeuer thou remayne euermore captiue & in vnbeleef, thou fynysshest thou enforcest thou wourkest with thy selfe & do what thou wilte or canst.

Righteousnes is euen with faith & is called Goddes righteousnesse or righteousnes that is of valoure before God. For it is Goddes gyfte & he alereth a man & chaungeth him to a newe spirituall nature & maketh him free & louer all to perfectly a man his owne. For whosoeuer faith is a man purged of his synnes and ouercometh lust vnto the lawe of God wherby he geueth God his honoure & praise him that he oweth him & vnto al he doeth seruis willingly where with soeuer he can & may therby euery man his dutie. Such righteousnes can nature frewyll & owne awne strength neuer bringe to passe. For as no man can geue him selfe faith so can he not take awaye vnbeleef how then can he take awaye enything at all. Wherfore all is false hypocrisy & synne whatsoeuer is done without faith & in vnbeleef as it is euident in the .xiiij. Chapter vnto the Romayns though it appere neuer so glorious & beauty all outwardes.

Faith is righteousnes.

Flesshe & spirite maiste thou not here vnderstand as though flesshe were only that which pertayneth vnto vnchastite & the spirite that which inwardly pertayneth to the herte, but Paul calleth flesshe here as Christ doth John in. iij. All that is borne of flesshe & is to wete the whole man with his soule body witte wyll reason & whatsoeuer here is both within & without, because that these all & all that is in man lusteth after the worlde and the fleshe. All flesshe therfor whatsoeuer (as longe as we are with out the spirite of God) we thynke or speake of God of faith of good workes & of spirituall matters. Call flesshe also all workes which are done without grace & without the inwardnesse of the spirite how soeuer good holy & spirituall they seme to be as thou mayst proue by the .v. Chapter vnto the Galathians where Paul nameth worshippynge of pictures witchecraft envy & hate amonge the workes of the flesshe & by the .vij. vnto the Romayns where he sayth that the lawe by the reason of the flesshe is weke. Whych is not vnderstode of vnchastite only but of all synnes & most specially of vnbeleef which is a spice most spyrituall & ground of all synnes.

Flesshe what it is.

And as thou callest him which is not renewed with the spirite & borne a fresshe in Christ flesshe, all his workes and the very motyons of his hert & mynd his learninge doctrine & contemplacion of the thynges his preachynge teachynge & studyinge scripture byldynge of churches foundynge of abbayes gruppe of almes make mayntenance & what soeuer he doeth though it seme spirituall & after the lawes of God: so contrary wyse call him spirituall which is renewed in Christ & all his dedes which springe of faith seme they neuer so grose as the washynge of the disciples fete done by Christ and Peters fyldynge after the resurrection & all the dedes of matrymony are pure spirituall yet they proceade of faith and what soeuer is done with in the lawes of God though it be wrought by the body as the very wynnynge of the wordes & sacramentes how soeuer grose they appere outwarde. Without such vnderstandynge of these wordes canst thou neuer vnderstande this epistle of Paul nether any other place in the holy scripture. Take hede therfore for whosoeuer vnderstandeth these wordes other wyse the same vnderstandeth not Paul what soeuer he be. Now wil we prepare oure selues vnto the epistle.

For as moche as it becommeth the preacher of Christes glad tydynges first throughoutly to rebuke all thynges & to proue all thynges synne that proceade not of the spirite & of faith in Christ & to proue all men synners & chyldren of wrath by inheritaunce and how that to synne is their nature, and that by nature they cannot otherwyse do them to spare and therwith to wynne the people of man and to bringe him vnto the knowledge of himselfe & to mysterye & wretchednes that ar in hi, but helpe Even so doth saynt Paul and beginneth in the fyft Chapter to reuoke vnbeliefe & gross spirites wyth all menne as polytayne and as the grose spirites of the hethen were and as the spirites now rule of all the wch lye in wayte to ante without fayth and without the knowre of God: & wyth The wrath of God of heauen appeareth thorow the Gospell vpon all men for their vngodlynes & vnrighteousnesse. For though that knowledge of his power/ that he hath put in the creatures that there is but one God yet the nature of hys selfe without the spirite & grace is so corrupte & so poysoned that men neither can thanke him/ nether geue him his due honour/but blind the selues & fall with out ceasinge in to worse case/vntil they come vnto vnnaturall poynte of synnes & wickednesse of the vnclene spirites which are abhominable & agaynst nature & make ouer sufferthe same vnderstanded other hauinge delectation & pleasure therin. In the v. Chapter. he proceadeth further and reproueth all thole holy people and wyth with out lasse & loue to the lawe spue well out wardly in the face of ye worlde & condempne other giuyng as the nature of all ypocrites is to thinke the selues pure in respecte of open synners & yet haue the lawe in worke & are full of coueteousnesse & enuye & of all vncleanes Mat. xxiij. These are they which despise the goodnes of God & according to the hardenes of their hertes hepe to gether for the selues the wrath of God. Furthermore sayth Paul as a true expounder of the lawe suffereth no man to be with out synne but declareth yt all they are vnder synne wch of frewill and of nature will lyue well & suffereth them not to be better then the ope synners ye he calleth them harde hearted and such as cannot repente In the iij Chapter he mynegleth both to gether both the Jewes & the gentyles & sayth that there is as the other both synners & no differences between the saue in this only/ that the Jewes had the worde of God committed vnto them. And though many of them beleued not therin yet is God ryghteous & true & performeth his promyses wherby he taryeth to vs wyth & alleageth the exaumple of the. I Psal. that God might alwaye ouercome when he is iudged. After that he returneth to his purpose & proueth by the scripture that all men without difference or exception are synners & that by the workes of ye lawe no man is iustifyed but that the lawe was geuen vs to vtter & to declare vp the only. The he begynneth & proueth the ryghteousnesse by what meanes we are made ryghteous & sayth. They are all synners & wanting the prayse before God & must without their awne deserynge be made ryghteous thorow fayth in Christ which hath ordeyned Gods ryghteousnesse & is become vnto vs Gods mercyfull seate for the remissyon of synnes that are past thereby promysed & ryghteousnesse & which cometh on vs thorow fayth helpeth vs vp. Which ryghteousnesse is proued to be without the lawe thorow the Gospell & was testifyed of before by the lawe & the Prophetes Furthermore sayth he, that circumcision was helpe & so were to thorow fayth though that the workes therof with all their bodely & outward ryghteousnesse ought to nothing auayle vs but to helpe.

Second Chapter.

Third chapter

The lawe iustifieth not but vttereth synne and condemneth.

Fourthe chapter.

In the iiij. Chapter after that now by the iij Chapters the synnes are opened & the wrath of God vnto ryghteousnesse layde) he goeth forth to answere vnto certayne obiections and cauillations. And first he putteth forth those blind reasons/which commonly they whose iustifyed vp their awne workes are wont to make/ that they heare & fayth only iustifieth/ what needeth a man to do good workes? & putteth forth therfore Abraham for an ensample sayinge what dyd Abraham wyth his workes & was he iustifyed by his workes to or no? And so concludeth that Abraham with out and before all workes was iustifyed & made ryghteous. In so much that before the worke of circumcision he was prayed of & scripture & counted ryghteous is by his fayth only & Gene. xv. So that he dyd not the worke of circumcision for to be holpe thereby vnto ryghteousnesse which yet God commaunded him to do & was a good worke of obedyence. So in like wyse no outward workes helpe any thinge at all vnto a mans iustifyinge but as Abrahams circumcision was an outward signe whereby he declared his ryghteousnesse which he had by fayth & his obedience & profyte vnto the wyll of God. so are all other good workes outewrd signes & outward frutes of fayth & of the spirite/which must be not a mans iustifyed in ryghteousnesse before God inwardly in the hert thorow fayth & thorow the spirite purchased by Christ & bloud & ere we know & feele yt. Paul hys doctrine of fayth more rehersed in the. iij Chap. and bringeth also testimony of Dauid in the xxxij Psal. which calleth a man blessed not of workes but in that his synne is not reckened and in that fayth is imputed for ryghteousnesse though he abyde not afterward. wythout good workes/ when he is once iustifyed. For we are iustifyed because the spirite is to do good workes neither were it other wyse possyble to do good workes/except we had fyrst the spirite.

Outward workes & deedes of fayth.

Abrahā is he yt hath vnsynned forgeuen vpon.

For how is it possyble to do any thinge well in the sight of God whyle we are yet in captiuite & bondage vnder the deuyll & the deuyll possesseth vs all to gether & bewitcheth oure hertes so that we cā not once consent vnto the wyll of God. No man therfore can preuent the spirite in doinge good but the spirite must fyrst come & wash him out of hys sinne & with the thunder of the lawe feare him & shew him his miserable estate & wretchednesse & make him abhorre & hate himselfe & to despyre hymself & then cōforte him & bringe with the pleasant tydinges of the Gospell that is to saye/ the swete promyses of God in Christ & stere vp fayth in him to beleue the promyses. Then when he beleueth ye promyses & se God was merciefull to promyse so vnworthy to fulfyll them & will geue him the spirite & strength both to loue & worke the will of God & to worke all ever after. So se we that God only which according to the scripture worketh all in all thinges worketh in vs iustifyinge saluacion & health yee & powreth fayth & belefe into vs to loue Goddes wyll/ & strength to fulfyll the same into vs euen as water is powred into a vessell & that of his good will & purpose & not of oure desertinges & merytes. Goddes mercy in promysinge/ & truth in fulfyllinge his promyses causeth vs & not we oure selues. And therfore is all laude prayse & glory to be geuen vnto God for his mercy & truth & not vnto vs for oure merytes & deservinges. After that he stretcheth his ensample out agaynst all other good workes of ye lawe/ & concludeth that the Jewes cannot be Abrahās heyres because of bloud & kinred only/ & much lesse by the workes of the lawe. but must inherit Abrahās fayth yf they will be the right heyres of Abraham for as much as Abraham before the lawe both of Moses and also of circumcision/was thorow fayth made ryghteous & called the father of all them that beleue & not of them that worke. Moreouer the lawe causeth wrath in as much as no man can fulfyll it wyth loue & lust. And as longe as such grudginge hate & indignacion agaynst the lawe remayneth in the hertes is not taken awaye by the spirite that cōmeth by fayth so longe no doute the workes of the lawe declare euidently that the wrath of God is vpon vs & not fauoure. Wherfore fayth only receyueth the grace promysed vnto Abraham. And these ensamples were not written for Abrahās sake only sayth he but for oures also to whom yf we beleue/fayth shall be reckened ryghteousnesse as he sayth in the ende of the Chapter.

The.v.chapter

In the.v. Chapter he cōmendeth the frutes & workes of fayth/as are peace/reioysinge in the conscience/inwarde loue to God & man moreouer boldnes trust/confidence & stronge & lusty mynde & stedfaste hope in tribulacyon & sufferynge. For all such fele & fynde where the ryght fayth is/for the aboundante greates sake and gyftes of the spirite/ which God hath geuen vs in Jesu Christe in that he gaue him to dye for vs yet his enymyes. Now haue we then that fayth only before all workes iustifyeth/ & that it followeth not yet therfore that a man shulde do no good workes. but that the is to saye good workes. ? wise order is that good workes springe of the spirite the spirite cōmeth by fayth / fayth cōmeth by hearinge the worde of God when the gladsome promyses which God hath made to vs in Christe are preached truly / receaued in ? grounde of ? harte vtterly wauueringe or doutinge after that the lawe hath passed vpō vs / hath daunted our consciences. Where ? worde of God is preached purely / receaued in the herte there is fayth / ?

spirite of God / there are also good workes of necessite. Where false corrupte occasions are geuē: where goddis worde is not purely preached but menisedeuised traditions ymaginacions inuencions ceremonyes / superstacion there is no fayth / consequently no spirite that cometh of God. And where Goddis spirite is not there cā be no good workes euē as where an appell tree is not there can growe no appell but there is vnclenesse the frutes spirite / carnall workes. Of this Goddis spirite / his frutes have oure holy prophetes not once but ofte tymes / neither yet tasted how swete they are though they saye many good workes of their awne ymaginacions to be mingled with all in which is not one crome of true fayth of spirituall loue / of inwarde hope peace / quietnes of conscience for as moche as they have not the worde of God for them that suche workes please God but they are called the rotten frutes of a corrupte tree.

After that he hath declared / rehearsed at large / ? worth whence both sinne / vnrighteousnes death / ? lyke come.

as carnally Adam made vs by ? deserte of ? sinne / ? corrupte / ? bodely generacion without oure deservinge. Wherby is euydently knowen / proued to the vttermost that no man can synge hym selfe out of synne vnto righteousnes no more then he could make hym selfe vnder that he was borne bodely. And that is proued herewith for as muche as the very lawe of God which of ryght should have holpen / ? amended / ? brought no helpe

/ the more we is forbydden by the lawe / ? more is he prouoked and set a fyre to fulfyll and satisfye hys lustes. Wherby the law we then we is clerely / ? that we muste nedes have Christ to justifye vs with hys grace and to helpe vs ouer.

In the .vi. he setteth forth the chefe / principall workes of fayth / the baptyme of the spirite ageynst the tenth / how the

This thinge / I meane to cause the people to forth / are able to do / (sayth he) seynge we are vnder grace and not we have promy vnder the lawe what it is not to be vnder the lawe he him selfe expounded. For not to be vnder the lawe is not to sed to mortifye greter & amoare myghty thinge then the lawe to make him ryghteous & iuste. They that vnderstande not the lawe on this wyse are blinde & go to worke presumptuously & oppositige to satisfye the lawe with workes. For they knowe not that the lawe requyreth a free a willinge a lusty & a louynge herte. Therfore they se not Moses ryght in the face/the vayle hangeth betwene & hydeth his face so that they cannot beholde the glorye of his countenaunce how & the lawe is spirituall & requireth the hert. I maye of myne awne strength refrayne that I do myne enemye no hurte/ but to loue him with all myne herte & to put awaye wrathe clene out of my mynde/ can I not of myne awne strength I maye refuse mony of myne awne stronght but to put awaye loue vnto riches oute of myne herte can I not do of my re awne stronght To absteine frō aduultery as cōcernynge the vtterwarde dede can I do of myne awne strength/ but not to desyre in myne hert is an vnpossible vnto me as is to chose whether I will hongre or thurst & yet so ꝑ lawe requireth. Therfore of a mās awne strength is the lawe neuer fulfylled we must have therunto goddis fauour & his spirite purchased vs by Christes blonde Neuertheles when I sye a man maye do many thinges outerwardly clene ageynst his herte we must vnderstande that man is but drawen of diuers appetites & the greatest appetite ouercommeth the leste & carryeth the man awaye violently with hym. As when I desyre vengeaunce & feare also the inconuenience that is ꝑfect to folowe ꝑ feare be greatter I absteine ꝑ the appetite & desyreth vengeaunce be greter I cānot but prosecute ꝑ same as we se by experience in many murtherers & theues wo yf they be brought into neuer so great perell of deeth yet after they have escaped do turen the same agayne. Euē so men wer & persecute their lustes because feare & shame are awaye whē other whych have the same appetites in their hertes absteine ꝑ feare awaye be wo/ or we se gredily hunger ouercome of feare and of shame and so lyth wyse is it of all other appetites.

Flesshe & spirite fyght to gether.

The.vij.chap.

The.xvij.xviij. chapters.

Thys boke thou myght vnderstande.

The.xij. Chapter.

The.xiij Chapter.

Loue is the fulfylynge of the Lawe.

Furthermore must a man be diligent to know the spirite & the flesshe fyghte together in one man and maketh an ensample of hymselfe that we myght learne to know how to woorke ryghte I meane to fulfylle oure lustes. He calleth both the spirite & flesshe a lawe because that lyke as the nature of Goddes lawe is to ꝑsuade to cōpell & to crauecruē lye so doeth cōpelleth crauyth & fyghteth ageynst the spirite & will have her lustes satisfyed. On ꝑ other syde ꝑ flesshe is present & fyghteth ageynst the herte & will have his lustes satisfyed. And this fyght dureth in vs as longe as we ꝑ same are in some measure as the spirite or the flesshe is stronger & the verye man hym awne selfe is eyther the spirite or flesshe which fyghteth with his awne selfe vnto fulfylynge of eyther & we all together spirituall Iewes & Gentyles wote & knowe ꝑ experience how that the spirite fyghteth with vs & we with it. And he expounderth more largely what the nature of the flesshe & of the spirite is & how the spirite cōmeth by Christ which spirite maketh vs spirituall & mortifyeth the flesshe & certifyeth vs that we are neuertheles the sonnes of God & also heires though that spirite neuer so moche in vs so longe as we folowe the spirite & fyghte ageynst flesshe to kyll & mortifie it. And he sayeth that no thinge is so good to the mortifyenge of the flesshe as the crosse & tribulacion he cōforteth vs therfore ꝑ ꝑsecucions & aduersities ꝑ are cōmen vpō vs by the aduersaries of the spirite worcy make vs intercession to God for vs myghtely with groanynges that passe mās vnderstaunce so that mans spirite cānot cōprehende them & with the mournynge & sobbynge creatures wyth be of good comforte that they have that we were lowsed frō sinne & corrupcio of the flesshe. And be that these chapters the viij. ix. do none other thynge so moche as to ꝑsuade vs vnto the ryght worke of faith which is to kyll the olde man and mortifye the flesshe. In the xij. xiij. chapters he treateth of Goddes ꝑdestinacio whereunto springeth all together whether we shall beleve or not beleve be lowsed frō sinne or not be lowsed. By which predestinacio oure multiplyinge & saluacio are clene take out of oure handes & put in the handes of God only worthy thinges is moste needfull of all. For we are so weake & so vnstedfast in vs there wolde of a truth no man be saved for ever I no doute wolde deceave vs. But now is God sure that his ꝑdestinacio cannot deceave hym selfe. Satan nyght wolde ouercome ther of God meaneth mās labre to teache her to do hyr dutie. And as in ꝑgenatyng he dyd put forth Christ as the cause & auctor of oure ryghteweines & saluacyon euen so here setteth he hym forth as an exaumple to counterfaite, that as he hath done to vs euen so shulde we done one to another.

In the.xiiij. Chap. he teacheth to deale soberly wt the consciences of the weke in the faith which vnderstād not yet the liberte of Christ perfectly enough & to saue the of Christe sake & not to vse ꝑ liberte of ꝑ faith vnto hynd aunce but vnto the further ꝑfectyng of the same. For where soeuer this cōsideracō is not there folowyth debate & despising of the Gospell. It is better therfore to forbeare ꝑ weake a whyle vntill they ware stronge then that the learnynge of the Gospell shulde come vnto further hate. And soeuer we be in the synguler we be of one & where so ever perfectnes is there must nedes be sufferaūce & respect vnto the weake a thinge ꝑ Christ cōmaūded & charged to be had aboue all thinges.

In ꝑ.xv. Chap. he setteth forth Christ vnto vs to be followed & we also by his exaumple shuld suffer other that are yet weake as the that are frō the apostles vnlearned vnperfect & of lothsome maners & not to cast them in wt forth with but to suffre the tyll they ware better & rebuke them in the meane tyme. For so deale Christ in the Gospell & now dealeth with vs dayly suffering oure imperfectnes wekenes cōmyngs vpon and manners not perfectly reformed after the doctryne of ꝑ Gospell but euen of the fleshe pe & sometyme breake out in outwarde dedes. After that to conclude wt all he wysheth them peace & hope of consolacō prayeth ther & cōmytteth them to God & magnifieth his office & administracō in the Gospell & soberly & with greate discrecyon desyreth succoure and ayde of them for the poore saynctes of Jerusalē & in all pare loue that he vseth vnto all. Also finde we in the ende salutacyons vnto the vtmoste worlde. et a Christen man or woman ought to knowe that is to wete wt at the true the Gospell/ spirite Grace Fayth in gyftes Christ God good workes Loue Hope & the crosse are and euen where in the ꝑfection of all that pertayneth to the Christen fayth standeth & howe a Christen man ought to be hauē him selfe vnto euery man be he perfect or ells yet good or bad strōge or weke frende or foe and in conclusyō howe to behaue oure selues both toward God & towarde creatures also. And all thinges are profoundely grounded in the scryptures & declared with ensamples of men scrpt of the fathers and of the prophetes that a man can here desyre no more. Wherfore it appeareth euidently ꝑ Paules mynde was to comprehende briefly in this pistle all the hole learnynge of Christes Gospell & to prepare an introduction vnto all the olde testament. For without doute whosoeuer hath this pistle perfectly in his herte the same hath the spirite & therfore of the olde testament with him wherfore let euery man without exāple exercise him self herein diligently & euer to dwell nyghe & dye cōtinually vntyll he be full acquainted therwith.

The last Chapter is a Chapter of recommendacion wherin he ꝑ mynyseth a good mainpion ꝑ we shuld beware ꝑ kepe of the traditions & doctryne of men wtch begyle vs simple wt sophistry & trompyge that is not after the Gospell & drawe them from Christ and noosell them in warre and seruitude as Paul calleth them in the pistle to the Galathians, in bodyly ceremonyes for the entent ꝑ they wolde spoyle vs in fayth ꝑ is in christ ꝑ we in christ ꝑ and auoure Christ alone ꝑ in the temple of God that is to wete in the consciences of men where God only his worde and his Christ ought to syte. Compare therfore all maner doctryne of men vnto the scryptures & se whether they agree or not. And so vnite thy selfe whole & altogether vnto Christ and so shall he wyth his holy spirite and wyth all his fulnes dwell in thy soule.

The somme and holy cause of the wrytynge of this Epistle is to proue that a man is iustifyed by fayth only wtout ꝑpocryson who so beleueth to him is not only this Epistle and all that Paul wryteth but also the hole scripture so lōge ꝑ he shall neuer vnderstonde it to his soules health. And to bringe a man to the vnderstondynge and ensynge that fayth only iustifyeth: Paule proueth that the hole nature of mā is so poysoned & so corrupte ꝑ & so dead concernynge god ꝑ pure ryghteousnes or goodly thinkynge that it is impossible for hym to kepe ꝑ lawe in the sight of God: that is to saye to loue it wt oute & lust to do it as naturally as a mā eateth & drinketh vntyll the be regenerate & healed thorow fayth. And by iustifyenge is vnderstande none other thinge then to be reconciled to God & to be restored vnto his fauoure & to wynne the synnes forgeuen the. As when I saye God iustifyeth vs vnderstonde therby that God for Christes sake merytes & bloudsheddynge receaueth vs vnto his mercyfull fauore & grace and forgeueth vs oure synnes. And when I saye Christ iustifyeth vs vnderstonde therby ꝑ Christ with only redemed vs bought & delyuered vs oute of the wrath of God & dampnacyon & hath wyth hys woordes only purchased vs the mercye the fauoure and grace of God & the forgeuenes of oure synnes. And when I saye that fayth only iustifyeth vnderstonde therby that fayth & trust in the testament of God & ꝑ mercyfull promyseth vs for Christes sake & for his deseruynge & merytes only doth quyet the conscience and certifye hyr that oure synnes be forgeuen and we in the fauoure of God. Iustifyenge.

Furthermore let before thyne eyes Christes workes and thyne awne workes. Christes workes only iustifye the & make satisfaccon for thy synne & thyne awne workes not: that is to saye quieteth thy conscience & maketh the sure ꝑ thy synnes are forgeuen the & not for thyne awne workes sake. Wherfore seinge God hath not promysed that thyne awne workes shulde make the therfore fayth in thyne awne workes can neuer quyet thy conscience nor certifye the before God when God cōmeth to iudge and to take accompt & that thy synnes are forgeuen the. Beyonde all this myne awne workes can neuer satisfye the lawe or paye hyr that I owe hyr. For I owe the lawe to loue hyr with all myne hert soule power & myght. Which thynge to perfyte I am neuer able whyle I am cōpased with flesshe. So I cannot once begynne to loue the lawe except I be first sure by fayth that God loueth me and forgeueth me. Finally that we saye fayth only iustifyeth ought to offende no man. For if thys be true ꝑ Christ only redemed vs Christ only bare oure synnes made satisfaccon for them and purchased vs the fauoure of God then must it nedes be true that ꝑ trust only in Christes deseruynge and in the promyses of God the father made vs for Christes sake doth only quyet the conscience & certifie hyr that the synnes are forgeue. And when they saye a mā must repent forsake synne & haue a purpose to synne no more as ofte as he can & loue the lawe of God: Ergo fayth alone iustifyeth not. I answere that all this argumentes are nought & ydle to this. I must repent ꝑ be sorye the Gospell must be preached me & I must beleue it or elles I cānot be partaker of mercye which Christ hath deserued for me. Ergo Christ only iustifyeth me not or Christ only hath not made satisfaccon for my synnes. As this is a naughtye argument so is the other.

Now go to reader and accordynge to the order of Paules wrytynge cast to do thou. First behelde thy selfe diligently in the lawe of God & se ther thy must damnacyon. Secondarely turne thyne eyes to Christ & se ther the extreadynge mercye of thy moost kynde & louynge father. Thyrdly remember that Christ made not this attonement that thou shuldest anger God agayne ner ther ꝑfore be for thy synnes that thou shuldest lyue styll in them ner ther dismayed be the that thou shuldest returne as a swyne vnto thyne olde podell agayne: but ꝑ thou shuldest be a new creature and lyue a new lyfe after the wyll of God and not of the fleshe. And be dyligent least thorow thyne awne negligence & vnthankfulnes thou lose this fauoure and mercye agayne. Fare well.

The ende of the prologe to the Romayns.

This epistle to the Romayns is the dore into all the scripture ꝑ hereth it and vnderstondeth it and ꝑ myght me to the true vnderstondynge of it.

The last Chapter.

The Epistle

¶ The Epistle of the Apostle Saynct Paul to the Romayns.

¶ Paul declareth his loue towarde the Romaynes/ sheweth what the Gospell is with the frute therof/ confuteth the werkynes of the flesshe.

¶ The fyrst Chapter. ✣

PAul the seruaunt of Jesus Christ called to be an *apostle put a parte to preache the Gospell of God/ which he promysed afore by his Prophetes in the holy scriptures † make mencion of his sonne, the which was begotten of the seed of Dauid as pertayninge to the flesshe: and declared to be † sonne of God/ wyth power of the Holy goost that sanctyfyeth, sence the tyme that Jesus Christ oure Lorde rose agayne from deeth/ by whom we haue receaued grace and Apostleshyppe/ to bringe all maner hethen people vnto the obedyence of the fayth/ that is in hys name: of † whych hethen are ye a part also/ whych are Jesus Christes by vocacion. ✣

*Saynctes by calling is as moche to saye/ as called to be Saynctes/ called to holynes & holy lyuyng: for the scripture is accustomed to call the † be a pure Saynctes/ and it ought to be all one/ to saye/ a Cayncte and a Christen mā or a Christyan.

To all you of Rome beloued of God and *saynctes by callynge. Grace be wyth you and peace from God oure father, and frō the Lorde Jesus Christ.

FYrst verely I thanke my God thorow Jesus Christ, for you all/ because youre fayth is published throughout all the worlde. For God is my wytnes, whom I serue with my spyrite in the Gospell of hys sonne that wyth out ceasynge I make mencyon of you all wayes in my prayers/ besechynge that at one tyme or other, a prosperous iorney, by † wyll of God myght fortune me to come vnto you. For I longe to se you, that I myght bestowe amonge you some spyrituall gyfte, to stronght you with all: that is, that I might haue consolacyō to gether with you, through the cōmen fayth/ which both ye and I haue.

I wolde that ye shuld knowe brethren, how that I haue often tymes purposed to come vnto you (but haue bene let hytherto) to haue some frute amonge you/ as I haue amonge other of the Gentyls. For I am dettor both to the Grekes and to them which are no Grekes/ vnto the learned and also vnto † vnlearned. Lyke wyse, as moche as in me is I am redy to preache the Gospell to you of Rome also. For I am not ashamed of the gospell of Christ because it is the power of God vnto saluacyon to all that beleue, namely to the Jewe, and also to the Gentyle. *For by it the ryghteweines which cōmeth of God, is opened from fayth to fayth. As it is written: the iust shall lyue by fayth.

For the wrath of God appereth from heauē agaynst all vngodlynes and vnryghteweines of men which withholde the trueth in vnrighteweines: seynge, what maye be knowen of God, that same is manifest amonge them. For God dyd shewe it vnto thē. So that hys inuysyble thynges: that is to saye, hys eternall power and godhed, are vnderstande and sene by the workes from the creacion of the worlde. So that they are wythout excuse, in as moche as whē they knewe God they glorified him not as God nether were thankfull but waxed full of vanities in their imaginacyōs, and their foolishe hertes were blynded. When they counted themselues wyse/ they became fooles and turned the glory of the immortall God vnto the similitude of † ymage of mortall man & of byrdes/ and foure footed beastes and of serpētes. Wherfore God lyke wyse gaue thē vp vnto their hertes lustes, vnto vnclennes/ to defyle their awne boddyes betwene thē selues: whych tourned hys trueth vnto a lye/ & worshypped and serued the creatures more then † maker/ which is blessed for euer. Amen. For this cause God gaue them vp vnto shamfull lustes. For euē their wemen dyd chaunge the naturall vse vnto † vnnaturall. And lyke wyse also the men lefte the natural vse of the womā/ & brent in their lust one to another. And mā vp mā wroughte filthynes, & receaued in thē selues † rewarde of their errour/ as it was accordynge.

And as it semed not good vnto thē to be a knowen of God/ euē so God delyuered thē vp vnto a leawde mynd/ that they shulde do thē thinges which were not comly: beinge full of all vnrighteous doynge, of fornicacion, wickednes, couetousnes, maliciousnes full of enuye, murther, debate/ disceyte/ euyll condicyoned/ whysperers/ backbyters/ haters of God, doers

a ¶ Grace be wth you and peace. By grace here vnderstande † fauour of God wherewyth he freely forgeueth sinne. By peace the tranquylite of conscience procedyng therof.

c *For: by it † ryghteweines wbych cometh of God is opened that is by the preachyng of the gospell/ the imputacyō of ryghteweines wherwith ¶ God recyeueth and pronounceth vs righteous freely thorow mercy. is euidently declared.

d *Frō fayth to fayth that is from an vnperfect fayth to a perfect/ from a weake fayth to a stronger or frō one degree of fayth to another: as we haue ofte ouerpassed one ieopardye thorow fayth/ another inuadeth vs/ thorow which we must wade by helpe of fayth also.

God/doers of wronge/proude/boasters/bringers vp of euill thinges/disobediēt to father and mother/ without vnderstandinge/ couenaunte breakers / vnlouynge / trucebreakers/ and mercyles. Which men though they knew the ryghtewesnes of God how ỹ they which commyt soche thinges, are worthy of deeth yet not only do the same, but also haue *pleasure in them that do them.

* To haue pleasure in another mannes synnes is greater wyckednes then to synne thy selfe.

The rebuketh the Jewes/which as couchynge spake ryght the Scythen/yee worse then they.

¶ The.ij. Capter.

Therfore arte thou inexcusable O man whosoeuer thou be ỹ *iudgest. For in that same wherin thou iudgest another, thou condemnest thy selfe. For thou that iudgest doest euē the same selfe thinges But we are sure that the iudgement of God is accordynge to trueth/ agaynst them which cōmyt soche thynges. Thinkest thou this O thou man that iudgest them which do soche thynges, & yet doest euē the very same that thou shalt escape the iudgement of God? Other despysest thou the ryches of his goodnes pacyence & longe sufferaunce? & remēbrest not how ỹ the kyndnes of God leadeth the to repentaunce?

* iudge/ here (as i many other places) signifyeth to condēne other & esteame thy selfe ryghtwes

But thou after thyne harde herte ỹ cānot repent, heapest the to gether the treasure of wrath agaynste the daye of vengeaūce, whē shalbe opened ỹ ryghtewes iudgemēt of God

b * Which will reward euery mā accordynge to hys deades

b * which will rewarde euery mā accordynge to hys deades: ỹ is to saye prayse, honoure & immortalitee to thē which continue in good doynge and seke eternall lyfe. But vnto thē that are rebellious and disobey the trueth & folowe iniquytie, shall come indignaciō and wrath, tribulacion & anguyshe vpon ỹ soule of euery man that doth euyll: of the Jewe fyrst & also of the Gentyl. To euery mā that doth good shall come prayse, honoure, and peace, to the Jewe fyrst & also to the Gētyll. For ther is no parcialyte w God. But whosoeuer hath synned wyth out lawe, shall perisshe wyth out lawe. And as many as haue synned vnder ỹ lawe, shalbe iudged by ỹ lawe

c * For before God they are not ryghteous which heare the lawe: but the doers of ỹ lawe shalbe iustified. For yf ỹ Gētyls which haue no lawe do of nature the thynges cōtayned in ỹ lawe: then they hauynge no lawe are a lawe vnto them selues which shewe the dede of the lawe writtē in their hertes: whill their conscience beareth witnes vnto them & also their thoughtes accusynge one another or excusynge, at the daye when God shall iudge the secretes of men by Jesus Christ, accordynge to my Gospell.

c * For before God they are not ryghteous but the doers of the lawe shalbe iustified that is/ shalbe pronounced iust & ryght

Beholde thou arte called a Jewe, & trustest in ỹ lawe & reioysest in God, & knowest his will, & hast experience of good, & bad in ỹ thou arte informed by the lawe: & beleuest that thou thy selfe arte a gyde vnto ỹ blynde a lyght to them which are in darcknes an informer of them which lacke discrecyon a teacher of vnlearned, which hast ỹ ensample of that which ought to be knowē, and of the truth, in the lawe. But thou which teachest another teachest not thy selfe Thou preachest a man shuld not steale: and yet thou stealest. Thou sayst, a mā shuld not cōmyt aduoutry and thou breakest wedlocke. Thou abhorrest ymages, and robbest God of his honoure. Thou reioycest in the lawe, & thorow breakynge the lawe, dishonourest God. For the name of God is euyll spoken of amonge the Gentyls thorowe you/ as it is written.

Circūcision verely auayleth yf thou kepe the lawe. But yf thou breake ỹ lawe thy circumcisiō is made vncircūcision. Therfore yf the vncircumcised kepe the right thinges cōtayned in the lawe, shall not his vncircumcision be counted for circumcision? And shall not vncircumcision which is by nature yf it kepe the lawe) iudge ỹ which beynge vnder the letter and circumcision dost trāgresse ỹ lawe? For he is not a Jewe, which is a Jewe outwarde. Neither is that circūcision which is outwarde in the flesshe. But he is a Jewe which is hyd wythin and the circumcision of the herte is ỹ true circūcision, which is the spryte & not in the letter, whose prayse is not of men/ but of God.

¶ The Jewe with what preferment the Jewes haue/ and that both the Jewes and Gentyls are vnder synne. & are iustifyed only by ỹ grace of God in Christ.

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

What preferment then hath ỹ Jewe? other what auaūtageth circūcisiō Surely very moche. First vnto thē was committed the worde of God. What then though some of thē dyd not beleue? Shal their vnbeleue make the promes of God wyth out effecte? God forbyd. Let God be true, & all men lyars as it is writen: that thou myghtest be iustifyed in thy sayinge, & shuldest ouercome/ when thou are iudged.

Yf oure vnryghtewesnes make the ryghtewesnes of God more excellent: what shall we saye? Is God vnrighteous which taketh vengeaunce? I speake after ỹ maner of men. God forbid. For how then shall God iudge ỹ worlde? Yf the veritie of God appere more excellēt thorow my lye/ vnto his prayse/ why am I hence forth iudged as a synner? & saye not rather (as men euyll speake of vs/ and as some affyrme that we saye) let vs do euyll that good maye come therof. Whose damnacyon is iuste.

What saye we then? Are we better then they? No/ in no

(w onely spoke to the rebuke of the Jewes seking no small thinges/ by them selues in the behalfe of the lawe which yet they kept not.

Thus ys layeth Paul to these thinges on hys wise. Ye is not profytable for the Jewe to brage the lawe only and to be a professour thereof & a teacher to it/ but yf thou wylt preache or talke of ỹ maner ryght vnto in the lyght of God by the lawe as thou so greatly exaltest/ then must thou kepe the lawe/ not onely speake of it now that doest thou not but art guylty of the breakynge of it and therfore must thou haue and kepe what to be circumcision is in the sight of God ryght by the keping of the lawe which is as now declared vnto circumcision after ỹ outwarde maner to be a Jewe inwardly after the spryte & not in the letter. Whose prayse is not of men but of God.

And to this purpose doth Moses write saying Circumcise the foreskyn of your hertes &c. Deut. x.

¶ Paul bringeth in the testymony of Dauid to confyrme his sayinge, & that all men are synners & that ỹ ryghtewesnes of God is not to be obtayned by the lawe

What then though some of thē dyd not beleue? Shal their vnbeleue make the promes of God wyth out effecte? God forbyd. Let God be true, & all men lyars as it is writen: that thou myghtest be iustifyed in thy sayinge, & shuldest ouercome/ when thou are iudged.

Yf oure vnryghtewesnes make the ryghtewesnes of God more excellent: what shall we saye? Is God vnrighteous which taketh vengeaunce? I speake after ỹ maner of men. God forbid. For how then shall God iudge ỹ worlde? Yf the veritie of God appere more excellēt thorow my lye/ vnto his prayse/ why am I hence forth iudged as a synner? & saye not rather (as men euyll speake of vs/ and as some affyrme that we saye) let vs do euyll that good maye come therof. Whose damnacyon is iuste.

What saye we then? Are we better then they? No/ in no

The Epistle

¶ No/in no wyse. For we haue al ready proued how that both Jewes & Gētyls are all vnder synne, as it is wrytē: there is none righteous no not one: there is none that vnderstandeth/ there is none that seketh after God they are all gone out of the waye, they are all vnprofytable, ther is none that doeth good, no not one. Their throte is an open sepulchre, with their tounges they haue disceaued: ỹ poyson of aspes is vnder their lyppes. Whose mouthes are full of cursynge & bytternes. Their fete are swyfte to sheed bloud. Destruccyon and wretchednes are in their wayes. And the waye of peace they haue not knowen. There is no feare of God before their eyes.

✠ Ye & we knowe that whatsoeuer ỹ lawe sayth he sayth it to them which are vnder the lawe. That all mouthes maye be stopped & all the worlde be subdued to God because ỹ by the dedes of the lawe, shall no flesshe be iustifyed in the sight of God. For by the lawe commeth the knowlege of synne.

Now verely is the ryghtewelnes that cōmeth of God declared with out ỹ fulfyllinge of the lawe, bayinge witnes yet of the lawe and of the Prophetes. The ryghtewelnes no dout which is good before God commeth by the fayth of Jesus Christ, vnto all and vpon all that beleue.

D There is no dyfference: for all haue synned/ and lacke ỹ prayse that is of valoure before God but are iustifyed freely by his grace/ through the redemption that is in Christ Jesu whom God hath made a seate of mercy thorow fayth in his bloud to shewe ỹ ryghtewelnes which before him is of valoure in that he forgeueth the synnes that are paste/ which God dyd suffre to shewe at this tyme/ the righte welnes that is alowed of him that he myght be counted iuste and a iustifiar of hym which beleueth on Jesus. ✠

Where is then thy reioysynge? It is excluded. By what lawe: by the lawe of workes? Naye: but by the lawe of fayth.

Therfore we holde ỹ a mā is iustifyed by fayth wythout the dedes of the lawe. Is he the God of the Jewes only? Is he not also the God of the Gentyls? Yes euen of ỹ Gentyls also. For it is God only which iustifyeth circumcisyon which is of fayth and vncircumcisyon thorow fayth. Do we then destroye the lawe thorow fayth? God forbyd. But we rather mayntayne the lawe.

a. Are iustified freely by his grace. This sayenge doth S. Ambrose exponnde on this wyse: they worcheng nothyng nor accomptyng hym any whit, are iustyfyed by fayth alone by the gift of God thys worde/ alone/ (although they may therwith vnrighteously offended, as also euidently expressed by S. Paul hym selfe in these wordes) keepyth oute ỹ lawe/ without workes it is a gyft & sache like/ which thou must marcke/ for they are all one w this forsayde exposicō of S. Ambrose by fayth alone we are iustified which sayenge signifyeth thus moche. Onely by fayth we receyue with we vele it that the mercy of God grafted in christes bloud doth saue vs & pronounced vs rygh twes. This word alone excludeth workes/ not ỹ thou shuldest not do the: for vnto all good workers comaunded in ỹ scripture art thou bounde and called to walcke in thē/ & must earnestly studye & endeuour thy selfe to leue none of them vndone: but ỹ thou shuldest in no condicō thinck/ that thou arte ther by iustifyed or made righteous before God.

A * Dedes iustifye not before he wherin to reioyce: but not wyth God. For what sayth the scripture? Abraham beleued God & it was counted vnto hym for ryghtewelnes. To hym that worketh, is ỹ rewarde not reckened of fauoure/ but of dutye. To him that worketh not but beleueth on him ỹ iustifieth the vngodly/ is his fayth cōpted for righteweslnes. Euen as Dauid declarybeth ỹ blessednes of ỹ man vnto whō God alcrybeth ryghtewelnes without dedes.* Blessed are they whose vnrighteweslnes are forgeuē & whose synnes are couered. Blessed is ỹ mā to whom the Lorde imputeth not synne.

Came this blessednes then vpon the circūcised or vpon the vncircumcised? We saye verely how that fayth was reckened to Abrahā for righteweslnes. How was it reckened? in ỹ tyme of circumcisyon? or in the tyme before he was circumcised? Not in the tyme of circūcision: but whē he was yet vncircumcised. And he receaued the synne of circūcisyon as a seale of the righteweslnes which is by fayth which fayth he had yet beynge vncircūcysed: that he shulde be the father of all them that beleue though they be not circumcised that ryghtewelnes myght be imputed to thē also: and that he myght be the father of the circūcised not because they are circumcised only: but because they walke also in the steppes of that fayth that was in oure father Abrahā before the tyme of circumcisyon.

For the promes that he shuld be the heyre of the worlde, was not geuen to Abraham or to his seed thorow the lawe: but thorow the ryghtewelnes which cometh of fayth. For yf they which are of the lawe be heyres, then is fayth but vayne, & ỹ promes of none effecte. Because ỹ lawe causeth wrath. For where no lawe is, there is no transgression. Therfore by fayth is the inheritaūce geuē that it myght come of fauoure: & the promes myght be sure to all the seed. Not to thē only which are of the lawe: but also to thē which are of the fayth of Abrahā which is ỹ father of vs all. As it is wrytten: I haue made the a father to many nacions euē before God whō thou hast beleued which quickeneth ỹ dead/ and calleth those thynges which be not/ as though they were.

Which Abrahā contrary to hope, beleued in hope that he shulde be the father of many naciōs, accordinge to that which was spokē: So shall thy seed be. And he fainted not in ỹ fayth, nor yet cōsydered his awne body which was now dead euen when he was almost an hondred yeare olde: nether yet ỹ Sara was past childeberinge. He staggered not at the promes of God thorow vnbelefe: but was made stōge in the fayth & gaue honour to God full certified, that what he had promised that he was God neither maye a man before God put trust in them.

* Blessednes what it is.

 Therfore by fayth to that ỹ promes might be sure, that is/ therfore are ỹ promises of righteweslnes by fayth (by which vnderstande euen ỹ mercy of god receaued by fayth) that the cōsciēce might be surely certified of the wyll of God/ & of ỹ promises of ỹ Gospell, that is/ of remissyō of synnes of reconciliacyon or reputacion of righteweslnes/ and of the gyft of euerlastyng lyfe: that these thynges shall surely be performed: which were not possyble yf ỹ promes shuld depende & hange on oure workes. For then shulde the conscience be vnsure euermore wondring whether we had workes prowoke the wherher god would be merciefull whether the lawe which we know we haue transgressed/ wolde condemne vs &c.

D Now when doutefulnes remayneth in vs there remayneth also fearfulnes/ by whych cometh desperacyon & dreth: for so longe as the lawe

The declareth by exāple of Abrahā/ that fayth iustifieth/ and not the lawe/ nor the workes therof.

The.iiij. Chapter

What shall we saye then/ that Abraham oure father as pertaynynge to the flesshe/ dyd finde? If Abrahā were iustified by* dedes/ then hath fyweth vs the angre of God/ fearce death cā not be oure to/ me. Therfore maluerlandes to/ ſkyck onely to faith in ỹ mer/ cyfull promyſes of God ſaue/ rest/ and truely ſhall we haue fulfylled although oure workes haue not deſerued ỹ fulfyllynges of them.

I

a *To be at peace wyth God is no nother thyng than to haue rēmyſſion and reſt in oure hertes to loue God and long ardētly after that we be accep/ted of him. a Do/ble is the vnyte, ſtryng we ſhuld be wonderfully in/flamed wyth feruentnes of loue to God and our neyghbour. Double of the worde, ſignifyeth a/ bydynge in two ſondry/ purpoſes. b We are not aſhamed of oure hope ſo we are ſure by ex/ perience of the loue of God. ỹ Boldnes and well beynge of oure hope to come.

he was able to make good. And therfore was it reckened to him for ryghteweſnes.

It was not wrytē for him only that it was reckened to him for ryghteweſnes: but alſo vnto vs to whom it ſhalbe counted for ryghte/ weſnes, ſo we beleue on hym that rayſed vp Ieſus oure Lorde from deeth: Which was delyuered for oure ſynnes, and roſe agayne for to iuſtifye vs.

¶ The power of faith/hope and loue: and how deeth cānot departe vs from Chriſt vp whome onely we haue forgyuenes of ſynnes.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

Becauſe therfore ỹ we are iuſtified by faith, a* we are at peace wyth God thorow oure Lorde Ieſus Chriſt: by whō we haue awaye in/ to thys grace, vnto thys grace wherin we ſtande and reioyce in hope of the prayſe that ſhalbe geuen of God. Neither do we ſo only: but alſo we reioyce in tribulacyon. For we knowe that tribulacyon bryngeth pacience/ pacience bryngeth experiēce experiēce bryn/ geth hope. And b* hope maketh not aſhamed for ỹ loue of God is ſhed abrode in oure hertes by the holy gooſt, which is geuen vnto vs.

For when we were yet weake according to ỹ tyme: Chriſt dyed for vs vngodly. Yet ſcace will any man dye for a ryghte/ weſe man. Paraduenture for a good man dare a man dye. ✠ But God ſetteth out his loue ỹ he hath to vs, ſeynge that wyth we were yet ſynners, Chriſt dyed for vs. Of ſo moche more then now (ſeynge we are iuſtifyed in his bloud) ſhall we be ſaued from wrath thorow hym.

For yf whē we were enemyes we were reconcyled vnto God by ỹ deeth of his ſonne: moche more ſeynge we are reconcyled we ſhalbe ſaued by his lyfe. Not only ſo but we alſo reioyce in God by ỹ meanes of oure Lorde Ieſus Chriſt by whō we haue receaued ỹ attōemēt.

Wherfore as by one man ſynne entred into the worlde/ & deeth by the meanes of ſynne. And ſo deeth went ouer all men/ in ſo moche that all men ſynned. For euen vnto the tyme of the lawe was ſynne in ỹ worlde/ but ſynne was not regarded as longe as ther was no lawe: neuertheleſſe deeth raygned frō Adam to Moſes/ euē ouer thē alſo that ſynned not/ euē lyke tranſgreſſyon as dyd Adam: whych is the ſimilitude of him that is to come.

Adās diſobedie/ce dāpned vs al/ per we oure ſel/ ues wrought e/ uell. And Chri/ ſtes obedyence ſaueth vs all/ per we oure ſel/ ues wo,ke ange good.

But the gyfte is not lyke as ỹ ſynne. For yf thorow the ſinne of one many be deed: mo/ che more plenteous vpon many was ỹ grace of God and gyfte by grace which grace was geuen by one man Ieſus Chriſt.

And ỹ gifte is not ouer one ſynne as deeth cā thorow one ſynne of one that ſynned. For damnacion came of one ſynne vnto condēna/ cion: but ỹ gift came to iuſtify frō many ſyn/ nes. For yf by the ſinne of one/ deeth raygned by the meanes of one: moche more ſhall they which receaue aboundance of grace & of the gyfte of ryghteweſnes/ raygne in lyfe by the meanes of one (that is to ſaye) Ieſus Chriſt.

Lykewiſe then as by the ſynne of one/ con/demnacō came on all mē: euē ſo by the iuſti/ fyinge of one cōmeth the ryghteweſnes that bringeth lyfe vpō all mē. For as by one mans diſobedīēce many be came ſynners: ſo by the obedīēce of one, ſhall many be made ryghte/ ous. But the* lawe in ỹ meane tyme entred in that ſynne ſhuld increace. Neuertheleſſe where aboundaūce of ſynne was, there was more plenteouſnes of grace. That as ſynne had raygned vnto deeth euē ſo ryght grace raygne thorow ryghteweſnes vnto eternall lyfe, by the helpe of Ieſu Chriſt.

* The lawe of creacion, pro/ uoketh oure wicked nature to ſynne/ & maketh oure wylfulnes more/ euydent/ but hath no power nether iuſt to ſhe bid/ deth/ or to re/ frayne from ỹ he forbiddeth. Gala.iy.d.

¶ For ſo moch as we be deliuered thorow Chriſt frō ſynne: we muſte faſhion oure ſelues to lyue as the ſer/ uauntes of God/ and not after oure awne luſtes. The vnlyke rewarde of ryghteouſnes and ſynne.

¶ The.vi. Chapter.

What ſhal we ſaye then? Shall we cōtinue in ſynne/ ỹ there maye be aboundaūce of grace? God forbid How ſhall we that are deed as touchynge ſynne/ liue eny lēger therin? ✠ Remēber ye not that all we which are baptiſed in ỹ name of Ieſu Chriſt are baptiſed to dye with him? We are buried wyth hym by baptyme/ for to dye/ that lykewyſe as Chriſt was rayſed vp frō deeth by ỹ glorie of the father euen ſo we alſo ſhuld walke in a newe life. For yf we be graft in deeth lyke vnto him: euen ſo muſt we be in the reſurrection. This we muſt re/ membre that oure olde man is crucifyed wyth him alſo, that the body of ſynne might vtter/ ly be deſtroyed, that hence forth we ſhuld not be ſeruauntes of ſynne. For he that is deed/ is iuſtifyed from ſynne.

Wherfore yf we be deed wyth Chriſt/ we be/ leue that we ſhall lyue with him: remēbringe that Chriſt once rayſed from deeth/ dyeth no more. Deeth hath no more power ouer him. For as touchinge that he dyed, he dyed cōcer/ninge ſynne/ once. And as touchinge that he liueth he liueth vnto God. Lykewyſe ymag/ gen ye alſo ỹ ye are a* deed cōcerninge ſynne but are alyue vnto God thorow Ieſus Chriſt oure Lorde. ✠ Let not ſynne raygne therfore in youre mortal bodyes ỹ ye ſhulde therunto obeye in the luſtes of it. Neither geue ye youre mēbres as inſtrumentes of vnryghteweſnes vnto ſynne: but geue youre ſelues vnto God as they ỹ are alyue frō deeth. And geue youre membres as inſtrumentes of ryghteweſnes vnto god. Let not ſinne haue power ouer you. For ye are not vnder ỹ lawe, but vnder grace.

What then? Shall we ſynne/ becauſe we a* To dye vnto ſynne is not to ouerye the deſy/ res & couet/ouſ/nes of ſynne

I are not are not vnder ỹ lawe: but vnder grace? God forbyd. ✠ Remẽber ye not how that to whõ soeuer ye cõmyt youre selues as seruauntes to obey: his seruaũtes ye are to whõ ye obey: whether it be of synne vnto deeth/ or of obedience vnto righteweisnes? God be thanked/ that though ye were once the seruauntes of synne/ ye haue yet obeyed wyth herte vnto ỹ forme of doctrine wher vnto ye were deliuered. Ye are then made free frõ synne/ and are become the seruauntes of ryghteweisnes. ✠

✠ I will speake grosly because of the infirmitie of youre flesshe. As ye haue geuẽ youre mẽbers seruaũtes to vnclẽnes & to iniquitie frõ iniquitye vnto iniquitye: euẽ so now geue youre members seruauntes vnto ryghteweisnes/ that ye maye be sanctifyed. For whẽ ye were the seruauntes of synne/ ye were not vnder righteweisnes. What frute had ye then in tho thinges/ wherof ye are now ashamed For ỹ ende of tho thinges is deeth. But now are ye deliuered frõ synne/ & made ỹ seruaũtes of God/ & haue youre frute ỹ ye shuld be sanctified/ & ỹ ende euerlastinge life. For ỹ rewarde of synne is deeth: but eternall lyfe is ỹ gyfte of God/ thorow Iesus Christ oure Lorde.

Eternall lyfe is the deserynge of Christ.

¶ Christ hath deliuered vs from the lawe and death. ✠ all that weth what the flesshe and outwarde man is/ and calleth it the lawe of the membres.

¶ The.vij. Chapter.

Remẽber ye not brethren (I speake to them that knowe the lawe) how ỹ ỹ lawe hath power ouer a mã as longe as it endureth? For ỹ woma which is in subiectiõ to a mã/ is bounde by ỹ lawe to the man/ as longe as he lyueth. If the man be deed/ she is lowsed from the lawe of the man. So then yf whill the man lyueth she couple her selfe vnto another mã, she shalbe counted a wedlocke breaker. But yf the man be deed, she is free frõ the lawe: so that she is no wedlocke breaker, though she couple her selfe with another man.

a Are deed concernynge the lawe. To be deed concernyng the lawe is to be made free frõ the lawe and from the dede wherin we were holden of vs to serue in the spirite by which we maye be alyue vnto ỹ lawe. God the same is to be deliuered from the lawe of deeth. Galat. 5.d

a Are deed concernynge the lawe by the body of Christ, that ye shulde be coupled to another (I meane to him that is risen agayne from deeth) that we shulde bringe forth frute vnto God. For whẽ we were in the flesshe, the lustes of synne which were stered vppe by the lawe raygned in oure members, to bringe forth frute vnto deeth. But now are we deliuered frõ the lawe and deed from that wherunto we were in bondage that we shuld serue in a newe conuersacion of the spirite, and not in the olde cõuersacion of the letter.

What shall we saye then? is the lawe synne? God forbyd: but I knewe not what sinne meãt but by the lawe. For I had not knowne what lust had meãt/ excepte the lawe had sayd, *thou shalt not lust. But synne toke an occasyon by the meanes of the commaundement and wrought in me all maner of concupiscẽce. For verely without ỹ lawe/ synne was deed. I once lyued without lawe. But when the cõmaundement came/ synne reuyued/ and I was deed. And the very same commaundement which was ordeyned vnto life/ was foũde to be vnto me an occasiõ of deeth. For synne toke occasion by the meanes of ỹ commaundement/ and so deceaued me/ & by the selfe cõmaundement slewe me. Wherfore the lawe is holy/ and the cõmaundemẽt holy/ iust and good. *Exod.xx.c. Deut.v.b. ¶ 1.Timo.i.b.

Was that then which is good/ made deeth vnto me? God forbyd. Naye synne was deeth vnto me/ that it myght appere, how ỹ synne by the meanes of that whych is good/ had wrought deeth in me: that synne whych is vnder the commaundement/ might be out of measure synfull. For we knowe that ỹ lawe is spirituall: but I am caruall solde* vnder synne, because I wote not what I do. For what I wold that do I not: but what I hate/ ỹ do I. If I do now that which I wolde not/ I graũte to ỹ lawe that it is good. So then now/ it is not I that doit/ but synne that dwelleth in me. For I knowe that in me (that is to saye in my flesshe) dwelleth no good thinge. To will is present with me: but I fynde no meanes to performe that whych is good. For I do not that good thinge which I wold but that euil do I/ which I wold not. Finally yf I do that I wolde not/ then is it not I that do it, but synne that dwelleth in me, doeth it. I fynde then by the lawe, that when I wolde do good, euyll is present with me. I delite in the lawe of God, concerninge the inner man. But I se another lawe in my membres rebellinge agaynst the lawe of my mynde, and subduynge me vnto the lawe of synne/ which is in my members. O wretched man that I am: who shall deliuer me from thys body of deeth? I thanke God thorow Iesus Christ oure Lorde. So then I my selfe in my mynde serue the lawe of God/ and in my flesshe the lawe of synne.

* To be solde vnder synne is to be made a bond mã to do ỹ will of synne only.

¶ The lawe of the spirite geueth lyfe. The spirite of God maketh vs Gods children and heyres with Christ The aboundaunt loue of God can not be seperated.

¶ The.viij. Chapter. ✠

There is then no damnacion to them which are in Christ Iesu/ which walke not after ỹ flesshe: but after the spirite. For the lawe of ỹ spirite ỹ bringeth lyfe thorowe Iesus Christ/ hath deliuered me from the lawe of synne & deeth. For what the lawe coulde not do in as moche as it was weake because of the flesshe: that

* Synne is take here for a synne after the vse of ye hebrue tonge.

perfourmed God sent his sonne in the symilitude of synfull flesshe, & by* synne damned synne in ye flesshe. ye the righteweisnes requyred of the lawe, myght be fulfylled in vs, which walke not after ye flesshe, but after the spirite

For they ye are carnall/are carnally mynded. But they that are spirituall/are gostly mynded. To be carnally mynded is deeth. But to be spiritualy mynded is life & peace.

* ye are not geuen to ye flesshe: To be geuen to ye flesshe: is to lyue as ye workes of the flesshe: which are rehersed. Gala.v.o.

✠ Because that ye flesshly mynde is enmyte agaynst God: for it is not obedient to ye lawe of God nether can be. So then they that are geuen to the flesshe, cannot please God.

But * ye are not geuē to ye flesshe, but to the* spirite: yf so be that ye spirite of God dwell in you. If ther be eny man that hath not the spirite of Christ the same is none of hys. If Christ be in you the body is deed because of synne: but the spirite is lyfe for ryghteweisnes sake. Wherfore yf the spirite of hym ye raysed vp Jesus from deeth dwell in you: euen he ye raysed vp Christ from deeth, shall quycken youre mortall bodyes, because that his spirite dwelleth in you.

* Christes spirite is in all his: & ye spirite is lyfe because it cōsenteth vnto ye lawe And ye bodye ye is deed because it consenteth to synne with ye spirit quyckened at the last & geueth him lust to do ye lawe & wyll not suffre hym to remayne in synne

C ✠ Therfore brethren we are nowe detters/ not to the flesshe to lyue after ye flesshe. For yf ye lyue after the flesshe ye must dye. But yf ye mortifye ye dedes of the body by ye helpe of ye spirite/ye shall lyue. For as many as are led by the spirite of God: they are the sonnes of God. For ye haue not receaued the spirite of bondage to feare eny more/but ye haue receaued the spirite of * adoption wherby we crye Abba father The same spirite certifyeth oure spirite that we are the sonnes of God. If we be sonnes we are also heyres ye heyres I meane of God and heyres annexed w Christ yf so be that we* suffer to gether, ye we maye be glorified to gether. ✠

(Adoption) is the inheritaūce pourchased by grace.

* We must suffer with Christ yf we shal rayne with hym in glorye.

✠ For I suppose that the afflictiōs of this lyfe/ are not worthy of ye glorye which shalbe shewed vpon vs. Also the feruent desyre of ye creature abydeth lokynge when the sonnes of God shall appere, because ye creatures are subdued to vanyte agaynst their wil: but for his will which subdueth them in hope. For the very creatures shalbe delyuered frō the bondage of corruption into ye gloryous libertie of the sonnes of God. For we knowe that euery creature groneth with vs also/ & trauayleth in payne euen vnto this tyme.

* First frutes/ a full & certayne portion not the full gyft of the spirite.

* We are saued by hope ye is we hope to be delyuered oute of ye corruptiō of oure bodyes into

Not they only but euē we also which haue the fyrst* frutes of ye spirite morne in oure selues & wayte for the (adoptiō) & loke for ye deliuraūce of oure bodyes. ✠ ✠ For we are* sauyd by* hope. But hope that is sene is no hope. For how can a mā hope for that which he seyth? But and yf we hope for that we se not then do we with pacience abyde for it.

Lyke wyse the spirite also helpeth oure infirmities. For we knowe not what to desyre as we ought: but the spirite maketh intercession mightely for vs with grōnynges which cannot be expressed with tonge. And he that searcheth the hertes knoweth what is the meaninge of the spirite: for he maketh intercession for the sayntes accordynge to the pleasure of God. ✠

E glorye that Christ nowe is in: and therfore sayth not in oure tetaciōns.

✠ For we knowe ye all thinges worke for the best vnto them that loue God which also * are called* of purpose. For those whych he knewe before he also ordeyned before: that they shulde be lyke fashioned vnto the shape of his sonne ye he myght be the fyrst begotte sonne among many brethren. Moreouer which he appoynted before: them also he called And which he called/ them also he iustified/ which he iustified/them he also glorifyed.

* God choseth of hys arme goodnesse: he calleth those the gospell: & iustifieth thorow fayth and glorifyeth thorow good workes. ✠

What shall we then saye to these thinges? yf God be on oure syde: who can be agaynst vs? which spared not his awne sonne/but gaue him for vs all: how shall he not with hym geue vs all thinges also? Who shall laye eny thinge to the charge of Goddes chosen? it is God that iustifieth: who then shall cōdempne? it is Christ which is deed yee rather which is rysen agayne/ which is also on the ryght hande of God & maketh intercession for vs.

G * He that seeth what Christ hath done for hym cānot but beleue that god loueth him and also loue God agayne.

Who shall seperate vs frō ye loue* of God? shall tribulacion? or angwysshe? or persecucyon? or hunger? ether nakednes? ether parell? ether swearde? As it is wrytten: for thy sake are we killed all daye lōge and are counted as sheepe appointed to be slayne. Nevertheles in all these thynges we ouercome strongly thorow his helpe that loued vs. Ye and I am sure that nether deeth/nether lyfe/ nether Angels, nor rule nether power, nether thinges present/nether thinges to come nether heygh/nether lowe/nether eny other creature shalbe able to depryue vs frō ye loue of God/ shewed in Christ Jesu oure Lorde. ✠

Paul cōplayneth vpon the hard hertes of ye Jewes that wolde not receaue Christ/ and how the Gentyles are chosen in their stede.

The.ix. Chapter.

I Saye the trueth in Christ/ and lye not/ in the wherof my conscyence beareth me wytnes in ye holy ghost that I have great heuynes and continuall sorowe in my hert. For I haue wysshed my selfe to be cursed frō Christ, for my brethren & my kynsmen as pertayninge to ye flesshe/ which are ye Israelites. To whō pertayneth the adoptiō, & the glorie, & the couenauntes & the lawe that was geuen/ and the seruice of God and the promyses: whose also are the fathers and they of whome as concernynge the flesshe Christ came which is God ouer all thinges blessed for euer Amen.

I.h. I speake

The Epistle

I speake not these thynges as though the wordes of God had take none effecte. For they B are not all Israelites which came of Israel:
nether are they all chyldren straytwaye because they are the seed of Abraham. But in Isaac shall thy seede be called: that is to saye/they which are the children of the flesshe, are not the chyldren of God. But the children of promes are counted the seede. For this is a worde of promes/aboute this tyme wyll I come, and Sara shall haue a sonne.

Nether was it so with her only: but also when Rebecca was with chylde by one/ I C meane by oure father Isaac, yer the children were borne/when they had nether done good nether bad: that the purpose of God which is by election/myght stande/it was sayde vnto her/not by reason of workes/but by grace of the caller: the elder shall serue ye younger.
As it is wrytten: Jacob he loued, but Esau he hated. What shall we saye then? is there eny vnrighteweines vnto God? God forbyd. For he sayth to Moses: I wyll shewe mercy to who I shewe mercy and will haue compassion on whom I haue cōpassion. So lieth it not then in a mans will or runninge, but in the mercye of God. For the scripture sayth vnto Pharao euen for this same purpose haue I stered the by/to shewe my power on the/& that my name myght be declared thorow out all ye worl-de. So hath he mercye on whom he will/and whom he will/he maketh hard herted.

Thou wylt saye then vnto me: why then blameth he vs yet? For who cā resist his will?
But O man/what arte thou which disputest
D with God? Shall the worke saye to ye worke man: why hast thou made me on this fasshyon? Hath not the potter power ouer the clave, euen of the same lompe to make one vessell vnto honoure, and another vnto disho-noure? Euen so, God willinge to shewe his wrath and to make his power knowē suffered with longe patience the vessells of wrath/ordeyned to damnacion, that he myght declare the riches of his glory on ye vessells of mercye/which he had prepared vnto glorye: that C is to saye, vs which he called, not of the Je-wes only/but also of the gētyls. As he sayth Osee. ii. in Osee: I wyll call them my people which 1. Pet. 2. a were not my people: and her beloued which was not beloued. And it shall come to passe in the place where it was sayd vnto them/ye are not my people: that there shalbe called ye chyldren of the lyuynge God.

But Esaias cryeth concernynge Israel/though the nombre of the chyldren of Israel be as ye sonde of ye see yet shall but a remnaūt be saued. He fynisheth the worde verely/& maketh it short in rygh tweines. For a short worde wil God make on erth. And as Esaias said before: except the Lorde of Saboth had left vs seede/we had bene made as Sodoma/and had bene lykened to Gomorra.

What shall we saye then? We saye that ye gentyls which folowed not righteweines haue ouertake righteweines: I meane ye righ-teweines which cometh of fayth. But Israel which folowed ye lawe of righteweines could not attayne vnto the lawe of ryghteweines.
And wherfore? Because they sought it not by fayth: but as it were by the workes of the lawe. For they haue stombled at ye stōblynge stone. As it is wrytte: Beholde I put in Syō a stomblynge stone/and a rocke which shall make men faule. And none that beleue on him, shalbe ashamed.

The vnfaythfulnes of the Jewes. Two maner of ryghteousnes.

The x. Chapter.

Brethre/my hertes desyre & prayer to God for Israel is/ that they myght be saued. For I beare them recorde that they haue a feruent mynde to God warde, but not accordynge to knowledge. For they are ignorant of the ryghteweines which is alowed before God, and go about to stablysshe their awne rygh-teweines and therfore are not obedient vnto the ryghteweines which is of valewe before God. For *Christ is the ende of the lawe, to iustifye all that beleue.

*a Christ is the ende of ye lawe/ that is Christ is ye fulfyllynge of the lawe: to ye who so hathe hope & beleueth ye helpe & shedynge of his blonde hath wasshed away synne & therwith ouercome deeth and hell and obtayned ye fauour of his father for all that thus beleue/is counted ryghteous although he do not in deade satisfye the lawe.

Moses describeth ye ryghteweines which cometh of the lawe how that the man which doth the thinges of the lawe, shall lyue therin. But the ryghteweines which cometh of fayth speaketh on this wyse. Saye not in thine hert, who shall ascende into heauen (ye is nothynge els than to fetch Christ doune) Other who shall descende into ye depe? (ye is nothinge els but to fetch vp Christ frō deeth.
But what sayth the scripture? The worde is nye the euē in thy mouth and in thyne herte.

This worde is the worde of *fayth which we preache. For yf thou shalt knowledge with thy mouth that Jesus is the Lorde, & shalt beleue with thyne hert that God raysed him vp from deeth thou shalt be safe. For with the herte beleueth vnto rightewesnes & knowledge with the mouth maketh a man safe. For the scripture sayth: whosoeuer beleueth on him shall not be ashamed.

* Though fayth iustifye from sinne and though Christ deserued ye reward promysed yet is the promyse made on the condicyō that we embrace Christes doctryne and cōfesse him with worde & dede. So ye we are moued & exhorted to do good vnto his & in the to walke to the saluacyō promysed.

There is no differēce betwene the Jewe & the Gentyll. For one is Lord ouer all which is ryche vnto all ye call on him. For whosoeuer shall call on the name of ye Lorde, shalbe safe. But how shall they call on him, on whō they beleued not? how shall they beleue on him of whom they haue not herde? how shall they heare without a preacher? And how shall they preache * except they be sent? As it is wrytten

* Except they

out? For who hath knowen the mynde of ỹ Lorde? Or who was hys counseller? other who hath geuē vntohim fyrst/that he might be recompensed agayne? For of hym & thorow him/& for him are all thynges. To hym be glorye.for euer Amen.

I Beſeche you therfore brethren/by the mercyfulnes of God/ ỹ ye make youre bodyes a quicke ſacrifyce/ holy & acceptable vnto God:which is youre reſonable ſeruinge of God & faſhyō not your ſelues lyke vnto thys worlde:but be ye chaūged in youre ſhape, by ỹ renuynge of youre wittes that ye maye fele what thynge ỹ good, that acceptable, & perfayte wyll of God is. ¶ The obedience of men vnto theyr rulers. Loue fulfylleth the lawe. It is now no tyme to folowe ỹ workes of darcknes.

¶ The.xiij.Chapter.

I Et euery ſoule ſubmit him ſelfe vn to ỹ auctorite of the hyer powers. For there is no power but of God. The powers ỹ be/ are ordeyned of God. Whoſoeuer therfore reſiſteth power/ reſiſteth ỹ ordinaunce of God. And they ỹ reſiſt/ ſhall receaue to thē ſelfe dānacyon. For rulers are not to be feared for good workes/ but for euyll. Wilt thou be wout feare of the power? Do wel then: & ſo ſhalt thou be prayſed of the ſame. For he is ỹ miniſter of God/ for thy welth. But and yf thou do euyll/ then feare: for he beareth not a ſweard for nought but is ỹ miniſter of God to take vengeaūce on thē that do euyl. Wherfore ye muſt nedes obeye, not for feare of vengeaunce only:but alſo becauſe of* conſcience. And euē for this cauſe paye ye tribute. For they are Goddes miniſters ſeruinge for the ſame purpoſe.

B Geue to euery man therfore his duetie: tribute to whom tribute belongeth: cuſtome to whom cuſtome is due: feare to whō feare belōgeth: honoure to whō honoure pertayneth.

* Though they were of power to reſiſt the powers yet were they not thus bounden in thy conſcyence yf thou diddeſt it becauſe it is againſt goddes cōmaundement.

✣ Owe nothynge to eny mā: but to loue one another. For he ỹ loueth another, fulfylleth the lawe. For theſe cōmaundementes: Thou ſhalt not cōmit aduoutry: thou ſhalt not kyll thou ſhalt not ſteale: thou ſhalt not beare falſe wytnes: thou ſhalt not deſyre & ſo forth (ye there be eny other cōmaundemēt) they are all comprehended in thys ſayinge: Loue thyne neyghbour as thy ſelfe. Loue hurteth not hys neyghbour. Therfore is loue the fulfyllynge of the lawe. ✣

Loue is the fulfyllynge of the lawe.

D ✣ This alſo we knowe/ I meane ỹ ſeaſon/ howe that it is tyme ỹ we ſhuld now awake out of ſlepe. For now is oure ſaluacyō nearer then whē we beleued. The nyght is paſſed and the daye is come nie. Let vs therfore caſt away the deades of darcknes and let vs put on the (Armoure of lyght. Let vs walke honeſtly as it were in the daye lyght: not in eatynge and drynckynge: nether in chamburynge and wantannes nether in ſtrife & enuyinge: but put ye on ỹ Lorde Jeſus Chriſt. ✣ And make not prouyſyon for the fleſhe, to fulfyll the luſtes of it.

¶ The.xiiij. Chapter.

A Him ꝑ is weake in ꝑ fayth, receaue vnto you/ not in disputynge & troublinge hys conscẽce. One beleueth ꝑ he maye eate all thynge. Another which is weake, eateth earbes. Let not him ꝑ eateth, despise him that eateth not. And let not him which eateth not/ iudge him ꝑ eateth. For God hath receaued hym. What arte thou that iudgest a nother mannes seruaunt? Whether he stande or faule that pertayneth vnto his master: ye he shal stãde. For God is able to make him stande.

This man putteth differẽce betwene daye & daye. Another mã counteth all dayes alyke. Se ꝑ no mã wauer in his awne meanynge. He that obserueth one daye more then another, doeth it for the Lordes pleasure. And he that obserueth not one daye moare then another, doeth it to please the lorde also. He that eateth doth it to please ꝑ lorde, for he geueth God thankes. And he that eateth not, eateth not, to please the Lorde with all and geueth God thãkes. For none of vs liueth his awne seruaunt: neither doeth any of vs dye his awne seruaunt. If we liue, we liue to be at the Lordes wyll. And ꝑ we dye we dye at the Lords will. Whether we liue therfore or dye we are the Lordes. For Christ therfore dyed and rose agayne, and reuyued that he myght be Lorde both of dead and quicke.

But why doest thou then iudge thy brother? Other why doest thou despyse thy brother? We shalbe all brought before the iudgemẽt seate of Christ. For it is written: as truely as I liue say the Lorde, all knees shall bowe to me, and all tõges shall geue a knowledge to God. So shall euery one of vs geue accomptes of him selfe to God. Let vs not therfore iudge one another eny more.

But iudge thys rather, that no man put a stomblinge blocke or an occasion to faule in his brothers waye. For I knowe and am full certifyed in the Lorde Jesus that there is nothinge comen of it selfe: but vnto him ꝑ iudgeth it to be comen: to him is it comen. If thy brother be greued wt thy meate now walkest thou not charitablie. Destroye not him with thy meate for whom Christ dyed. Cause not youre [b] treasure to be euyll spokẽ of. For ꝑ kyngdome of God is not meate & drinke. but ryghtewesnes peace & ioye in ꝑ holy goost. For whosoeuer in these thinges serueth Christ pleaseth well God & is commended of men.

Let vs folowe the thinges which make for peace, & thynges wherwith one maye edifye another. Destroye not the worke of God for a lytell meates sake. All thinges are pure: but it is euyll for ꝑ mã, which eateth with hurte of hys conscyence. It is good nether to eate flesshe, nether to drynke wyne, nether eny thinge, wherby thy brother stombleth, ether falleth, or is made weake. Hast thou fayth? haue it with thy selfe before God. Happy is he that condẽpneth not him selfe in ꝑ thynge which he alloweth. For he that maketh conscience, is dãpned yf he eate: because he doth it not of fayth. For whatsoeuer is not of fayth, that same is synne.

A Him ꝑ is weake: he is weake that is counted & hath lytell profet. ¶ To be agaynst cõscience is damnable. And all ꝑ is not of fayth is synne.

¶ The infyrmyte and feaplnes of the weake ought to be borne with all loue and kyndnesse, after the ensample of Christ.

¶ The.xv. Chapter.

We which are strõge ought to beare ꝑ fraylnes of thẽ which are weake & not to stonde in oure awne conceytes. Let euery man please hys neyghbour vnto his welth and edifyinge. Christ pleased not him selfe: but as it is writtẽ. The rebukes of them which rebuked the fell on me. Whatsoeuer thinges are writtẽ afore tyme, are writtẽ for oure learninge, that we thorow pacyence & conforte of the scripture, myght haue hope. B he is strõge ꝑ can beare & suffer other mannes weaknes. ꝓ Psal. lxviij.

The God of pacience & consolacion, geue vnto euery one of you, ꝑ ye be lyke mynded one towardes another after the ensample of Christ Jesu: that ye all agreynge together, maye with one mouth prayse God ꝑ father of oure Lorde Jesus. Wherfore receaue ye one another as Christ receaued vs, to ꝑ prayse of God. And I saye that Jesus Christ was a minister of ꝑ circucision for the trueth of God, to confirme the promyses made vnto the fathers. And let the gentyls prayse God for his mercy as it is written: For this cause I will prayse the amonge the gentyls, and synge in thy name. And agayne he sayth: reioyse ye gẽtyles with his people. And agayne prayse ꝑ Lorde all ye gentyls, & laude him all nacõs. And in another place Esayas sayth: ther shal be ꝑ rote of Jesse, & he ꝑ shall ryse to raygne ouer the gentyls: in him shall ꝑ gentyls trust. The God of hope fyll you wyth all ioye and peace in beleuinge: that ye maye be ryche in hope thorowe the power of the holy goost. C D

I my selfe am full certified of you my brethren that ye youre selues are full of goodnes and fylled wyth all knowledge, & are able to exhorte one another. Nenertheless brethren I haue some what boldly wrytten vnto you, as one that putteth you in remembraunce, thorow ꝑ grace ꝑ is geuen me of God that I should be the mynyster of Jesu Christ amõge the Gentyls, and should minister the gladtydinges of God, that the gentyls myght be an acceptable offerynge sanctyfyed by the holy goost. C So haue I enforsed my selfe to preache ỹ Gospell/not where Christ was named/lest I shuld haue bylt on another mannes foundacyon: but as it is wrytten: To whom he was not spokē of/they shall se: & they that hearde not/ shall vnderstande. For thys cause I haue bene ofte let to come vnto you: but now seynge I haue no moare to do in these countres, and also haue bene desyrous many yeares to come vnto you/ when I shall take my iorney into Spayne/ I wyll come to you. I trust to se you in my iorney/& to be brought on my waye thytherwarde by you/after that I haue somwhat enioyed you.

Now go I vnto Jerusalem/and minister vnto the sayntes. For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia to make a certayne distribucion vpon ỹ poore * sayntes which are at Jerusalem. It hath pleased thē verely/ and their detters are they. For yf the Gentyls be made partetakers of their spirituall thinges then dutie is to minister vnto thē in carnall thinges. Wherfore I haue performed thys, & haue brought thē thys frute sealed I will come backe agayne by you into Spayne. And I am sure whē I come that I shal come with aboundaūce of the blessynge of ỹ Gospell of Christ. I beseche you brethrē for oure Lorde Jesus Christes sake/& for ỹ loue of ỹ spyrite/ that ye helpe me in my busynes wyth youre prayers to God for me that I maye be delyuered from them which beleue not in Jewry and that this my seruice/ which I haue to Jerusalem/ maye be accepted of the sayntes/ ỹ I maye come vnto you with ioye by ỹ will of God/& maye wyth you be refreshed. The God of peace be with you: Amen.

¶ The fyrst Epistle of Saynct Paul the Apostle to the Corynthyans.

¶ He commendeth the Corinthians / exhorteth them to be of one mynde / and rebuketh the deuision þ was amonge them. Worldly wysdome is folysshnes before God/ for there is no wysdo but in the despysed crosse of God.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

1 PAul by vocacyon an Apostle of Jesus Christ thorow the wyll of God / and brother Sosthenes.

2 Vnto the congregacion of God which is at Corynthum. To them that are sanctifyed in Christ Jesu/ *as saynctes by callynge. with all þ call on þ name of oure Lorde Jesus Christ in euery place, both of theirs and of oures.

*As Saynctes by callynge. Of this take Roma.i.a.

3 Grace be with you and peace frō God oure father/and from the Lorde Jesus Christ.

4 ✝ I thanke my God all wayes on youre behalfe/for the grace of God which is geuē you by Jesus Christ, þ in all thinges ye are made ryche by him in all lernynge and in all knowledge

5 euen as the testimony of Jesus Christ was cōfermed in you so that ye are behynde in no gyft/ & wayte for the appearyng of oure Lorde Jesus Christ which shall stablysshe you

6.Cor.i.b. 8 vnto the ende, that ye maye be blamelesse in the daye of oure Lorde Jesus Christ. 9 For God is faythfull by whom ye are called vnto þ felysshippe of his sonne Jesus Christ oure Lorde. I beseche you brethren in the name of oure Lorde Jesus Christ/ that ye all speake one thynge & þ there be no dissencion amōge you: but be ye knyt to gether in one mynde & in one meanynge. 11 It is shewed vnto me(my brethren)of you, by them that are of Chloe, that there is stryfe amonge you. 12 And this is it that I meane: how that comenly ye amōge you, one sayeth: I holde of Paul: another I holde of Apollo: the thyrde I holde of Cephas: the fourth I holde of Christ. 13 Is Christ deuided? was Paul crucified for you? ether were ye baptised in the name of Paul? 14 I thanke God that I christened none of you, 15 but Crispus and Gayus, lest eny shulde saye þ I had baptised in myne awne name. 16 I baptised also the house of Stephana. Forther more knowe I not whether I baptised eny man or no.

17 For Christ sent me not to baptyse / but to preache the Gospell / not wyth wysdome of wordes / lest the crosse of Christ shulde haue bene made of none effecte. 18 For the preachyng of the crosse is to them that perisshe folysshnes but vnto vs which are saued it is the power of God. 19 For it is wrytten: I wyll destroye the wysdome of the wyse / and wyll caste awaye the vnderstandynge of the prudēt. 20 Where is the wyse? Where is the scribe? Where is the searcher of this worlde? Hath not God made the wysdome of this worlde folysshnes? 21 For when the worlde thorowe wysdome knewe not God / in the wysdome of God: it pleased God thorow folysshnes of preachynge to saue them that beleue. 22 For the Jewes requyre a sygne/ & the Grekes seke after wysdome. 23 But we preache Christ crucified/ vnto the Jewes an occasyon/ of fallynge / & vnto the Grekes folysshnes: 24 but vnto them which are called both of the Jewes and *Grekes/ we preache Christ the power of God and the wysdome of God. 25 For the folysshnes of God is wyser then men: & the weakenes of God is stronger then men. 26 Brethren loke on youre callynge how that not many wyse men after þ flesshe, not many myghty not many of hye degre are called: 27 But God hath chosen the folysshe thynges of the worlde to confounde þ wyse. And God hath chosyn þ weake thinges of the worlde/ to confounde thynges which are myghty. 28 And vyle thynges of the worlde/ & thynges which are despised, hath God chosen, yee and thinges of no reputacyon for to bringe to nought thynges of reputacyon, 29 þ no flesshe shulde reioyce in his presence. 30 And vnto him partayne ye in Christ Jesu which of God is made vnto vs wysdome / and also rightwesnes & sanctifyinge and redēpcion 31 That accordynge as it is wrytten: he which *reioyseth shulde reioyce in the Lorde.

AND I brethē when I came to you/ came not in gloriousnes of wordes or of wysdom, shewynge vnto you ꝑ testimony of God. Nether shewed I my selfe that I knewe eny thynge amonge you saue Iesus Christ, euen the same ꝑ was crucified. And I was amōge you in weaknes/ and in feare, and in moche tremblynge. And my wordes & my preachynge was not wyth entysynge wordes of mannes wysdome: but in shewynge of the spirite and of power that youre fayth shuld not stande in the wysdome of men: but in the power of God.

Perfect are they that vnderstande the lawe, fayth & workes truly & profesle them.

B That we speake of/ is wysdome amonge thē that are perfecte: not the wysdom of thys worlde / nether of the rulars of thys worlde (which go to nought) but we speake ꝑ wysdome of God/ which is in secrete & lyeth hyd/ which God ordeyned before the worlde/ vnto oure glory: which wysdom none of ꝑ rulars of this worlde knewe. For had they knowen it/ they wolde not haue crucified the Lord of glory. But as it is wrytten: The eye hath not sene/ & the eare hath not hearde/ nether haue entred into the hert of mā/ the thinges which God hath prepared for them that loue hym.

C But God hath opened thē vnto vs by hys spirite. For the spirite searcheth all thynges/ ye the botome of Godes secretes. For what man knoweth the thinges of a man: saue the spirite of a man which is with in him. Euē so the thynges of God knoweth no mā but the spirite of God. And we haue not receaued the spirite of the worlde: but the spirite which cōmeth of God / for to knowe the thynges that are geuen to vs of God / which thynges also we speake / not in the conynge wordes of mannes wysdome / but with the conynge wordes of the holy ghost/ makyng spirituall comparisons of spirituall thynges. For the naturall man perceaueth not the thinges of the spirite of God. For they are but folysshnes vnto him. Nether can he perceaue them / because he is spiritually examined. But he that is spirituall discusseth all thinges: yet he him selfe is iudged of no mā*. For who knoweth the mynde of the Lord, other who shall enfourme him? But we vnderstande ꝑ mynde of Christ.

If the worlde shalbe iudged by you: are ye not good ynough to iudge small trifles: knowe ye not how ỹ we shall iudge ỹ angels? How moche more maye we iudge thynges that pertayne to the lyfe? If ye haue iudgementes of worldely matters take them which are despysed in the congregacyon/ & make them iudges. B. This I saye to youre shame. Is ther vtterly no wyse man amonge you? What not one at all/ that can iudge betwene brother and brother/ but one brother goeth to lawe with another: and that vnder the vnbeleuers?

Now

Now therfore there is vtterly a faute amonge you/because ye go to lawe one wyth another. Why rather suffer ye not wronge? why rather suffre ye not youre selues to be robbed? naye/ye youre selues do wronge/& robbe: & that the brethre. Do ye not remember how that the vnryghteous shall not inherit the kyngdome of God? Be not deceaued. Nether fornicatours/ nether worshyppers of ymages/ nether whoremongers/ nether weaklinges/ nether abusers of the selues with ꝑ mankynde/ nether theues/ nether couetouse/ nether dronckardes/ nether cursed speakers/ nether pylers/ shall inherit the kyngdom of God. And soche were ye verely: but ye are washed: ye are sanctified: ye are iustified by the name of the Lorde Iesus/ & by the spyrite of oure God.

These & suche haue no part in Christ.

Sanctifienge & iustifye. I come by Christ & hys spyrite.

All thynges are lawfull vnto me: but all thynges are not profytable. I maye do all thynges: but I will be brought vnder nomans power. Meates are ordeyned for the belly/ & the belly for meates: but God shall destroye both it & them. Let not the body be applyed vnto fornycacion, but vnto the Lorde/ & the Lorde vnto the body. God hath rayled vp the Lorde/ & shall rayse vs vp by his power.

Oure bodyes are the membres of Christ.

Nether remember ye not/ that youre bodyes are ꝑ membres of Christ? shall I now take ꝑ membres of Christ/ & make the membres of an harlot? God forbyd. Do ye not vnderstande that he whych coupleth hym selfe with an harlot/ is become one body? For two (sayth he) shalbe one flesshe. But he that is ioyned vnto the Lorde/ is one spyrite.

Flie fornicacyon. All synnes ꝑ a man doth/ are without the body. But he that is a fornicator/ synneth agaynst his awne body. Ether knowe ye not how that youre bodyes are the temple of the holy ghost/ which is in you/ whō ye haue of God/ & how that ye are not youre awne? For ye are dearly bought. Therfore glorifye ye God in youre bodyes and in youre spyrites, for they are Goddes.

Of mariage/ virginite & wyddowheade.

The.vij. Chapter.

As cōcernyng the thynges wherof ye wrote vnto me: it is good for a man/ not to touche a woman. Neuertheles to auoyde fornicacion/ let euery man haue his wyfe: & let euery woman haue her husbande. Let the man geue vnto the wyfe due benenolence. Lykewyse also ꝑ wyfe vnto ꝑ man. The wyfe hath not power ouer her awne body: but the husbande. And lykewyse ꝑ husbāde hath not power ouer his awne body: but the wyfe. Withdrawe not youre selues one from another/ except it be by cōsent for a time/ for to geue youre selues to fastynge & prayer. And afterwarde come agayne to the same thynge/ lest Satan tempt you for youre incontinencie.

This I saye of fauoure/ and not of commaundement. For I wolde that all men were as I my selfe am: but euery man hath hys proper gyfte of God one after this manner/ another after that. I saye vnto the vnmaried men and wyddowes: it is good for them ye they abyde euen as I do. But and ye they cannot abstayne/ lett them marry. For it is better to marry then to *burne.

*To burne after S. Ambro is when the will consenteth to the lust of ꝑ flesshe.

Vnto the maryed cōmaunde not I but ꝑ Lorde: that the wyfe separate not her selfe frō the man. If she separate her selfe/ let her remayne vnmaryed or be reconcyled vnto her husbande agayne. And lett not the husbande put awaye his wyfe from him.

To the remnaunt speake I & not ꝑ Lord. If eny brother haue a wyfe ꝑ believeth not/ yf she be content to dwell with him lett hym not put her awaye. And ꝑ woman which hath to her husbande an infidell yf he consent to dwell with her/ lett her not put hym awaye. For the vnbelevynge husbande is sanctified by the wyfe & the vnbelevynge wyfe is sanctifyed by ꝑ husband. Or els were your chyldren vncleane: but* now are they pure. But and yf the vnbelevynge departe/ lett hym departe. A brother or a systeris not in subiection to soche. God hath called vs in peace. For how knowest thou o woman, whether thou shalt saue ꝑ man or no? Other how knowest thou o man whether thou shalt saue ꝑ woman or no: but euen as God hath distributed to euery man.

*Now are they pure. Sith that children are cleane & pure by nature for that were agaynst the Apostle simicle/ which mayntayneth that all are vnder originall synne & nature hath the ryght hem of God

Lyke as God hath called euery person so let him walche: and so ordeyn I in all congregations ꝑ eny man be called beynge circumcised let him adde nothynge therto. If eny be called vncircumcised: let hym not be circumcised. Circumcision is nothynge, vncircumcision is nothynge: but the kepyng of the commaundmentes of God is all together.

Further vnderstonding is here that like as all thinges are cleane vnto the cleane. Titum. i. Euen so a chyld or man all vnto chasten wyfe is cleane so that he ware be conuersaunt with her/ & not offende in so doynge & sith the children of the are not to be repuied as vnlawfull or vncleane.

Let euery man abyde in the same state wherin he was called. Arte thou called a seruaunt? care not for it. Neuertheles yf thou mayst be free vse it rather. For he ꝑ is called in the Lorde beynge a seruaunt is the Lordes freman. Lykewyse he that is called beynge free is Christes seruaūt. Ye are dearly bought/ *be not mens seruaūtes. Brethre let euery man wherin he is called therin abyde wyth God.

Be not ye ouer ryd of men ꝑ meane. regarde mennes precepies & ordynaunces than the very institucions of God: ye than God hym selfe. This forbydeth S. Paul here & not that a man ought deny to be seruaūtes to oure maysters to whō we be bound accordyng to the cōmō order appoynted in commen welthes.

As concernynge virgins I haue no cōmaundement of the Lorde: yet geue I counsell, as one ꝑ hath obtayned mercye of ꝑ Lorde to be faythfull. I suppose ꝑ it is good for the present* necessite. For it is good for a man so to be. Arte thou bounde vnto a wyfe? seke not to be lowsed. Arte thou lowsed from a wyfe? seke not a wyfe. But & yf thou take a wyfe

Though we are greatly ecclesiasticall debarred for the places of the Scripture to be obedyent with loue & diligence in all thynges aggreable to Goddes holy worde.

*If a man haue the gyfte chastite is good the more quyetlye to serue God. For the a wyfe

married haue ofte moche trouble but yf the mynde of the chast be combred wyth other worldly busines whether it perish and yf the maried be the more quyet man dre thereby what hurteth it? Neyther of it selfe is better then the other or pleaseth God more then the other. Neyther is outwarde circumcision or outwarde happyne worth a pennie of them selues. Saue that they put vs in remembraunce to kepe the couenaunt made betwene vs and God.

a wyfe thou synnest not. Lykewyse yf a virgin mary / she synneth not. Neuerth. lesse soche shall haue trouble in their flesshe-but I sauer you.

This sayd I brethen, the tyme is shorte. It remaynyth that they which haue wyues / be as though they had none and they that wepe be as though they wept not: and they that reioyce be as though they reioyced not: & they that bye, be as though they possessed not: and they that vse this worlde, be as though they vsed it not For the fassiō of this worlde goeth awaye. I wolde haue you without care. The single mā careth for the thynges of ỹ Lorde how he maye please ỹ Lorde. But he ỹ hath maried, careth for the thynges of the worlde / how he maye please his wyfe. There is difference betwene a virgin & a wyfe. The single womā careth for the thynges of the Lorde, ỹ she maye be pure both in body & also in spyrete But she that is maried / careth for the thynges of the worlde, how she maye please her husband This speake I for youre profit / not to tangle you in a snare: but for ỹ which is honest & comly vnto you / & ỹ ye maye quyetly cleaue vnto the Lorde without separacyon.

If eny man thinke that it is vncomly for his virgin / yf she passe the tyme of marriage / and yf so nede requyre / lett hym do what he lysteth, he synneth not: lett thē be coupled in mariage. Neuertheles he that purposeth surely in his herte, hauyng none nede: but hath power ouer his awne wyll: & hath so decreed in his herte / that he wyll kepe hys virgin / doth well. So then he ỹ ioyneth hys virgin in mariage, doth well But he ỹ ioyneth not his virgin in mariage, doth better. The wyfe is bounde to the lawe as longe as her husbād lyueth. If her husband slepe, she is at lyberte to mary with whō she wyll, only in ỹ Lorde. But she is happyar yf she so abyde / in my iudgement. And I thinke verely that I haue the spyrete of God.

¶ She rebuketh thē ỹ vse their liberte to the slaunder of other / and sheweth how men ought to behaue them towarde soch as be weake.

¶ The.viij. Chapter.

I As tytle lotte is better thē moche knowledge

TO speake of thinges dedicate vnto ydols, we are sure that we all haue knowledge. Knowledge maketh a man swell: but loue edifieth. If eny mā thynke ỹ he knoweth eny thyng he knoweth nothyng yet as he ought to know But yf eny mā loue God / ỹ same is knowē of hym.

To speake of meate dedycat vnto ydols / we are sure ỹ ther is none ydoll in ỹ worlde and that ther is none other God but one. And though ther be that are called Goddes whether in heauē other in erth (as ther be Godds many and lordes many) yet vnto vs is there but one God / which is the father / of whō are B all thynges / and we in him: and one Lorde Iesus Christ by whom are all thynges / and we by him. But euery man hath not knowledge. For some suppose that ther is an ydoll vntyll this houre / and eate as a thynge offered vnto the ydole / and so their consciences beynge yet weake / are defyled. Meate maketh vs not acceptable to God. Neyther yf we eate / are we ỹ better. Neyther yf we eate not / are we the worse.

But take hede that youre liberte cause not the weake to fall. For yf some man se the which hath knowledge syt at meate in ỹ ydols temple, shall not the conscience of him whych is weake / be boldened to eate those thynges which are offered to the ydole? And so thorow thy knowledge shall ỹ weake brother perisshe for whom Christ dyed. When ye synne so agaynst the brethē, & wounde their weake consciences / ye synne agaynst Christ Wherfore yf meate hurt my brother / I wyll eate no flesshe whyll the worlde standeth, because I wyll not hurte my brother.

In all our dedes we must haue a respect to oure nepbowres weth.

Charyte what it dorth.

¶ Loue forbeareth the thynge that she maye do by ỹ lawe. & exhorteth thē to runne on forth in the course that they haue begonne.

¶ The.ix. Chapter.

AM I not an Apostle? am I not free? haue I not sene Iesus Christ oure Lorde? Are ye not my worke in the Lorde? If I be not an Apostle vnto other yet am I vnto you. For the seale of myne Apostleshippe are ye in ỹ Lord. Myne answer to them that aske me, is this. Haue we not power to eate and to drynche? Haue we not power to leade about a sister to wyfe, as well as other Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lorde & Cephas? Other only I and Barnabas haue not power this to do? Who goeth a warfare eny tyme at his awne cost? who planteth a vyneyarde, & eateth not of ỹ frute? Who fedeth a flocke & eateth not of the mylcke?

A Paule proueth him selfe an Apostle equall to the best in ỹ the spirite wereth record to hys preachyng & in that as manye wer by him cō uerted as by the other Apostles

Saye I these thynges after the maner of men? Or sayth not ỹ lawe the same also? For it is wrytte in ỹ lawe of Moses: Thou shalt not mosell the mouth of ỹ ore that treadeth oute the corne. Doth God take thought for oxen? Other sayth he it not all together for oure sakes? For oure sakes no doute thys is wrytten: that he which careth / shulde care in hope: & that he which thresheth in hope / shuld be partaker of his hope. If we sowe vnto you spirituall thynges: is it a great thynge yf we repe youre carnall thynges? If other be partakers of this power ouer you, wherfore are not we rather?

B The preacher hath ryghte to chalenge a lyuynge for his labour.

Neuertheles we haue not vsed thys power: but suffre all thynges lest we shulde hynder

hynder the Gospell of Christ. Do ye not vnderstande how that they which minister in ỹ temple/haue their lyndynge of the temple? And they which wayte at the aulter/are partakers with the aulter. Euen so also dyd the Lorde ordayne, that they which preache the Gospell/shulde lyue of the Gospell. But I ℭ haue vsed none of these thynges.

Nether wrote I these thyngs that it shuld be so done vnto me. For it were better for me to dye, then that eny man shuld take this reioysynge from me. In that I preache the gospell/I haue nothynge to reioyce of. For necessite is put vnto me. Woo is it vnto me yf I preache not the Gospell. If I do it wt a good wyll/I haue a reward. But yf I do it agaynst my will, an office is cõmitted vnto me. What is my reward then? Euen ly that when I preache the Gospell I make the Gospell of Christ fre, that I misuse not myne auctorite in the Gospell.

He ỹ worcketh of loue to hys newquire hath his reward.

For though I be fre frõ all men/ yet haue I made my selfe seruaunt vnto all men/that ℞ I myght wynne the moo. Vnto the Iewes/I became as a Iewe, to wynne the Iewes. To them that were vnder the lawe/ was I made as though I had bene vnder ỹ lawe, to wynne them that were vnder the lawe. To thẽ ỹ were with out lawe/ became I as though I had bene with oute lawe (when I was not wt out lawe as perteynynge to God/ but vnder a lawe as concernynge Christ) to wynne thẽ that were with oute lawe. To the weake became I as weake, to wynne ỹ weake. In all thynge I fassoned my selfe to all men/ to saue at the lest waye some. And this I do for the Gospels sake/ that I myghte haue my parte therof.

✠ Perceaue ye not how ỹ they which runne in a course/runne all/ yet but one receaueth the rewarde. So runne ỹ ye maye obtayne. Euery man ỹ proueth masteries/abstayneth from all thynges. And they do it to obtayne a corruptible croune: but we to obtayne an vncorruptible croune. I therfore so runne/ not as at an vncertayne thinge. So fyght I/not as one that beateth the ayer: but I tame my body/and bringe it into subiectiõ/ lest after ỹ I haue preached to other/ I my selfe shuld be a cast awaye. ✠

ℭ The .x. Chapter.

A Lthough I wolde not that ye shuld be ignorant of this, how ỹ oure fathers were all vnder a cloude/ & all passed thorow ỹ see/ & were all baptised vnder Moses in the cloude & in the see: & did all eate of one spirituall meate, and

As it went in the olde Testament so shall it do in the newe. Exodi. xvi. d. Exodi. xvii. e.

dyd *all drynke of one maner of spyrituall drynke. And they dranke of that spirituall rocke that folowed them/ which rocke was Christ. ✠ But in many of them had God no delyte. For they were ouerthrowen in the wyldernes. *Exodi. xvi. c. Exo. xvi. b. Numer. xx. a. Nume. xxv. b. Numer. xiiij. e

These are ensamples to vs ✠ ỹ we shulde not lust after euyll thynges/as they lusted. Nether be ye worshyppers of ymages as were some of thẽ accordynge as it is wrytte: The people sate doune to eate & drynche/ & rose vp agayne to playe. Nether let vs cõmit fornicacyõ as some of them committed/ & were destroyed in one daye. xxiij. thousande. Nether lett vs tempte Christ/ as some of them tempted/and were destroyed of serpẽtes. Nether murmure ye as some of thẽ murmured & were destroyed of ỹ destroyer. ℭ *Exodi. xxxii. b Nume. xxv. a. Psalm. cv. d

All these thynges happened vnto them for ensamples/ and were wrytte̅ to put vs in remembraunce/whom the endes of the worlde are come vpon. Wherfore let him that thynketh he stodeth/take hede least he fall. There hath none other temptacyon taken you, but soche as foloweth the nature of man. But God is faythfull/ which shall not suffer you to be tempted aboue youre strenght: but shall in the myddes of ỹ temptacion make a waye to escape out. ✠ Wherfore my deare beloued flie from worshippynge of ydols.

I speake as vnto them which haue discre- ℞ cion/iudge ye what I saye. Is not the cuppe Cup. of blessyng which we bless/ partakynge of ỹ bloude of Christ? is not the breed which we breake/partetakynge of the body of Christ? because that we (though we be many) yet are one breed & one bodye in as moche as we all are partakers of one breed. Beholde Israel which walketh carnally. Are not they which eate of the sacrifyce/partetakers of ỹ aulter? Breed.

What saye I then? that the ymage is eny thinge? or that it which is offered to ymages is eny thynge? Nay but I saye/ that these thinges which the gentyls offer/they offer to deuyls/ & not to God. ℭ

✠ And I wolde not that ye shulde haue fellishippe with the deuyls. Ye can not drynche of the cup of the Lorde/ & of the cup of ỹ deuyls. Ye cannot be ỹ partakers of the Lordes table, and of the table of deuelles. Ether shall we prouoke the Lorde? Or are we stronger then he? All thyngs are lawfull vnto me, but all thynges are not expedient. All thyngs are lawfull to me, but all thyngs edifye not. Let noman seke hys awne profict: but let euery man seke another̅s welthe. Pe rebuketh them for yͤ abuse and misordre that they had about the Sacrament of the body and blonde of Christ/ & bringeth the agayne to the fyrst institucion.

¶ The.xi. Chapter. •

I Cõmende you brethren that ye remember me in all thynges & kepe the ordinaunces euen as I delyuered them to you. I wolde ye knew that Christ is the heed of euery man And the mã is the womãs heed. And God is Christes heed Euery man prayynge or prophesynge hauing eny thynge on his heed shameth hys heed. Euery woman that prayeth or prophesieth bare hedded/ dishonesteth hyr heed. For it is euen all one, and the very same thynge/ euen as though she were shauen. If the woman be not couered/ let her also be shoren. If it be shame for a woman to be shorne or shauen/ let her couer her heed.

B A man ought not to couer his heed/ for as moche as he is the ymage and glory of God. The woman is the glory of the man. For the man is not of the woman/ but the woman of the mã. Nether was the mã created for yͤ womãs sake: but the womã for the mãnes sake.

¶ For this cause ought the womã to haue* power on her heed for the angels sakes Neuertheles nether is the mã without the womã/ nether yͤ womã without the mã in yͤ Lorde. For as the woman is of the man/ euen so is the man by the woman: but all is of God.

* Power is as moche to saye as a syg̃e that the womã is in subiection and hath an heed ouer hyr.

Iudge in youre selues whether it be comly yͤ a womã praye vnto God bare heeded. Or els doth not nature teach you/ yͤ it is a shame for a man/ yf he haue longe heere: & a prayse to a woman yf she haue longe heere? For her heere is geuẽ her to couer her withall. Yf ther be any man amõge you that lusteth to stryue let hym knowe yͤ we haue no soche custome/ nether the congregacyons of God.

This I warne you of/ and commende not that ye come to gether: not after a better maner but after a worse. ✠ Fyrst of all when ye come to gether in the congregacõ/ I heare yͤ there is dyssencyõ among you: & I partely beleue it For there must be sectes amõge you, that they wyych are perfect among you/ myght be knowẽ. When ye come to gether/ a man cãnot eate the Lordes supper. For euery mã begynneth afore to eate his awne supper And one is hõgry/ & another is dronchẽ. Haue ye not houses to eate & to drynke in? Or els dispyse ye the congregacyõ of God/ and shame them that haue not? What shall I saye vnto you? shall I prayse you? In thys prayse I you not. ✠

The Lordes supper.

✠ That which I delyuered vnto you I receaued of yͤ Lorde. For the Lorde Iesus the same nyght in which he was betrayed/ toke breed: & thanked & brake/ & sayde. Take ye/ & eate ye: this is my body which is broken for you. * This do ye in the remembraũce of me. After the same maner he toke the cup when supper was done sayynge. This do as often as ye drynke it/ in remembraũce of me. For as often as ye shall eate this breed/ and drincke this cup ye shall shewe yͤ Lordes deeth/ tyll he come. Wherfore whosoeuer shall eate of this breed, or drynke of yͤ cup vnworthely/ shalbe gylty of the body & blond of yͤ Lorde. Let a man therfore examen hym selfe/ & so let hym eate of the breed & drynke of yͤ cup. For he that eateth or drynketh vnworthely/ eateth & drinketh hys awne damnacyõ, because he maketh no differẽce of yͤ Lordes body. ✠ For this cause many a one is weake & sycke amonge you/ & many slepe. If we haue truly iudged oure selues/ we shuld not haue bene iudged. But when we are iudged of yͤ Lorde we are chastened/ because we shulde not be damned with the worlde. Wherfore my brethren whẽ ye come to gether to eate/ tary one another. If any mã hõger let him eate at home/ yͤ ye come not together vnto condẽnacyõ. Other thynges will I set in order whẽ I come.

Rom.xii.a. Ephe.iii.b.

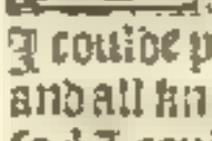
For as the body is one/ & hath many membres/and all ꝑ membres of one body though they be many/yet are but one body: euē so is Christ. For in one spyrite are we all baptysed to make one body / whether we be Iewes or Gentyls whether we be bonde or fre & haue all droncke of one spyrite. For the body is not one membre, but many. If ꝑ foote saye: I am not the hande, therfore I am not of the body: is he therfore not of the body? And yf ꝑ eare saye, I am not the eye: therfore I am not of ꝑ body: is he therfore not of ꝑ body? If all the body were an eye, where were then the eare? If all where hearynge: where were the smellynge? But now hath God disposed the membres euery one of thē in ꝑ body/at his awne pleasure. If they were all one membre: where were the bodye? Now are there many membres/ yet but one body. And the eye can not saye vnto ꝑ hand / I haue no nede of the: nor the heed also to ꝑ fete/ I haue no nede of you. Yee rather a great deale those membres of ꝑ body wh̄ych seme to be most feble / are most necessary. And vpō those membres of ꝑ body which we thynke lest honest put we most honestie on. And oure vngodlye partes haue most beauty on. For oure honest membres nede it not. But God hath so disposed ꝑ body/ ꝑ hath geuē most honoure to ꝑ parte wh̄ych lacked lest there shuld be eny stryfe in ꝑ body: but that the membres shuld indifferētly care one for another. And yf one member suffer/ all suffer with him: yf one member be had in honour/all membres be glad also.

Ye are ꝑ body of Christ/ & membres one of another. And God hath also ordeyned in the cōgregacion, fyrst the Apostles, secondarely prophetes, thyrdly teachers / then them that do myracles: after that / the gyftes of healyng/helpers, gouerners, diuersite of tōges.

Are all Apostles? Are all Prophetes? Are all teachers? Are all doars of miracle? Haue all the gyftes of healynge? Do all speake w tonges? Do all interprete? Couet after the beest gyftes. And yet shewe I vnto you a moare excellent waye.

¶ The nature and condicions of loue.

¶ The.xiii.Chapter. ✠



Though I spake with the tonges of men & angels, & yet had no loue, I were euē as sounding brasse: or as a tynklynge cymbal. And though I coulde prophesy/ & vnderstāde all secretes/ and all knowledge: yee yf I had* all fayth/ so ꝑ I coulde remoue mountayns out of their places, & yet had no loue, I were nothynge. And though I bestowed all my goodes to fede the poore and though I gaue my body euen that I burned/ & yet had no loue, it profeteth me nothynge.

Loue suffreth longe & is corteous. Loue enuyeth not. Loue doth not frowardly, swelleth not/ dealeth not dishonestly / seketh not her awne/ is not prouoked to anger/ thynketh not euyll, reioyseth not in iniquite: but reioyseth in the trueth/ suffreth all thyngs/ beleueth all thyngs/ hopeth all thyngs/ endureth in all thyngs. ¶ Though ꝑ prophesyinge fayle/ other tonges shall ceasse, or knowledge vanysshe away/ yet loue falleth neuer awaye.

For oure knowledge is vnperfect & oure prophesyinge is vnperfect. But wh̄ē ꝑ which is perfect is come then that which is vnperfect shalbe done away. When I was a chylde I spake as a chylde I vnderstode as a chylde I ymagined as a chylde. But assone as I was a man, I put awaye chyldishnes. Now we se in a glasse even in a darcke speakyng but then shall we se face to face. Now I knowe vnperfectly: but then shall I knowe euen as I am knowen. Now abydeth fayth/ hope and loue, euen these thre: but* ꝑ chefe of these is loue. H ¶ Loue is the chefe of all, & loue ꝑ-ceaueth all reasō but cōtempneth the applying of all thīges to the profyte of the congregacion. ¶ Of this lerneth scripture one principall thīg diuersite referred to be now vnderstode not one thīge to another & therconcerning prouoketh for the necessite of the neyghbour rather to a loue of fayth/ but concerneth the iustifying of iustification and saluacion doth Paul vnderstande know I, & am ꝑsuaded I am not ignorant of scripture what fayth doth in iustifyeng but what loue doth to make vs ready in the congregacion to loue chefe for it liketh vs better to loue the profyte. To this entre onely doth Paul agree, & all the rest place here. Erasmus in his annotacyō vpon this place doth like wyse expounde it.

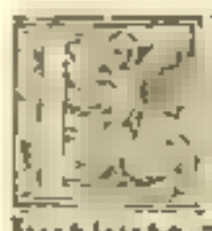
* A Prophesyīg is here take for expoundynge.

Speaketh with ꝑ gyfte of prophesye interpretyng or preachynge excelleth the gyfte of tonges / and how they both ought to be vsed.

¶ The xiiii.Chapter.



Laboure for loue & couet spyrituall gyftes: and most chefely for to prophesye. For he that speaketh with tonges / speeketh not vnto men but vnto God. For no man heareth him. Howbeit in the spyrite he speaketh misteries. But he that* prophesieth / speaketh vnto men, to edifyinge, to exhortacion and to comforte. He that speaketh with tonges profiteth him selfe: he that prophesieth, edifieth the congregacion. I wolde that ye all spake w tonges: but rather that ye prophesied. For greater is he that prophesyeth then he that speaketh w tonges, except he expounde it also: that the congregacion may haue edifying. Now brethren / yf I come vnto you speakynge with tonges: what shall I profyt you / except I

speake to you/other by reuelacion or knowledge/or prophesynge/or doctrine.

Moreouer whē thinges without lyfe geue sounde: whether it be a pype or an harpe: except they make a distincciō in the soundes: how shall it be knowen what is pyped or harped? And also yf the trompe geue an vncertayne voyce / who shall prepare hym selfe to fyghte? Euen so lykewyse when ye speake w tonges/except ye speake wordes that haue signyficacion / how shall it be vnderstande what is spoken? For ye shall but speake in the ayer.

Many kyndes of voyces are in ꝑ world/ ¶ and none of them are with out signyficacīō. Yf I knowe not what the voyce meaneth / I shalbe vnto him that speaketh / an alient & he ꝑ speaketh shalbe an alient vnto me. Euē so ye(for as moche as ye coueit spyrituall giftes) seke that ye maye haue plentye vnto the edifyinge of the congregacion.

Wherfore let him ꝑ speaketh with tonges praye that he maye interpret also. For I praye w tonges my spyrite prayeth: but my mynde is wythout fruite. What is it then? I will praye with the  spyrite/& will praye with ꝑ mynde also. I will synge with the spyrite, and will synge with the mynde also.

 To speaketh tonges/or with the spirite/is to speake ꝑ other vnderstond not as ꝑ rites saye their Grayce. To speake w the mynde is to speake that other vnderstonde/ as wel the preacher p̄eacheth

For els when thou blessest with the spyrite/ how shall he that occupyeth the rowme of the vnlearned saye Amē at the geuynge of thanckes, seynge he vnderstandeth not what thou sayest? Thou verely geuest thāckes well / but the other is not edified. I thanke my God I speake with tonges moare then ye all. Yet had I leuer in the congregacyon / to speake fyue wordes with my mynde to the informacion of other rather then ten thousand wordes with the tonges.

Brethren be not chyldren in wytte. How be it as cōcerning malicyousnes, be chyldrē but in witte be perfect. In ꝑ lawe it is written with other tonges and with other lippes will I speake vnto this people/ & yet for all that, will they not heare me sayth the Lorde Wherfore, tonges are for a sygne, not to thē that beleue: but to them that beleue not. Contrary wyse, prophesynge serueth not for thē that beleue not: but for them wbych beleue.

All order must be lawed with the doctrine of God, & not w good meanyng only.

Ye therfore when all the congregacyon is come to gether and all speake with tonges/ ther come in they that are vnlearned or they which beleue not: will they not saye ꝑ ye are out of youre wites? But & yf all prophesy/ ¶ and ther come in one ꝑ beleueth not / or one vnlearned/he is rebuked of all men/& is iudged of euery man: & so are the secretes of hys hert opened/and so falleth he doune on hys face/and worshippeth God / and sayth that God is with you in dede.

How is it then brethren? When ye come together, euery mā hath his songe/ hath his doctrine, hath his tonge / hath his reuelacion/ hath his interpretacīō. Let all thinges be done vnto edifyinge. Yf eny mā speake wyth tonges/let it be two attonce or at the most thre attonce and that by course/and lett another interprete it. But yf ther be no interpreter/ let him kepe sylence in the congregacion / & let him speake to him selfe and to God.

Let the prophetes speake two attonce/or thre attonce/& let the other iudge. Yf eny reuelacion be made to another that sytteth by/ let the fyrst holde his peace. For ye maye all prophesy one by one/that all maye learne/ & all maye haue comforte. For the spyretes of ꝑ Prophetes are in the power of ꝑ Prophetes. For God is not causer of stryfe: but of peace/ as he is in all other cōgregacīōs of ꝑ sayncte.

Let youre wyues kepe sylence in the congregacions. For it is not permitted vnto thē to speake: but let thē be vnder obedience / as sayth ꝑ lawe. Yf they will learne eny thinge/ let thē aske their husbandes at home. For it is a shame for wemen to speake in the cōgregacīō. Sprange the worde of God frō you? Other came it vnto you only? If eny mā thynke he hym selfe a Prophet or ghostly/let him understande what thynges I write vnto you For they are ꝑ cōmaundemētes of the Lorde. But & yf eny mā be ignorant, let hym be ignorāt. Wherfore brethren couet to prophesye & forbyd not to speake with tonges. And let all thinges be done honestly & in order.

The resurrecyon of the dead.

The.xv. Chapter.

Brethren as pertayninge to ꝑ gospell which I preached vnto you/ which ye haue also accepted / and in the which ye contynue / by the which also ye are saued: I do you to wit / after what maner I preached vnto you / yf ye kepe it/except ye haue beleued in vayne.

For fyrst of all I delyuered vnto you that which I receaued: how ꝑ Christ dyed for our synnes, agreynge to the scriptures: and that he was buried, & ꝑ he arose agayne ꝑ thirde daye accordynge to the scriptures: and that he was sene of Cephas, then of the twelue. After that he was sene of moo then fyue hundred brethrē attōce: of which many remayne vnto this daye / and many are fallen a slepe. After that appered he to Iames / then to all the Apostles.

And last of all he was sene of me/ as of one that was borne oute of due tyme. For I am ꝑ leest of all the apostles which am not worthy to be called an Apostle because I persecuted the congregacion of God. But by the grace of God I am that I am. And his grace

✝ If Christ be preached how that he rose Resurrection. frō the deed: how saye some that are amonge you/that there is no resurrection of the deed?
If there be no rysynge agayne of ỳ deed: then is Christ not risen. ¶ If Christ be not risen/then is oure preachyng bayne/ & your fayth is also in bayne. Ye and we are founde falle wytnesses of God. For we haue testifyed of God/how that he rayled vp Christ whom he rayled not vp/ yf it be so that ỳ deed rise not agayne. For yf the deed rise not agayne then is Christ not risen agayne. If it be so that Christ rose not/then is youre faith in bayne/& yet are ye in youre synnes. Ānd therto they which are fallen a slepe in Christ are perys-shed. If in this lyfe only we beleue on Christ/then are we of all men the miserablest.

But now is Christ risen from the deed/ &

Why stonde we in ieoperdy euery houre? By oure reioysinge which I haue in Christ Iesu oure Lorde, I dye dayly.
That I haue fought ỳ beastes at Epheſus after the maner of men, what auaunta-geth it me, yf the deed rise not agayne? Lett vs eate and drynke to morow we shall dye.
Be not deceaued: malicious speakyng corrupte good māners. Awake truely out of slepe & synne not. For some haue not ỳ knowledge of God. I speake this to youre rebuke.

But some mā will saye: how aryse ỳ deed?
with what bodyes come they in? Thou fole/that which thou sowest is not quickened except it dye. And what sowest thou? Thou so-west not that body ỳ shalbe: but bare corne (I meane ether of wheet / or of some other) and God geueth it a body at his pleasure/ to euery seed a seuerall body.

✝ All flesshe is not one manner of flesshe but ther is one maner flesshe of mē/ a nother maner flesshe of beastes/ a nother maner flesshe of fyshes/ & a nother of byrdes. Ther are celestiall bodyes, & ther are bodies terrestriall.
But the glory of the celestiall is one/ & ỳ glo ry of the terrestriall is a nother. Ther is one maner glory of the sunne/ & a nother glory of the mone/ & a nother glory of the starres. For one starre differeth frō a nother in glory. So is the resurrection of ỳ deed. It is sowen in corrupcion/and ryseth in incorrupcion. It is sowē in dishonoure/ & ryseth in honoure. It is sowē in weaknes/and ryseth in power. It is sowē a naturall body/and ryseth a spyrituall body. Ther is a naturall bodye and ther is a spyrituall body: as it is wrytte: the fyrste man
Adam was made a lyuinge soule: and ỳ laste Adam was made a quyckenyng spyrite. How be it, that is not fyrst which is spirituall. but ỳ which is naturall/ & then ỳ which is spyrituall. ✝ The fyrst man is of ỳ erth, erthy: the seconde man is the Lorde from heauē. As is the erthy, soche are they that are erthye. And as is ỳ heuenly/ soche are they ỳ are heuēly.
And as we haue borne the ymage of ỳ erthy/
so shall we beare the ymage of the heuenly.

This saye I brethren, ỳ flesshe & blood cannot inherit the kyngdom of God. Neither doth corrupcion inherit incorrupcion. Behold I shewe you a mystery. We shall not all slepe: but we shall all be chaunged, & that in a mom̄t, & in the twynclinge of an eye, at ỳ sounde of the last trompe. For the trōpe shall blowe, & the deed shall ryse incorruptible, &
we shalbe chaunged. For this corruptyble must put on incorruptyblite: & this mortall must put on immortalite.

When this corruptible hath put on incorruptiblite & this mortall hath put on immor-talite: then shalbe brought to passe ỳ sayinge that is wrytte. Deeth is cōsumed into victory. Deeth where is thy stynge? Hell where is thy victory? The stynge of deeth is synne: & the strength of synne is ỳ lawe. But thanckes be vnto God which hath geuen vs victory/thorow oure Lorde Iesus Christ. Therfore my deare brethren / be ye stedfast and vnmouable/ alwayes ryche in the workes of the Lorde / for as moche as ye knowe how that youre labour is not in bayne in the Lorde.

* Flesshe and blod can not inherete kyngdome of God. Our belefe is/ that there shall be a generall resurrection of ỳ flesh according to the scripture. Esaie xxvi. Dan. xii. Job. xix. John v. Neuertheles it shall be purged frō all corrupcion and be chaūged to immortalite for it must be an vncorrupte flesshe that shall inherete the kyngdō of God.

The putteth them in remembrance of the gathering/ for the poore Christen at Ierusalem / and concludeth his Epistle with the salutacions of certayne louynge brethren.

Unto the congregacion of God, which is at Corinthum with all the sayncte̅s wych are in all Achaia. Grace be with you & peace from God oure father / and from the Lorde Jesus Christ.

Blessed be God the father of oure Lorde Jesus Christ, the father of mercy, & the God of all comforte / whych comforteth vs in all oure tribulacion, in so moche that we are able to comforte the̅ which are troubled, in what= soeuer tribulacion it be, with the same com= forte, wherwith we oure selues are comfor= ted of God. For as the *afflictions of Christ are plenteous in vs euen so is oure consola= cion plenteous by Christ.

Brethren I wolde not haue you ignorant of oure trouble / whych happened vnto vs in Asia. For we were greued oute of measure passyng strength, so greatly that we despeared euen of lyfe. Also we receaued an answer of deeth in oure selues, & that because we shuld not put oure trust in our selues: but in God/ which rayseth the deed to lyfe agayne, & wh̃ delyuered vs frõ so great a deeth, and doth de liuer. ¶ The.ij.Chapter. ✣

I Call God for a recorde vnto my soule / & for to fauer you wyth all I came not eny moare vnto Corinthum. Not that we be lordes ouer your fayth: but helpers of your ioye. For by fayth ye stande. But I determined this in my selfe, that I wold not come agayne to you in heuynes. For yf I make you sorye / who is it that shuld make me glad / but ye same whych is made sory by me? And I wrote this same epistle vnto you / lest yf I came / I shuld take heuynes of them / of whom I ought to reioyce. Certaynly this confidence haue I in you all, that my ioye is the ioye of you all. For in great affliccion and anguyshe of hert I wrote vnto you with many teares: not to make you sory / but that ye myght perceaue the loue wherwith I haue / most specially vnto you.

B If eny man hath caused sorow / the same hath not made me sory / but partely: lest I shulde greue you all. It is sufficient vnto the same man that he was rebuked of many. So that now contrary wyse ye ought to forgeue him and comforte him: lest that same persone shuld be swalowed vp wyth ouer moche heuynes. Wherfore I exhorte you that loue maye haue strenght ouer him. For this cause dyd I wryte / that I myght knowe the proue of you / whether ye shulde be obedient in all thynges. To whom ye forgeue eny thynge / I forgeue also. And verely yf I forgaue eny thynge / to whom I forgaue it / for youre sakes forgaue I it / in the roume of Christ / lest Satan shuld preuent vs. For his thoughtes are not vnknowen vnto vs.

When I was come to Troada for Christes Gospels sake, & a great dore was opened vn-to me of the Lord. I had no rest in my spyrete, because I founde not Titus my brother: but toke my leaue of them and went awaye into Macedonia. Thankes be vnto God wh ych

 The god of this world. Satan is Gods minister & can do nomore then þ̄ he appoynteth hym to do. Neuerthe les Christ cal leth him þ̄ prince of this world Johan. xiii. And here þ̄ Apostle calleth him the God of thys worlde because that the worlde doth comonly forsake þ̄ true God & serueth him. For vnto whō soeuer we obeye we make him our God as Paul calleth the belye their God that are earthly minded & serue their awne belly. Philip. iii.

b* (In the face of Jesus christ) That is to saye the knowledge of Jesus christ not in the face of Moses / which is þ̄ knowledge of þ̄ lawe. For by Christ come we to þ̄ knowlege of God. Mat. xi. John. i. & vi.

a* The god of this world hath blynded the myndes of the vnbeleuers.

b* In the face of Jesus christ.

trulanies & lyes they reade it which in Christ is put awaye. But euē vnto this daye when Moses is redde, þ̄ vayle hāgeth before their hertes. Neuertheles whē they tourne to the Lorde the vayle shalbe taken awaye. The Lord no doute is a spirite. And where þ̄ spirite of the Lorde is, there is libertie. But we all beholde the glorie of the Lorde with his face open and are chaunged vnto the same similitude, from glory to glory, euē of the spirite of the Lorde.

¶ A true preacher is diligent / he corrupteth not the worde of God he preacheth not himselfe but seketh the honoure of Christ yee though it be with the parell of his lyfe.

¶ The. iiii. Chapter.

Therfore seyng that we haue soche an office / euē as mercy is come on vs, we faynte not: but haue cast frō vs the clokes of vnhonestie / & walke not in craftynes nether corrupte we the worde of God: but walke in open trueth / & reporte our selues to euery mannes conscience in the syght of God. If oure Gospell be yet hyd it is hyd amonge thē þ̄ are lost in whō* the God of this world hath blynded þ̄ myndes of thē which beleue not lest the light of the glorious gospell of Christ which is the ymage of God shulde shyne vnto them.

✠ For we preache not our selues but Christ Jesus to be þ̄ Lorde, and oure selues youre seruauntes / for Jesus sake. For it is God þ̄ commaūded the light to shyne out of darknes which hath shyned in oure hertes for to geue the light of the knowledge of the glory of God b* in the face of Jesus Christ.

But we haue this treasure in erthē vessels þ̄ the excellent power of it might appere to be of God, and not of vs. We are troubled on euery syde yet are we not without feare. We are in pouertie, but not vtterly without some what. We are persecuted: but are not forsaken. We are cast doune: neuertheles we perisshe not. And we all wayes beare in our bodyes þ̄ dyinge of the Lorde Jesus, þ̄ the lyfe of Jesu might appere in oure bodyes. ✠

For we which lyue / are alwayes deliuered vnto deeth for Jesus sake / that the lyfe also of Jesu might appere in oure mortall flesshe. So then deeth worketh in vs & lyfe in you. ✠ Seynge then that we haue þ̄ same spirite of fayth accordynge as it is written: I beleued and therfore haue I spoken. We also beleue, & therfore speake. For we knowe þ̄ he which rayled vp the Lorde Jesus shall rayse vp vs also by the meanes of Jesus and shall sett vs wt you. For all thyngs do I for youre sakes, that the plenteous grace by thankes geuen of many, may redounde to the prayse of God.

Wherfore we are not wery but though oure outwarde mā perisshe, yet the inwarde man is renewed daye by daye. For oure exceadynge tribulacion which is momentany and lyght prepareth an exceadynge & an eternall wayght of glorye vnto vs, whill we loke not on the thyngs which are sene but on þ̄ thyngs which are not sene. For thynges which are sene, are temporall: but thynges which are not sene, are eternall. ✠

¶ The rewarde for suffrynge trouble.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

We know surely yf oure erthy mansyon wherin we now dwell were destroyed that we haue a bildinge ordeyned of God / an habitacō not made with handes / but eternall in heauen. And therfore sygh we / desyring to be clothed with oure mansion which is from heauē: so yet yf that we be founde clothed / and not naked. For as longe as we are in this tabernacle / we sygh and are greued / for we wold not be vnclothed / but wolde be clothed vpon / þ̄ mortalite myght be swalowed vp of lyfe. He þ̄ hath ordeyned vs for this thynge / is God: which very same hath geuē vnto vs þ̄ earnest of the spirite.

Therfore we are alwaye of good chere / & knowe well that as longe as we are at home in the body / we are absent from God. For we walke in fayth and se not. Neuertheles we are of good comforte / and had leuer to be absent from the body and to be present with the Lorde. Wherfore / whether we be at home or frō home we endeuoure oure selues to please him. For we must all appere before þ̄ iudgemētseate of Christ / þ̄ euery man maye receaue the workes of his body accordynge to that he hath done / whether it be good or bad.

✠ Seynge then that we knowe, how the Lorde is to be feared, a* we fare fayre wyth men. For we are knowen well ynough vnto God. I trust also that we are knowē in youre consciences.

We praise not oure selues agayne vnto you but geue you an occasyon to reioyce of vs þ̄ ye maye haue some what agaynst thē, which reioyce in the face / & not in the herte. For yf we be to fervent to God are we to fervent. If we kepe measure / for youre cause kepe we measure. For the loue of Christ constrayneth vs because we thus iudge / yf one be deed for all / þ̄ then are all deed & þ̄ he died for all / that they which lyue / shuld not hence forth lyue vnto them selues / but vnto hym which dyed for them and rose agayne. ✠

Wherfore henceforth know we no mā after the flesshe. In somoche though we haue knowen Christ after the flesshe / now hence forth know we him so no moare. Therfore yf

a* We fare fayre with me. E. as is / we playe not the tyrauntes with curssynges and excommunications / neither vse we vnreasonable maliciously amonge the people but feare God and intreat the people lawfully to drawe them vnto Christ.

Christes seruauntes serue Christes will and lyue not their awne pleasure but at his a* That is he reuealed the outwarde mā / he foresayeth the olde man sometyme the flesshe. What the first / the tyrannye / shall be fynished in the people of the Romayns / the. xi. chapter.

A newe creature.

If any man be in Christ, he is a newe creature. Olde thynges are passed awaye/ behoolde all thynges are become newe. Neuertheles all thynges are of God/ which hath reconciled vs vnto hym selfe by Iesus Christ & hath geuē vnto vs the office to preache ỹ attonement. For God was in Christ and made agremēt betwene the worlde & hym selfe. and imputed not their synnes vnto them: & hath cōmitted to vs the preachinge of the attonemēt. Now then are we messengers in ỹ roume of Christ euen as though God dyd beseche you thorow vs. So praye we you in Christes stede, that ye be atone with God: for he hath made hym b to be synne for vs, which knew no synne/ that we by his meanes shuld be that ryghteousnes which before God is alowed.

* The attonement betwene God & man in Christ is the Apostles office to preache.

b* To be synne for vs. that is to offre vp to be the sacrifice for ours synnes. for synne in the scripture is some tyme taken for the sacrifice of synne.

We ought the more diligently to preache ỹ attonement. Synne damneth the soule.

¶ An exhortacion to receaue the worde of God with thankfulnesse and amendement of lyfe. The diligence of Paul in the Gospell/and how he warneth them to eschue the company of the heythen.

¶ The.vi.Chapter. ✝

As helpers therfore exhorte you/ ỹ ye receaue not ỹ grace of God in vayne. For he sayth: I haue heard the in a tyme accepted: and in the daye of saluacion, haue I succored the. Behoolde, now is ỹ well accepted tyme: behoolde now is that daye of saluacion. Lett vs geue no man occasion of euyll/that in oure office be founde no faute: but in all thynges let vs behaue oure selues as the mynisters of God.

* Synne that the worde is we in youre hertes shuld be feuerwe to youre grete damnacyon.

In moche pacience/in afflictiōs/ in necessyte, in anguyshe/in stryppes/ in presonmēt/ in stryfe/in laboure/in watching, in fastinge/ in pureness, in knowledge in longe sufferinge in kyndnes/in ỹ holy goost, in loue vnfayned/ in the wordes of trueth/in ỹ power of God/ by the armoure* of rightewesnes of ỹ ryght hande & on the lyfte, in honoure & dishonoure, in euill reporte & good reporte/ as deceyuers & yet true as vnknowen & yet knowē: as dyinge & behoolde we yet lyue: as chastened. & not killed: as sorowyng & yet alwaye mery: as poore/ & yet make many riche: as hauinge no thyng/ & yet possessing all thinges.

1. Corinthy.

* Armoure of ryghteousnes: is the worde of God with hope & feare. & c. which Paul calleth the armoure of ryght. Roma.xiij.

O ye Corinthyans/ oure mouth is open vnto you. Oure hert is made large: ye are in no strayte in vs / but are in a strayte in youre awne bowelles. I promyse you lyke rewarde (as vnto my children) Set your selues therfore at large/ & beare not a straūgers yoke with ỹ vnbeleuers. For what fellyshyp hath ryghtewesnes with vnryghtewesnes? What cōpany hath light with darknes? What cōcorde hath Christ with Belial? Other what parte hath he that beleueth with an infidell? how agreeth the tēple of God with ymages? And ye are the temple of that lyuinge God/ as sayde God. * I will dwell among them & walcke among them, & wylbe their God: & they shalbe my people. Wherfore come out frō among thē / and separate youre selues (sayth the Lorde) and touche none vnclean thinge: so will I receaue you/ and wilbe a father vnto you / and ye shalbe my sonnes and daughters/ sayth the Lorde almyghty.

Leuit.xxvi. Ezech.xx.

¶ He exhorteth them to receaue the promyses of God thankfully. The Corinthyās are cōmended for their obedience and loue towarde Paul.

¶ The.vij.Chapter.

Synge that we haue soche promyses derely beloued / lett vs clense oure selues frō all filthynes of the flesshe & spyrite, & growe vp to full holynes in the feare of God. Vnderstand vs/ we haue hurte no man: we haue corrupte no man: we haue defrauded no mā. I speake not this to condemne you: for I haue shewed you before that ye are in oure hertes to dye & lyue wt you. I am bery bolde ouer you / & reioyce greatly in you. I am fylled with comforte & am exceadynge ioyouse in all oure tribulacions. For when we were come into Macedonia/ oure flesshe had no rest / but we were troubled on euery syde. Outwarde was fightyng/ inward was feare. Neuertheles God that comforteth the abiecte / comforted vs at the commynge of Titus.

And not with his cōmynge only: but also with the consolacion wherwith he was comforted of you. For he tolde vs youre desyre/ youre mournyng/ youre feruēt mynde to me warde: so that I now reioyce ỹ more. Wherfore though I made you sory with a letter, I repent not: though I dyd repēt. For I perceaue that ỹ same epistle made you sory/ though it were but for a season. But I now reioyce/ not that ye were sory/ but that ye so sorowed that ye repented. For ye sorowed godly: so ỹ in nothynge ye were hurte by vs. For godly sorowe causeth repentaunce vnto saluacion not to be repented of: when worldely sorow causeth deeth.

1. Petri.5.

Behoolde what diligence thys godly sorowe that ye toke/ hath wrought in you: yee it caused you to cleare youre selues. It caused indignacio/ it caused feare/ it caused desyre/ it caused a feruent mynde/ it caused punisshement: For in all thynges ye haue shewed youre selues that ye were cleare in that matter. Wherfore though I wrote vnto you / I did it not for hys cause that dyd hurte / nether for his cause that was hurte: but that oure good mynde whych we haue towarde you in the syght of God/ myght appere vnto you.

Therfore we are cōforted/ because ye are comforted: yee and exceadyngly ỹ moare ioyed we/ for the ioye that Titus had: be cause hys spyrite was refreshed of you all. I am therfore

kore/not now a shamed though I bosted my selfe to him of you. For as all thynges which I preached vnto you are true/ euē so is oure bostinge/ that I bosted my selfe to Titus ẅ all, founde true. And now is his inwarde affeccion moare aboundant towarde you/ whē he remembreth the obedience of euery one of you: how with feare and trembling ye receaued him. I reioyce that I maye be bolde ouer you in all thynges.

¶ She putteth the in remembraunce to helpe the poore sayncles at Jerusalē/accordyng as ꝑ Macedonias dyd.

¶ The.viii. Chapter.

A MOreouer brethrē/ of ꝑ grace of God which is geuen in the congregacions of Macedonia, how ꝑ the aboūdaunce of their reioyslng is/ ꝑ they are tryed with moche tribulacyon. And therto though they were exceding poore yet haue they geuen exceedynge richly, & that in synglenes of/ for to their powers (I beare recorde) yee and beyōde their power/ they were wyllynge of their awne recorde/ & prayed vs with great instaūce/ that we wolde receaue their benefite/ and suffre them to be partetakers ẅ other in ministrynge to the sayncles.

B And thys they dyd/ not as we loked for: but gaue their awne selues fyrst to the Lorde/ & after vnto vs by the wyll of God: so that we coulde not but desyre Titus to accomplysshe the same benyuolence amonge you also/ euē as he had begonne.

Now therfore / as ye are ryche in all partes/ in fayth/ in worde/ in knowledge/ in all feruentnes/ & in loue / which ye haue to vs: euē so se that ye be plenteous in this benyuolence. This saye I not as cōmaundynge: but because other are so feruent, therfore proue I your loue/ whether it be perfayt or no. Ye knowe the lyberalitie of oure Lorde Jesus Christ / which though he were ryche yet for youre sakes he came poore: that ye thorowe his powertie, myght be made ryche.

And I geue councell here to. For this is expedient for you, which begonne/ not to do only: but also to wyll a yere a go. Now therfore performe the dede: that as ther was in you a redynes to wyll, euen so ye maye performe ꝑ dede/ of ꝑ which ye haue. For yf ther be fyrst a wyllynge mynde/ it is accepted accordyng to that a man hath / & not accordynge to that he hath not.

It is not my mynde that other be set at ease and ye brought into combraūce: but that ther be egalnes now at this time that youre aboundaūce sucker their lacke: ꝑ their aboūdaunce maye supplye youre lacke: that ther maye be equalite/ agreynge to that which is wrytten. *He that gathered moche had neuer the more aboundaūce/ & he that gathered lytell had neuertheles. Thāked be vnto God/ which put in the hert of Titus the same good mynde towarde you. For he accepted the request ye rather he was so well wyllyng, that of his awne accorde/ came vnto you.

We haue sent with him ꝑ brother / whose laude is in the gospell thorow out all the cōgregacions: & not so only/ but is also chosen of the cōgregacyons to be a felowe with vs in oure iorney cōcernynge this benyuolence ꝑ is mynistred by vs vnto the prayse of the Lorde and to stere vp youre prompt mynde.

For this we eschue/ that eny man shulde rebuke vs in this plenteous distribucyō that is mynistred by vs/ and therfore make prouysion for honest thinges / not in the sight of God only/ but also in the syght of men.

We haue sent with thē a brother of oures whom we haue ofte tymes proued diligēt in many thinges/ but now moche more diligēt. The greate confidence which I haue in you/ hath caused me this to do: partely for Titus sake which is my felowe and helper as concernyng you/ partely because of other which are oure brethren and the messengers of the congregacyons/ & the glory of Christ. Wher fore shewe vnto them proffe of youre loue/ & of the reioysynge that we haue of you/ that the congregacyons maye se it.

¶ In this Chapter doth he the same that he dyd in the Chapter goyng before/ that is/ moueth them to helpe ꝑ poore brethren at Jerusalem.

¶ The.ix. Chapter.

OF the mynystring to ꝑ *sayncles it is but superfluous for me to wryte vnto you. for I knowe youre redynes of mynde/ wherof I bost my selfe vnto thē of Macedonia/ & say ꝑ Achaia was prepared a yere a go/ & your feruētnes hath prouoked many. Neuertheles yet haue I sent these brethren / lest oure reioysynge ouer you shulde be in vayne in this behalfe/ and that ye (as I haue sayde) prepare youre selues lest parauenture yf they of Macedonia come with me / and fynde you vnprepared, the boost ꝑ I made in this matter/ shuld be a shame to vs. I saye not vnto you.

* What sayncles sygnifie in the scripture/ Luke.i.c.

B Wherfore I thought it necessary to exhorte the brethren/ to come before hande vnto you for to prepare your good blessinge promised a fore / that it myght be redy: so that it be a blessinge/ & not a defraudynge. ✠ This yet remember, howe that he which soweth lytell/ shall reepe lytell/ & he ꝑ soweth plenteously shall reepe plenteously. And let euery mā do accordynge as he hath purposed in his hert/ not grudgyngly or of necessite. For God loueth a chearfull geuer.

God is able to make you ryche in all grace/ that ye in all thynges hauinge sufficient

Exod.xvi.

Psal.cxl. vnto ỹ vtmoste, maye be ryche vnto all mā-ner good worke/as it is wrytte.*He hath spar-sed abroade and hath geuen to the poore/his righteweines remayneth for euer. The.x.Chapter.

I Paul my selfe beseche you by the mekenes & softnes of Christ which when I am present amonge you am of no reputacion, but am bold towarde you beynge absent. I beseche you ỹ I nede not to be bolde when I am present, wt that same confidence, wherwith I am suppo-sed to be bolde) agaynst some which repute vs as though we walked carnally. Neuerthe-lesse though we walke cōpased with ỹ flesshe/
B yet we warre not flesshly. For the weap-ons of oure warre are not carnall thynges, but thynges mighty in God to cast doune stroge holdes, wherwith we ouerthrowe ymagina-cions and euery hye thynge that exalteth it selfe agaynst the knowledge of God & bringe into captiuite all vnderstandynge to the obe-dience of Christ, & are redy to take vengeāce on all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfylled. Loke ye on thynges after ỹ ut-ter apperaunce?

If eny man trust in him selfe ỹ he is Chri-stes, let the same also consydre of hym selfe/ ỹ as he is Christes euen so are we Christes.
C And though I should bost my selfe some what moare of oure auctorite which ỹ Lord hath geuen vs to edifie and not to destroye you, it shulde not be to my shame. This saye I / lest I should seme as though I went about to ma-ke you a frayde with letters. For the epistles (sayth he) are stronge: but his bodyly presen-ce is weake/ & his speache is rude. Let hym that is soche thinke on this wyse/that as we are in wordes by letters when we are absent soche are we in dedes when we are present.
D For we cannot fynde in oure hertes to ma-ke oure selues of the nombre of thē/or to com-pare oure selues to thē / which laude thē sel-ues/neuertheles while they measure thē sel-ues wt thē selues/ & compare thē selues wyth thē selues they vnderstande nought. But we will not reioyce aboue measure: but acco-rding to ỹ quātite of the measure which God hath distributed vnto vs/ a measure that rea-cheth euen to you. For we stretche not out oure selues beyonde measure as though we had not reached vnto you. For cuē to you haue we come with ỹ gospell of Christ, & we bost not oure selues out of measure in other mēs labours. Yee & we hope/when youre fayth is increased amōge you/to be magnified accor-dynge to oure measure, more largely/and to preache ỹ gospell in those regions which are beyonde you: & not to reioyce of that wych is by another mans measure prepared all re-dy. Let him ỹ reioyseth, reioyse in ỹ *Lorde. For he that prayseth him selfe, is not alowed: but he whom the Lorde prayseth.

* Let euery mā reioyse in Christ dyed for him & not in ỹ holynes of hys awne workes.

Paul (vnder sufferaunce) cōmendeth him selfe and defendeth his auctorite agaynst the false prophetes.

The.xi.Chapter.

I lyttell in my foolyshnes: ye & I praye you for beare me. For I am gelous ouer you with godly gelousy. For I coupled you to one mā, to make you a cha-ste virgen to Christ. But I feare lest as ỹ ser-pent begyled Eue thorow his subtelte/euen so youre wyttes should be corrupte frō ỹ sin-gleines that is in Christ. For yf he ỹ cōmeth/ preache a nother Jesus then him whome we preached: or yf ye receaue another spyrete then ỹ which ye haue receaued: either another gos-pell then ỹ ye haue receaued/ye myght right well haue bene content. I suppose ỹ I was B not behynde the chefe Apostles. Though I be rude in speakinge yet I am not so in knowe-ledge. Now be it amōge you we are knowē to the vtmost what we are in all thyngs. Dyd I therin synne, be cause I submytted my selfe/ ỹ ye might be exalted / & because I preached to you the gospell of God free? I robbed other cōgregacions, & toke wages of thē to do you seruyce wt all. And whē I was present wyth you/ & had nede/ I was greuous to no mā for they resorte. For these false apostles are deceatefull workers/ and fassyon them selues lyke vnto ꝑ Apostles of Christ. And no marualye/ for Satan him selfe is chaunged into the fassyon of an angell of lyght. Therfore it is no great thinge/ though his ministers fassyon thē selues as though they were the ministers of ryghtewesnes: whose ende shalbe accordynge to their dedes.

D I saye agayne/ lest eny mā thinke ꝑ I am folisshe: or els cuē now take me as a fole/ ꝑ I maye bost my selfe a lytell. That I speake I speake it not after the wayes of the Lorde but as it were foulsshly wh: ll we are now come to bostynge. Seynge that many reioyce after the flesshe, I will reioyce also. For ye suffre fooles gladly because that ye youre selues are wise. For ye suffre euē yf a mā bring you into bondage: yf a mā deuoure: yf a mā take: yf a man exalt him selfe yf a mā smyte you on the face. I speake as concerninge rebuke, as though we had bene weake.

* To mo the translacion doeth not answere the greke text or the sence of the greke tonge.

Howbeit wherin soeuer eny man dare be bolde I speake foulsshly I dare be bolde also. They are Ebrues so am I. They are Israelites euē so am I. They are the seede of Abraham euē so am I. They are the ministers of Christ I speake as a fole, I am more: In labours more aboundant: In stryppes aboue measure: In prison more plenteously: In deeth ofte. Of the Iewes fyue tymes receaued I euery tyme .xl. stryp̄s saue one. Thryse was I beten with rodds. I was once stoned I suffered thryse shipwracke. Nyght & daye haue I bene in the depe of the see. In iourneynge often: in perels of waters: in perels of robbers: in ieopardies of myne awne nacion in ieoperdies amonge the hethen. I haue bene in perels in cities/ in perels in wildernes in perels in the see/ in perels amonge false brethrē/ in laboure & trauayle/ in watchinge often/ in honger in thyrst/ in fastinges often in colde & in nakednes. And beside ꝑ thinges which outwardly happen vnto me/ I am cōbred daily/ & do care for al cōgregacios. Who is sicke/ & I am not sicke? Who is hurte in ꝑ fayth & my hert burneth not? If I must nedes reioyce/ I will reioyce of myne infirmityes.

¶ Paul is taken vp into the thyrde heauen: & heareth wordes not to be spoken of.

¶ The .xij. Chapter.

A Lbe God and father of oure Lorde Iesus Christ/ whych is blessed for euermore/ knoweth that I lye not. + In the citie of Damascon/ ꝑ gouernor of the people vnder kynge Aretas/ layde watche in the citie of the Damascens/ and wolde haue caught me / and at a wyndowe was I let doune in a basket thorow the wall/ and so scaped hys handes.

It is not expedient for me no dout to reioyce Neuertheles I will come to visions & reuelacios of the Lorde. I knowe a mā in Christ aboue .xiij. yeares agone (whether he were in the body I cannot tell/ or whether he were oute of the body I cānot tell (God knoweth) whych was taken vp in to the thyrd heauen. And I knowe the same man (whether in the body/ or out of the body. I cannot tell God knoweth) how that he was takē vp into Paradyse/ and hearde wordes not to be spoken/ which no man can vtter. Of this man will I reioyce/ of my selfe will I not reioyce/ except it be of myne infirmities. And yet though I wolde reioyce/ I shulde not be a fole: for I wolde saye ꝑ trouthe. Neuertheles I spare/ lest eny man shulde thinke of me aboue that he seyth me to be/ or heareth of me.

And lest I shuld be exalted out of measure thorow the aboundance of reuelacyōs, there was geuē vnto me * vnquyetnes of ꝑ flesshe the messenger of Satan to buffet me: because I shulde not be exalted out of measure For this thinge besought I the Lorde thryse that it myght departe from me. And he sayde vnto me: my grace is sufficiēt for the. For my strength is made parfayct thorow weaknes very gladly therfore will I reioyce of my weaknes, that the strength of Christ maye dwell in me. ¶ Therfore haue I delectacyon in infirmities in rebukes, in nede, in persecucios in anguysshe for Christes sake. For when I am weake, then am I stronge.

a * Vnquyetnes of ꝑ flesshe is here the violent withstandynge & agaynsaying and euen the persecutynge of euell me which cōtinually troubled him & withstanded against his preaching. This was ꝑ minister of Satan ꝑ as it had ben with buffettes vexed him. His aduersaries which with their blasphemous & contrarious teaching dyd disquyet & torment hym destroyng as fast as he edyfyed / were the very pricks displeasauntnesse of ꝑ flesshe fro whych he desyreth the Lorde to be delyuered.

I am made a fole in bostinge my selfe. Ye haue cōpelled me: I ought to haue bene cōmended of you. For in nothynge was I inferior vnto the chefe Apostles, though I be nothynge. yet the tokens of an Apostle were wrought amonge you with all patience/ wyth signes & wōders & mightye dedes. For what is it wherin ye were inferiors vnto other congregacios except it be therin that I was not greuous vnto you. Forgeue me this wronge done vnto you. Beholde now the thirde tyme I am redy to come vnto you: & yet wyll I not be greuous vnto you. For I seke not yours but you. Also the chyldren ought not to laye vp for the fathers and mothers: but the fathers and mothers for the chyldren.

I will very gladly bestowe/ & wilbe bestowed for youre soules: though the more I loue you/ ꝑ lesse I am loued agayne. But be it ꝑ I greued you not: neuertheles I was craftye & toke you with gyle. Dyd I pill you by eny of them which I sent vnto you? I desyred Titus/ & with him I sent a brother. Dyd Titus defraude you of eny thynge? walked we not in one spyrete? walked we not in like steppes? Agayne thinke ye ꝑ we excuse oure selues? We speake in Christ in the syght of God.

But we do all thinges dearly beloued for youre edifyinge. For I feare lest it come to passe/ that when I come/ I shall not fynde you soche as I wolde: & I shalbe founde vnto you soche as I wolde not: I feare lest ther be founde amōge you debate, enuyinge/ wrath stryfe / backbytinges, whysperynges, swellinges and discorde. I feare lest when I come agayne/ God bringe me lowe amōge you/ & I be constrayned to bewayle many of them which haue synned all redy/ and haue not repented of the vnclennes/ fornicacion & wantonnes which they haue committed.

¶ He promyseth to come vnto them and exhorteth the so to order themselues that he may fynde them perfecte/ and of one mynde.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

PAul an apostle not of men, neither by man, but by Iesus Christ/ and by God the father which raysed him from deeth: and all ỹ brethrē which are with me.

Vnto the congregacyons of Galacia. Grace be wyth you and peace from God the father and from oure Lorde Iesus Christ, which gaue him selfe for oure synnes to deliuer vs from this present euyll worlde thorow the will of God oure father, to whom be prayse for euer and euer. Amen.

I maruayle that ye are so sone turned frō him that called you in the grace of Christ vnto another Gospell: wh̄ych is nothynge els, but that ther be some which trouble you/ and intende to peruert the Gospell of Christ. Neuertheles though we oure selues or an angell from heuen preache eny other Gospell vnto you then that which we haue preached vnto you holde hym as a cursed. As I sayde before/ so saye I now agayne/ yf eny man preache eny other thinge vnto you then that ye haue receaued/ holde hī accursed. Preache I mānes doctrine or Gods? Other go I about to please men? If I stodyed to please men/ I were not the seruaunt of Christ.

✠ I certifye you brethren/ ỹ the Gospell which was preached of me/ was not after ỹ manner of men/ neither receaued I it of man neither

Paul though he came longe after the Apostles yet had he not his auctorite of Peter or of any that were before him. For to be brought be with letters of recōmendacyō or bulles of confirmacyon. But the confirmacyon of hys apostleship was ỹ worde of god/ cōsente of men & the power of the spirite that testifyed wyth hym by myracles and many-folde gyftes of grace.

nether was I taught it: but receaued it by ¶ reuelacō of Iesus Christ. For ye haue heard of my conuersacyon in tyme past/ in the Iewes wayes/ how ꝑ beyonde measure I persecuted the congregacion of God/ & spoyled it: and preuayled in the Iewes laye/ aboue many of my cōpanions/ which were of mine awne nacion/ and was a moche more feruēt mayntener of the tradicions of the elders.

But whē it pleased God/ which seperated me from my mothers wombe/ & called me by his grace/ for to declare his sonne by me/ ꝑ I shuld preache him amonge the hethen: immediatly I cōmened not of ꝑ matter wt flesshe and blood/ nether returned to Ierusalem to them which were Apostles before me: but went my wayes into Arabia/ & came agayne vnto Damasco. ¶ Then after thre yeare/ I returned to Ierusalem to se Peter/ and abode with hym xv. dayes/ no nother of the Apostles sawe I saue James the Lordes brother. ¶ The thinges which I write/ beholde/ God knoweth I lye not.

Afterthat I went into ꝑ coostes of Syria & Cilicia: & was vnknowen as touching my person vnto the congregacyons of Iewrye/ which were in Christ. But they hearde only ꝑ he which persecuted vs in tyme past/ now preacheth ꝑ fayth which before he destroyed. And they glorified God on my behalfe. ¶

¶ He withstondeth Peter in the face and proueth that the lawe & circumcision are not necessary to saluacō.

¶ The ij. Chapter.

THen xiij. yeares after, I wēt vp agayne to Ierusalē with Barnabas, and toke wyth me Titus also. Ye & I went vp by reuelacion & cōmened with thē, of the Gospell which I preache amonge the Gentyls: but betwene oure selues with them whych were counted chefe lest it shuld haue bene thought that I shuld runne or had runne in vayne. Also Titus whych was wyth me, though he were a Grecke yet was not cōpelled to be circūcised & that because of incōmers bringe false brethren which came in amōge other to spye out oure libertie which we haue in Christ Iesus that they myght bringe vs into bondage. ¶ To whō we gaue no roume no not for ꝑ space of an houre as concerninge to be brought into subiecyon: and that because that the trueth of the Gospell myght continue with you.

Of thē which semed to be great, what they were in tyme passed it maketh no matter to me: God loketh on no mās person) neuertheles they which semed great/ added nothyng to me. But contrary wyse, when they sawe ꝑ the Gospell ouer the vncircūcision was committed vnto me as the Gospel ouer the *circumcision was vnto Peter: for he that was myghty in Peter in the Apostleshippe ouer the circūcision/ the same was myghty in me amonge the Gentyls: and therfore whē they perceaued the grace that was geuē vnto me/ then James/ Cephas & John/ whych semed to be pyllers/ gaue to me and Barnabas the ryght handes and agreed with vs/ ꝑ we shuld preache amonge the Hethen/ & they amonge the Iewes: warninge only that we shulde remember the poore. Which thinge also I was diligent to do.

¶ Paul rebuketh Peter in the face.

And when Peter was come to Antioche/ I withstode him in the face, for he was worthy to be blamed. For yer that certayne came from James, he ate wyth the Gentyls. But when they were come, he withdrue and separated him selfe/ fearynge thē whych were of the circumcision. And the other Iewes dissembled lykewyse/ in so moche that Barnabas was brought into their simulacō also. But when I sawe/ ꝑ they went not the right waye after the trueth of the Gospell/ I sayde vnto Peter before all men/ yf thou beynge a Iewe/ lyuest after the māner of the Gētyls and not as do the Iewes: why causest thou ꝑ Gentyls to lyue as do the Iewes? We which are Iewes by nature, and not synners of the Gentyls/ knowe that a man is not iustifyed by the *dedes of the lawe: but by the fayth of Iesus Christ. And therfore we haue beleued on Iesus Christ that we myght be iustifyed by the fayth of Christ, and not by the dedes of the lawe: because that by the dedes of ꝑ lawe no flesshe can be iustifyed.

* Dedes of the lawe iustifye not but fayth iustifieth.

If then whyll we seke to be made ryghtewes by Christ, we oure selues are founde synners/ is not then Christ ꝑ minister of synne? God forbyd. For yf I bylde agayne ꝑ whych I destroyed then make I my selfe a trasparer.  But I thorow the lawe am dede to the lawe: that I myght lyue vnto God. I am crucifyed with C[illegible]t I liue verely: yet now not I but Christ [illegible]eth in me. For ꝑ lyfe whych I now lyue in the flesshe, I lyue by the fayth of the sonne of God which loued me, & gaue hym selfe for me. I despyse not the grace of God. For yf ryghteweines come of ꝑ lawe/ then Christ dyed in vayne.

 But I thorow ꝑ lawe am dede to the lawe: that is/ by ꝑ lawe of lyberte & grace graūted in Christ, I am delyuered from the lawe of bondage ministred by Moses & from the burthē & curse therof.

¶ He rebuketh the vnkyndlynesse of the Galathyans shewynge the vnparfectnesse of the lawe & declareth neuertheles that it was not geuen for nought.

¶ The. iij. Chapter.

O foolyshe Galathyans: who hath bewitched you ꝑ ye shuld not beleue ꝑ trueth? To whō Iesus Christ was described before ꝑ eyes/ & amonge you crucifyed. This only wolde I learne of you. receaued ye ꝑ spryte by ꝑ dedes of ꝑ lawe/ or els by preachynge of the fayth? Are ye so vnwyse/

Paul is of ye hye auctoritas Peter James & John.

Circumcisiō are the Iewes & vncircumcision the Gētyles.

vnwyse/ that after ye haue begonne in the spyrete ye wolde nowe ende in the flesshe?
So many thinges ye haue suffred in vayne/ yf that be vayne. Which ministred to you the spyrete/ and worketh myracles amonge you doth he it thorow the dedes of the lawe/ or by preachynge of the fayth? *Euen as Abrahã beleued God/ and it was allcrybed to hym for ryghtewesnes. Vnderstande therfore that they whych are of fayth/ the same are ỹ chyldren of Abraham.

Gene.xvi.b. Rom.iiij.a. Jacob.ij.d.

For the scrypture sawe afore hande/ that God wolde iustifye the Hethen thorow fayth and therfore shewed before hande gladtydynges vnto Abraham: In the shall all nacyons be blessed. So then they whych be of fayth/ are blessed wyth faythfull Abraham.
For as many as are vnder ỹ dedes of the lawe, are vnder malediccyon. For it is written cursed is euery man that contynueth not in all thynges which are written in the boke of the lawe/ to fulfyll them. That no man is iustifyed by the lawe in the syght of God/ is euident. For the iuste shall lyue by fayth. The lawe is not of fayth: but the man that fulfilleth the thynges contayned in the lawe (shall lyue in them.) But Christ hath delyuered vs from the curse of the lawe, and was made a *cursed for vs. For it is wrytten: cursed is euery one that hangeth on tree, that ỹ blessynge of Abraham myght come on the Gentyls thorow Jesus Christ/ and that we might receaue ỹ promes of the spyrete thorow fayth.

The lawe curseth: but fayth blesseth.

* Christ was accursed for oure sakes, that is: he was punyshed and slayne for oure synnes

Brethren I wyll speake after the maner of men. Though it be but a mans testament yet no man despyseth it/ or addeth eny thinge therto/ when it is once alowed. ✝ To Abraham and hys seed were the promyses made. He sayth not in the seedes/ as many: but in thy sede/ as in one/ which is Christ. Thys I saye, that the lawe whych beganne afterwarde/ beyonde.iiij.C.&.xxx.yeare/ doth not disnaull the testament/ that was confermed afore of God vnto Christ ward, to make the promes of none effect. For yf the inheritaũce come of the lawe/ it cõmeth not of promes. But God gaue it vnto Abraham by promes.

Wherfore then serueth the lawe? The lawe was added because of transgression (tyll the seed came to whych ỹ promes was made) and it was ordeyned by Angels in the hande of a mediator. A mediator is not a mediator of one. But God is one. Is the lawe then agaynst the promes of God? God forbyd. * Howbeit yf ther had bene a lawe geuẽ which could haue geuen* lyfe: then no doute ryghtewesnes shuld haue come by the lawe. But the scrypture concluded all thynges vnder synne that the promes by the fayth of Jesus Christ/ shuld be geuen vnto them that beleue. ✝ Before that fayth came/ we were kept & shut vp vnder the lawe/ vnto ỹ fayth which shuld afterwarde be declared.

* The lawe geueth no life but sheweth the truth.

Wherfore the lawe was oure scolemaster vnto the tyme of Christ/ that we myght be made ryghtewes by fayth. But after that fayth is come, now are we no lõger * *vnder a scolemaster. For ye are all ỹ sonnes of God by the fayth which is in Christ Jesus. For all ye that are baptysed haue put on Christ. Now is ther no Jewe nether Gentyll: ther is nether bonde ner fre: ther is nether man ner woman: but ye are all one thynge in Christ Jesu. If ye be Christes then are ye Abrahãs seed/ and heyres by promes.

* To be vnder a scolemaster is to be vnder the lawe are both one and are expounded in the Epistle to the Romayns/ the leaff. xij.

✝ Paul proueth that thorow Christ we be delyuered from the lawe: and reproueth the vnthankfulnesse of the Galathyans.

✝ The.iiij.Chapter. ✝

I Say that the heyre as longe as he is a chylde, differeth not from a seruaunt/ though he be Lorde of all/ but is vnder tuters and gouernors/ vntyll the tyme appoynted of ỹ father. Euen so we/ as longe as we were chyldren/ were in bondage vnder the ordinaunces of ỹ worlde. But whẽ the * tyme was full come/ God sent his sonne borne of a womã a made bonde vnto the lawe to redeme them whych were vnder the lawe: that we thorow electiõ myght receaue the inheritaunce that belongeth vnto ỹ naturall sonnes. Because ye are sonnes/ God hath sent the spyrete of his sonne into oure hertes, which crieth Abba father. Wherfore now/ thou art not a seruaũt/ but a sonne. If thou be the sonne/ thou arte also the heyre of God thorow Christ. ✝

* The tyme fulfilled was the tyme of Christes comynge: which made an ende of ỹ lawe & deliuered vs from the bondage therof.

B

Not withstandynge/ when ye knewe not God ye dyd seruice vnto them, which by nature were no Godes. But now seynge ye knowe God yee rather are knowen of God; how is it ỹ ye tourne agayne vnto ỹ weake and bedgarly ceremonies, wher vnto agayne ye desyre afreshe to be in bondage? Ye obserue dayes/ and monethes, & tymes, & yeares. I am in feare of you, lest I haue bestowed on you labour in vayne.

Bedgarlye ceremonyes

Brethren I beseech you, be ye as I am: for I am as ye are. Ye haue not hurte me at all. Ye knowe how thorow infirmitye of ỹ flesshe I preached the Gospell vnto you at the fyrst. And my temptacion which I suffred by reason of my flesshe ye despysed not nether abhorred: but receaued me as an Angell of God: yee as Christ Jesus. How happy were ye then? for I beare you recorde that yf it had bene possible ye wolde haue plucked out youre awne eyes/ and haue geuen thẽ to me. Am I therfore become youre enemye/ because I tell you the trueth.

Infirmitie and temptacion are persecucion re wyder ỹ crosse.

They are

They are gelous ouer you amysse. Yee/they intende to exclude you/ that ye shuld be feruent to them warde. It is good alwayes to be feruent, so it be in a good thynge/and not only when I am present with you.

My lyttell chyldren (of whom I trauayle in birth agayne/vntill Christ be fashioned in you) I wolde I were with you now/& coulde chaunge my voyce: for I stande in a doute of you. Tell me ye that desyre to be vnder the lawe haue ye not learde of the lawe? For it is wrytten that Abraham had two sonnes, the one by a bonde mayde/ the other by a free woman. Yee and he which was of the bonde woman was borne after the flesshe: but he which was of the free woman/ was borne by promes. Which thynges betoken mystery. For these women are two testamentes/ the one from the mounte Syna/ which gendreth vnto bondage/ which is Agar. For mounte Syna is called Agar in Arabia, and bordreth vpon the citie/ which is now Jerusalem, and is in bondage with her chyldren.

But Jerusalem/ which is aboue/ is free: which is the mother of vs all. For it is wrytten reioyce thou baren/ that bearest no chyldren breake forth & crye/ thou that trauelest not. For the desolate hath many moo chyldren then she which hath an husband. Brethren we are after the maner of Isaac/ chyldren of promes. But as then he that was borne carnally/ persecuted him that was borne spiritually. Euen so is it now. Neuertheles what sayth the scripture: put awaye the bonde woman and her sonne. For the sonne of the bonde woman shall not be heyre with the sonne of the free woman. So then brethren we are not chyldren of the bonde woman: but of the free woman.

They laboureth to drawe them awaye from circumcision sheweth them the battayll betwyxte the spirite & the flesh and the frutes of them both.

The.v. Chapter.

The libertye & fredome that we haue in Christ ought euery man to stande by Stand fast therfore in the libertye wherwyth Christ hath made vs free, and wrappe not youre selues agayne in the yoke of bondage. Beholde I Paul saye vnto you, that yf ye be circumcised Christ shall profyt you nothinge at all. I testifye agayne to euery man which is circumcysed that he is bounde to kepe the whole lawe. Ye are gone quyte from Christ as many as are iustified by the lawe and are fallen from grace. We loke for/ and hope in the spirite/ to be iustified thorow fayth. For in Iesu Christ/ nether is circumcision eny thynge worth nether yet vncircumcision, but fayth which by loue is mighty in operacion. Brethren yf I yet preache circumcision: why do I then yet suffre persecucyon? For then had the offence wbych the crosse geueth, ceased. I wolde to God they were seperated from you, which trouble you. Brethren ye were called vnto (libertye) only let not youre libertie be an occasion vnto the flesshe, but in loue serue one another For all the lawe is fulfylled in one worde wbych is this: thou shalt loue thy neyghbour as thy selfe. If ye byte & deuoure one another: take hede lest ye be consumed one of another.

(Christes liberty) is a libertie of conscience & not of the flesshe.

Rom.xiii. Ja.ii.b. 1.Pet.ii.c.

I saye walke in the spirite, and fulfyll not the lustes of the flesshe. For the flesshe lusteth contrary to the spirite, and the spirite contrary to the flesshe. These are contrary one to the other: so that ye cannot do that wbych ye wolde. But and yf ye be led of the spirite then are ye not vnder the lawe. The dedes of the flesshe are manyfest which are these: aduoutrye, fornicacion vnclennes, wantones ydolatrye, witchcraft hatred variaunce zele, wrath, stryfe, sedicion, sectes, enuynge murther dronkennes glottony & soche like: of the wbych I tell you before as I haue tolde you in tyme past, that they wbych commyt soche thynges, shall not inherite the kyngdome of God. But* the frute of the spirite is, loue ioye peace longe suffringe gentlenes goodnes faythfulnes meknes temperaunce. Against suche there is no lawe. They that are Christs haue crucyfyed the flesshe with the appetites and lustes.

Dedes of the flesshe.

To compt for christes merites sake vs vnder damnacion of the lawe.

*The frute of the spirite. These dedes testifye that we are not vnder the damnacion of the lawe.

If we lyue in the spirite/ let vs walke in the spirite. Let vs not be vayne glorious, prouokinge one another/ & enuyinge one another.

They exhorteth them to brotherly loue & one to beare with another. In the ende he warneth them to beware of circumcision.

Predestinacyō

In whom also ye (after that ye hearde the worde of trueth, I meane ỹ Gospell of youre saluacyon / wherin ye beleued) were sealed wyth the holy spyrete of promes, whych is the ernest of oure inheritaunce/ to redeme the purchased possession, and that vnto the laude of hys glory.

Wherfore euē I (after that I hearde of the fayth which ye haue in ỹ Lorde Iesu, & loue vnto all the saynctes, cease not to geue thankes for you, makinge mencion of you in my prayers, ỹ the god of oure lorde Iesus Christ and the father of glory, might geue vnto you the spyrete of wysdome/ and open to you the knowledge of hym selfe/ and lyghten ỹ eyes of youre myndes that ye myght knowe what that hope is/ where vnto he hath called you/ & what ỹ ryches of his glorious inheritaūce is vpon the saynctes/ & what is the excedinge greatnes of hys power to vs warde whych *beleue accordynge to ỹ workynge of ỹ hys myghty power, which he wrought in Christ when he raysed him from the dead & set hym on his ryght hande in heuēly thinges aboue all rule power and myght and dominacyon & aboue all names ỹ are named/ not in thys worlde only, but also in the worlde to come: & hath put all thynges vnder his fete/ & hath made hym aboue all thynges/ the heed of the congregacyō which is his body & the fulnes of him that fylleth all in all thinges.

Where fayth to Christ is/ there is loue to all ỹ are sanctyfyed in hys blonde.

a Fayth is the worcke of God only/ euen as was ỹ raysyng vp of Christ.

¶ Paul sheweth the what maner of people they were before their cōuersion: what they are now in Christ.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

Ad you hath he quyckened also ỹ were deed in treaspasse and synne/ Coloss.3.b in the which in tyme passed ye walked, accordynge to ỹ course of this worlde/ & after the gouernor ỹ ruleth in the ayer the spyrete that now worketh in ỹ childrē of vnbeleefe amōge whych we also had oure conuersacion in tyme past, in ỹ lustes of oure flesshe/ and fulfylled the wyll of the flesshe & of the mynde: and were *naturally the chyldrē of wrath, euen as well as other.

b We be all by nature the chyldren of wrath & heyres of damnacyon.

But God which is rych in mercy throwe his greate loue wherwyth he loued vs euen when we were deed by synne, hath quickened vs to gether in Christ (for by grace are ye saued) and hath raysed vs vp to gether & made vs sytte to gether in heuenly thinges throwe Christ Iesus/ for to shewe in tymes to come the excedinge riches of his grace/ in kyndnes to vs warde in Christ Iesu. For by grace are ye made safe throwe fayth/ and that not of youre selues. For it is the gyfte of God, and commeth not of workes lest eny man shulde boast him selfe. For we are his workemā shyp created in Christ Iesu vnto *good workes, vnto the which God ordeyned vs before, that we shulde walke in them.

a * The promyses of mercye in Christes bloude are laide vs on that condycyō that we hope ryght lawe & loue one another as Christ loued vs.

Wherfore remēber that ye beynge in tyme passed gētyls in the flesshe, & were called vncircumcision to them which are called circūcision in ỹ flesshe, which circūcision is made by handes: Remember I saye that ye were at that tyme without Christ, & were reputed aliantes frō the cōmen welth of Israel and were straungers from the b*testamentes of promes & had no hope & were with out God in this worlde. But now in Christ Iesu ye which a whyle ago were farre of, are made nye by the bloude of Christ.

b * The Gentyles till Christ came were not vnder the couenaunt of mercye but the Iewes only.

For he is oure peace, which hath made of both one, & hath broke doune ỹ *wall that was a stoppe betwene vs and hath also put away throwe his flesshe b*the cause of hatred that is to saye the lawe of cōmaundementes contayned in the lawe wrytten, for to make of twayne one newe mā in him selfe so makynge peace: and to reconcile both vnto God in one body throwe his crosse, and slewe hatred therby: & came and preached peace to you which were a farre of, & to them ỹ were nye. For throwe him we both haue an open waye in, in one spyrete vnto the father.

c Bookes lawe that was the wal that was the cause of hate betwene Iewes & gentyles is taken away. In which lyfe is to loue one another / as Christ loued vs/

b * The cause of hatred betwene vs & the Iewes. But by the lawe vnder the Iewes we were ever the stye then. Note that there only hatred was put away betwene vs & Christ / but betwene vs & our neyghbour hatred hath an ende & is chaunged in to loue in Christ.

¶ Now therfore ye are no moare straungers and forayners: but cytesyns wyth the saynctes and of the housholde of God: & are bylt vpon the c*foundacō of the Apostles & Prophetes, Iesus Christ beynge the heed corner stone, in whom euery bylduge coupled to gether groweth vnto an holy c*tēple in the Lorde in whom ye also are bylt to gether, and made an habitacyon for God in the spyrete. ¶

c * Fundacyon is the worde of God.

c * Temple in the Epystles of the Apostles sygnyfyeth the congregacyon of saynctes holy & vertuous men. & otherwyse it sygnyfyeth the herte of euery christē man. & somtyme it sygnyfyeth the bodi of Christ.

¶ She weth the cause of his presonment despyseth that not to fayntе because of his trouble/ and prayeth God to make them stedfast in his spyrete.

¶ The.iii. Chapter.

For this cause I Paul am in ỹ bōdes of Iesus Christ for youre sakes which are hethē: If ye haue hearde of ỹ mynistracō of ỹ grace of God which is geuē me to you warde. For by reuelacion shewed he thys mistery vnto me/ as I wrote aboue in fewe wordes/ wherby whē ye rede/ ye maye knowe myne vnderstādinge in ỹ mistery of Christ/ which mistery in tymes passed was opened vnto the sonnes of mē, as it is it is now declared vnto his holy Apostles & Prophetes by the spyrite: that the Gentyls shulde be inheritours also/ and of the same body/and partetakers of his promes that is in Christ/by the meanes of ỹ Gospell/whereof I am made a minister/by the gyfte of the grace of God geuen vnto me thorow ỹ worckinge of his power.

I Paul was an Apostle to the hethen & learned hys gospell by reuelacyon.

Vnto me the lest of all sayntes is thys grace geuen/that I shulde preache amonge the Gentyls ỹ vnsearchable ryches of Christ and to make all men se what the felyshippe of the mistery is, which from the beginning of the worlde hath bene hyd in God whych made all thinges thorow Jesus Christ/to ỹ intent, that now vnto the rulers and powers in heauen myght be knowen by the congregacyon/the manyfolde wysdome of God/accordynge to the eternall purpose/ whych he purposed in Christ Jesu oure Lorde/by whō we are bolde to drawe nye in ỹ trust/whych we haue by fayth on hym. ✣ Wherfore I desyre that ye faynt not because of my tribulacōs for youre sake: which is youre prayse.

For this cause I bowe my knees vnto ỹ father of oure Lorde Jesus Christ, which is father ouer all that is called father in heauē & in erth ỹ he wolde graunt you accordinge to the ryches of hys glorye that ye maye be strengthed wych myght by hys spyrite in the inner man that Christ maye dwell in youre hertes by* fayth, that ye beynge rooted and grounded in loue, myght be able to comprehende with all sayntes what is that breadth & length depth & heyth: and to knowe what is ỹ loue of Christ, which loue passeth knowledge: that ye myght be fulfylled wyth all maner of fulnes which commeth of God.

Vnto hym that is able to do exceadynge aboundantly aboue all that we aske or thinke accordynge to ỹ power that worcketh in vs be prayse in the congregacyon by Jesus Christ, thorowout all generacions from tyme to tyme. Amen. ✣

The spuyng of a true beliuer.

Rom. xij and 1. Co. m. xij.

One God
One Lorde
One fayth.
One baptyme.

Therfore which am in bondes for the Lordes sake, exhorte you, that ye walke worthy of the vocacyon wherwyth ye are called/ in all hūblenes of mynde/and meknes/ & longe sufferynge forbearynge one another thorowe loue/ and that ye be diligent to kepe the vnite of the spyrite in the bonde of peace/beynge one body and one spyrite, euen as ye are called in one hope of youre callynge. Let ther be but one Lorde, one fayth, one baptyme: one God and father of all, which is aboue all thorow all/and in you all. ✣

✣ Vnto euery one of vs is geuen grace accordinge to the measure of ỹ gyfte of Christ. Wherfore he sayth: He is gone vp an hye and hath ledde captiuite captiue/and hath geuē gyftes vnto men. That he ascended: what meaneth it/ but that he also descended fyrst into the lowest partyes of the erth? He that descended/is euē the same also that ascended vp/ euē aboue all heauēs, to fulfyll all thinges.

And the very same made some Apostles/ some Prophetes, some Euangelistes, some Shepardes / and some Teachers: that the sayntes myght haue all thynges necessarye to worke a minister with all/to the edifyynge of the body of Christ/tyll we euery one (in ỹ vnite of fayth/and knowledge of the sonne of God) growe vp vnto a parfayte man, after ỹ measure of* age of ỹ fulnes of Christ. ✣ That we hence forth be no moare children, wauerynge and carryed wyth euery wynde of doctrine, by the wyckednes of mē & craftynes, whereby they laye awayte for vs to deceaue vs. But let vs folowe the trueth in loue, and in all thynges growe in him which is ỹ heed/ that is to saye Christ/in whō all the body is coupled and knet to gether in euery ioynt wherwith one mynystreth to another (accordinge to the operacyon as euery parte hath his measure) and increaseth the body/vnto ỹ edifyynge of it selfe in loue.

✣ This I saye therfore and testifye in the Lorde/that ye hēce forth walke not as other Gentyls walke/ in vanytye of their mynde/ blinded in their vnderstandinge/beynge straungers frō the lyfe whych is in God thorow the ignorancy that is in them/ because of ỹ blindnes of their hertes / which beynge past repentaunce/ haue geuen them selues vnto wantonnes to worke all maner of vnclennes, euen with gredines. But ye haue not so learned Christ/yf so be ye haue herde of him and are taught in hym/euen as the trueth is in Jesu. So then as concerninge the conuersacion in tyme past/ laye from you that olde man/which is corrupte thorow the deceauable lustes/ ✣ ✣ and be ye renued in ỹ spyrite of youre myndes, and put on that newe mā/ which after the ymage of God is shapen in ryghtewesnes and true holynes.

Wherfore put awaye lyinge/ and speake euery man truth vnto his neyghbour for asmoche as we are members one of another. *Be angrye but synne not: let not ỹ sonne go doune vpō youre wrath/neither geue place vnto ỹ backbyter. Let him ỹ stole, steale no moare, but let hym rather laboure wyth his handes some good thynge, that he maye haue to geue vnto him that needeth. ✣

Where true fayth in Christ is there is loue to the neyboure. And fayth and loue maketh vs vnderstande all thinges. Fayth vnderstondeth the secretes of God & the mercye that is graue in Christ. And loue knoweth her duetye to hyr neyboure/ & can interprete all lawes & commaūdementes and knoweth how farre fayth ought to be wrought & wherein to be dispensed with.

Let no filthy cōmunicacyon proceede out of youre mouthes: but that which is good to edifye with all, when nede is: that it maye haue fauoure with the hearers. And greue not the holy ſpyrite of God, by whō ye are ſealed vnto ye daye of redemptiō. Let all bitternes / fearfulnes and wrath, rorynge & curſyd ſpeakinge, be put awaye from you, with all maliciousnes. Be ye courteouſe one to another and mercyfull / forgeuynge one another / euen as God for Christes ſake forgaue you.

Therhorteth them vnto loue / warneth them to beware of vnclennes / couetousnesse / folyſh talkynge & falſe doctryne: to be circumſpecte / to a vayde idlenesse / to prayer and to be thankfull towarde God / to ſubmytte theſelues one to another. He teacheth how wemen ſhulde obeye their husbandes / & how louyngly men ought to intreate their wyues.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

Be ye followers of God as dere chil-dre, & walke in loue euē as Christ loued vs / & gaue hym ſelfe for vs / an offering & a ſacrifice of a ſwete ſauer to God. So yt fornicatiō & all vnclēnes or couetousnes be not once named amonge you as it becōmeth ſayncters: nether filthynes nether folyſshe talkynge / nether geſtynge which are not cōly: but rather geuinge of thākes. For this ye knowe that no whoremōger / ether vnclene perſon, or couetous perſon / which is ye worſhypper of ymages / hath eny inheritaūce in ye kingdome of Christ & of God.
Let no mā deceaue you wt vayne wordes.
For thorow ſuche thynges cōmeth ye wrath of God vpon the chyldre of vnbeleefe. Be not therfore cōpanyons wyth thē. Ye were once derckenes, but are now lyght in the Lorde.
Walke as chyldren of lyght. For the frute of the ſpyrite is in all goodnes / ryghteouſnes & trueth. Accept that which is pleaſynge to the Lorde: & haue no felyſhippe wyth the vnfruitfull workes of derckenes: but rather rebuke them. For it is ſhame euen to name thoſe thynges which are done of thē in ſecrete:
but all thinges, when they are rebuked of ye light / are manifeſt. For whatſoeuer is manifeſt / that ſame is lyght. Wherfore he ſayth:
awake thou that ſleepeſt / and ſtonde vp from deeth / and Christ ſhall geue the lyght.
Take hede therfore that ye walke circumſpectly: not as foles: but as wyſe* redemynge the tyme: for the dayes are euyll. Wherfore / be ye not vnwyſe but vnderſtande what the will of the Lorde is & be not dronckē wt wine wherin is exceſſe: but be fulfylled wyth the ſpyrite / ſpeakinge vnto youre ſelues in pſalmes & hymnes / & ſpyretuall ſonges, ſyngynge & makynge melodie to the Lord in youre hertes / gyuynge thankes all wayes for all thynges vnto God the father / in ye name of oure Lorde Jeſus Christ: ſubmyttyng youre ſelues one to another in the feare of God.

Wemen ſubmyt youre ſelues vnto youre awne husbandes / as vnto the Lorde. For the husbande is the wyues heed euē as Christ is the heed of the cōgregaciō, & the ſame is the ſauioure of ye body. Therfore as the cōgregacion is in ſubiecciō to Christ / likewyſe let ye wyues be in ſubiection to their husbandes in all thinges. Husbandes loue youre wiues euē as Christ loued the congregaciō / & gaue him ſelfe for it, to ſanctifye it, & cleanſed it in ye* fountayne of water thorow the worde to make it vnto hym ſelfe, a glorious cōgregacion with out ſpot or wrynckle or eny ſuche thing: but yt it ſhuld be holy & without blame.
So ought men to loue their wyues as their awne bodyes. He ye loueth hys wyfe, loueth him ſelfe. For no man euer yet hated his awne fleſſhe: but norſſheth & cherſſheth it, euē as the Lorde doth the congregacion. For we are members of his body of hys fleſſhe, & of his bones. For thys cauſe ſhall a man leaue father & mother / and ſhall continue with his wyfe & two ſhalbe made one fleſſhe. This is a great ſecrete / but I ſpeake bitwene Christ and the congregacyon. Neuertheleſſe do ye ſo that euery one of you loue his wife truely euen as him ſelfe. And let the wife ſe that ſhe feare her husbande.

* Baptyme ſaueth thorow ye worde: ye is thorow fayth in ye worde accordyng to the couenaūt made in Christ.

¶ How chyldren ſhulde be haue thē ſelues towarde their fathers and mothers: likewyſe fathers towarde their chyldren: ſeruauntes towarde their maſters / agayne maſters towarde their ſeruauntes and exhortacyon to the ſpyretuall battayll / and what wapens Chriſten men ſhulde fyght with all.

The.iij.Chapter.

B Moreouer, my brethrē reioyce in ℣ Lorde. It greueth me not to write one thinge oftē to you. For to you it is a sure thinge. Beware of dogges, beware of euyl workers. Beware of dissencion. For we are circucision which* worship God in ℣ spyrete, ℣ reioyce in Christ Iesu ℣ haue no confidence in the flesshe: though I haue wherof I myght reioyce in the flesshe. If eny other mā thynketh that he hath wherof he myght trust in the flesshe: moche moare I: circumcyded the eyght daye, of the kinred of Israel, of ℣ tribe of Beniamin an Ebrue borne of the Ebrues: as concerninge ℣ lawe/ a Phariseye, and as concerninge feruētnes/ I persecuted the congregacion, and as touchinge the righteousnes which is in ℣ lawe/ ℣ was vnrebukable.

* We worshippe god in spirite thorow faith ℣ reioyce ℣ Christ hath redemed vs ℣ trust not in oure workes

Christ onlye is oure righteousnes ℣ for his sake oure synnes are forgeue vs. God for his sake oure good workes are accepted which else were damnable for synne that is in them.

But the thinges that were vauntage vnto me, I counted losse for Christes sake. Yee I thynke all thinges but losse for that excellēt knowledges sake of Christ Iesu my Lorde. For whom I haue counted all thinge losse, ℣ do iudge the but donge, that I myght winne Christ, and myght be founde in hym, not hauinge myne awne ryghteousnes which is of the lawe: but that whych springeth of the fayth which is in Christ. I meane the righteousnes which cōmeth of God thorow fayth in knowinge him and the vertue of the resurrection, and the felowshippe of his passiōs/ that I myght be cōformable vnto his (deeth) yf by eny meanes I myght attayne vnto the resurrection of the deed.

(Deeth) we must dye with Christ yf we will ryse with hym.

C Not as though I had all redy attayned to it, either were all redy perfect: but I folowe/ yf that I maye cōprehende ℣ wherin I am cōprehended of Christ Iesu. Brethren I coūte not my selfe that I haue gotten it: but one thinge I saye: I* forget ℣ whych is behinde ℣ stretche my selfe vnto that which is before ℣ preace vnto that marke apoynted, to obtayne the rewarde of the hye callinge of God in Christ Iesu. Let vs therfore as many as be perfect, be thus wyse mynded: ℣ yf ye be other wyse mynded. I praye God open euen this vnto you. Neuertheles in ℣ wher vnto we are come/ let vs procede by one rule, that we maye be of one accorde.

* I loke not on the workes ℣ I haue done but what I lacke of the perfectnes of Christ.

+ Brethrē be folowers of me/ ℣ loke on thē which walke euē so/ as ye haue vs for an ensample. For many walke (of whom I haue tolde you often (℣ now tell you wepinge) that they are the enemyes of the crosse of Christ/ whose ende is damnacyō whose God is their belye/ ℣ whose glory is to their shame/ whych are worldely mynded. But oure conuersacō is in heauen/ from whence we loke for a sauiour, euē ℣ Lorde Iesus Christ/ which shal chaunge oure vyle bodyes, that they maye be fashioned lyke vnto his glorious body, according to the workinge, whereby he is able to subdue all thinges vnto him selfe. +

If we be lyke Christ in conuersacyon we shalbe lyke him in glorye.

The saluteth certayne of them/ exhorteth them to be of honest conuersacion/ and thanketh them because of the prouision ℣ they made for him beynge in prison.

The.iiij.Chapter.

Therfore my brethrē dearly beloued ℣ longed for/ my ioye and croune/ so cōtinue in the Lorde ye beloued. I praye Euodias, ℣ beseche Synteches ℣ they be of one accorde in the Lorde. Yee and I beseche the faythfull yocke felowe/ helpe the wemen which labored with me in the gospell/ ℣ with Clemēt also/ ℣ with other my labour felowes, whose names are in ℣ * booke of lyfe. + Reioyce in ℣ Lorde alwaye, ℣ agayne I saye reioyce. Let youre softenes be knowen vnto all men. The Lorde is euen at hande. Be not carefull: but in all thynges shewe youre peticiō vnto God in prayer and supplicacō with geuinge of thākes. And ℣ peace of God which passeth al vnderstādinge, kepe youre hertes and myndes in Christ Iesu. +

* Of the boke of lyfe is spoke in Apocalipsi.

B Furthermore brethrē, whatsoeuer thinges are true, whatsoeuer thinges are honest, whatsoeuer thinges are iust, whatsoeuer thinges are pure, whatsoeuer thinges pertayne to loue, whatsoeuer thinges are of honest reporte: yf ther be eny vertuous thinge, yf ther be eny laudable thinge, those same haue ye in youre mynde, which ye haue both learned ℣ receaued, herde ℣ also sene in me: those thinges do/ ℣ the God of peace shalbe with you. I reioyce in the Lorde greatly, that now at the last ye are reuyued againe to care for me, in that C wherin ye were also carefull, but ye lacked opportunite. ¶ The Epistle of Sayncte Paul the Apostle to the Collossyans.

The geueth thankes vnto God for theyr fayth/ loue & hope/ prayeth for theyr increase/ and theweth how we are the kyngdome of God/ optayned by Christ/ whi che is the heed of the congregacyon.

¶ The fyrste Chapter.

PAul an Apostle of Jesu Christ by the wyll of God/ and brother Timotheus.

To the sayncte̅s whych are at Colossa/ and brethren that beleue in Christ.

a* Grace be wᵗ you and peace from God oure father/ & from the Lorde Jesu Christ.

a* Grace be with you and peace from God our father & from the Lorde Jesu Christ. ꝯ is Grace & peace Loke more of ꝯ Romanes. b.

We geue thankes to God ꝯ father of oure Lorde Jesus Christ, alwayes prayenge for you sence we herde of youre* fayth whych ye haue in Christ Jesu and of ꝯ loue whych ye beare to all sayncte̅s for the hopes sake which is layde vp in store for you in heuẽ of which hope ye haue herde before by the true worde of ꝯ Gospell/ which is come vnto you euen as it is into all the worlde/ and is frutefull/ as it is amonge you/ frõ the fyrst daye in the which ye herde of it/ and had experiẽce in the grace of God in the trueth/ as ye learned of Epaphras oure deare felowe seruaunt/ which is for you a faythfull minister of christ whych also declared vnto vs youre loue which ye haue in the spryte.

* Where the fayth of Christ is, there is loue to the brethren.

¶ For this cause we also/ sence the daye we herde of it, haue not ceasyd prayinge for you/ and desyringe that ye myght be fulfilled with the knowledge of his will/ in all wisdome & spyrytuall vnderstandynge/ that ye might walke worthy of the Lorde in all thynges ꝯ please beynge frutfull in all good workes & encreasynge in the knowledge of God, strẽgthed wyth all myght/ thorowe hys glorious power vnto all pacience & longe suffringe with ioyfulnes & gevinge thankes vnto the father which hath made vs mete to be partakers of the inheritaunce of sayncte̅s in light.

Which hath deliuered vs frõ the power of derknes and hath translated vs into ꝯ kyngdome of hys dere sone, in whom we haue redemption thorow hys bloud that is to saye/ the forgeues of synnes whych is the ymage of the inuisyble God, fyrst begottẽ of all creatures. For by him were all thynges created/ thinges that are in heuen/ & thinges that are in erth: thinges visyble & thinges inuisyble/ whether they be maieste or lordshippe/ either rule or power. All things are creatyd by him/ and in hym and he is before all thynges, & in him all thinges haue their beynge.

Our redemcõ is ꝯ forgeuenes of oure synnes.

And he is the heed of the body/ that is to wit of the congregacyõ. he is the begynnynge and* fyrst begotten of the deed/ that in all thinges he myght haue the preeminence. For it pleased the father that in him shuld all fulnes dwell and by him to reconcile all thinge vnto hym selfe/ and to set at peace by hym thorow the bloud of hys crosse, both thynges in heuen and thinges in erth.

* He is the fyrst that hath ꝯ glorye & newe lyfe of the resurrecyon.

And you (which were in tymes past straungers & enymes/ because youre mynds were set in euyll workes) hath he now reconcilyed in ꝯ body of his flesshe thorowe deeth/ to make you holy/ vnblameable and with out faut in his awne syght/ yf ye contynue grounded and stablyshed in the fayth and be not moued awaye frõ the hope of the Gospell, wher of ye haue herde, howe that it is preached amonge all creatures whych are vnder heuē whereof I Paul am made a minister.

Now rope I in my*sufferynges whych I fulfille for you and fulfyll that whych is behynde of the passyons of Christ in my flesche for his bodyes sake which is the congregacīō wher of I am made a minister accordinge to the ordinaūce of God, which ordinaūce was geuen me vnto you warde, to fulfyll ỹ worde of God that mystery hyd sence the worlde began, & sence the beginnynge of generacīōs: but now is opened to his saynctes, to whom God wolde make knowē the glorious ryches of this mystery amonge the Gentyls, whych ryches is Christ in you, the hope of glory, whom we preach, warnynge all men, & teachynge all men in all wysdome to make all men parfect in Christ Jesu. Wherin I also laboure and stryue euen as farforth as hys worckynge worcketh in me myghtely.

* Passions or sufferynges of Christ is ỹ passions which we must suffre for his sake. For we were ordeyned & appointed to suffre wyth Christ. 1. Iohn. 3. As my father sent me so send I you.

A true Apostle wolde haue all men perfecte in the knowledge of Christ and of his doctrine.

¶ What greate care Paul toke for all congregacīōs. Exhorteth them to be stedfast in Christ to beware of false teachers and worldly wysdom, and describeth ỹ false Prophetes.

¶ The.ij. Chapter.

I Wolde ye knewe what fyghtynge I haue for yourr sakes and for ỹē of Laodicia, and for as many as haue not sene my parson in ỹ flesche, that their hertes myght be cōforted and knet to gether in loue, & in all ryches of full vnderstandynge, for to knowe the mystery of God the father and of Christ, in whom are hyd all the treasures of wysdome and knowledge. This I saye lest eny man shuld begile you with enticynge wordes. * For though I be absent in the flesche, yet am I present wyth you in the spirite, ioynge and beholdynge ỹ order that ye kepe, & youre stedfast fayth in Christ. As ye haue therfore receaued Christ Jesu the Lorde, euen so walke, rotted & bylt in him & stedfaste in ỹ fayth, as ye haue learned: & therin be plēteous in geuynge thākes

✠ Beware lest eny man come and spoyle you thorow philosophy & disceatful vanitie, thorow the traditions of men, & ordinaūces after the worlde, and not after Christ. For * in him dwelleth all ỹ fulnes of ỹ Godhed bodyly, and ye are complete in hym whych is the heed of all rule and power, in whom also ye are circumcised wyth circumcision made wyth out handes by puttynge of the synfull body of the flesche thorow the circumcision ỹ is in Christ, in that ye are buryed wyth hym thorow baptime, in whom ye are also rysen agayne thorowe fayth, that is wrought by ỹ operacīō of God which raysed him frō deeth.

a * In hym dwelleth all the fulnes of ỹ God hed bodyly that is, verely and in deade not in shadowes so ỹ whē ye haue hym ye ought not to folowe the shadowes of Moses lawe or the traditions & ordinaūces of men

And ye which were deed in synne thorow the vncircumcision of youre flesche, hath he quyckened wyth hym and hath forgeuen vs all oure trespaces ✠ and hath put out the * handwrytynge that was agaynst vs, contayned in the lawe written: and that hath he taken out of the waye and hath fastened it to his crosse, and hath spoyled rule and power, and hath made a shewe of thē openly, & hath triumphed ouer them in his awne person.

b * The lawe is oure handewrytynge in that ỹ cōscience testifyeth to hir shame, sith she feleth ỹ cōscience is not clene & we synners which lawe concernynge dānacyon is taken away thorow fayth in Christ.

Let no mā therfore trouble youre cōsciēces about meate and drynke or for a pece of an holy daye as ỹ holyday of the newe mone, or of the Sabboth dayes, which are nothynge but shaddowes of thynges to come: but * the body is in Christ. Let no mā make you lose at awrōge marke which after his awne ymaginacion walketh in the humblenes & holynes of angels thinges which he neuer sawe: causeles puft vp with his fleshly mynde, & holdeth not the heed, wherof all the body by toynts and couples receaueth norisshment and is knet to gether, and encreaseth wyth ỹ increasynge that commeth of God.

c * The body is in Christ ỹ is to ỹ testifieth and very performaūce is in Christ: whom these shadowes ordeyned.

Wherfore yf ye be deed wyth Christ from ordinaūces of the worlde, why as though ye yet lyued in the worlde, are ye ledde with traditions of them that saye? Touche not, taste not, handell not: which all perisshe wyth the vsynge of them and are after the commaundmētes and doctrynes of men: which thynges haue the symylytude of wysdome in chosen holynes and humblenes, & in that they spare not the body, and do the flesshe no worshype vnto hys nede.

¶ She putteth them in remembraunce of the spirituall resurrection, to laye aside all maner of corrupte lyuynge, to be frutefull in all godlynesse and vertue, and shewyth all degrees their dutye.

¶ The.iij. Chapter. ✠

All the mercie ỹ is set forth in ỹ two vpper chapters is promised to the only that wyll folowe Christ & lyue as here after followeth.

IF ye be then rysen againe wyth Christ seke those thinges which are aboue, where Christ sytteth on the ryght hande of God. Set youre affectiō on thinges ỹ are aboue, & not on thinges which are on the erth. For ye are deed & youre lyfe is hyd wyth Christ in God. When Christ whych is oure lyfe shall shewe him selfe, then shall ye also appere with him in glory. ✠

These maners must be slayne.

Mortifye therfore youre membres which are on the erth, fornicacyon, vnclennes, vnnaturall lust, euyll concupyscence, & couetousnes which is worshyppinge of ydoles: for which thinges sakes the wrath of God cometh on the chyldren of vnbeleefe. In whych thinges ye walked once, whē ye lyued in thē.

But now put ye also awaye from you all thinges: wrath, fearsnes, maliciousnes, cursed speakynge, fylthy speakynge out of youre mouthes. Lye not one to another * ỹ the olde man with his workes be put of, and the newe put on which is renued in knowledge after ỹ

A Paul Syluanus and Timotheus. vnto the congregacion of the Thessalonyans/ in God the father and in the Lorde Jesus Christ.

Grace be with you. & peace from God oure father/ and from the Lorde Jesus Christ.

We geue God thankes all waye for you all/makynge mēcion of you in oure prayers with out ceasynge/ & call to remembraunce youre worke in the fayth/ & labour in loue & B perseueraunce in the hope of oure Lorde Jesus Christ in the syght of God oure father: because we knowe brethren beloued of God how that ye are electe ffor oure Gospell came not vnto you in worde only/ but also in power/ & also in ỹ holy goost & in moche certaynty e/ as ye knowe after what maner we behaued oure selues amonge you/ for youre ¶ sakes. And ye became folowers of vs & of ỹ Lorde/ & receaued the worde in moche affliccion/ with ioye of ỹ holy goost: so that ye were an ensample to all ỹ beleue in Macedonia & Achaia. ffor frō you sounded out the worde of the Lorde/ not in Macedonia & in Achaia only: but youre faith also which ye haue vnto God/ spredeth selfe abroade in all quarters/ so greatly that it needeth not vs to speake eny D thinge at all. ffor they them selues shewe of you what maner of entrynge in we had vnto you & how ye tourned to God from ymages/ for to serue the lyuinge and true God/ & for to loke for hys sonne from heauen/ whō he rayled frō deeth: I meane Jesus which deliuereth vs from the wrath to come.

¶ He putteth them in mynde of the godly conuersacio that he led amonge them whē he preached the Gospell vnto them thanketh God that they receaue his worde so frutefully and excuseth his absence.

¶ The.ij. Chapter.

FOr ye youre selues knowe brethren of oure entrauce in vnto you/ how that it was not in vayne: but euen after that we had suffered before & were shamfully entreated at Philippos (as ye well knowe) then were we bolde in oure God to speake vnto you the Gospell of God/ w̄ moche striuynge. thren/and exhorte you in the Lorde Jesus / that ye increace more and more/euen as ye haue receaued of vs how ye ought to walcke & to please God.
Ye remember what commaundementes we gaue you in oure Lord Jesu Christ. For this is the wyll of God/euē that ye shuld be holy/and that ye shuld abstayne from fornicacio/that euery one of you shulde knowe how to kepe his vessell in holynes & honoure / & not in ȳ lust of cōcupiscence as doȳ hethē which which know not God/that no mā go to farre and defraude his brother in bargaynyng: because ȳ Lord is a wenger of all suche thingꝭ/as we tolde you before time and testified. For God hath not called vs vnto vnclennes: but vnto holynes. He therfore that despyseth, despyseth not man, but God / which hath sent his holy spyrite amonge you.

✝ Ye are all the chyldren of lyght / and the chyldren of the daye. We are not of the nyght nether of darcknes.

B Therfore let vs not slepe as do other: but let vs watch and be sober. For they that slepe slepe in the nyght: and they that be dronckē / are dronckē in the nyght. But let vs which are of the daye / be sober / armed with ✝ brest plate of fayth & loue / & with hope of saluacion as an helmet For God hath not apoynted vs vnto wrath: but to obtayne saluacion by the meanes of oure Lorde Jesu Christ which dyed for vs: that whether we wake or slepe / we shuld lyue to gether with him.

Faythe is the brest plate and hope is the helmet.

vnto Timothe hys naturall sonne in the fayth.

Grace/ mercy and peace from God oure father and Lorde Jesus Christ oure Lorde.

As I besought the to abyde styll in Ephesus

Mat. xxiii. a. a* That synfull man is yet not come. Of him speaketh Paul in this storye of John the xvij. Chapt.

b* To sytt in the temple of God: is to rule in the cōgregacion and to be taken for God. By which place and thought onely to sygnifie: which is as moche as to be exalted aboue God.

c* With the spyrete of hys mouth. The spyrete of hys mouth is hys holy worde.

d* Lying miracles make men to receaue & beleue false doctryne.

e* Where no loue is to the truethe/ on the behalfe of God for sparkle prophetes to deceaue them.

sus when I departed into Macedonia, euen so do / that thou commaunde some that they teache no nother wyse: nether geue hede to fables and genealogies which are endlesse and bryngе doutes moare then Godlye edyfyinge which is by fayth: for the ende of ꝑ cōmaūdment is *loue that commeth of a pure herte and of a good conscience / & of fayth vnfayned: frō the which thynges some haue erred / and haue turned vnto vayne iangelynge because they wolde be doctours in ꝑ scripture / and yet vnderstāde not what they speake / nether wherof they affirme.

* Loue is ꝑ ende of the cōmaundement & must interpret.

b Roma. vū. f. Gala. iij. d Ephe. v. a

✠ We knowe that the lawe is good / yf a man vse it lawfully / vnderstandynge thys / how that the lawe is not geuen vnto a righteous man / but vnto the vnryghteous & disobediēt / to the vngodly and to synners / to vnholy and vncleane / to murtherers of fathers and murtherers of mothers / to manslears & whoremongers: to thē that defyle them selues with mankynde: to menstealers: to lyars & to periured / & so forth yf ther be eny other thing that is contrary to holsome doctryne / accordinge to the Gospell of the glory of the blessed God / which gospell is cōmitted vnto me.

¶ And I thanke Christ Iesus oure Lorde which hath made me stronge: for he counted me true / and put me in office / when before I was a blasphemar / and a persecutter / & a Tyraunt. But I obtayned mercy / because I did it ignorauntly thorow vnbelefe. Neuerthelater the grace of oure Lorde was moare aboundaunt with fayth and loue which is in Christ Iesu. ❡

The grounde of the fayth.

✠ This is a true sayinge & by all meanes worthy to be receaued ꝑ Christ Iesus came into the worlde to saue synners / of whome I am chefe. Not withstandynge for this cause was mercy geuē vnto me, that Iesus Christ shulde fyrst shewe on me all longe pacience / vnto the ensample of thē which shall in tyme to come beleue on hym vnto eternall lyfe.

Paul is an ensample that no ma despayre that can repent.

D So then vnto God kynge euerlastynge / immortall / inuisyble / & wyse only / be honoure and prayse for euer and euer. Amen.

This commaundement commit I vnto ꝑ sonne Timotheus / accordynge to the prophesies which in tyme past were prophisied of the, that thou in them shuldest fyght a good fyght / hauyng fayth & good cōscience which some haue put awaye from them / & as cōcernyng fayth haue made shipwracke. Of whose nombre is Himeneus & Alexander whych I haue delyuered vnto Satan, ꝑ they might be taught not to blaspheme.

¶ He exhorteth to praye for all men. He wyll not haue women to be ouercostly arayed nor to teache in the cōgregacō / but to be in sylence / & obeye their husbādes.

¶ The.ij. Chapter.

I Exhorte therfore / that aboue all thynges / prayers / supplications / intercessions & geuyng of thankes be had for all men: for kynges / and for all that are in auctorite / that we maye lyue a quyet and a peasable lyfe / in all godlynes and honestie. For that is good & accepted in the syght of God oure sauiour / whych

B * wyll haue all men saued / and to come vnto the knowledge of the trueth. For ther is one God and one mediator betwene God & mā, which is the man Christ Iesus / which geue him selfe a raunsome for all men / ꝑ it shuld be testified at his tyme, where vnto I am ordayned a preacher and an Apostle: I tell the trueth in Christ & lye not beyng the teacher of the gentyls in fayth and verite. ❡

* Wyll ye that is wyll haue ꝑ Gospell preached to all men without exception & offre to all men repentaunce and will haue all men prayed for.

I wyll therfore that the men praye euery where / lyftynge vp pure handes without wrath / or dowting. Likewyse also the wemē that they arayе them selues in comlye apparell with shamfastnes & discrete behaueour / not with broyded heare other golde, or pearles, or costly arayе. but with suche as becommeth wemen that professe the worshippyng of God thorow good worches: * Let the woman learne in sylence with all subiection. I suffre not a womā to teache, nether to haue auctorite ouer the man: but for to be in silence. For Adam was fyrste formed / and then Eue. Also Adam was not deceaued / but the woman was deceaued, and was in trāsgression. Not withstandynge thorow bearynge of chyldren they shalbe saued, so they continue in fayth, loue & holynes with discrecion.

C Lyra. ꝓuf. g.

¶ What maner a mā a bisshoppe or preest ought to be and what condicion his wyfe and chyldren shuld haue. The properties also requyred in a deacon or mynister, and in his wyfe.

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

This is a true sayinge: If a man couet the office of a Bisshope he desyreth a good worcke. Ye & a Bysshope must be faultelesse, the husbād of one wyfe, sober, discrete / honestly apparelled harberous, apt to teache, not dronkē / no fyghter, not geuē to fylthy lucre: but gentle / abhorynge fyghtynge abhorrynge couetousnes / and one that ruleth his awne house honestly hauynge chyldren vnder obedience with all honestie. For yf a mā cannot rule his awne house, how shall he care for the congregacō of God. He maye not be * a yonge scoler lest he swell and faule into the iudgemēt of the cuyll speaker. He must also be well reported of amonge them which are without forth lest he fall into rebuke and snare of ꝑ cuyll speaker.

Lykewyse must Deacons be honest / not double tonged, not geuen vnto moche drinkynge,

A bisshoppe is not to be ordeyned to yonge a man lest he wexe proude / & lest he fall into the condemnacō of the deuyll. Yonge men are lyghtly caught with vayne glorye / & are vnstable in iudgement.

B Deacons ought to be honest men / & of good reporte / & not geuen to moche wyne / & to be ryche in good workes / & to be men of honest conuersacion / & to haue their wyues honest.

C Paul sayth that a bisshoppe ought to be the husbād of one wyfe / & that his chyldren ought to be obedient. Wherfore it is playne that he is not bounde to kepe chastite / but that he is bounde to kepe him selfe vnspotted of lechery / & to haue his wife & chyldren in subiection.

kyng nether to fylthy lucre: but hauyng ỹ mistery of the fayth in pure conscience. And let them fyrst be proued//and then let thē mi nister/yf they be founde fautelesse.

Euen so must their wyues be honest/not euill speakers:but sober and faythfull in all thynges. Let the Deacons be the husbādes of one wyfe, and suche as rule their chyldren well/and their awne housholdes. For they that mynister well/get them selues good degree and greate lybertie in the fayth, which is in Christ Jesu.

The wyues of the prestes and deacones

These thynges write I vnto the/trustinge longe/that then thou mayst yet haue knowledge how thou oughtest to behaue thy selfe in the house of God/which is ỹ cōgregacion

* In the spyrete or: by the spyrete: the spyrete bare reco de to hym and to his doc-trine.

The prophecieth of the latter dayes & exhorteth Tymothy to the diligent readynge of the holy scripture.

The.iiij.Chapter.

The spyrete speaketh euydently that parte from the fayth/ & shall geue hede vnto spyretes of errour / and vnclene doctryne of them which speake false through ypocrysye/ & * haue their cōscie-ces marked with an hote yron/ forbyddyng to mary/ & cōmaundynge to abstayne from meates which God hath created to be recea-ued with geuynge thanckes / of them which beleue and knowe the trueth. For all ỹ creatures of God are good and nothynge to be re fused yf it be receaued with thāksgeuynge.

For it is sanctified by the worde of God and prayer. If thou shalt put the brethren in re-membraunce of these thynges/thou shalt be a good mynister of Jesu Christ whych hast bene norisshed vp in the wordes of the fayth and good doctrine which doctryne thou hast continually followed. But cast awaye vngodly and olde wyues fables.

Exercyse thy selfe vnto godlynes. For bode-

The.v.Chapter.

Rebuke not an elder: but exhorte him as a father & the yonger mē as brethren / the elder wemen as mothers, the yonger as systers/ wyth all puretes. Honoure wyddowes which are true wyddowes. If eny wyddowe haue chyl-drē or neuues/lett them learne fyrst to rule their awne houses godly and to recompense their elders. For that is good and acceptable before God. She that is a very wyddowe & frendlesse/putteth her trust in God/ and contynueth in supplicacion and prayer nyght & daye. But she that lyueth in pleasure/is dead euen yet alyue. And these thinges cōmaūde/that they maye be wythout faute. If ther be eny that prouydeth not for hys awne and namely for them of hys housholde / the same denyeth the fayth / and is worse then an in-fydell.

Let no wyddowe be chosen vnder threscore yere olde/and soche a one as was the wyfe of one man/ & well reported of in good wor-kes: yf she haue norysshed chyldren / yf she haue bene liberall to straungers/yf she haue washed the saynctes fete/ yf she haue mynis-tred vnto them which were in aduersitye/yf she were contynually geuen vnto all maner good workes. The yonger wyddowes refuse. For when they haue begone to wexe wantone/ to the dyshonoure of Christ / then wyll they mary hauynge * damnacyon / because they haue broken their fyrst fayth. And also they learne to goo from house to house ydle: yee not ydle only, but also tryflyng and busybodyes/ speakynge thynges whych are not comly.

* Whatsoeuer he vnderstōdeth vs / yf God be therby dyshonoured ought to be spoken.

I wyll therfore that the yonger wemen mary and beare chyldrē, and gyde the house/and geue none occasyon to the aduersary to speake euyll. For many of them are allredy turned backe/ & are gone after Satan. And yf eny man or woman that beleueth haue widdowes let thē minister vnto thē/ & let not ỹ cōgregacyō be charged: ỹ ye maye haue ſuf ficient for thē that are wyddowes in dede.

The el-

The elders that rule well/ are worthy of double honoure, most specially they which laboure in the worde & teachyng. For ꝑ scripture sayth: thou shalt not mouzell ꝑ mouthe of the oxe that treadeth out the corne. And ꝑ labourer is worthy of his reward.* Agaynst an elder receaue none accusacion: but vnder two or thre wytnesses. Them that synne / rebuke openly, that other maye feare.

Deut.xxv.d. 1.Tim.v.a. Mathe.x.b. Luke.x.b.

I testifie before God and the Lorde Jesus Christ & the electe angels, that thou obserue these thinges without hasty iudgement, & do nothinge partially. Laye handes sodenly on no man, nether be partaker of other mens synnes: kepe thy selfe pure. Drincke no lenger water, but vse a lyttell wyne for thy stomakes sake and thyne often dyseases.

Some mennes synnes are open before hande & go before vnto iudgemēt: some mēnes synnes folowe after. Lykewyse also good workes are manifest before hande and they that are other wyse, cannot be hyd.

¶ The duty of seruauntes towarde their maisters. Agaynst such as are not satisfied wt the worde of God. Agaynst couetrousnes. A good lesson for ryche men.

¶ The.vi. Chapter.

Let as many seruauntes as are vnder the yoke, counte their maisters worthy of all honour, that ꝑ name of God & his doctryne be not euyll spoken of. Se ꝑ they which haue beleuynge maisters, despyse them not because they are brethrē: but so moche the rather do seruyce, for as moche as they are beleuynge & beloued and partakers of the benefite.

These thynges teache & exhorte. If eny mā teache other wyse, & is not content wyth the wholsome wordes of oure Lorde Jesu Christ, & with the doctryne of Godlynes, he is puffed vp and knoweth nothynge: but wasteth hys braynes about questions & stryfe of wordes wherof sprynge enuye, stryfe, raylyngs, euill surmisynges & vayne disputacyons of men with corrupte myndes and destytute of the trueth, which thinke that lucre is godlynes. From soche separate thy selfe. Godlynes is greate ryches, yf a man be cōtent with that he hath.* For we brought nothynge into the worlde, and it is a playne case that we can cary nothynge out.

Joh.i.d. Eccle.v.c.

When we haue fode & raymēt, let vs therwith be cōtent. They that wylbe ryche, faule into temptacion & snares, and into many folyshe & noysome lustes which drounde men in perdicion & destruccio. For couetousnes is ꝑ rote of all euill, which whyll some lusted after they erred from the fayth, and tangled them selues with many sorowes. But thou which arte the man of God, flye soche thinges. Dere beloued I beseche you as straūgers & pilgrems, abstayne frō fleshly lustes/ which fight agaynst the soule and se that ye haue honest conuersacion amonge the Gentyls/ that they which backbyte you as euyll doars maye se your good workes and prayse God in the daye of visitacion.

Submyt youre selues vnto all maner ordinaunce of mā for the lordes sake/ whether it be vnto the Kynge as vnto the chefe heed: other vnto rulers, as vnto thē that are sent of him for the punisshment of euyll doars, but for the laude of them that do well. For so is the wyll of God/that ye put to sylence the ignorauncie of the folyshe men: as fre/and not as hauynge the lybertie for a clocke of malicyousnes/but euē as the seruaūts of God. Honoure all men. Loue brotherly felechyppe. Feare God, and honoure the kynge.

Seruaūtes obey your maisters with all feare/not only yf they be good & courteous: but also though they be frowarde. For it is thanke worthye yf a man for conscience towarde God endure grefe/suffrynge wrongfully. For what prayse is it/ yf when ye be buffeted for your faultes/ ye take it patiently? But & yf when ye do well, ye suffer wrōge & take it pacietly then is ther thāke wt God.

For here vnto verely were ye called: for Christ also suffered for vs/ leuynge vs an ensample that ye shulde folowe his steppes/ whych dyd no synne/ neither was there gyle found in his mouth: which when he was reuyled, reuyled not agayne: when he suffered/ he threatened not: but cōmytted the cause to him that iudgeth righteously, which his awne selfe bare oure synnes in his body on the tree/ that we shulde be delyuered from synne and shuld lyue in ryghtewesnes. For as moche as Christ hath suffred for vs in ỳ flesshe arme youre selues lyke wyse with the same mynde: for he which suffereth in ỳ flesshe, ceasith from synne/ that he hẽceforwarde shulde lyue as moche tyme as remayneth in ỳ flesshe: not after the lustes of men/ but after the wyll of God. For it is sufficient for vs that we haue spent the tyme ỳ is past of the lyfe/ after the wyll of the gentyls, walkynge in wantonnes, lustes, dronckennes/ in eatynge/ drynckynge and in abominable ydolatrie.

B And it semeth to them a straunge thynge that ye runne not also with thẽ vnto ỳ same excesse of ryote, & therfore speake they euyll of you, which shall geue a comptes to hym that is redy to iudge quicke and deed.  For vnto this purpose verely was ỳ gospell preached vnto the deed that they shulde be iudged after the lyfe other men in the flesshe, but shulde lyue before God in ỳ spyrete. The ende of all thynges is at hande.

✠ Be ye therfore discrete & sober/ ỳ ye maye be apte to prayers. But aboue all thynges haue feruent loue amonge you. For loue couereth ỳ multitude of synnes. If ye be rayled vpõ for the name of Christ happye are ye. For the spyrete of glory & ỳ spyrete of God resteth vpõ you. On their parte he is euyll spokẽ of: but on youre parte he is glorified.

Se that none of you suffre as a murtherer/ or as a thefe, or an euyll doar or as a busybody in other mens matters. If eny mã suffre as a Christẽ mã, let him not be ashamed: but let him glorifie God on this behalfe. For the tyme is come ỳ iudgemẽt must begynne at the house of God * If it fyrst begynne at vs/ what shall ỳ ende be of thẽ which beleue not the gospell of God? And yf the ryghteous scasly be saued: where shall the vngodly & the synner appere? ¶ The fyrst Chapter.

Simon Peter a seruaunt ¶ an Apostle of Iesus Christ/ to them which haue obtayned lyke precious fayth wyth vs in the ryghtewesnes that cometh of oure God ¶ sauioure Iesus Christ.
Grace with you/ and peace be multyplied in the knowledge of God and of Iesus oure Lorde. For we folowed not deceuable fables whē we opened vnto you the power ¶ commynge of oure Lorde Iesus Christ / but wyth oure eyes we sawe his maiestie: euen then verely when he receaued of God ¶ father honoure ¶ glory/ and when there came soche a voyce to him frō ¶ excellent glorie.* This is my dere beloued sonne in whom I haue delyte. The prophecieth of false teachers/ and shewerh their punishment.

¶ The.ij. Chapter.

THer were false Prophetes amõge the people/ euẽ as ther shalbe false teachers amõge you: which prively shall bringe in damnable sectes, euen denyinge the Lorde ẏ hath bought them/ & bringe vpon them selues swyft damnacyon, and many shall folowe their damnable wayes/ by which the waye of trueth shalbe euyll spoken of, & thorow * couetousnes shall they wyth fayned wordes make marchandyse of you whose iudgemẽt is not farre of/ and their damnacion sleepeth not.

* Ye people ought neuer to be ashamed to confesse ẏ they haue synned but cast them downe into hell/ and deliuered them into chaynes of derknes/ to be kept vnto iudgement: neither spared the olde worlde, but saued Noe the eyght preacher of ryghteousnes & brought in the flud vpon the worlde of the vngodly and turned the cyties of Sodom and Gomor into asshes. ouerthrewe them, damned thẽ/ & made en thẽ an ensample vnto all that after shulde lyue vngodly. And iust Lot vexed with the vnclenly conuersacion of the wicked/ deliuered he For he beynge ryghteous and dwellynge amõge them in seynge and hearyng/ vexed his righteous soule from daye to daye with their vnlawfull dedes. The Lorde knoweth how to deliuer the godly oute of temptacion/ & how to reserue the vniuste vnto the daye of iudgemẽt for to be punished: namely thẽ ẏ walcke after the flesshe in the lust of vnclennes/ and dispyse the rulers. Presumpteous are they/ and stubborne and feare not to speake euyll of them that are in auctorite. When the Angels whych are greater bothe in power and might/ receaue not of ẏ Lord raylyng iudgemẽt agaynst thẽ. But these as brute beastes/ naturally made to be taken and destroyed/ speake euyll/ of that they knowe not/ & shall perysshe thorough their owne destruccion/ & receaue the rewarde of vnryghteousnes.

They count it pleasure to lyue delycyously for a season. Spottes they are & blemysshes/ lyuing at pleasure/ & in dysceauable wayes/ feastinge with you: hauynge eyes full of adultrie and that cannot cease to synne/ begylyng vnstable soules. Herte they haue exercysed with couetousnes. They are cursed chyldren/ and haue forsaken the right waye/ and are gone astraye folowynge the waye of Balam the sonne of Bosor/ which loued ẏ rewarde of vnryghteousnes: but was rebuked of his iniquitie. The tame & dõme beast/ speakynge with mannes voyce/ forbade the folysshenes of the Prophete.

* These are welles wythout water and cloudes caried about of a tempest/ to whome ẏ myst of derknes is reserued for euer. For when they haue spoken the swelling wordes of vanytie, they begyle ẏ wantõnes thorow the lustes of ẏ flesshe/ them that were clene escaped: but now are wrapped in errours. They promes them lyberte/ and are thẽ selues ẏ bonde seruauntes of corrupcion. * For of whom soeuer a man is ouercome vnto the same is he in bondage. For yf they after they haue escaped from the fylthynes of ẏ world thorowe the knowledge of the Lorde and of the sauioure Jesus Christ/ are yet tangled agayne therin and ouercome. then is the latter ende worse with them then ẏ begynning. For it had ben better for them/ not to haue * knowne the waye of ryghteousnes then after they haue knowen it/ to turne from the holy commaundement geuẽ vnto them. It is happened vnto thẽ according to the true prouerbe: * The dogge is turned to his vomet agayne. & the sow that was washed/ to her wallowynge in the myre.

* It is better not haue knowen ẏ truthe/ then not to ꝑsue ther after.

Wherfore it behoueth men to beware of such as wolde make them beleue that the daye of the Lorde were slacke in commynge: prayeth them to lede a godly lyfe/ & to loke wesely for the commynge of the Lorde/ whose longe tarrynge is saluacion. and because he wolde haue no man lost but wolde receaue all men to repentaunce.

* This fyrst vnderstãde that ther shall come in the laste dayes, mockers, whych wyll walke after their owne lustes & saye. Where is the promes of his commynge? For sence the fathers dyed, all thynges contynue in the same estate wherin they were at the begynnynge. This they knowe not (and that wyllyngly) how that the heauens a great whyle ago were/ and the erth that was in the water apeared vp oute of the water/ by the worde of God: by the which thynges the worlde that then was/ perisshed/ ouerflowing wt ẏ water. But the heauens nowe/ and erth whych are now/ are kept by the same worde in store/ & reserued vnto fyre/ agaynst the daye of iudgement and perdicion of vngodly men.

Derely beloued/ be not ignorant of thys one thynge/ how that one daye is wyth the Lorde/ as a thousande yere/ and a thousande yere as one daye. The Lorde is not slacke to fulfill his promes, as some men count slacknes: but is pacyent to vs warde/ and wolde haue no mã lost/ but wolde receaue all men to repentaunce.

¶ The fyrst Epistle of Saynct John the Apostle.

¶ True wytnesse of the euerlastynge worde of God. The bloude of Christe is the purgacion from synne. Noman is without synne.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

That whych was from the begynnynge / whych we haue hearde / which we haue sene w oure eyes / whych we haue looked vpon / and oure handes haue handled / of the worde of the lyfe. For the lyfe appered / & we haue sene and beare wytnes / and shewe vnto you that eternall lyfe / which was with the father, and appered vnto vs. That which we haue sene and herde / declare we vnto you / that ye maye haue fellowshyppe wyth vs & that oure fellowshyppe maye be with the father and hys sonne Jesus Christ. And thys wryte we vnto you / that your ioye maye be full.

And this is the tydynges whych we haue hearde of him & declare vnto you / that God is lyght and in him is no derknes at all. If we saye that we haue fellyshippe with him / and yet walcke in derknes / we lye / and do not the truth. But and yf we walke in (lyght) euē as he is in lyght, then haue we fellishippe with him, and the bloude of Jesus Christ his sonne clenseth vs from all synne.

If we saye that we haue no synne / we deceaue oure selues and trueth is not in vs. If we* knowledge oure synnes, he is faythfull and iust, to forgeue vs oure synnes / and to clense vs from all vnrighteousnes. If we saye we haue not synned / we make hym a lyar and his worde is not in vs.

Anticipation Scripture

He that kepeth the cõmaundementes knoweth God: he that kepeth the not knoweth not God.

LYtell childre, these thinges wryte I vnto you/ that ye synne not: yf eny man synne, yet we haue an aduocate wyth the father/ Iesus Christ, whych is ryghteous: and he it is that obteyneth grace for oure synnes: not for oure synnes only: but also for the synnes of all the worlde. And herby we are sure that we knowe hym yf we kepe hys* commaundementes. He that sayth I knowe hym, and kepeth not hys commaundementes is a lyar & the verytye is not in hym. Whosoeuer kepeth his worde in him is the loue of God parfect in dede. And therby knowe we that we are in hym. He that sayth he bydeth in hym/ ought to walke euen as he walked.

Brethren I wryte no newe cõmaundemẽt vnto you: but that olde cõmaundemẽt which ye haue from the begynnynge. The olde cõmaundement is the worde whych ye haue from the beginnynge. Agayne a newe commaundement I wryte vnto you, a thynge ♁ is true in him, & also in you: for the derknes is past, & the true light now shyneth. He that sayth how that he is in the lyght, and yet hateth hys brother, is in derknes euen vntyll this tyme. He that loueth hys brother, abydeth in the lyght and ther is none occasion of euyll in hym. He that* hateth hys brother is in derknes, and walketh in derknes: and cannot tell whyther he goeth, because that derknes hath blynded his eyes.

*He ♁ hateth is in darknes & knoweth not what Christ hath done for him but he that loueth is in lyght and woteth what Christ hath done.

Babes I wryte vnto you how that youre synnes are forgeuẽ you for his names sake. I wryte vnto you fathers/ how ♁ ye knowe him that was frõ the beginnyng. I wryte vnto you younge men, how that ye haue ouercome ♁ wicked. I wryte vnto you lytell chyldren, how that ye knowe the father. I wryte vnto you fathers, how that ye knowe hym that was from the begynnynge. I wryte vnto you younge men how that ye are stronge & the worde of God abydeth in you and ye haue ouercome that wycked.

Loue not the worlde/ neyther ♁ thynges that are in the worlde. Yf eny man loue the worlde, the loue of the father is not in hym. For all that is in the worlde (as the lust of the flesshe/ the lust of the eyes, and the pryde of goodes) is not of the father/ but of the worlde. And ♁ worlde vanysheth awaye and the lust ther of: but he that fulfylleth the will of God/ abydeth euer.

He that loueth the worlde/ loueth not God.

Lytell chyldren it is the last tyme/ and as ye haue herde how ♁ *Antichryst shall come euen now are there many Antichrystes come allredy. Wherby we knowe that it is ♁ last tyme. They went oute frõ vs but they were not of vs. For yf they had bene of vs/ they wolde no dout, haue continued with vs. But that forasmuch that it might appere, that they were not of vs.

Of Antychrist loke in ♁ fourth Chapter folowynge.a.

And ye haue an oyntment of the holy goost & ye knowe all thinges. I wrote not vnto you/ as though ye knewe not the trueth: but as though ye knewe it, and knowe also that no lye commeth of trueth. Who is a lyar but he that denyeth that Iesus is Christ? the same is the Antechryst that denyeth the father & the sonne. Whosoeuer denyeth the sonne/ the same hath not the father. Let therfore abyde in you that same which ye herde frõ the begynnynge. If that which ye herde frõ the beginninge/ shal remayne in you, ye also shall contynewe in the sonne/ and in the father. And this is the promes that he hath promysed vs euen eternall lyfe.

This haue I wrytten vnto you/ cõcernynge them that disceaue you. And the anoyntinge which ye receaued of hym/ dwelleth in you. And ye nede not that eny mã teache you: but as the annoyntynge teacheth you all thynge, and is true, and is no lye, & as it taught you euen so byde therin. And nowe babes abyde in hym that when he shall appere/ we maye be bolde and not be made a shamed of hym at his commynge: If ye knowe that he is ryghteous/ knowe also that he which foloweth ryghteweines/ is borne of hym.

Here ye se that Christ & synne can not dwell to gether for Christes spirite fyghteth agaynst synne.

¶ The synguler loue of God toward vs: and how we agayne oughte to loue one another.

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

BEholde what loue the father hath shewed on vs that we shuld be called ♁ sonnes of God. For this cause the worlde knoweth you not/ because it knoweth not hym. Derely beloued/ now are we the sonnes of God/ & yet it doth not appere what we shalbe. But we knowe that whẽ it shall appere we shalbe lyke him. For we shall se him as he is. And euery man ♁ hath this hope in him/ pourgeth him selfe/ euen as he is pure. Whosoeuer committeth synne, committeth vnryghteousnes also for synne is* vnryghteousnes. And ye knowe ♁ he appered to take awaye oure synnes, and in hym is no synne. As many as byde in him synne not: whosoeuer synneth, hath not sene him/ neyther hath knowen hym.

*He that worketh ryghteousnes is borne of God & taught of hys spirite.

Babes/ let no man deceaue you. He that doeth ryghteousnes/ is ryghteous/ euẽ as he is ryghteous. He that cõmitteth synne/ is of the deuyll: for the deuyll synneth sence ♁ begynnynge. For this purpose appered ♁ sonne of God, to lowse the workes of the deuyll. Whosoeuer is borne of God, synneth not: for his seed remayneth in him/ & he cãnot synne/ because he is borne of God. In thys are the chyldren of God knowen/and the chyldren of the deuyll. Whosoeuer doeth not ryghtewesnes, is not of God/nether he that loueth not hys brother.

Loue is ꝑ fyrst precept & cause of all other.

For this is the tidinges that ye herde frō the beginninge, ꝑ ye shuld loue one another not as Cayn which was of ꝑ wicked & slewe his brother. And wherfore slewe he him? Because his awne workes were euyll, and hys brothers good. ✠ Marueyle not my brethren though the worlde hate you. We knowe ꝑ we are translated from* deeth vnto lyfe, because we loue the brethren. He that loueth not hys brother, abydeth in deeth. Whosoeuer hateth hys brother, is a man slear. And ye knowe that no man slear, hath eternall lyfe abydynge in hym.

*He ꝑ loueth is escaped deathe. He that loueth not is in deathe & a murtherar and he hath not eternall lyfe.

Herby perceaue we loue: that he gaue his lyfe for vs: & therfore ought we also to geue oure lyues for the brethren. Whosoeuer hath this worldes good & seyth hys brother haue neade: & shutteth vp his cōpassion from him: how dwelleth ꝑ loue of God in him? My babes let vs not loue in worde nether in tōge: but with the dede & in verite: ✠ for* therby we knowe that we are of the verite, and can before hym quyet oure hertes. But yf oure hertes cōdēpne vs God is greter then oure hertes & knoweth all thynges. Beloued yf oure hertes condēpne vs not, then haue we trust to God warde: & whatsoeuer we aske we shal receaue of hym: because we kepe his commaundemētes, & do those thinges which are pleasynge in his syght.

ꝑ he ꝑ hath no compassion vpon his brother hath not God.

* By loue we know ꝑ we are of the truthe, & by the quyet conscience we haue God warde.

And thys is hys cōmaundement, that we beleue* on ꝑ name of his sonne Iesus Christ, and loue one another as he gaue cōmaundement. And he that kepeth hys cōmaundementes dwelleth in hym, and he in hym: and therby we knowe that ther abydeth in vs of the spyrete which he gaue vs.

* Faith & loue is the fyrst cōmaundemēt & all cōmaundementes & he ꝑ hath them is in God & God in hym & hath hys spirite.

¶ Differēce of spyretes, and howe the spyrete of God maye be knowne frō the spyrete of errour. Of the loue of God and of oure neyghbours.

¶ Thyrde Chapter.

Beloued, beleue not euery spyrete but proue ꝑ spyretes whether they are of God or not, for many false Prophetes are gone out into the worlde. Herby shall ye knowe the spyrete of God. Euery spyrete that confesseth that Iesus Christ is come in the flesshe, is of God. And euery spyrete which confesseth not that Iesus Christ is come in the flesshe is not of God. And this is ꝑ spyrete of Antichrist, of whō ye haue herde, howe that he shulde come: & euen now alredy is he in the worlde.

They ꝑ saye workes iustifye frō synne & they that denie Christ to be come in the flesshe.

 Antichrist signifyeth not a ꝑticular person which (as the people dreame) shalbe come in the ende of the worlde.

Lytell chyldren, ye are of God and haue ouercome them: for greatter is he that is in you then he that is in ꝑ worlde. They are of the worlde/ & therfore speake they of the worlde, & the worlde heareth thē. We are of God. He ꝑ knoweth God, heareth vs: he that is not of God heareth vs not. Herby knowe we ꝑ spyrete of verite/ & the spyrete of errour.

B of ꝑ worlde for ye se ꝑ cuke in S. Johns tyme he was already come: but all ꝑ teache false doctryne cōtrary to the worde of God/ are Antichrist.

Beloued let vs loue one another: for loue commeth of God. And euery one that loueth is borne of God, and knoweth God. He that loueth not, knoweth not God: ✠ for God is loue. In this appered the loue of God to vs ward, because that God sent his only begotten sonne into ꝑ worlde/ that we might liue thorow him. Herin is loue, not that we loued God but that he loued vs, and sent his sonne to make agrement for oure synnes.

Beloued/ yf God so loued vs/ we ought also to loue one another. No man hath sene God at eny tyme. ✠ If we loue one another/ God dwelleth in vs/ and his loue is parfect in vs. Herby know we: that we dwell in hym/ & he in vs. because he hath geuen vs of his spyrete. And we haue sene and do testifye that the father sent the sonne/ which is the sauioure of ꝑ worlde. Whosoeuer confesseth that Iesus is the sonne of God, in hym dwelleth God/ and he in God. And we haue knowē and beleued the loue that God hath to vs.

God is loue, and he that dwelleth in loue/ dwelleth in God, and God in him. Herin is ꝑ loue perfect in vs/ that we shuld haue trust in the daye of iudgement: for as he is/ euen so are we in thys worlde. Ther is no feare in loue/ but parfect loue casteth out all feare/ for feare hath paynfulnes. He that feareth/ is not parfect in loue.

We loue hym/ for he loued vs fyrst. If a* he that loueth not his brother loueth not God

* If a man saye/ I loue God, & yet hate his brother he is a lyar. For how can he that loueth not his brother whō he hath sene, loue God whō he hath not sene? And this commaundement haue we of hym: that he wyrch loueth God/ shuld loue his brother also.

¶ To loue God is to kepe hys commaundementes. Faith ouercommeth the worlde. Euerlastynge lyfe is in the loue of God. Of the synne vnto deeth.

¶ The fyfth Chapter.

Whosoeuer beleueth that Iesus is Christ, is borne of God. And euery one that loueth him which begat/ loueth him also which was begotē of him. In this we knowe that we loue the chyldren of God, whē we loue God and kepe his cōmaundemētes. This is the loue of God that we kepe his cōmaundementes/ & his cōmaundementes are not greuous. ✠ For all that is borne of God/ ouercōmeth ꝑ worlde. And this is the victory that ouercōmeth the worlde euē* oure fayth. Who is it that ouercommeth the worlde: but he wyrch beleueth that Iesus is the sonne of God.

* Faith is oure victorye.

This

B This Jesus Christ is he that cam by water and bloud/not by water only:but by water and bloud. And it is the spyrete that beareth wytnes/ because the spyrete is trueth.
(For there are thre which beare recorde in heauen/ the father/ the worde/ & the holy goost. And these thre are one)
For there are thre which beare recorde (in erth) the spyrete/ and water/ and bloud: and these thre are one. If we receaue the wytnes of men, the wytnes of God is greater. For thys is the wytnes of God, which he testifyed of hys sonne. He that beleueth on the sonne of God/hath ỹ wytnes in hym selfe. ¶ He that beleueth not God/hath made him a lyar/ be¶ cause he beleued not the recorde that God gaue of hys sonne. And thys is that recorde/ how that God hath geuen vnto vs eternall lyfe/and this lyfe is in hys sonne. He ỹ hath the sonne, hath lyfe: and he that hath not the sonne of God, hath not lyfe.

In Christ is ỹ lyfe eternall.

¶ These thynges haue I wrytten vnto you that beleue on the name of the sonne of God that ye maye knowe howe that ye haue eternall lyfe/and that ye maye beleue on the name of the sonne of God. And thys is the trust ỹ we haue in hym: that yf we aske eny thinge accordynge to hys wyll, he heareth vs. And yf we knowe ỹ he heare vs whatsoeuer we aske/ we knowe that we shall haue the peticyons that we desyre of hym.

Synne vnto deeth.

If eny man se hys brother synne a synne that is not vnto deeth/ let hym aske/ and he D shall geue hym lyfe for them that synne not vnto deeth. Ther is a synne vnto deeth, for which saye I not that a man shuld praye. All vnryghtewelnes is synne/ & ther is synne not vnto deeth.

He that is borne of God lyueth not.

We knowe that whosoeuer is borne of God/ synneth not: but he that is begotten of God kepeth hym selfe, and that wycked toucheth hym not. We knowe that we are of God/ and that the worlde is all to gether set on wyckednes. We knowe that the sonne of God is come/ and hath geuen vs a mynde to knowe hym which is true: and we are in him that is true/ thorough his sonne Jesus Christ. This same is very God/ and eternall lyfe. Babes kepe youre selues frō ymages. Amen.

¶ The seconde epistle of Saynct Johñ.

The wryteth vnto a certayne lady/ exhorteth that her children walke in the trueth/ exhorteth them vnto loue/ warneth them to beware of such deceauers as denye that Jesus Christ came in the flesh/ prayeth them to continue in the doctryne of Christ/ & to haue nothinge to do with them that bringe not this lernynge.

¶ The elder to the electe lady & her children which I loue in the trueth: and not I only/ but also all that knowe the trueth/ for the truthes sake which dwelleth in vs/ and shalbe in vs for euer.

With you be grace/ mercye/ and peace frō God the father & frō the Lorde Jesus Christ the sonne of the father/ in trueth and loue.

I reioyced greatly/ that I founde of thy children walkinge in trueth, as we haue receaued a cōmaūdemēt of ỹ father. And nowe beseche I the lady/ not as though I wrote a newe cōmaundement vnto ỹ/ but that same which we had frō ỹ beginnynge ỹ we shuld *loue one another. And this is the loue that we shulde walke after hys cōmaundemētes.

* Loue is ỹ first cōmaundemēt.

¶ This commaundement is (that as ye haue heard from the beginnynge) ye shuld walke in it. For many deceauers are entred into the worlde, which confesse not that Jesus Christ is come in ỹ flesche. This is a deceauer & an Antichryst. Loke on youre selues/ ỹ we loose not that we haue wrought: but that we may haue a full rewarde. Whosoeuer trāsgresseth & bydeth not in the doctryne of Christ, hath not God. He that endureth in the doctryne of D Christ, hath bothe the father and the sonne.

If ther come eny vnto you and bringe not this learninge, him receaue not to house: neither byd him God spede. For he that bydeth him God spede/ is partaker of his cuyl dedes. I had many thinges to wryte vnto you/ neuer theles I wolde not wryte w̄ paper & ynke: but I trust to come vnto you & speake w̄ you mouth to mouth/ that oure ioye maye be full. The sonnes of thy electe sister grete ỹ. Amē.

The thyrde epistle of Saynct Johñ.

He is glad of Gayus/ that he walketh in the trueth: exhorteth them to be louynge vnto the poore Christē in their persecucion. Sheweth the vnsyndrydealynge of Diotrephes/ and the good reporte of Demetrius.

¶ The elder vnto the beloued Gayus/ whō I loue in the trueth. Beloued I wysshe in all thynges ỹ thou prosperedest & faredest well euē as thy soule prospereth. I reioyced greatly when

The Epistle

Bly when the brethren came/ and testify ed of the trueth that is in the/ how thou walkest in trouble. I haue no greater ioye then for to heare howe that my sonnes walke in verite

Beloued/ thou doest faithfully whatsoeuer thou doest to the brethren/ & to straungers/ which bare witnes of thy loue before all the congregacyon. Which brethren when thou bringest forwardes of their iorney (as it besemeth God) thou shalt do well: because that for hys names sake they wēt forth/ and take nothynge of the Gentyls. We therfore ought to receaue soche/ that we also myght be helpers to the trueth.

I wrote vnto the congregacion: but Diotrephes which loueth to haue the preeminence amonge thē/ receaueth vs not. Wherfore yf I come/ I will declare his dedes which he doeth/ iestynge on vs wyth malicious wordes/ nether is therewyth content. Not only he him selfe receaueth not ỹ brethrē: but also he forbyddeth them that wolde, and thrusteth them out of the congregacyon.

Beloued, folowe not that whych is euyll/ but that whych is good. He that doeth well/ is of God: but he that doeth euyll seyth not God. Demetrius hath good reporte of al mē & of the trueth: ye & we oure selues also beare recorde/ & ye knowe ỹ oure recorde is true. I haue many thinges to wryte: but I will not with ynke & penne wryte vnto ỹ. For I trust I shall shortly se ỹ/ & we shall speake mouth to mouth. Peace be with the. The louers salute the. Grete the louers by name.

The Epistle of Saynct Paul vnto the Hebrues.

How God dealt louyngly with them of the olde tyme in gouernyge them hys Prophetes/ but moch more mercy hath he shewed vs in that he sent vs hys awne sonne. Of the moost excellent glory of Iesus Christ/ which in all thynges is lyke to hys father.

The fyrst Chapter.

GOd in tyme past dyuersly & many wayes spake vnto the fathers by ỹ Prophetes but in these last dayes he hath spoken vnto vs by hys sonne/ whom he hath made heyre of all thinges: by whom also he made ỹ worlde. Which sonne beynge the brightnes of his glory/ & very ymage of hys substance/ bearynge vp all thynges wyth the worde of hys power/ hath in hys awne person purged oure synnes, & is sytten on the right hande of the maiestye on hye/ and is more excellent then the angels/ in as moche as he hath by inherytaunce obteyned an excellenter name then haue they.

 Of these laster dayes prophecyed. Esai. 9. & Ezechiel. 36.

B Christ hath purged oure synne.

For vnto which of the angels sayde he at eny tyme: Thou arte my sonne this daye begate I the? And agayne: I will be his father/ and he shalbe my sonne. And agayne whē he bringeth in the fyrst begotten sonne into the worlde, he sayth: And all the angels of God shall worshippe hym. And of the angels he sayth: He maketh hys angels spretes, & hys ministres flammes of fyre. But vnto ỹ sonne he sayth: God thy seate shalbe forever & euer The scepter of thy kyngdome is a ryght scepter. Thou hast loued ryghtewesnes and hated iniquyte. Wherfore God which is thy God, hath anoynted the with the oyle of gladnes aboue thy felowes.

Oyle of gladnes is the holy goost.

And thou Lorde in the beginninge hast layde the foundacyon of the erth. And the heuens are the workes of thy handes. They shal perysshe/ but thou shalt endure. They all shall weare olde as doth a garment: and as a vesture shalt thou chaunge them/ and they shalbe chaunged. But thou arte all wayes/ and thy yeres shall not fayle. ¶ Vnto which of the angels sayde he at eny tyme: Syt on my ryght hande/ tyll I make thyne enemyes thy fote stole: Are they not all mynistringe spretes/ sent to minister/ for their sakes which shalbe heyres of saluacyon?

¶ He exhorteth vs to be obedyent vnto the new lawe which Christ hath geuen vs and not to be offended at the mysirmyte and lowe degree of Christ/ because it was necessary that for oure sakes he shulde take soch an humble state vpon hym/ that he myght be lyke vnto hys brethren.

¶ The.ij. Chapter.

Therfore we ought to geue the more hede to the thinges we haue herde lest we perysshe. For yf the worde which was spoken by angels was stedfast: so that euery transgression & disobedience receaued a iust recompence to rewarde how shall we escape/ yf we despyse so great saluacion, which at the fyrst began to be preached of the Lorde hym selfe and afterwarde was confermed vnto vs warde, by them that herde it/ God bearynge wytnes therto, both with sygnes and wonders also/ and with diuers* myracles, & gyftes of the holy goost accordynge to hys awne will.

If the despysers of Moses were so greuously punished what shall become of the that make a mocke of christ.

* Miracles are called sygnes because they be a sygne token & an euydent profe/ that the thinge that is preached is Godes worde.

He hath not vnto the angels put in subiection the worlde to come/ whereof we speake. But one in a certayne place wytnesseth/ sayinge. What is man, that thou arte mynd full of hym? Other thou haddest for a season made hym lower then the angels: thou crounedst hym with honour and glory & hast set him aboue the workes of thy handes. Thou hast put all thynges in subiection vnder hys fete. In that he put all thinges vnder him he left nothynge that is not put vnder him. Neuertheles we yet se not all thinges subdued but him that was made lesse then the angels we se that it was Jesus/ which is crouned with glory & honour for the sofferynge of death: that he by the grace of God/ shulde taste of deeth for all men.

For it became him, for who are all thinges and by who are all thinges/ after that he had brought many sonnes vnto glory/ that he shuld make the Lorde of their saluacyon parfecte thorow sofferinge For he that sanctifieth & they which are sanctifyed/ are al of one. For which causes sake he is not a shamed to call them brethren sayinge: I wil declare thy name vnto my brethren/ & in the myddes of the congregacion will I prayse the. And agayne: I wil put my trust in hym. And agayne: beholde here am I & the children which God hath geuen me.

For as moche then as the children were partetakers of flesshe and bloud/ he also him selfe lykewise toke parte with them/ for to put doune thorow deeth/ him that had lordshippe ouer deeth/ that is to saye the deuyll/ & that he myght delyuer them/ which thorow feare of deeth were all there lyfe tyme in daunger of bondage. For he in no place taketh on hym the angels: but the seed of Abraham taketh he on him. Wherfore in al thinges it became him to be made lyke vnto his brethren/ that he myght be mercyfull/ and a faythfull hye Preste in thynges concernynge God/ for to pourge the peoples synnes. For in that he hym selfe suffered and was tempted/ he is able to succor them that are tempted.

¶ He requyreth vs to be obedyent vnto the worde of Christ/ whiche is more worthy then Moses. The punyshement of such as will neues harde theyr hartes.

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

Therfore holy brethren/ partakers of the celestiall callynge/ consyder the embassadour & hye prest of oure profession Christ Jesus/ which was faythfull to him that made him/ euen as was Moses in all his house. And yet was this man counted worthy of more glory then Moses: In as moche as he whych hath prepared the house/ hath more honoure in the house. Euery house is prepared of some man. But he that ordeyned all thinges, is God. And Moses verely was faythfull in all hys house/ as a minister/ to beare witnes of tho thinges whych shuld be spoken afterwarde. But Christ as a sonne, hath rule ouer the house/ whose house are we/ so that we holde fast the confydence & the reioysynge of that hope/ vnto the ende.

Wherfore as the holy goost sayth: to daye yf ye shall heare his voyce/ harden not youre hertes, after the rebellion in the daye of temptacion in the wyldernes/ where youre fathers tempted me/ proued me/ & sawe my workes. xl. yeare longe. Wherfore I was greued with that generacyon & sayde. They erre euer in their hertes: they verely haue not knowen my wayes so that I sware in my wrathe/ that they shuld not enter into my rest. Take hede brethren/ that there be in none of you an euyll herte in vnbelefe/ that he shuld departe from the lyuynge God: but exhorte one another dayly/ whyll it is called today/ lest eny of you were hard herted thorow the deceptfulnesse of synne.

We are partetakers of Christ yf we kepe the fyrst substaunce vnto the ende the* fyrst substaunce/ so longe as it is sayd: to daye yf ye heare hys voyce/ harden not youre hertes/ as whē ye rebelled. For some/ when they herde rebelled: how be it not all that came out of Egypt vnder Moses. But * it is sayd.

les. But wyth whom was he displeased.xl yeares? Was he not displeased wyth them ꝑ synned whose carkases were ouer thwē in the desert? To whō sware he that they shuld not enter into his rest: but vnto them that beleued not? And we se that they coulde not enter in/because of vnbelefe.

¶ The Sabboth or rest of the Christen: punysshement of vnbeleuers: the nature of the worde of God.

¶ The.iiij. Chapter.

LEt vs feare therfore lest eny of vs forsakinge the promes of entringe into hys rest shulde seme to come behynde. For vnto vs was it declared, as well as vnto thē. But it profyted not thē that they herde the worde/because they which herde it/ coupled it not wyth* fayth. But we wyche haue beleued/ do enter into his rest as cōtrary wyse he sayde to the other I haue swore in my wrath they shall not enter into my rest. And that spake he verely longe after that the worckes were made and the foundacīō of ꝑ worlde layde. For he spake in a certayne place of the seuenth daye/ on this wyse: And God dyd rest ꝑ seuēth daye frō all hys worckes. And in thys place agayne: They shall not come into my rest.

Seynge therfore it folowyth ꝑ some must enter therinto/ & they to whom it was fyrst preached/ entred not therin for vnbelefes sake. Agayne he apoynted in Dauid a certayne present daye after so longe a tyme/ sayinge as it is rehearsed: this daye yf ye here his voyce/ be not hardherted. For yf Iosue had geuē them rest/ then wolde he not afterwarde haue spoken of another daye. There remayneth therfore yet a rest to the people of God. For he ꝑ is entred into his rest, doth* cease frō hys awne worckes as God dyd frō hys.

Let vs study therfore to entre into ꝑ rest/ lest eny mā fall after the same ensample in to vnbelefe. For the worde of God is quycke/ & mighty in operacion/ and sharper then eny two edge sweard: & entreth through, euē vn to the dyuidinge a sonder of the soule and the spyrete/ & of the ioyntes & the mary: & iudgeth the thoughtes & the intentes of the herte: neyther is ther eny creature inuisyble in ꝑ syght of him. For all thinges are naked & bare vnto the eyes of hym, of whom we speake.

* As fayth is ꝑ grounde of all grace: euen so is vnbelefe the rote of al synne.

* The rest that remayneth vnto the people of God is the rest that entre into the rest of a quyet conscience in Christ.

¶ Christ is oure hye preste/ and seate of grace ꝑ more excellent then the hye prestes of the olde lawe.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

SEynge then that we haue a great hye prest which is entred into heauē (I meane Iesus ꝑ sonne of God) let vs holde oure profession. For we haue not an hye prest, which cā not haue cōpassyon on oure infyrmities: but was in all poyntes tēpted, lyke as we are: but yet wyth out synne. Let vs therfore go boldely vnto ꝑ seate of grace/ that we maye receaue mercy/ and fynde grace to helpe in tyme of nede.

For euery hye prest that is taken from amōge men is ordeyned for men/ in thinges pertayninge to God: to offer gyftes & sacrifices for synne: which can haue cōpassion on ꝑ ignorant/ and on them that are out of the waye/ because that he hym selfe also is compased with infirmitie: for the which infirmities sake he is bounde to offer for synnes/ as well for his awne parte/ as for the peoples. And no man taketh honour vnto hym selfe/ but he that is called of God/ as was Aaron.

Euē so lykewyse/ Christ glorified not him selfe/ to be made the hye prest: but he ꝑ sayde vnto hym: thou arte my sonne/ thys daye begat I ꝑ/ glorified him. As he also in another place speaketh: thou arte a Prest for euer after ꝑ order of Melchisedech. Which * in ꝑ dayes of his flesshe dyd offer vp prayers and supplicacīōs with stronge cryinge & teares vnto him that was able to saue him frō deeth and was also herde/ because of hys Godlynes. And though he were Goddes sonne, yet learned he obedīēce, by the thinges which he suffered, & was made parfayte, & the cause of eternall saluacīō vnto all them that obey him: and is called of God an hye Prest/ after the order of Melchisedech.

* The dayes of hys flesshe: that is, the tyme of hys humanyte.

Wherof we haue many thinges to saye/ which are harde to be vttered: because ye are dull of hearinge. For when as concerninge ꝑ tyme/ ye ought to be teachers/ yet haue ye nede agayne that we teache you the fyrst principles of the worde of God: and are become soche as haue nede of * mylke, & not of strōge meate: for euery man that is feed wyth mylke is inexperte in ꝑ worde of ryghteousnes. For he is but a babe. But stronge meate belongeth to thē ꝑ are parfecte wherby thorow custome haue their wyttes exercised, to iudge both good and euyll also.

* Mylcke are vnderstāde thynges easye to perceaue by strong meate soche as are harder obscure

¶ She goeth forth with the thynge that he began in the latter ende of the fyfte chapter and exhorteth the not to faynt-hart but to be stedfast and pacyent: for so moch as God is sure in his promesse.

¶ The.vj. Chapter.

THerfore let vs loue ꝑ doctryne pertaynynge to the begynnynge of a Christē man/ & let vs go vnto perfectiō/ & now no more laye ꝑ foundacīō of repentaūce frō deed worckes/ and of fayth towarde God/ of baptyme/ of doctrine & of layinge on of handes/ & of resurrection frō deeth & of eternall iudgemēt. And so wyll we do yf God permitte. * For it is not possyble ꝑ they which were once lyghted & haue tasted of the heauēly gyft, and were become partetakers of the holy goost/ & haue tasted of the

* For it is not possyble ꝑ they which were once lyghted &c. This texte denyeth no possybilite of merry in God but the impossyble tye of repentaunce in soche men is malicyously forsake ye truely blaspheme Christ and trade parte agaynst the holy goost. For ye truely is that with the Lorde there is mercy & plenteous redempcion. Psal. cxxix. so that whosoeuer callyth vpō his name wilbe saued. Ioel. ii. Roma. x. Now they that forsake the truely blaspheme Christ and take parte agaynst the holy goost cā not repente: for yf sinners wolde conuerte and call vpon God they shulde be sure of remissyon.

of the good worde of God and of the power of the worlde to come: yf they saule shulde be renued agayne vnto repentaunce: for asmoche as they haue, as concernynge thē selues crucified ye sonne of God & fulfyll makynge a mocke of hym.

For that erth which drynketh in the rayne that cōmeth ofte vpon it and bryngeth forth erbes mete for them that dresse it, receaueth blessinge of God. But ye grounde which beareth thornes & bryars is reprooued, & is nye vnto cursynge: whose ende is to be burned.

Neuertheles deare frendes we trust to se better of you & thinges which accōpany saluacion though we thus speake. For God is not vnrighteous that he shulde forget youre worke and laboure that procedeth of loue, which loue ye shewed in his name, which haue ministred vnto the sayntes, and yet ministre. Yee & we desyre that euery one of you shew the same diligence to the stablisshinge of hope euen vnto the ende: that ye faint not but folowe them, which thorow fayth & patience inherete the promyses.

For when God made promes to Abraham because he had no greater thynge to sweare by he sware by him selfe, sayinge: Surely I will blesse the & multiplie the in dede. And so after ye he had tarried a loge tyme, he enioyed the promes. Men verely sweare by him that is greater then them selues, & an othe to confyrmynge the thynge is amōge them an ende of all stryfe. So God willinge very aboundantly to shewe vnto the heyres of promes the stablenes of his coūsayl, he added an othe that by two* immutable thinges, in which it was vnpossible that God shulde lye, we might haue perfecte cōsolaciō, which haue fled, for to holde fast the hope that is set before vs, which hope we haue as an ancre of the soule both sure and stedfast, which hope also entreth in, into tho thynges which are within the vayle, whither ye fore runner is for vs entred in, I meane Iesus that is made an hye prest for euer, after ye order of Melchisedech.

* Two immutable thynges: the promyse & the othe.

The compareth the prestlode of Christ vnto Melchisedech, but to be farre more excellent.

The.vii. Chapter.

THis Melchisedech kynge of Salem (which beynge prest of ye most hye God) met Abraham, as he returned agayne from the slaughter of the kynges and blessed hym: to whom also Abraham gaue tythes of all thynges) fyrst is by interpretacion kynge of ryghtewesnes: after that he is kynge of Salem, that is to saye, kynge of peace: wyth out father wyth out mother, with out kinne, and hath nether begynnynge of his tyme nether yet ende of his lyfe: but is lykened vnto the sonne of God and contynueth a prest for euer. Consyder what a man this was vnto whō ye Patriarke Abraham gaue tythes of the spoyles. And verely those children of Leuy, which receaue ye offyce of the prestes, haue a cōmaundement to take accordynge to the lawe, tythes of the people, that is to saye, of their brethren, yee though they sprynge out of the loynes of Abraham. But he whose kynred is not counted amonge them receaued tythes of Abrahā and blessed hym that had the promyses. And with out all naye sayinge, he which is lesse, receaueth blessynge of him which is greater. And here men that dye, receaue tythes. But there he receaueth tythes of whom it is witnessed, that he liueth. And to saye the trueth, Leuy him selfe also which receaueth tythes, payed tythes in Abraham. For he was yet in the loynes of his father Abraham whē Melchisedech met him.

If now therfore perfeccion came by the prestlhod of the Leuites, for vnder that prestlhod the people receaued ye lawe) what neded it further more that another prest shuldrise, after the order of Melchisedech, & not after the order of Aaron? Now no doute, yf ye prestlhod be translated, then of necessytie must the lawe be translated also.

For he of whom these thynges are spoken pertayneth vnto another tribe, of which neuer man serued at the aultre. For it is euident that oure Lorde sprōge of ye tribe of Iuda, of which tribe spake Moses nothynge concerninge prestlhod. And it is yet a more euydent thinge, yf after ye symilitude of Melchisedech there aryse another prest, which is not made after the lawe of the carnall cōmaundement: but after the power of the endlesse lyfe. (For he testifyeth: thou arte a prest for euer, after the order of Melchisedech.) Then the cōmaundemēt that wēt a fore, is disanulled, because of hys weakenes and vnprofytablenes. For the lawe made nothynge perfecte: but was an introduccyon of a better hope, by which hope, we drawe nye vnto God.

And for this cause it is a better hope, that it was not promised with out an othe. Those prestes were made without an othe, but this prest with an othe, by hym that sayde vnto hym. The Lorde sware, and will not repent: Thou arte a prest for euer after the order of Melchisedech. And for that cause was Iesus a stablysher of a better testament.

And amonge them many were made prestes because they were not suffred to endure by the reason of deeth. But this mā, because he endureth euer hath an euerlastynge prestlhod. Wherfore he is able also euer to saue them that come vnto God by him, seynge he euer lyueth, to make intercessyon for vs.

Soche

So che an hye Prest it became vs to haue which is holy/ harmlesse / vndefiled/ separat from synners/ and made hyer then heauen. Which needeth not dayly (as yonder hye prestes) to offer vp sacrifyce/ fyrst for hys awne synnes, and then for the peoples synnes. For that dyd he at once for all/ whē he offered vp him selfe. For the lawe maketh men prestes/ wyth haue infirmitie: but the worde of the othe that came sence the lawe, maketh the sonne prest/ which is parfecte for euermore.

Christ once sacrificed purged all synnes.

¶ The office of Christ is more worthy then ỹ prestes office of the olde lawe wherfore abrogate.

¶ The.viii.Chapter.

IF the thinges which we haue spokē this is the pyth: ỹ we haue soche an hye preste ỹ is syttē on ỹ ryght hāde of ỹ seate of maiestie in heauē & is a minister of holy thinges/ & of the very tabernacle which God pyght/ and not man. For euery hye prest is ordeyned to offer gyftes and sacrifices: wherfore it is of necessitie that this man haue some what also to offer. For he were not a preste/ yf he were on the erth where are prestes that accordinge to the lawe offer gyftes/ which prestes serue vnto ỹ ensample and shadowe of heauenly thinges: euen as the answer of God was geuen vnto Moses when he was about to fynysshe the tabernacle. Take hede (sayde he) that thou make all thinges accordynge to the patrone shewed to the in the mount.

Now hath he obtayned a more excellent office/ in as moche as he is the mediator of a better testamēt/ which was made for better promyses. For yf that fyrst testamēt had bene faultelesse: then shulde no place haue bene sought for the seconde. For in rebukinge thē he sayth: Beholde the dayes will come (sayth the Lorde) and I will fynysshe vpō the house of Israel/ and vpon the house of Juda/ a newe testament: not lyke the testament that I made wyth their fathers at that tyme/ when I toke them by the handes/ to lede them oute of the lande of Egypte, for they contynued not in my testament/ and I regarded thē not sayth the Lorde.

C

For this is the testament that I will make wyth the house of Israel: After those dayes sayth the Lord: I will put my lawes in their myndes/ and in their hertes I will write thē/ and I wylbe their God/ and they shalbe my people. And they shall not teache euery mā his neyghboure/ and euery mā his brother/ sayinge: knowe ỹ Lord: for they shall knowe me/ from the lest to the moste of them: For I wilbe mercifull ouer their vnrighteousnes/ & on their synnes and on their iniquities. In ỹ he sayth a new testament he hath abrogat the olde. Now that which is dysanulled and wexed olde/ is redy to vanysshe awaye.

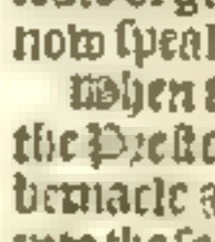
¶ The profyte and worthynesse of the olde Testament and how farre the new excelleth it.

¶ The.ix.Chapter.



That fyrst tabernacle verely had ordinaūces, & seruinges of God, and worldly holynes. For there was a fore tabernacle made/ wherin was the candelsticke & ỹ table, & the shewe breed which is called holy. But wythin ỹ seconde vayle was the a tabernacle, which is called holyest of all, wherin had the golden censer & the arcke of the testament ouerlayde round about with golde wherin was the goldē pot with Manna, and Aarons rodde that sprōge and the tables of the testamēt. Ouer ỹ arcke were the Cherubins of glory shadowynge the seate of grace. Of which thinges we will not now speake particularly.

When these thinges were thus ordeyned/ the Prestes went all wayes into the fyrst tabernacle & exercised the seruice of God. But into the seconde wēt the hye prest alone/ once euery yeare: and not wyth out bloud/ wherwith he offered for him selfe/ & for the ignorance of the people. Wherwith the holy goost this signifyed that the waye of holy thinges/ was not yet opened/ whyll as yet the fyrst tabernacle was standynge. Wherin was a symilitude for the tyme then present/ and in wherin were offered gyftes & sacrifyces that coulde not make the mynyster parfecte/ as pertaynynge to the conscyence wyth only meates & drinckes/ & diuers washinges & iustifyinges of the flesshe/ wherin were ordeyned vntyll ỹ tyme of reformacyon.

F

But Christ beinge an hye Prest of good thinges to come/ came by a greater & more parfecte tabernacle/ not made wt handes: that is to saye/ not of this maner byldynge/ nether by the bloud of gotes & calues: but by his awne bloud he entred in once for all into the holy place/ & founde eternal redemciō. For yf the bloud of oxen and of gotes and the asshes of an heyfer/ when it was sprynckled/ purified the vncleane/ as touchynge the purifyinge of the flesshe: how moche moare shall the bloud of Christ (which thorow ỹ eternall spryte/ offered him selfe without spot to God) pourge youre consciences from deed workes for to serue the liuinge God?

G

And for this cause is he the mediator of the newe testamēt/ ỹ thorow deeth which chaūsed for the redemptiō of those transgressyons that were in the fyrst testament they wherin were called/ myght receaue the promes of eternall inheritaunce. For wherfore soeuer is a testament/ ther must also be the deeth of him that maketh the testament. For the testament ſtament taketh auctorite whē men are deed: for it is of no value as longe as he that made it/is a liue. For whych cauſe alſo/nether ỹ fyrſt teſtamēt was ordeyned with out bloud. For whē all the cōmaundemētes were redde of Moſes to al the people/he toke the bloud of calues and of gotes/with water & purple woolle & yſope/ & ſprynckled both the boke/ & all the people/ ſaying:*this is the bloud of the teſtament whych God hath appoynted vnto you. Moreouer/ he ſprenckled the tabernacle with bloud alſo/ & all ỹ miniſtringe veſſels. And alſo almoſt all thynges/are by the lawe pourged wyth bloud/and with out sheadinge of bloud is no remiſſyon.

*Exod.xxiiij.c and.xxix.c.

It is then nede that the ſimilitudes of heauenly thynges be purifyed wyth ſoche thinges:but the heauenly thynges thē ſelues are purifyed wt better ſacrifyces then are thoſe. For Chriſt is not entred into the holy places that are made with handes/which are but ſymilitudes of true thinges:but is entred into very heauē, for to appere now in the ſight of God for vs:not to offer hym ſelfe oftē/as the hye preſt entreth into ỹ holy place euery yeare with ſtraūge bloud/for then muſt he haue often ſuffered ſence the worlde began. But now in the ende of ỹ worlde/hath he appered once/to put ſynne to flyght by the offerynge vp of hym ſelfe: And as it is apoynted vnto mē that they ſhall once dye, and then cōmeth the iudgemēt, *euen ſo Chriſt was once offered to take awaye the ſynnes of many, & vnto them that loke for hym / ſhall he appeare agayne without ſynne vnto ſaluacyon.

*Roma.v.d. 1.Petr.iij.d.

¶ The olde lawe had no power to clenſe awaye ſynne but Chriſte dyd it with offerynge of his body once for all. An exhortacyon to receaue this goodneſſe of God thankfully wyth patience and ſtedfaſt fayth.

¶ The.x.Chapter.

For the lawe which hath but ỹ ſhadowe of good thynges to come/ & not ỹ thinges in their awne faſſion can neuer with ỹ ſacrifices which they offer yeare by yeare cōtinually/make ỹ cōmers therūto parfayte. For wold not then thoſe ſacrifyces haue ceaſed to haue bene offered/because that the offerers once pourged ſhuld haue had no moare conſciences of ſynnes. Neuertheleſſe in thoſe ſacrifyces is ther mencyon made of ſynnes euery yeare. *For it is vnpoſſyble that the bloud of oxen and of gotes ſhuld take awaye ſynnes.

*Leuit.xvi.c.

Wherfore whē he cōmeth into the worlde/ he ſayth. *Sacrifyce & offerynge thou woldeſt not haue:but a bodie haſt thou ordeyned me. In ſacrifyces and ſynneofferynges thou haſt no luſt. Then I ſayde: Lo I come/in the cheefe of the boke it is written of me, that I ſhuld do thy will, o God. Aboue/when he had ſayed ſacrifyce and offerynge/ & burnt ſacrifyces and ſynneofferynges thou woldeſt not haue/nether haſt alowed (which yet are offered by the lawe) and then ſayde: Lo I come to do thy will/o God: he taketh awaye the fyrſt to ſtabliſſhe the latter. By ỹ which will we are ſanctifyed: by the offeringe of the body of Jeſu Chriſte once for all.

Chriſtes bodye is but once offered.

And euery preſt is redy dayly miniſtringe/ & ofte tymes offereth one maner of offeringe which can neuer take awaye ſynnes: But thys mā after he had offered one ſacrifyce for ſynnes/ ſat hym doune for euer on the ryght hande of God/and from hence forth taryeth tyll his foes be made his foteſtole. For wyth one offeringe hath he made parfecte for euer thē that are ſanctifyed. And the holy gooſt alſo beareth vs recorde of thys/ euen when he tolde before: This is the teſtamēt that I will make vnto them: after thoſe dayes ſayth the Lorde. I will put my lawes in their hertes & in their mynde I wyll wryte them/and their ſynnes and iniquities wyll I remember no moare. And where remiſſion of theſe thinges is/ther is no moare offeringe for ſynne.

Seynge brethre that by the meanes of the bloud of Jeſu/we maye be bolde to enter into that holy place/ by the newe and ſprunge waye which he hath prepared for vs/through the vayle that is to ſaye, by hys fleſſhe. And ſeynge alſo that we haue an hye preſt which is ruler ouer the houſe of God let vs drawe nye with a true herte in a full fayth ſprincled in oure hertes from an euyll cōſcience/& waſſhed in oure bodyes wyth pure water: & let vs kepe the profeſſion of oure hope/without wauerynge (for he is faythfull that promiſed) & let vs cōſider one another/to prouoke vnto loue/ & to good workes: & let vs not forſake the felliſhippe that we haue amonge oure ſelues/as ỹ maner of ſome is: but let vs exhorte one another, & that ſo moche the more/because ye ſe that the daye draweth nye.

Here folowe th oure duetye/ yf we will be partakers of the mercye before rehercſed.

*For yf we ſynne wyllingly after that we haue receaued the knowledge of the truethe, ther remayneth no moare ſacrifice for ſynne but a fearfull lokinge for iudgemēt, & violēt fyre, which ſhall deuoure ỹ aduerſaries. *He that dyſpyſeth Moſes lawe dyeth wyth out mercy vnder two or thre witneſſes. Of how moche ſorer punyſhment ſuppoſe ye ſhall he be counted worthy, which treadeth vnder fote the ſonne of God: and counteth the bloude of the teſtament as an vnholy thynge wherwyth he was ſanctifyed/and doth diſhonoure to the ſpyrete of grace. For we knowe hym that hath ſayde: vengeaunce belongeth vnto me, I will recompence ſayth the Lorde. And agayne: the Lorde ſhall iudge hys people.

b ¶ The handes of God here sygnifye the correccion and chastenynge of God as it is sayd. Psal.xxxb.

It is a fearfull thinge to faule into ỹ handes of the lyuinge God.

Call to remẽbraũce the dayes that are passed, in the which after ye had receaued light/ ye endured a greate fight in aduersities part ly whyll allmen wondred & gased at you for the shame & trybulacyõ that was done vnto you, and partly whyll ye became cõpanyons of thẽ which so passed their tyme. For ye suffered also with my bondes/and toke in worth the spoylinge of youre Goodes/ & that wyth gladnes: knowinge in youre selues how that ye had in heauen a better and an enduringe substaunce. Cast not awaye therfore youre confydence which hath great rewarde to recõpence. For ye haue nede of pacience/ ỹ after ye haue done ỹ will of God/ ye might receaue the promes. For yet a very lytell whyle/ & he that shall come will come/ and will not tary. But the iust shall lyue by fayth. And yf he withdrawe hym selfe my soule shall haue no pleasure in him. We are not which withdrawe oure selues vnto dãpnacyõ/ but partayne to fayth/ to the wynninge of the soule.

¶ What fayth is. & a commendacion of the same. The stedfast beleue of the fathers in olde tyme.

¶ The.xi. Chapter.

a ¶ Fayth and trust in Christ only is the life & myracles of ỹ cõuersyon & not trust in workes how holy soeuer they appeare: workes cannot set the best at rest but cause we euer thynck they be not yet good ynow wherfore to seke vnto Christ. And so shall we to mystrusting after which followeth dispayring & so damnacion/ yf we leue not the cõfidence in the & flye to fayth/ which cã receaue nes beleue with out mystrust/ that Christes worke is on the crosse hath fully purged clensed and sauued vs from all oure sinnes.

a Fayth is a sure cõprehẽsion of thinges which are hoped for, and a certaynte of thynges which are not seene. By it the elders were well reported of. Through fayth we vnderstãde that the worlde was ordeyned by ỹ worde of God & that thinges which are seene were made of thinges which are not seene. By fayth Abel offered vnto God a more plentyous sacrifyce then Cayn: by which he obteyned witnes that he was righteous God testifyinge of his gyftes: by which albe he beinge deed yet speaketh

* By fayth was Enoch translated that he shulde not se deeth: neither was he founde: for God had taken hym awaye. Before he was take awaye, he was reported of that he had pleased God. but without fayth it is vnpossyble to please him. For he that cõmeth to God must beleue that God is, and that he is a rewarder of them that seke him.

By fayth Noe honored God, after that he was warned of thinges which were not seene and prepared the arcke to the sauinge of his housholde through the which arcke he condẽpned the worlde, and became heyre of the righteousnes which commeth by fayth.

* By fayth Abraham when he was called obeyed, to go out into a place which he should afterwarde receaue to inheritaũce, & he wẽt out not knowinge whether he should go.

By fayth he remoued into the lande ỹ was promysed him/ as into a straunge countre/ & dwelt in tabernacles: and so dyd Isaac & Iacob heyres wyth hym of the same promes. For he loked for a citie hauinge a foundacyõ whose bylder and maker is God.

* Through fayth Sara also receaued strẽgth to be with chylde & was deliuered of a chylde when she was past age/ because she iudged him faythfull which had promysed. Genes.xxi.a.

And therfore sprange ther/ of one (& of one which was as good as deed) so many in multitude/ as the starres of the skye/ and as the sond of the see shore which is innumerable.

And they all dyed in fayth/ & receaued not the promyses: but sawe them a farre of/ & beleued them/ and saluted them: and confessed that they were straungers and pilgrems on the erthe. They that saye soche thynges/ declare that they seke a cõtre. Also yf they had bene myndfull of that countre/ from whence they came oute/ they had leasure to haue returned agayne: but now they desyre a better/ that is to saye a heauẽlye. Wherfore God is not ashamed of them/ euen to be called their God. for he hath prepared for them a cytie. D Gene xxii.b.

* By fayth Abraham offered vp Isaac, whẽ he was tempted/ & he offered him beinge hys only begotten sonne/ which had receaued the promyses of whõ it was sayde/ in Isaac shall thy seed be called: for he cõsydered ỹ God was able to rayse it vp agayne from deeth. Therfore receaued he him for an ensample. Ecclesi.xliy.c.

* In fayth Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau/ concerninge thinges to come. Gene.xxvii.b.

* By fayth Jacob when he was a dyinge/ blessed both the sonnes of Joseph, & bowed him selfe towarde the toppe of his sceptre. Gene.xlix.a.

* By fayth Joseph when he dyed remẽbred the departinge of the chyldren of Israel/ and gaue commaundement of hys bones. Genes.l.d.

* By fayth Moses whẽ he was borne, was hyd thre monethes of his father & mother/ because they sawe he was a proper chylde: neither feared they the kynges cõmaundement. E Exod.ii.a

By fayth Moses whẽ he was great/ refused to be called the sonne of Pharaos doughter/ & chose rather to suffre aduersitie with ỹ people of God/ then to enioye the pleasures of synne for a season/ & estemed the rebuke of Christ greater ryches then the treasure of Egypt. For he had respect vnto the rewarde.

By fayth he forsoke Egypt/ and feared not the fearcenes of the kynge. For he endured euen as he had sene hym which is inuysyble.

* Through fayth he ordeyned the ester iãbe and the effusyon of bloud/ lest he that destroyed the fyrst borne/ shulde touche them. F Exod.xii.b. Exod.xiiii.c.

* By fayth they passed through the reed see as by drye lande which when the Egipcians had assayed to do they were drowned.

* By fayth the walles of Jerico fell doune after they were cõpased about seuen dayes. Josu.vi.c.

* By fayth

Josh.vi.c. and.y.a.

*By fayth the harlot Raab perished not with the vnbeleuers, when she had receaued the spyes to lodginge peaceably.

And what shall I more saye / the tyme wolde be to shorte for me to tell of Gedeon, of Barach, & of Sampson, & of Jephthae: also of David & Samuel, and of the Prophetes: ¶ Which thorowe fayth subdued kingdomes wrought righteousnes / obteyned promyses stopped the mouthes of lyons, quenched the violence of fyre, escaped the edge of the swearde of weake were made stronge, warred valient in fyght, turned to flyght the armyes of the alientes. And the women receaued their deed raysed to lyfe agayne.

Other were racked, & wolde not be delyuered, that they myght receaue a better resurrection. Other tasted of mockynges & scourginges, moreouer of bondes & prysonment: were stoned were hewē a sunder were tēpted were slayne wt sweardes, walked vp & downe in shepes skynnes, in gotes skynnes, in nede tribulacō & vexation which the worlde was not worthy of: they wandred in wildernes in mountaynes, in dennes and caues of the erth.

And these all thorow fayth obteyned good report / & receaued not the promes, God prouydynge a better thynge for vs, that they with out vs shulde not be made parfecte.

¶ The xij Chapter.

Wherfore let vs also seyng that we are cōpased with so great a multitude of witnesses laye awaye al pressyth doune, & the synne that hāgeth on, & let vs runne with pacience vnto ye battayle that is set before vs, lokynge vnto Jesus the auctor & fynisher of oure fayth / which for the ioye that was set before hym / abode the crosse, & despised the shame, & is set doune on the right hande of the trone of God. ¶ Consyder therfore how that he endured suche speakynge agaynst hym of synners, lest ye shulde be wery & faynte in youre myndes. For ye haue not yet resysted vnto bloudsheddinge, strivinge agaynst synne. And haue forgotte ye consolacō, which speaketh vnto you as vnto children: my sonne despyse not ye chastenynge of the Lorde, nether faynt when thou arte rebuked of him: for whom the Lorde loueth him he* chastneth: yee, & he scourgeth euery sonne that he receaueth.

If ye endure chastenynge, God offereth hym selfe vnto you as vnto sonnes. What sonne is that whō the father chastneth not? If ye be not vnder correccō, where of all are partakers) then are ye bastardes & not sonnes. Moreouer seyng we had fathers of oure flesshe which corrected vs / and we gaue the reuerence: shulde we not moche rather be in subiecciō vnto the father of spyrituall gyftes that we myght lyue? And they verely for a feawe dayes / nurtred vs after their awne pleasure: but he learneth vs vnto that which is profitable that we myght receaue of hys holynes. No manner chastysynge for the present tyme semeth to be ioyeous / but greuious: neuertheles afterwarde / it bringeth the quyet frute of ryghtewesnes / vnto them which are therin exercysed.

Stretch forthe therfore agayne the handes which were let doune / & the weake knees & se ye haue straight steppes vnto your fete / lest eny haltinge turne you out of the waye: yee let it rather be healed. Embrace peace wt all men & holynes: wich out the which no man shall se the Lorde. And loke to, that no man be destitute of ye grace of God / & that no rote of bitternes sprynge vp & trouble / and therby many be defyled: and that there be no fornicator or vnclene person as Esau which for one breakfast solde his byrthryght. *Ye knowe how that afterwarde whē he wolde haue inherited the blessynge, he was put by, and he founde no meanes to come therby agayne: no though he desyred it with teares.

*For ye are not come vnto the mounte that can be touched and vnto burnynge fyre nor yet to myst and darcknes and tempest of wedder nether vnto the sounde of a trompe & the voyce of wordes: which voyce they that hearde it wisshed awaye: that the communicacyon shuld not be spoken to the. For they were not able to abyde that whych was spoken. If a beast had touched ye mountayne it must haue bene stoned, or thrust thorowe with a darte: euē so terrible was ye sight which appered. Moses sayde I feare & quake. But ye are come vnto the mounte Syon, & to the citie of the liuinge God the celestiall Jerusalem: and to an innumerable sight of angels & vnto the congregacō of ye fyrst borne sonnes, which are written in heuē, and to God the iudge of all and to the spyrites of iust & parfecte men and to Jesus the mediator of the newe testament and to the sprynckynge of bloud that speaketh better then the bloud of Abel.

See that ye despyse not him that speaketh. For yf they escaped not which refused hym ye spake on erth: moche more shall we not escape yf we turne awaye from him that speaketh from heuen: whose voyce then shoke ye erth & now declareth sayenge: yet once more will I shake not the erth only but also heuē. Nowe dout that same ye he sayth yet once more / signifyeth the remouynge awaye of those thinges which are shakē as of thinges which haue ended their course: ye the thinges which

¶ The first Chapter.

James

IAmes the seruaunt of God and of the Lorde Iesus Christ / sendeth gretynge to the .xij. trybes wyche are scatered here and there. ✣ My brethren, count it exceadynge ioye when ye faule into dyuers temptacions for as moche as ye knowe how that ỹ tryng of youre fayth bringeth pacience: and let pacience haue her parfect worke / that ye maye be parfecte ✣ *sounde, lackynge nothinge.

a *Sounde after ỹ hebrues signifieth him which in stedy the wisdome of this chylde of this worlde ✣ the procurynge for hys more profyt / lyueth a symple life and walketh vprightly in me. ✣ Of the same wise was Iacob of whó Genes. xxv. d.

If eny of you lacke wysdome / let him aske of God wyche geueth to all men indifferently / and casteth no man in the teth: and it shalbe geuen hym. But let hym aske in fayth and wauer not. For he that douteth is lyke the waues of the see toss of the wynde and caryed with violence. Nether let that mã thinke that he shall receaue eny thinge of the Lorde. A wauerynge mynded man is vnstable in all his ways.

b *Let the brother of lowe degre reioyce in that he is exalted / and the ryche in that he is made lowe. For euen as the flower of the grasse shall he vanysshe awaye. The sonne ryseth wyth heate, and the grasse wydereth / and hys flower falleth awaye, and the beautie of the fassyon of it perisheth: euen so shall the ryche man perisshe with his aboundãce.

Happy is the man that endureth in temptacyon for when he is tryed, he shall receaue the crowne of lyfe, which the Lorde hath promysed to them that loue him.

Let no man saye when he is tempted that he is tempted of God. For c *God tẽpteth not vnto euell, nether tempteth he anye man. But euery man is tempted drawne awaye / and entysed of hys awne concupyscence.

Then when lust hath conceaued / she bryngeth forth synne; and synne when it is fynysshed bringeth forth deeth.

Erre not my deare brethren. ✣ Euery good gyfte, and euery parfayt gyft, is from aboue and commeth doune from the father of lyghtes wyth whom is no variablenes / nether is he chaunged vnto darcknes. Of his awne wyll begat he vs wyth the worde of lyfe, that we shuld be the fyrst frutes of his creatures.

Wherfore deare brethren / let euery man be swyfte to heare, slowe to speake and slowe to wrath. For the wrath of man worketh not that which is righteous before God.

Wherfore laye a parte all fylthynes / all superfluyte of malycyousnes, and receaue wyth mekenes, the worde that is grafted in you which is able to saue youre soules ✣

✣ And se that ye be doars of the worde and not hearers only / deceauynge youre awne selues wyth sophistrye. For yf eny be a hearer of the worde / and do it not, he is lyke vnto a man that beholdeth hys bodyly face in a glasse. For assone as he hath loked on hym selfe, he goeth his waye and forgetteth immediatlye what his fassyon was. But who so loketh in the parfayt lawe of libertye / and continueth therin (yf he be not a forgetfull hearer / but a doar of the worke) the same shalbe happye in hys dede.

d *Cõcupyscence of oure nature / wherbyme we entysed vnto euell.

If eny man amonge you seme deuoute / and refrayne not hys tonge: but deceaue his awne herte, this mãnes deuocyõ is in vayne. Pure deuocyon and vndefyled before God ỹ father / is this: to vysyt the fatherlesse and widdowes in their aduersyte / and to kepe hym selfe vnspotted of the worlde. ✣

e *Put ỹ to iames.

The forbyddeth to haue eny respecte of personnes / but to regarde the poore as well as the ryche / to be louynge and mercyfull / and not to boast of fayth where no dedes are: for it is but a dead fayth / where good workes folowe not.

The .ij. Chapter. ✣

Brethren haue not the fayth of oure Lorde Iesus Christ ỹ Lorde of glory in respecte of persons. For yf there come into youre cõpany a mã with a golde ryng & in goodly aparell / & there come in also a poore mã in vyle raymẽt / & ye haue a respecte to him that weareth the gaye clothynge / and saye vnto him. Sytt thou here in a good place: and saye vnto the poore / stande thou there or sytt here vnder my foote stole: are ye not parciall in youre selues / and haue iudged after cuyll thoughtes?

Harken my deare beloued brethren. Hath not God chosen ỹ poore of this worlde / which are ryche in fayth / & heyres of the kingdome wheych he promysed to them that loue hym? But ye haue despysed the poore. Are not the ryche they which oppresse you / & they which drawe you before iudges? Do not they speake euil of ỹ good name after which ye be named

If ye fulfyll the royall lawe accordynge to the scripture which saith. Thou shalt loue thine neighboure as thy selfe / ye do well. But yf ye regarde one person more then another / ye cõmyt synne / & are rebuked of ỹ lawe / as trãsgressours. Whosoeuer shal kepe ỹ whole lawe / & yet fayle in one poynt, he is gylty in all. For he that sayd. Thou shalt not commyt adulterye / sayed also: thou shalt not kyll. Though thou do none adulterye yet yf thou kyll / thou arte a trãsgressor of the lawe. So speake ye / & so do / as they that shalbe iudged by the lawe of libertye. For there shalbe iudgement merciles to him ỹ sheweth no mercy / & mercy reioyseth agaynst iudgement. ✣

What auayleth it my brethren though a mã saye he hath fayth wher he hath no dedes? a *Can fayth saue hym? ✣ Can fayth saue hym? If a brother or a syster be naked or destitute of dayly fode, & one of you saye vnto thẽ: departe in peace God sende you warmnes and fode: not wythstandynge ye geue thẽ not the thinges which are nedful to the body: what helpeth it? Euen so faith/ yf it haue no dedes/is dead in it selfe.

Ye and a man myght saye: thou hast faith/ & I haue dedes: shewe me thy faith by thy dedes: & I will shewe the my faith by my dedes. Beleuest thou that there is one God? Thou doest wel. The deuyls also beleue & trẽble.

Wilt thou vnderstande O thou vayne mã that faith with out dedes is dead? * Was not Abraha oure father iustified thorow workes whẽ he offered Isaac his sonne vpon the aulter? Thou seyst how ỹ faith wrought wyth his dedes/ & through the dedes was the faith made parfecte: & the scripture was fulfylled whych sayth: Abraham beleued God/ & it was reputed vnto hym for ryghtewesnes: and he was called the frende of God. ✠ * Se then how that of dedes a mã is iustifyed/ and not of faith only. Likewyse also was not Raab the harlot iustifyed thorow workes whẽ she receaued the messengers and sent them out another waye? For as the body wyth oute the spirite is dead, euen so faith with out dedes is dead. ✠

C What good and euell commeth thorow the tonge. The vnrue of such as be learned. The differẽce betwixte the wysdome of the Gospell and the wysdome of the worlde.

C The.iij. Chapter.

My brethrẽ/be not euery mã a * master, remẽbringe how that we shal receaue the more dãnacion: for in many thinges we synne all. If a man synne not in worde/ ỹ same is a perfecte man, & able to tame al the body. Beholde we put bittes into the horses mouthes that they shuld obeye vs & we turne aboute all the body. Beholde also the shyppes, whych though they be so gret & are dryuẽ of fearce windes, yet are they turned about with a very smale helme/whyther soeuer the violẽce of the gouerner wyll. Euen so the tonge is a lyttell member, and boasteth great thynges.

Beholde how gret a thynge a lyttell fyre kyndleth/and the tonge is fyre/and a worlde of wickednes. So is the tonge set amonge oure membres/that it defyleth the whole body/ & setteth a fyre al that we haue of nature and is it selfe set a fyre euen of hell.

All the natures of beastes, and of byrdes/ and of serpentes/ & thinges of the see are meked and tamed of the nature of man. But the tõge can no mã tame. It is an vnruely euyll full of deedly poyson. Therwyth blesse we God the father/and therwyth curse we men which are made after the symilitude of God. Out of one mouth proceadeth blessinge and cursynge. My brethren these thinges ought not so to be. Doth a fountayne sende forth at one place swete water & bytter also? Can the fygge tree/my brethren/ beare oyne beries: other a vyne beare fygges? So can no fountayne geue bothe salt water & fresshe also. If eny mã be wyse & endued with learnynge amõge you, let him shewe the workes of his good conuersaciõ in meknes that is coupled wyth * wysdome.

But yf ye haue bytter enuynge and stryfe in youre hertes, reioyce not: nether be lyars agaynst the trueth: this wysdome descendeth not from aboue: but is erthy/ and * naturall/ and diuelysshe. For where enuynge & stryfe is there is vnstablenes & all mãner of euyll workes. But the wysdome that is frõ aboue is fyrst pure/then peasable/gentle/ & easy to be entreated/ full of mercy and good frutes/ without iudginge and without simulacion: yee/and the frute of ryghtewesnes is sowen in peace/of them that mayntene peace.

* Wysdome & meknes & obedyence must be according to ỹ wysdome and worde of God.

* Naturall/ ỹ is al that a mã doeth wythoute ỹ spirite of God.

Behold the husbande man wayteth for the precyous fruite of the erth, & hath longe patience therupon, vntyll he receaue* the erly and the latter rayne. Be ye also patient therfore and settle youre hertes for the commynge of the Lorde draweth nye. Grudge not one agaynst another bre-thren lest ye be dampned. Behold the iudge standeth before the dore. Take (my brethren) the Prophetes for an ensample of sufferynge aduersitie / & of longe patience / which spake in the name of ꝑ Lorde. ¶ Beholde we cōpte them happy which endure. Ye haue hearde of the patience of Iob / and haue knowen what ende the Lorde made. For the Lorde is very pitifull and mercyfull.

* Two special raynes haue they the one at sowyng tyme & the other at ripe-nynge tyme of corne wherof ye they lacke ether all is frus-telesse.

But aboue all thynges my brethrē, sweare not nether by heuē nether by erth, nether by eny other othe. Let youre* yee be yee, & youre naye naye. Lest ye fall into hypocrecy. If any of you be euell vered, let hym praye. If eny of you be merry, let him synge Psalmes. If eny be diseased amonge you let hym call for the elders of the congregacō, and let thē praye ouer him, and anoynte hym wyth oyle in the name of the Lorde: & * the prayer of fayth shall saue the syche / and the Lorde shal rayse him vp: & yf he haue cōmytted synnes / they shalbe forgeuen hym.

* Whether ye say yee or naye: let it be so. For yf ye haue one thinge in ꝑ hart & another in ꝑ mouth or dede in vesture or ge-sture: it is hypo-crysye or dissi-mulacyon.

+ Knowledge youre faultes one to another: & praye one for another that ye maye be hea-led. The prayer of a righteous man auayleth moche, yf it be feruēt. Helias was a mā mor-tall euen as we are & he prayed in his prayer that it myght not rayne: & it rayned not on ꝑ erth by the space of thre yeares & syx monē-thes. And he prayed agayne, & the heuē gaue rayne, and the erth brought forth her fruite.

* And the prayer of fayth &c Vnto the prayer of fayth ascribeth he the obtayning & saluacyon not vnto the anoynt-ynge nor to the oyle Amonge whose sacra-mentes vnto which. S. Iames wrote this epi-stle it was the māner to anoynte the body with oyle wherby they sygnifyed that christ cōmaūdeth hys apostles to do. & oyle vnto many diseases is a wholsome me-dycyn. ¶ He rebuketh such as beynge blynded with their awne lustes/refyst the truetly: and that we maye knowe them the better/he sayeth they be such as synne beastly agaynst nature and despyse rulers. &c. Herto exhorteth vs to edifye one another/to praye in the holy goost to contynue in loue/to looke for the commynge of the Lorde/and one to helpe another out of the fyre.

IUdas the seruaunt of Jesus Christ/the brother of James. To them whych are called and sanctifyed in God the father/and preserued in Jesu Christ. Mercy vnto you and peace and loue be multiplyed.

Beloued/when I gaue all dylygence to wryte vnto you of the commen saluacyon it was nedfull for me to wryte vnto you/to exhorte you/that ye shuld contynually labour in ye fayth which was once geuen vnto the saynctes. For ther are certayne craftely crept in/of which it was wrytten a fore tyme vnto soche iudgement. They are vngodly and turne the grace of oure God vnto wantannes. and denye God the only Lorde/and oure Lorde Jesus Christ.

My mynde is therfore to put you in remembraunce/for as moche as ye once knowe thys how that the Lorde (after that he had delyuered the people out of Egypt) *destroyed them which afterwarde beleued not. The angels also which kept not their fyrst estate: but lefte their awne habitacyon: he hath reserued in euerlastynge chaynes vnder darcknes vnto the iudgement of the greate daye: *euen as Sodom and Gomor & the cytyes about e them (which in lyke maner defyled them selues with fornicacyon/and folowed *straunge flesshe) are set forth for an ensample, & suffre the vengeaunce of eternall fyre. Lykewyse these dreamers defile ye flesshe/despyse rulars and speake euyll of the that are in auctorite.

Yet Michael the archangell when he stroue agaynst the deuyll/and disputed about ye body of Moses, durst not geue raylynge sentence, but sayde: the Lorde rebuke the. But these speake euyll of those thynges whych they knowe not: & what thinges they knowe naturally, as beastes which are without reason in the thinges they corrupte them selues.

Wo be vnto them/for they haue folowed the waye of Cayn and are vtterly geuen to the errour of Balam for lukers sake, *and perysshe in the treason of Core.

These are spottes which of youre kindnes feast to gether/wyth out feare, fedynge the selues. Cloudes they are with oute water/ caryed about of wyndes/and trees with out fruite at gadrynge tyme/twyse dede and plucked vp by the rotes. They are the ragynge waues of the see/fomynge out their awne shame. They are wandrynge starres to whō is reserued the myst of darcknes for euer.

Enoch the seuenth from Adam prophesyed before of suche, saynge. *Beholde/ye Lorde shall come wyth thousandes of saynctes/to geue iudgement agaynst all men, and to rebuke all that are vngodly among them of all their vngodly dedes/which they haue vngodly committed, and of all their cruell speakynges, which vngodly synners haue spoke agaynst hym.

These are murmurers/cōplayners, walkynge after their awne lustes/whose mouthes speake proude thynges. They haue mē in greate reuerence because of aduantage. But ye beloued/remēber the wordes whych were spoken before of the Apostles of oure Lorde Jesus Christ/how that they tolde you *that ther shulde be begylers in the last tyme which shuld walke after their awne vngodly lustes. These are makers of sectes, sensyble/ hauynge no spryte.

But ye derlye beloued/edifye youre selues in youre most holy fayth/prayynge in the holy goost, and kepe youre selues in the loue of God/lokynge for the mercy of oure Lorde Jesus Christ vnto eternall lyfe. And haue cō passyon of some, separatynge them: & other saue with feare/pullynge the out of the fyre and hate the fylthy vesture of the flesshe.

Vnto hym that is able to kepe you/that ye faule not/and to present you fautelesse before the presence of his glory with ioye/that is to saye/to God oure saueour which only is wyse/be glory/maieste/dominion/ and power/now and for euer. Amen.

The Reuelacion
of Iaynct Johñ the deuine.

Happie are they that heare the worde of God and kepe it. He writeth to the seuen congregations in Asia/ sayth seuen candelsticks and in the myddes of them one lyke vnto the sonne of man.

The fyrst Chapter.

THe reuelacion of Jesus Christ, which God gaue vnto him, for to shewe vnto his seruauntes thyngs which must shortly come to passe.

And he sent and shewed by his angell vnto his seruaunt Johñ which bare recorde of the worde of God, and of the testimony of Jesus Christ and of all thyngs that he sawe. Happy is he that redith, & they that heare the wordes of the prophesy, and kepe those thynges which are writtē therin. For the tyme is at hande.

Johñ to the.vij. cōgregacions in Asia. Grace be with you and peace, from him which is and which was, and which is to come / & frō the.vij. spyrites which are present before his trone, and frō Jesus Christ which is a faythfull wytnes, & fyrst begotten of the dede: and Lorde ouer the kinges of the erth. Vnto him that * loued vs, and washed vs from synnes in his awne bloude / & and made vs kynges and prestes vnto God his father be glory & dominion for euermore. Amen. * Beholde he cōmeth with cloudes, & all eyes shall se him: & they also which pearsed him. And all kynredes of the erth shall wayle. Euen so: Amen.

I am * Alpha and Omega, the begynnyng and the endynge, sayth the Lorde almyghty/ which is & which was and which is to come.

I Johñ youre brother & companion in tribulaciō, & in the kyngdome & paciēce which is in Jesu Christ/ was in the ile of Pathmos for the worde of God, and for the wytnessing of Jesu Christ. I was in the spirite on a sondaye/ & herde behinde me a gret voyce / as it had bene of a trompe sayenge: I am Alpha & Omega/ the fyrst and the laste. That thou seyst, wryte in a boke, & sende it vnto the congregacios which are in Asia/ vnto Ephesus/ and vnto Smyrna and vnto Pergamos / & vnto Thiatira/ and vnto Sardis / and vnto Philadelphia, and vnto Laodicia.

The fyrste fygure.

And I turned backe to se the voyce that spake to me. And whē I was turned. I sawe vij. golden candelsticks, & in the myddes of the candelsticks / one lyke vnto the sonne of man/ clothed with a lynnē garment doune to the ground/ & gyrd about ẏ pappes wyth a golden gyrdle. His heed/ & his heares were whyte as whyte woll, and as snowe: & his eyes were as a flame of fyre: & his fete lyke vnto brasse as though they brēt in a fornace: & his voyce as ẏ sounde of many waters. The .ii. Chapter.

A Messenger is ỹ preacher of the congregacion.

Vnto the messenger of the congregacyon of Ephesus write: these thynges sayth he that holdeth the .vii. starres in his right hande, and walketh in the myddes of the .vii. golden candelstickes. I knowe thy workes / and thy labour, & thy patience / & how thou cãnest not forbeare them whych are euyll: and examinedst them whych saye they are Apostles / & are not: and hast founde them lyars and hydest washe thy selfe. And hast patience: & for my names sake hast labored & hast not fainted. Neuertheles I haue sumwhat agaynst the / for thou hastest lefte thy fyrst loue. Remẽber therfore from whence thou art fallen, & repent / and do the fyrst workes. Or elles I wyll come vnto the shortly / and wyll remoue thy candelsticke out of his place, except thou repent. But this thou hast because thou hatest the dedes of ỹ *Nicolaitans, which dedes I also hate. Lett him that hath eares heare / what the spyrete sayth vnto the cõgregacõs. To him that ouercõmeth will I geue to eate of the tree of lyfe / which is in the myddes of the Paradise of God.

The Nicolaitans were heretiques which helde opinion ỹ wyues ought to be cõmen. of whõ Eusebius. lib. iij. cap. xxix

And vnto the Angell of the cõgregacyon of Smyrna wryte: These thynges sayth he that is fyrst, & the laste / which was dead and is alyue. I knowe thy workes & tribulacion & powerte / but thou art ryche: And I knowe ỹ blasphemy of them whych call them selues Iewes & are not: but are the cõgregacion of Sathan. Feare none of those thynges which thou shalt suffre. Beholde / the deuyll shall caste of you into prison / to tempte you / & ye shall haue tribulacõ .x. dayes. But be conuerted / or elles I wyll come vnto the shortly & will fight agaynst thẽ with the swearde of my mouth. Let him ỹ hath eares, heare what the spyrete sayth vnto the congregacions. To him that ouercõmeth wyll I geue to eate Manna ỹ is hyd and wyll geue him a whyte stone / and in the stone a newe name wrytten, which no man knoweth sauynge he that receaueth it.

And vnto the messenger of the cõgregacõ of Thiatira wryte. Thys sayth the sonne of God / which hath hys eyes lyke vnto a flame of fyre, whose fete are lyke brasse: I knowe thy workes and thy loue, seruyce / & fayth, & thy patience / and thy dedes / which are mo at the last then at the fyrst. Notwithstandynge I haue a fewe thynges agaynst the / * that thou sufferest that woman Iesabell / whych called her selfe a Prophetisse / to teache & to deceaue my seruauntes / to make them commyt fornicacion / and to eate meates offered vp vnto ydoles. And I gaue her space to repent of her fornicacion and she repented not Beholde, I wyll caste her in to a bed / & thẽ that commyt fornicacion with her, into great aduersitie / excepte they tourne from their dedes. And I wyll kyll her chyldren wyth deeth. And all the cõgregacions shall know ỹ * I am he which searcheth ỹ reynes & hertes. And I wyll geue vnto euery one of you accordynge vnto youre workes.

ND when he had opened the seuēth seale / ther was sylence in heauen aboute ꝑ space of halfe an houre. And I sawe angelles standynge before God / and to them were geuen vij trompettes. And another angell came & stode before the aulter hauynge a golden censer / and moche of odoures was geuen vnto him / that he shulde offre of the prayers of all sayntes vpon the golden aulter / which was before ꝑ seate. And the smoke of the odoures which cam of the prayers of all sayntes / ascended vppe before God out of the Angelles hande. And the Angell toke the censer and fylled it with fyre of the aulter and caste it into the erth / and voyces were made / & thonderynges and lyghtynges and erthquake.

And the .vij. Angels which had the .vij. trō pettes prepared them selues to blowe. The fyrst Angell blewe / & there was made hayle and fyre / which were myngled with bloud / & they were cast vnto the erthe: and the thirde parte of trees was burnt / & all grene gras was brent. And the seconde Angell blewe: & as it were a gret mountayne burnynge with fyre was caste into the see / & the thirde parte of the see turned to bloude / and the thyrde parte of the creatures which had lyfe / dyed and the thirde part of shyppes were destroyed.

AND the fyxte Angell blewe/ and I sawe a starre fall frō heauen vnto the erth. And to him was geuen the kaye of the bottomlesse pytt. And he opened the bottomlesse pytt/ & ther arose the smoke of a gret fornace. And the sunne & the ayer were darckned by the reason of the smoke of the pytt. And there came out of the smoke locustes vpon the erth: and vnto them was geuen power as the scorpions of ẏ erth haue power. And it was cōmaunded them/ that they shuld not hurt the grasse of ẏ erth: nether eny grene thynge: nether eny tree: but only those men which haue not the seale in their forheades. And to thē was cōmaunded that they shulde not kyll them/ but that they shulde be vexed .v. monethes / & their payne was as the payne that cōmeth of a scorpiō/ when he hath stonge a man. * And in those dayes shall men seke deeth/ & shall not finde it and shall desyre to dye / & deeth shall flye from them.

ND I herde a great voyce out of ỹ temple sayinge to the.vii. Angels: go poure wayes, poure out youre vialles of wrath vpō the erth. And the fyrst went and powred out his viall vpō the erth, and there fell anoysome and a sore botche vpon the men whych had the marke of the best, and vpō them which worshypped his ymage. And the seconde Angell shed out his viall vpō the see, and it turned as it were into the bloud of a dede man: & euery lyuinge thinge dyed in the see. And the thyrde Angell shed out his viall vpon the ryuers and fountaynes of waters, and they turned to bloud. And I herde an Angell saye: Lorde which arte and wast, thou arte ryghteous and holy, B because thou hast geuen soche iudgementes for they shed out the bloud of sayntes, and Prophetes, and therfore hast thou geuen thē bloud to drincke: for they are worthy. And I herde another out of the aultre saye: euen so Lorde God almyghty true and ryghteous are thy iudgementes.

And ỹ fourth Angell poured out his viall on the sunne, & power was geuen vnto hym to vexe men with heate of fyre. And the men raged in gret heate, & spake euyll of ỹ name of God which hath power ouer those plages, and they repented not, to geue hym glory. And the fyfte Angell poured oute his vyall vpon the seate of the beste, & his kyngdome waxed derke, and they gnewe their tonges for sorowe, & blaspheмed the God of heauen for sorowe and payne of their sores, and repented not of their dedes.

And the syxte Angell poured out his viall vpon the gret ryuer Euphrates, & the water C
dryed vp that the wayes of the kynges of the este shulde be prepared. And I sawe thre vncleane spretes lyke frogges come oute of the mouthe of the dragon, & out of the mouthe of the beste, & out of the mouthe of the false Prophete. For they are the spretes of deuyls worckinge myracles, to go out vnto the kynges of the erth and of the whole world, to gadder them to the battayle of that gret daye of God almyghty. * Beholde I come as a theefe. mentes, lest he be founde naked, and men se his fylthynes. And he gathered them together into a place called in the Hebrue tonge Armageden.

And the seuenth Angell poured oute hys viall into the ayre. And ther cam a voyce out D of heauen from the seate, sayinge: it is done. And ther folowed voyces thonderynges, and lightninges, & ther was a great erthquake, soche as was not sence men were vpon the erth, so myghty an erthquake and so great. And the greate cyte was deuyded into thre partes, and the cytes of all nacyons fell. And gret Babylon came in remembraunce before God, to geue vnto hym the cuppe of ỹ wyne of the fearcenes of his wrath. Euery yle fled awaye, & the mountaynes were not founde. And ther fell a grete hayle, as it had bene talentes, out of heauen vpon the men, and the men blaspheмed God: because of the plage of the hayle, for it was gret & the plage of it sore.

AND ther came one of the seuen Angels/which had the seuen vyalles: and talked with me / sayinge vnto me: come I wyll shewe the the iudgement of the gret whore that sytteth vpon many waters/with whō haue cōmitted fornicacion the kynges of the erthe / so that the inhabiters of the erth/are droncken with the wyne of her fornicacyon. And he caryed me awaye into the wyldernes in the spyrite. And I sawe a woman syt vpon a rose colored beest full of names of blasphemye which had ten hornes. And the womā was arayed in purple and rose coloure and decked with golde/ precious stone / and pearles / and had a cup of golde in her hand/ full of abominaciōs & filthynes of her fornicacyon. And in her forhed was a name writtē/a mystery/gret Babylon the mother of whordome and abominaciōs of the erth. And I sawe the wyfe dronken with the blood of sayntes/ & with the blood of the wytnesses of Jesu. And when I sawe her: I wondred with gret meruayle.

And the Angell sayde vnto me: wherfore maruaylest thou? I wyll shewe the the mistery of the womā, and of the beast that berith her/ which hath seuē heades and ten hornes. The beast that thou seest/was/and is not/ & shall ascende out of the bottomlesse pyt / and shall go into perdicion / and they that dwell on the erth shall wondre (whose names are not writtē in the boke of lyfe frō the beginnynge of the worlde) when they beholde the beast that was & is not. And here is a mynde that hath wysdome.

The seuen heades are seuē mountaynes/ on which the womā sytteth: they are also seuen kynges. Fyue are fallē / & one is, & a nother is not yet come. Whē he cōmeth he must continewe a space. And the beast that was/ & is not/is euē the eyght / & is one of the seuē/ & shall go into destruccion. And ỳ ten hornes which thou sayst/are ten kyngs/which haue receaued no kyngdom/but shall receaue power as kynges at one houre wyth the beast. These haue one myndē/ and shall graue their power & strenght vnto the beast. These shall fyghe with the lambe, & the lambe shall ouercome them: * for he is Lorde of lordes / and kynge of kinges & they that are on hys syde/ are called and chosen and faythfull. 1. Timo. vi. c.

And he sayde vnto me: the waters whych thou sawest / where the whore sytteth / are people/& folke/and naciōs/and tonges. And the ten hornes, which thou sawest vpon the beast/are they that shall hate ỳ whore / and shall make her desolate & naked. & shall eate her flesche and burne her with fyre. For God hath put in their hertes to fulfyll his wyll/ & to do with one consent/for to geue her kyngdome vnto ỳ beast/vntyll the wordes of God be fulfylled. And the woman which thou sawest/is ỳ great cytie / which raygneth ouer the kynges of the erth.

¶ The louers of the worlde are sory for the fall of Babylon/but they that be of God haue cause to reioyse for her destruccion.
